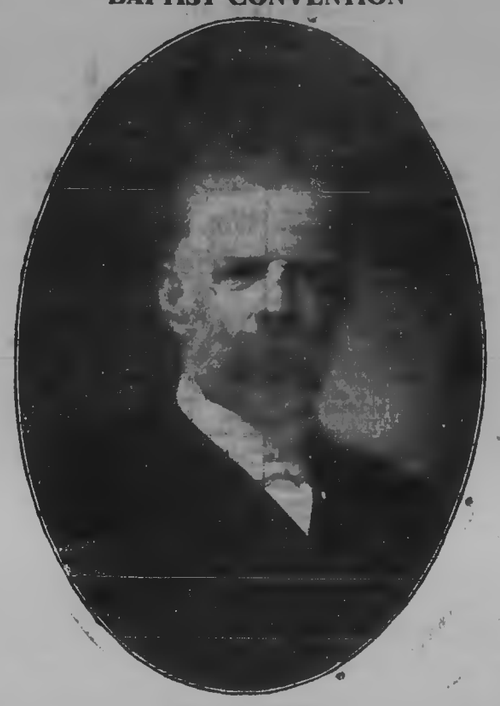
BAPTIST CONVENTION



REV. W. E. NORTON,

Secretary for Home Missions of the Baptist Church, who will be one of the Speakers at the Annual Convention to be held here from Oct. 17th to 23rd.

EYE WITNESS TELLS

—IN A LETTER TO THE CITY—

OF McLARAN STRIKE

Mr, Arthur Dawe Describes the Scenes at Buckingham Yesterday when Fight Between Strikers and Police Occurred.

Girl Spectator Was Shot by Strikers--McLaren Brothers Driven Off Their Own Property--Other Incidents.

Mr. Arthur Dawe, of the Bank of Ottawa, staff at Buckingham, Que., writing to his father, Mr. D. D. C. Dawe, last night, gives some first hand information on the big strike in progress at the McLaren mills in that town. Over 300 men who were employed at the McLaren mills went on strike for higher wages and recognition of the union and tried to prevent non-union men from working. In doing this they trespassed on the property of the company, and in the fight with the police two strikers were killed and one detective so seriously injuured that he is not expected to live. Belanger, the strike leader, was one of those killed. He was fairly riddled with bullets.

There were twenty-five police on the ground yesterday, two Pinkertons detectives, and the rest from Ottawa and Montreal.

In the fight, about twenty-five were wounded, three or four of them being members of the police force.

The latest development was the shooting of one of the spectators, a girl. One of the strikers was accused of this act, and the police at once gave chase, caught him and nearly killed him with clubs.

Two members of the McLaren family, Albert and Alexander, were chased by the strikers from their own property and their lives are apparently in danger.

At the time of writing the letter the militia from Ottawa was expected at any moment, but the strikers do not know of the expected arrival of the military forces.

Factory Assessments Were Not Discussed

At the Meeting of the North Monaghan Council Held Yesterday Afternoon.

At the meeting of the council of North Monaghan held in the township hall yesterday, only routine business was taken up. The question of the fixed assessment for the carpet factory, and the Sandstone Brick Company's works, was not discussed. It was expected that these companies would be represented, and that bylaws would be presented to the council for its consideration, but no one came to present their case, and the result was that nothing whatever was done about it, the council preferring to allow the companies interested to make the overtures.

Quaker Oats Company Officers In The City

Mr. Robt. Stuart, With President and Directors of the Company, Here on Business Trip.

Mr. Robert Stuart, Treasurer of the Quaker Oats Company; Mr. H. P. Crowell, President, and Mr. P. Wells, a director of the same Company, arrived in the city to-day and registered at the Oriental. Mr. Stuart while here will, in all probability, deal with a number of questions which have been unsettled, pending his arrival. One of these is the agreement with the city in respect to the proposed change in the system of street lighting. Mr. Larmonth will present the matter to Mr. Stuart for his consideration, and the latter will settle it, or probably refer it to his board for final decision.

Mr. Stuart will probably share the satisfaction of the majority of the citizens of Peterborough to learn that the city has secured another large industry through the same instrumentality which influenced the Cereal Company to locate in Peterborough.

Grand Jury, In Its Presentment, Want Law Proceedure Cheaper For Mass of the People.

Report on Visit to the Jail and Hospitals--Everything Found In Good Condition.

Number of Patients in Hospitals and Inmates in House of Providence and Protestant Home.

At the Assizes this afternoon the presentment of the Grand Jury was made. It was submitted by the foreman, Mr. Geo. Elliott, and read by the clerk, Mr. John Moloney. It was as follows:—

The Grand Jury at the Autumn Assizes of the High Court of Justice begs leave to present,—

We have, according to your Lordship's directions completed to the best of our judgment and ability the duties for which we were empannelled.

We beg to offer our congratulation on the comparative absence of crime in this county of a serious character, only two criminal cases having, been submitted to us for investigation.

We are glad to note that the prosperity which has prevailed in the county still continues in unabated existence in every department of the national activity.

We beg to congratulate the county upon the fact that in the near future we shall see what Grand Jurors for many years have insisted upon in the interests of humanity and the public interests at large, a properly equipped House of Refuge.

In conformity with the requirements of our duty we visited the several institutions recognized by the Government of the province and assisted by provincial funds.

In our inspection of the County Jail we found everything cleanly and in good order and sanitary condition. There were confined 16 prisoners, among whom were four persons guilty of no crime but infirmity of body and poverty of means. We note with pleasure that, thanks to the provision of a House of Refuge, this is the last occasion upon which a Grand Jury will be called upon to refer to the herding of innocent sufferers with criminality in a jail.

We visited the St. Joseph's Hospital in which twelve patients were being well cared for in an efficient and well equipped Hospital. In the House of Providence connected therewith were found eighty-three inmates, of whom twenty-two were children, seventeen of them attending school. Everything was found in good order.

Our visit to the Nicholls Hospital revealed another well equipped and well managed hospital, in which twenty-five patients were under treatment and making satisfactory progress.

The Protestant Home with twenty-five inmates, nine male and thirteen female, were found in good condition, cleanly and comfortable.

Your Lordship invited our opinion upon the question of law reform, but your jurors regret that they are not in possession of sufficient information to warrant expression of opinion on so difficult a subject except that any movement in the direction of simplifying procedure with the result of cheapening to the mass of the people the means of obtaining justice has the sympathy of your jurors.

Signed on behalf of the Grand Jury

GEO. E. ELLIOTT,
Foreman.

Grand Jury Room, Peterborough, October 9th, 1906.

BIBLE SOCIETY.

REV. J. G. POTTER,

The Retiring Secretary of the Local Branch of the Bible Society.

2000 Winter Bulbs Ordered

For Members of the Peterborough Horticultural Society

The Peterborough Horticultural Society has ordered from Jordan Brothers 2,000 bulbs for winter flowering for the members of the society, who may secure them by calling at Jordan Brothers' store any time during the next few days. The varieties are daffodils and hyacinths.

Fast Time Is Being Made In The Trials

Winner of The Examiner Cup Will Have to Do Ten Miles in Less Than An Hour.

Many Local Runners Are Sending in Entries--Officials to be Announced Saturday.

There are only four days left in which to register entries for The Examiner road race on Thanksgiving Day, and those who intend to compete in this event are reminded of this fact. No entries will be received after 12 o'clock on Saturday night. During the last few days a number of local runners have handed in their entries, and a good field is assured.

It was found impossible to procure a suitable shield on short notice, and it was decided, therefore, to offer a silver cup instead. This has been ordered from the Toronto Silver Plate Co., and will be in the city and on exhibition on Saturday. The first and second prizes, the ring to the winner of the cup, and tie pin to the one finishing second, have also been purchased, and will be on exhibition with the cup on Saturday, too.

A number of the prospective competitors for the cup have been going over the course during the last few days and some good time is being made. The exact figures on the time made are not available, but it is expected that to win the cup the successful man will have to do the 10 miles under an hour's time, provided, of course, the roads are in good condition and the weather favourable.

The local weather bureau official reports that while the period of fall rains seems to have arrived, he expects that the weather will have become settled before the 18th. The names of the officials and full particulars as to the details of the race will be published in Saturday's Examiner. At the foot of this page will be found an entry form, which those desiring to enter the race may use. Cut it out and mail or send it in to this office to-day.

Thorpe To Stand Trial Next

Case Will be Next on the List At the Assizes.

Yesterday afternoon, during the case of Duncan vs. Peter Hamilton Manufacturing Co., at the Assizes, the Grand Jury brought in true bills against both the prisoners — Thorpe and Morrison—in the criminal cases. Thorpe appeared in the prisoner's box before His Lordship Justice Britton and pleaded not guilty to the charge of burglarizing Mr. T. C. Elliott's store.

"Have you any counsel?" asked His Lordship.

"I have none," returned the prisoner.

"Are you prepared for your trial?"

"Yes, Your Lordship."

The above case will be tried immediately after that of Duncan vs. Hamilton is disposed of.

Gilmour Hotel Wall Fell, Injuring Many

Mass of Brick and Mortar Fell on Street Car--Five Badly Hurt as Result.

Examiner Special.

Ottawa, Oct. 9.—To-day one of the walls at the Gilmour Hotel fire ruins, left standing when it should not have been, fell on a street car with a terrible crash. As a result, five persons were badly hurt. They are: Motorman Lynch, knee-cap broken; Mrs. Nellie Thompson, of Monroe street, leg broken and arm broken, condition serious; Conductor McCabe, head and arm cut, and was the only one who managed to get out of the car; Fireman Potvin, a fireman who only a few weeks ago rescued half a dozen from the same building, shoulder broken; William Campbell, contractor, badly hurt about the head, and it is feared skull fractured.

Four of the five are in hospitals, and fatal results are feared.

Fifty men are clearing away the debris. Bricks, stones, steel and lumber smashed the car into kindling wood and covered the inmates two feet. It was going out at an early hour this morning, and only to this fact, and its being almost empty, is the absence of a great tragedy due.

There is the greatest indignation at the wall being left standing, and Mayor Ellis has ordered a special meeting of the Council for to-night to consider the matter.

The Superintendent Inspected Premises

Mr. W. R. Tiffin, Divisional Superintendent of the G.T.R., in the City on Regular Train To-day.

Mr. W. R. Tiffin, of Toronto, Superintendent of the Grand Trunk Railway for this Division, accompanied by Mr. Lynch, his assistant, arrived in the city to-day on his private car and spent the day here in consultation with the local officers of Company.

Mr. Tiffin made a thorough inspection of the yards and plant of the system here, and found it to be in good condition, and everything conducted in a first-class manner.

The question of additional yard room, which is one of the serious problems, was, it is understood, discussed.

Mr. Tiffin did not take up the question of the proposed changes in the levels of the Lakefield line on this visit to the city.

His car left on the 2 o'clock Belleville train for Campbellford and Belleville.

BIBLE SOCIETY.

MR. JOHN CRANE.

Re-elected Treasurer of the Local Branch of the Bible Society.

A Holiday After Thanksgiving Day

The Schools Will be Closed on Friday, October 19th.

The schools of the city will be closed for Friday, Oct. 19th, the day succeeding Thanksgiving Day, and there will be no session of the schools from Wednesday afternoon, Oct. 17th, to Monday, Oct. 22nd. This will give the teachers and out of town pupils an opportunity of leaving the city on Thursday and remain away until Sunday night or Monday morning.

Meeting of Eagle Lake Hunt Club

Held in Commercial Hotel Last Night—Officers Elected for Coming Season.

The annual meeting of the Eagle Lake Hunt Club was held in the parlours of the Commercial Hotel.

The following members were present: Messrs. R. Sheehy, J. Cottingham, George Fitzgerald, C. Gunsolus, W. White, Chas. Westlake, C. Butcher, T. Parker, O. Dumble, W. Gunsolus, L. Hall, M. Dobson, H. Evans. Capt. J. Cunningham presided as Chairman. Chas. Gunsolus was appointed captain for the coming season in the absence of Capt. Cunningham. The new officers are:

Captain—Chas. Gunsolus.
Treasurer—Harry Evans.
Secretary—L. Hall.
Executive—George Fitzgerald, H. Evans and L. Hall.

The club will leave for the annual hunt on October 30th, and great doings are expected. Messrs. J. Cottingham, Parker, Butcher and Mitchell will not go along with the club this year but intend to hunt for bigger game. Their destination this year will be in the Algoma district, where they will spend three weeks on the trail of the moose and red deer, the monarchs of the northern Canadian forests.

The Investment Resulted In Profit

A Valuable Pearl Crescent Pin Was Recovered at a Total Cost of $1.13—The Medium Employed.

Some Results From Using The Want Ad. Columns of The Examiner---Worth Taking a Chance.

LOST — ON FRIDAY — A PEARL Crescent, in black bow, on Hunter Water, Murray streets or Central Park. Finder will be rewarded on returning to this office. 2d811137

This advertisement, which appeared in The Examiner of yesterday, represents a good investment. It cost 38c for two days' insertion, and resulted in the recovery of the lost piece of jewellery, which was a very valuable one. A reward of 75c was given the young lady who found and returned it to this office, so that to recover the costly pin it cost only $1.13. That's pretty good financing.

During the last few days through The Examiner, two gold lockets and chains and two gold pins have been found and returned to their owners.

This paper, however, does not claim that everything lost and advertised in its want ad. columns will be returned, nor is this the case. There are articles of value lost, and for the return of which advertisements are placed in these columns, and there is no response. That is a matter over which a paper has no control. All that any paper can do is to call the attention of the public to the fact that the advertiser wants something—the rest must be done by those to whom the appeal is made.

The results, however, of the use of the want ad. columns of this paper have been so universally satisfactory that it is worth one's while taking a chance on getting what one wants. Of course, one may not get it, but the chances are good for a satisfactory return.

This is the time of the year when the thrifty housewife goes through her home and prepares for the winter. Maybe she finds that she has a stove which she thinks might be replaced by a new one, if she could only dispose of it. The chances are that there is someone, perhaps in the other end of the city, who would jump at the opportunity of buying a good second-hand stove. That person does not know you—you do not know them—but a want ad. in The Examiner will bring you together.

It's a good thing to remember this—that it' worth taking a chance on.

Examination In Bandaging

WHAT MIGHT HAVE BEEN

In another column is reproduced an article from the Mercantile and Financial Times of New York, referring to the magnitude, flourishing condition and extensive operations of the Canadian Oil Company, Limited, of Toronto, which had its origin in Peterborough. This article is reprinted in The Examiner at the risk of a free advertisement for the sake of the lesson it impresses upon Peterborough. This great concern is mentioned by the article as "the largest independent oil company in the world." When we consider that this great industry might have been in operation in Peterborough to-day but for the apathy, indifference and hostility of the Council of the day when, in its inscriptive stage it was asking for the encouragement which the city, in its own interests, was extending to other industries. The loss of such a concern, due to the causes stated, involving indifference and antagonism for no other apparent reason than the fact that the promoters were fellow citizens of the members of the Council, would not be so lamentable if the spirit that led to the loss had passed away with greater enlightenment and the access of larger ideas and larger local patriotism. But the circumstance that the same spirit has been shown so recently and with so regrettable results, demands that the people should take the situation under consideration and make it distinctly to be understood by their representatives that no personal interests, no personal feelings, no narrow antipathy to local enterprise should be allowed to interfere with the development of Peterborough as an industrial centre. We know the mass of the people do not sympathize with the spirit of antagonism to local enterprise; it is altogether too expensive a luxury to indulge in—when it is responsible for losing to Peterborough two important industries, one "the largest of its kind in the world."

PUBLIC HEALTH INTERESTS

The necessity of pure milk and water for domestic and personal use, is emphasized by the fact that owing to defective conditions in these two articles, there is an alarming prevalence of typhoid fever in some parts of New Ontario — Sault Ste. Marie, Port Arthur, Fort William, Copper Cliff and Rainy River. In these towns and villages, with a total population of between twenty and twenty-five thousand, there have recently been 231 cases, and 25 deaths. In order to realize this condition it may be stated, that on the same ratio, such an epidemic in Peterborough would represent nearly two hundred cases, and twenty deaths. Of course such figures would be momentous. It seems inevitable that in a comparatively new country, with sewerage systems defective, incomplete or lacking, there should be pollution of drinking water, and, if water is used to dilute milk, pollution of milk also. In these new places, where energy is largely monopolized in the rush of business, it is plain that lack of attention to sanitary matters will prevail. The lesson to older communities is obvious. The local Board of Health may spend much time over the division of duties of health officials, and over the persons responsible for certain work, in connection with the supervision of the sources of water and milk supply, but they should not forget that in the meantime, there is peril to the public health in this delay, especially if the privileged statements of the chairman of the Board of Health, is based on reliable information. Public health interests demand action, and not academic theorizing. There may be little doubt in the conditions affecting our milk and water supply, and if there may be a great deal of danger. If the Board of Health is in error, it should do something, and in doing something it should take every precaution to avoid the making or enforcing of vexatious regulations. Before private interests are inconveniently interfered with, it should be made certain that the conditions proposed to be dealt with, are real and not not imaginary sources of danger. In pursuing a course like this, mistakes will be avoided, and public sentiment will be enlisted on the side of the health authorities, instead of being antagonized by rash and unwarranted action.

THE SCHEME FAILS

The crusade of vexatious legislation, not to say persecution of Hon. W. S. Fielding, Finance Minister, has failed. In the Supreme Court on Monday the appeal proceedings in the petitioner's behalf in the Fielding election case were dismissed. The present appeal was taken to compel the trial court in Nova Scotia to investigate particulars of payments that the Finance Minister had made to his election agent in settlement of accounts arising out of the 1900 election, four years before the proceedings in the election under consideration. This decision opens the way for the holding of a bye-election at once and defeats the object of the obstructionists in the exclusion of the Finance Minister from the autumn session of Parliament to meet in November.

A MOUNTAIN OUT OF A MOLEHILL

In East Elgin, the Dutch have taken Holland, with a gain of some fifty votes. Out of this molehill of fact, mountains of theory are being constructed. We are told that the farmers do not want a low tariff; that the Government has lost heavily in prestige; that Mr. Aylesworth has received a severe rebuke; that the Liberals would have carried the constituency by bribery if the corruptionists had not been scared away by the London prosecution. All this makes good reading, and it would be an ungrateful editor who scorned an event that presented him with four distinct subjects, each capable of infinite elaboration.

Nevertheless a stern regard for facts compel the statement that bye-elections seldom turn upon large issues like the tariff, or the general credit of a Government. If the Government majority were six instead of sixty, a bye-election would be an event giving ground for hope and anxiety. As it is, politicians of both parties attach too much importance to these small contests, which usually turn upon local and personal considerations. If it is true that some corruptionists who had designs upon the constituency, were scared away, so much the better for all concerned. We would like to hope that they were scared away for good and all.—Toronto Star.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Mr. Cecil B. Smith, has resigned the position of Chairman of the Temiscamingue Railway Commission to give half his time to a position in Winnipeg. He retains his position on the Hydro-electric power Commission, and will give it half-hearted service. He is not much to be blamed since the latter commission has been baffled and kicked by the government and made a donkey engine attachment to the Cabinet.

The London Tribune has a joke at Prof. Goldwin Smith's expense, when it says that this gentleman in speaking of a supposed desire on the part of Canada to be absorbed into the republic, did not take into account the Loyalist blood driven into Canada by the revolution. The Tribune could have added, the Ottawa Free Press suggests, that Canadians have too much common sense to desire such absorption, and that in no period of Canada's history has she been more prosperous, loyal to the Empire and self-reliant, than under Liberal rule.

Presentation To Member of Choir

Mrs. Carveth, of Dummer, Honoured on Occasion of Her Wedding.

A very pleasant evening was spent at the home of Mr. Wm. Spencer on Friday evening, October 5th, when the members of the Bethel choir, Dummer, presented his daughter, Luella, with a beautiful rocking chair and the following address:

October, 5, 1906.

To Mrs. Arthur Carveth,—

Dear Luella,—We, the members of Bethel choir, desire to extend our most hearty congratulations to you and also Mr. Carveth, in your new sphere of life.

For a time we feared you would be removed from us, but now we are pleased to learn of your intention to still reside in our midst. We hope that both of you will again assist us in the choir, in which you have been such willing helpers.

Your upright Christian life has been a blessing to others, for we believe you have striven to show forth the spirit of the Master you profess to serve by your love, kindness and sympathy.

As a slight token of our esteem, we ask you to accept this chair, and hope you will be spared to enjoy its use for many years.

Again we wish you and your husband every earthly happiness and hope to spend many more Sabaths together while singing the praises of God, and hope also that we may also sing with the redeemed above.

Signed, on behalf of the choir.

MRS. D. W. PAYNE.
CLARA W. PAYNE.

Formerly the railway rate charged commercial travellers in Alberta and Saskatchewan has been 3 cents per mile. The rate has recently been reduced to 2 1-2 cents.

?? WHY ??

Why was the sandwich so called.

Because the Earl of Sandwich (1718-1792) on one occasion, not wishing to leave his place at the gaming-table, called a waiter and ordered some slices of bread with ham between them to be brought to him, so that he could go on playing without interruption. To this combination his friends gave his name.

Why is a certain kind of paper called "foolscap?"

Because Oliver Cromwell substituted a fool's cap and bells in watermark for the royal arms granted by Charles I. with certain privileges in manufacturing paper. When the "Rump" Parliament was prorogued this water-mark was removed, but the paper of the size of the Parliamentary Journal, 17 by 14 inches, still bears the name.

Why are elephants afraid of mice?

Because mice strongly resemble a little animal known as the chaoina, which feeds on a small berry especially liked by the elephant. Chaoinas live in the ground, after the manner of prairie-dogs, under the bushes, and are often trampled upon by elephants. In their fright the little animals run up the tubes of the elephants' trunks, their long, sharp claws catch in the flesh, and they cannot be ejected. An agonizing death is almost invariably the consequence to the elephant.

Why is noon the traditional and fashionable hour for wedding ceremonies?

Because the hour became the customary one in England many years since, for the reason that the bridegroom could not be relied upon to be sober any later in the day than 12 o'clock. It was naturally desirable that he should be responsible for his promises, and unless he was in a state of perfect sobriety this could not be. Hence the precaution of a noonday wedding.

Why is the first period of married life known as the "honey-moon?"

Because of an ancient custom in the northern nations of Europe. The bride and bridegroom, for a month after the wedding, drank a wine made from honey as their principal form of nourishment. It was called the honey-month or moon.

Why is the fee given to a servant called a "tip?"

Because the letters which compose the word are the initials of "to insure promptness," and inscription on the money boxes which used to be in every tavern. Into these the traveller dropped his coin, and the staff, as a whole, shared the benefit. This custom still prevails in some places, but in the United States and Canada we give the fee to the particular individual who serves us.

Why do we say "Uncle Sam" when referring to the United States?

Because the initials "U. S." were one believed by a few workmen to refer to "Uncle Sam" Wilson, who was Government Inspector at Troy, in 1812. When the war began, Elbert Anderson, a New York contractor, bought a large quantity of beef, pork and pickels for the army. These were inspected by Wilson and marked "E. A., U. S.," meaning Elbert Anderson, for the United States. After discovering that the letters did not apply to Wilson, the men still kept up the "Uncle Sam" for a joke. Those same men carried it into the army and from there it got into print. From that time the term has been used for the United States.

Why do we speak of the "near" and "off" horse?

Because in the days when the driver walked beside the horses his position was always at the left, with his right arm next the team. Therefore, in driving a pair, the horse on the left was nearer than the one on the right. The "near" horse is always the one on the left.

Why do the stars twinkle?

Because their light passes through variously heated and moving currents of air which act as a refractor. Much twinkling foretells bad weather, because it denotes that these aerial currents are more disturbed than usual.

WHY was the sandwich so called? Because the Earl of Sandwich (1718-1792) on one occasion not wishing to leave his place at the gaming table, called a waiter and ordered some slices of bread, with ham between them, to be brought to him, so that he could go on playing without interruption. To this combination his friends gave his name.

Wm. Duncan verses Peter Hamilton Co.

not get hurt but was always careful afterwards.

Mortimer Mowry

Mortimer Mowry was the next witness. To Mr. O'Connell he stated he was a machinist and had worked at that trade for 29 years. He worked with the Peter Hamilton Company for about 23 years. He had installed the crane; the steel work, he said was bought from the Peterborough Bridge Works. He saw the crane about six months ago, but left the Hamilton Company about three years ago. The handle fitted loose on the shaft. He had seen several cranes besides this one and the only precaution he knew of in putting the handle on the shaft is to put it in its place when stationary. As far as the gearing is concerned there should be a dog as a precaution to put into the cogs and there should also be a shield over the cogs to protect the hands from injury. This, he stated, was the usual practice to prevent accidents and the accident which occurred would have been prevented by a shield, in his opinion. He also stated it was practicable to put a shield there and a suitable one would cost in the neighbourhood of $2.

To Mr. Hayes he said he fitted the crane together which was done according to the plans. He did not make any sugggestions at the time that a shield should be installed. He never saw a hand-operated machine with a guard, but steam propelled machines were always guarded.

Thos. Boswell

The next witness for the plaintiff was Thos. Boswell. To Mr. O'Connell he said he was a machinist for about 33 years. He came out from the Old Country in 1881. While in England he was engaged in building derricks. He had worked in a number of establishments in this country, the machine shop of C.G.E. being one of the places. He was a fitter there. He inspected the hand crane where the accident occurred last Saturday evening. He had put up many cranes and has seen many cranes. In fitting the handle it is customary to put on a nut or something similar to prevent the handle coming off. He considered it dangerous without the above named protection. The broken cog would have the effect of making a jar every time the vacant space came to the pinion. This would naturally have a tendency to allow the handle to slipp off. The gearing was dangerous, he considered, from the lack of a shield.

To Mr. Hayes, witness said, he inspected crane last Saturday in company with Mr. Duncan, who showed him the position of the hook when the accident occurred. He tried it himself and found that the hook stopped when he took his hand off the crank. He had seen a great many hand cranes and none were guarded until about six years ago. If a man took ordinary precaution in operating one of these machines there would not be much danger to the operator.

This finished the plaintiff's case with the exception of two witnesses who were not present at the time.

Wm. Benton

Wm. Benton was the first witness called for the defence. He said Duncan was in the employ of the Peter Hamilton Company last February. He himself was present on the morning of the accident and saw plaintiff put his right hand on main gear of the crane and turn it. He had his left hand on the pinion. He heard him yell a few seconds later when he turned around and saw that his hand was cut. Duncan, he said, was warned the morning previous not to put his hand on the wheel. He was cautioned the day before not to do it. He never saw hand cranes guarded in his life.

To Mr. O'Connell, he said he was employed as an iron moulder at the time of the accident. He saw Duncan reach up, catch the arm and pull the gear. He saw him move the wheel and when he heard him yell he saw his hand was cut. He did not warn him although he knew there was danger.

Geo. Minorgan

The second witness called was Geo. Minorgan foreman in the moulding department of the Peter Hamilton Manufacturing Company. He instructed Duncan to turn the crane and soon after heard him shout out. He went over and said, "O, what in the world is the matter?" Duncan replied, "It's no one's fault, turn the wheel and let my hand out."

He did not see any handle on the crank. This was dangerous as the operator was likely to slip into the gearing. He had warned employees to be careful. He worked for 40 years in foundries.

To Mr. O'Connell witness said he lived in Peterborough for 30 years and had worked about 25 years for the Peter Hamilton Company. He remembered two slight accidents caused by the crane previously.

Robert Mulligan

Robert Mulligan was the next witness and to Mr. Hayes said he was employed in moulding department of the Peter Hamilton Manufacturing Company's works. He had told Duncan not to use the crane without putting the handle on, because his hands were liable to get caught in the wheel. He was there first after the accident. He saw him next day and told him he should never work the crane without the handle, but to this the plaintiff said nothing.

To Mr. O'Connell witness stated the crane is always well oiled and runs smoothly.

Thos. Connors

Thos. Connors was next called. He gave evidence along the same line as the previous witnesses for the defendant.

Dr. Amys

Dr. Amys, who attended the plaintiff also gave evidence. He stated that Duncan came to his office, and after examining did not think that second finger could be saved, so he amputated it, and stitched the first and third. About the end of the seventh day the stitches were removed, and at time were apparently healthy. About the 28th of February the amputated finger was all healed, the others doing nicely. With the aid of a glove or other finger protection he could have gone to work about a week after, he considered. Duncan came back to him March 1st with the amputated finger open and the tohers discharging, but did not know what caused it. After he had dressed them a few times the third and second healed up, but a bone came out of the first. The last time he saw them was about the 14th of April, and they then looked something like they do now. He thought he could have safely returned to work by May 1st.

To Mr. O'Connel witness said he considered the condition of the fingers as serious. After he left the office the patient walked home a distance of half a mile. The weather he remembered was pretty cold. The cold he thought would be sufficient to cause the set-back after the three weeks.

Request for Non-suit

Mr. Hayes submitted to His Lordship that the plaintiff had not made out a case, and asked for a non-suit. None of the cases reported under the Factory Act, he said, were in a place where the machines were operated by hand. A number of the witnesses stated that they had never seen any hand cranes guarded, and it was brought out in evidence that none in Peterborough were guarded. It had been shown that the crane in question had been used for years without any accidents. He further submitted that no defect in the setting up or in the condition of the crane was the cause of the accident. Under the Workman's Compensation Act he submitted the plaintiff was entirely out of court.

Mr. O'Connell's Reply

Mr. O'Connel submitted that the Factories Act, in Section C, subsection 2 says that the place where defendant was engaged in, came under the heading of a factory, as more than five persons were given employment. It was evident that there was gearing there, which was unprotected, where more than one accident has occured, therefore a breach of the statutes had occurred.

His Lordship reserved judgment on the request for a non-suit until after the questions submitted to the jury were answered.

Case Goes Before Jury

His Lordship then prepared a number of questions and the counsel addressed the jury reviewing the various evidence given.

This case was concluded at one o'clock, when the court adjourned, previous to the address of the judge.

Violent Headaches.

"I was troubled for a long time with headaches which would come on with such violence, that I could not eat or do my work. Headache powders or quick cures did me no good. Eight months ago, I took six boxes of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and I have not been troubled with headache since." — Mrs. O. Barber, Simcoe, Ont.

PORT ARTHUR BREAKWATER

NOTICE TO INTENDING CONTRACTORS

As it may be deemed advisable by the Department of Public Works to change the location of the proposed breakwater at Port Arthur, thereby entailing the non-removal of the inner 1,000 feet in length of the existing breakwater, and a decrease or increase in the quantity of dredging to be performed for the foundation of the proposed work; intending contractors are requested to omit from the bulk sum of their tender the removal of the inner existing portion of the breakwater and the dredging, and to quote a price per cubic yard for the dredging, and a bulk sum for the removal of the breakwater.

Sale of the Cubitt Stock of Wall Papers

—We have struck the right keynote in selling borders and wall papers at the same price. Cubbit's stock of wall paper is selling like "hot cakes" at Stratton's. Remember we have only 10,000 rolls of this paper at half price. Mostly all new patterns, purchased within the year from the leading Montreal wall paper makers. Remember the prices,—papers per roll 3c., borders per roll 3c., papers per roll 5c., borders per roll 5c., papers per roll 10c., borders per roll 10c. and and 8c. Just think what this means —a room papered for less than half a dollar at one price, and less than one dollar at the other. Come early any day this week and bring the size of your room. A. H. The New York Stock Market

(Furnished by J. R. Heintz & Co.)

New York, Oct. 9th.—Storks were very active and strong in the first hour today and then became dull with some slight recessions. Penna. opened strong and was put higher on talk of an increased dividend. Smelters made another run up with Lead following in sympathy. Gen. Electric and Amn. Locomotive were strong and Car Foundry and Pressed Steel Car were marked up a point. The Wabash issues made good gains while C.P.R. was heavily bought at advancing figures.

London was quiet and did very little in this market to-day. Money was easy at 4 per cent. Wheat was stronger in Chicago on reports of snow there and in the northwest.

Stocks were quiet in the last hour, except for strength in Penna, which climbed steadily upward. The Cuban situation has cleared up and is responsible for much of the buying and we believe the market, subject to normal reactions, will sell higher. The close was steady.

Not Sick But Tired and Weak

You do not like to think that you are sick, but you lack the snap and vigour of other times. Not only are you weak bodily, but the vital organs are also slow and uncertain in action. The heart is weak, digestion is imperfect, the liver is torpid, the bowels sluggish, and the system run down in a general way.

What you need to start you on the way to health is a restorative, such as Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, to form new, rich blood, to increase the amount of nerve force, and instil new vigour into the whole body.

It is marvellous what this great food cure will do for a run-down human system, and what it does is not in the way of temporary assistance, but rather of certain and lasting benefit—because it actually builds up the system.

Note your increase in weight while using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. 50c. 6 boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

MR. MATHISON RESIGNS.

Leaves Deaf and Dumb Institute at Belleville to Become Supreme Secretary of the I. O. F.—His Letter.

Toronto, Oct. 9.—Mr. R. Mathison, superintendent and principal of the Institution for the Deaf and Dumb at Belleville, personally handed in his resignation to Hon Dr. Pyne, Minister of Education and acting Premier, whom he called upon at the Education Department yesterday morning.

He leaves the Government service to become Supreme Secretary of the Independent Order of Foresters, in succession to Lieut.-Col. J. A. McGillivray, who is resigning on account of ill-health, not having been able to attend his duties during the last three or four months. The appointment was made at a meeting of the executive of the Foresters held at the Foresters' Island on Saturday. Mr. Mathison has been a Forester for 20 years, for 14 of which he was Supreme Journal Secretary.

Praise For Present Government.

In speaking to a reporter of his resignation, Mr. Mathison said that while he was a Liberal and had been appointed by a Liberal Government, he was glad to say that since the change in Government he had received from the present Administration the most courteous treatment in every way. There was, therefore, nothing political in the change. He was simply resigning because he had a better position awaiting him.

The Letter of Resignation.

Mr. Mathison's letter to Hon. Dr. Pyne formally conveying his resignation was as follows:

"Dear Sir,—After a service of thirty-four and one-half years, six years as Bursar of the Asylum at London, one and a half as Manager of Industries and Bursar of the Central Prison, Toronto, and 27 in my present position, I tender herewith my resignation as Superintendent and Principal of the Institution for the Deaf and Dumb at Belleville, to take effect on Nov. 15, if convenient to you. Before leaving I wish to present the annual report to Sept. 30, and close up all matters of accounts, etc. I shall remain any longer period that you may think necessary in order to give my successor such information as he may wish, and if at any time my experience is desired in furthering the interests of the deaf and dumb of this province it will be at your command.

"During my whole tenure of office I have been content to perform the various duties assigned me to the very best of my ability, and it is a pleasing recollection at the present time that I enjoyed the confidence of the Ministers and the various Governments under whom I served.

"I notice by the newspapers that Mr. Snow of Toronto has been appointed by Royal Commission to enquire into matters connected with this institution. Would you kindly arrange for Mr. Snow to commence his enquiries here in the near future, in order that his findings may be arrived at before I leave the service.

"Allow me to thank you personally for many courtesies since you have been head of this institution. I have received every consideration that you could possibly extend."

Is Well Known.

Mr. Mathison, who is an M. A. and an old newspaper man, was born in 1843, and has been an authority on the education of the deaf and dumb for a number of years, and is well-known across the border in this capacity. The inspectors of the Education Department have repeatedly complimented the management of the Belleville institution under Mr. Mathison's care.

GOVERNMENT SPUR LINES.

Contracts Have Been Let—Cost Will Be About $250,000.

Toronto, Oct. 9.—Contracts for the new spur lines on the T. and N. O. Railway system have been let in connection with the clearing and grading of the proposed branches. The rails will be laid by the staff of the commission, and the total cost of the several new lines will be about $250,000 for almost 14 miles.

The Canadian Constructing Co., Montreal, has been awarded the eight miles of the Charlton branch from Englehart to Long Lake.

McQuigg & Hunt, Arnprior, got the Haileybury spur, a mile and three-quarters, connecting the main line with Haileybury Wharf.

A. Spencer, Niagara Falls, obtains the four mile contract from the main line at Cobalt into the Kerr Lake region, part of which will traverse the mineral section of the Gillies limit, and be of much convenience to the Government exploitation works.

REMAINS CREMATED.

Ex-Mayor Beaugrand Neglected to Revoke Portion of Will.

Montreal, Oct. 9.—A strange situation has been created by the death of ex-Mayor Beaugrand, who, although dying in the Catholic faith, cannot receive Catholic burial, and will be cremated this morning at 10 o'clock.

In May last Mr. Beaugrand made a will stipulating that there must be no ceremony, religious or otherwise, at his funeral, no flowers, no pall-bearers, and his body must be cremated. When Beaugrand retracted last month he told the archbishop he would strike out those clauses of the will, but this he failed to do, so the executors will give it effect to-day in its entirety.

The estate of the late mayor will foot up to nearly $200,000, all of which will go to his daughter, Mrs. Vaillancourt, Madame Beaugrand having the use of it during her lifetime.

Bishop Arnett Dead.

Xenia, Ohio, Oct. 9.—Bishop William Benjamin Arnett of the African Methodist Episcopal Church, died of uraemic poisoning Sunday night at the Wilberforce University. Bishop Arnett presided over the parliament of religions in Chicago, Sept. 18, 1893, and at the ecumenical conference of Methodists in London, Sept. 7, 1901.

Breaks Leg Saving Brother.

Toronto, Oct. 9.—Saving his little brother from danger Wm. Lennie, a lad who lives at 530 Parliament street, broke his leg last night. He fell through a trapdoor into which his brother would otherwise have been precipitated.

PASADENA A TOTAL WRECK.

Three of Her Crew Drown In Big Storm On Superior.

Houghton, Mich., Oct. 9.—A terrific gale was raging on Lake Superior last night. The barge Pasadena, in tow of the steamer Gladstone, was blown on the rocks and is a total wreck. Three of her crew were drowned, while seven others reached shore after a terrific battle with the surf.

The Gladstone made the harbor safely.

Fatal Fight Between Negroes.

Niagara Falls, Ont., Oct. 9.—Samuel Washington, colored, was arraigned before Police Magistrate Cruickshank yesterday morning on a charge of aggravated assault on another colored man named Daniel Little. The assault occurred on Saturday night. Little died yesterday morning. An attempt was made to get a statement from him, but he was not conscious enough to speak intelligibly. The most serious wound visible on his body is a hole in the face, passing through the nose, which is alleged to have been caused by a punch from Washington's umbrella.

Cheapness of Swiss Telephones.

"I was in Switzerland in June, before the rush set in," said a globe trotter, "and what most struck me there was the height of the mountains and the lowness of the telephone rates. The government owns the Swiss telephone system, and a phone costs only $12 a year. This small fee gives you 800 calls, and for excess calls all you pay is 1 cent each."

Annual Meeting Of The Local Bible Society

Inspiring Address Was Given by the Rev. R. E. Welsh —Encouraging Reports Were Read--The New Officers.

The annual meeting of the Peterborough branch of the Canadian Bible Society was held last night in the George Street Methodist Church, when, it is pleasing to note, there was a large attendance, indicating an increasing interest in this important work. A feature of the meeting was the presence of Rev. R. E. Welsh, secretary for Canada of the British and Foreign Bible Society, who gave a most inspiring address on the work of the society. The reports read were of a most encouraging nature.

Rev. Dr. Crothers occupied the chair, and other ministers present were Rev. Dr. Torrance, Rev. Canon Davidson, Rev. A. Bright, Rev. H. M. Manning and Rev. J. G. Potter. The congregations of the various churches were well represented.

The meeting was opened with prayer by the Rev. Dr. Torrance and the reading of the Scripture by Rev. Canon Davidson.

Rev. Dr. Crothers referred to the fact that the various Provincial Bible Societies in Canada had been united into one body, which at present ruled itself.

Secretary's Report

Rev. J. G. Potter, the local secretary, then presented his report, as follows:

The annual meeting of last year was held on December 6th, when the Rev. D. A. Thompson, of Hastings, gave a very clear statement of what the society had been doing in Canada, and throughout thee world. The address which was full of information and inspiration was received with every evidence of deep interest. Owing to the lateness of the date the collections were not in time to be acknowledged in the annual report—the books closing December 31st.

On this account the Executive has arranged the annual meeting early so as to give ample time for the collections to be made. All collectors' books will bear the name of the secretary, and the stamp of the treasurer, Mr. John Crane Ontario Bank.

We wish to publicly express our warm thanks to ladies and gentlemen, who so gladly gave of their time to make the collections which were so generous, and we are glad to note the increasing number of those who take a practical interest in the Society's work.

We would recommend that the collectors of last year be asked to carry on the work this year also, that the work of the Bible Society be warmly commended to the people of Peterborough.

We are glad to have been able to secure the presence of the Rev. R. E. Welsh, the secretary of the Canadian Society and also the excellent help of Mr. L. A. Barker, of Toronto.

Treasurer's Report

Rev. Mr. Potter also read the report of the treasurer, Mr. John Crane as follows:

JOHN CRANE,
Treasurer.

Rev. R. E. Welsh was then called upon to give an address. Mr. Welsh has travelled extensively, and his remarks were most interesting and helpful. He clearly brought out the good work being done by the Bible Society, not only in Canada, but all over the world, and showed its far-reaching effects.

The society, which was begun 102 years ago was never younger and more alive than it is now. There were now 450 versions of the Bible, of which the society had added 420. Three-tenths of the world, or 450,000,000 people had not yet seen a verse of the Bible. Reference was made to the Mandarin version in China, on which a special committee was working. The Pilgrims' Progress was in 100 tongues, Tolstoi and Shakspere in 30, and the Bible in 460 languages, 30 of which were never written at all before being written for the Bible. Such was the Patagonian tongue, described as a language of "clicks, groans, grunts and hiccoughs."

Last year there were as many Bibles circulated by the society as there were people in Canada. Six million were circulated. 30,000 more than the preceding year. Nine hundred and forty colporteurs carried on their work.

Passing on, the speaker discussed the importance of the work in Canada. He referred to the large amount of foreign immigration coming into our country, and prophesied that in the next three years there would be 100,000 Galicians, Poles, Doukhobors, Hungarians and Bohemians in Canada. The speaker asked the audience to think what that signified.

The West was the focal point, the centre of gravity. It was the estate to which the people of the Old World were falling heir. The speaker referred to the experience of watching the immigrants on board ship as they neared Canada, straining their eyes for the first glimpse of the land of the second chance, as they had learned to call the country. The society sent 15,000 portions of Scripture to these immigrants to be used as they went West.

Rev. Mr. Welsh referred to the crowd one sees at Winnipeg. To some it appeared only as a curious spectacle of mixed humanity, but it meant more. They were the material of which the western nation was to be composed. They couldn't be treated as aliens, and would have to be impregnated with Canadian ideas or they would debase and lower Canada. They, however, were yet plastic People might look at Japan with indifference, but these races were at our door, and they had to be lifted up or else they would lower us.

Rev. Mr. Welsh referred to the formation of an independent Greek church by the Galicians, of whom there were 70,000 to 80,000 west of the great lakes. These people used the Bible of the society, and their work was along right lines.

Speaking of the Doukhobors, the speaker said that he never saw cleaner houses than theirs, and that they were industrious and could be reckoned upon as a valuable asset if educated properly. He closed with another reference to the dangers existing from Canada's polyglot, cosmopolitan population.

The election of officers resulted as follows:

President—Sheriff Hall.
Secretary—Rev. A. Bright.
Treasurer—Mr. John Crane.

During the evening Mr. Edward Barton, of Toronto, sang two solos in splendid fashion, his magnificent bass being displayed to great advantage.

On motion of Rev. Canon Davidson, seconded by Rev. Dr. Torrance, a vote of thanks was passed to Rev. Mr. Welsh for his splendid address, and similar votes were passed to Mr. Barton, and the choir and trustees of George Street Church.

Fire Gutted Old House On George Street To-day

An Old Eyesore Almost Destroyed--Corner of Sherbrooke and George Streets.

This afternoon at two o'clock fire broke out in the old building at the corner of Sherbrooke and George streets. The fire brigade was immediately upon the scene but the flames had spread very rapidly, owing to the dry condition of the boards which served as partitions between the different rooms. Clouds of smoke hung over George street for a time until the wind caught it, carrying it away, and at the same time fanning the flames. The firemen worked hard to conquer the flames, but it seemed in vain, for a time. When they turned the water on the roof and walls holes were made on account of the tumble-down condition of the building. It is practically destroyed, and it is not much loss to the city as it has always been an eye-sore to the beauty loving citizen.

Mr. F. J. Goselin conducted a meat shop on the corner, which is damaged only by water; Mr. G. H. Martin has a cobbler's shop next door. In a room that Mr. Martin used, the fire is supposed to have started by the accidental overturning of a lamp used in connection with cobbler's work. It wormed its way through a wooden partition to the top story, where the most damage was done. There were two families living in the house besides, viz., Mr. Wm. Duncan and family and a Jordan family. They lost practically all their household effects, and had no insurance on them. The place was owned by Mr. Tetley, who purchased it some years ago. It is not known whether he had any insurance on it or not. Mr. Martin's tools were saved, but those who lived in the place saved scarcely anything.

City Should Try For C.P.R. Branch From Port Hope

Opinion of Chief of C. P. R. Surveying Party Which Left To-day to Take Up Work on the C. P. R. New Line From Montreal to Toronto.

Mr. D. Hillman, chief of the C. P. R. survey party which, since last spring, has been working in the neighbourhood of Peterborough on the survey of the C.P.R. short line from Victoria Harbour, left Peterborough on the 11.45 train to-day for Port Hope. He was accompanied by Messrs. M. Weese, E. Reynolds and A. Warner, three members of the party. The remainder, who have been working near Orillia for the last week, will also go to Port Hope, where the party begin the survey of the new C.P.R. line along the front from Montreal to Toronto, which will parallel the G.T.R.

Mr. Hillman, to The Examiner to-day, expressed the opinion that Peterborough should endeavour to have a branch of the C.P.R. from Port Hope to Peterborough, which he said would be of great benefit to the city. He did not see any reason why the line should not be built.

Mark St. Epworth League Concert

Proved to be a Delightful Event Last Night.

The free concert and social under the auspices of the Mark street Epworth League last night proved to be an event of pleasure and interest. An excellent entertainment was provided consisting of a musical and literary menu and was one enjoyed by all. At the conclusion of the programme refreshments were served by the ladies which closed the delightful evening.

In the absence of Rev. Mr. Lewis the chair was occupied by Mr. Samuel Taylor. In a brief address he referred to the Missionary Rally at the George street Methodist Church next Monday evening. Representatives will be present from the three Methodist churches in the city and a profitable time is in store.

The following was the programme:

Chairman's address.
Solo—Mr. Miller.
Recitation—Mrs. (Rev.) Lewis.
Duet—Misses Chasty.
Reading—Mrs. Jno. Weir.
Solo—Mr. Jas. Browne.
Recitation—Mrs. Jno. Speer.
Duet—Mesdames McDonald and Tighe.
Duet—The Misses Chasty.
Duet—Little Misses Long.
Intermission — Conversation slips distributed.

A Descendo In Ye Good Old Piano

Occurred Yesterday on Charlotte Street From a Carter's Dray.

One would expect from the carload of pianos that the J. M. Greene Music Company imported that there would be a fall in pianos, but it didn't take place until yesterday. It happened that a carter was drawing a piano on his truck along Charlotte street yesterday when the fall occurred. Where the road was level the movement was steady and the tempo even and maintained, but as numerous ruts were met with, staccato became the prevailing movement, and as the roughness of the road continued there was a proportionate increase in the volume, increasing a la crescendo to the grand finale as the cart went over a corner of the sidewalk and the piano was stretched with a Paderewski abruptness in the middle of the street.

The accident occurred in front of the new house on the corner of Stewart and Charlotte streets. A man who happened to be near had his leg injured by the piano falling upon it, but his wail was as nothing compared with that of the musical instrument, as it found itself stretched on the muddy roadway.

Sir Charles Clifton Browne

Cured of Bilious Headache by Bileans.

Sir Chas. Clifton Browne, who has toured considerably in Canada, interviewed at his Deal (Kent) residence, admitted that he had reaped very great benefit from Bileans.

He said: "I have no objection to you stating that I found Bileans a very fine medicine for biliousness, headache and digestive troubles generally. I suffered frequently from bilious headache, and nothing that I have ever yet tried did me so much good as Bileans. I believe they are a good thing and worthy of success."

In those last few words Sir Charles aptly summarizes Bileans: "A good thing." They are compounded from purely vegetable essences, and are the best possible remedy obtainable for headache, debility, dizziness, indigestion, etc. They also operate gently on the bowels, curing constipation, piles, etc. They correct female irregularities and ailments, pains in the loins and bearing down pains. They tone up the whole system and enable it to throw off colds, chills, rheumatism, etc. Anaemic and pale-faced women and girls will find them a veritable boon. Of all druggists, at 50c a box, or post free upon receipt of price from the Bilean Co., Toronto; 6 boxes for $2.50. Send one cent stamp for sample box.

Drunks Fined At Police Court

Small Docket Before Magistrate To-day.

Two cases of drunk and disorderly composed the docket at this morning's police court, and the attendance was correspondingly small.

Joseph Brooks was the first to stand up in answer to a drunk and disorderly charge.

"How long do you want?" asked Mr. Dumble.

"I don't know what you mean."

"How long do you want in jail?" repeated the magistrate.

"I don't want to go to jail at all," replied Brooks.

"Two dollars to be paid forthwith, was the fine imposed, but Brooks wanted to compromise.

"Won't you give me time to pay it in?"

The time was not forthcoming and Brooks will be a hermit for 10 days unless a friend in need pays the fine.

Fred Cooper faced the same charge and accommodatingly pleaded guilty at once. He was fined $2, and although he hadn't the money, he expected it within a few minutes.

Men's Guild To Elect Officers

Annual Meeting of All Saint's Guild To-night.

A full attendance of the members of the Men's Guild of All Saints' church, is desired at the meeting to be held to-night when the election of officers will take place, and the plans for the coming season will be discussed. This Guild is a flourishing one and the prospects for the season are bright.

Cough Lasted 3 Months.

"I was taken with a severe cough which lasted for three months and though I tried all sorts of medicines they failed to do me any good. A friend advised the use of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine, and I was completely cured by two bottles." — Miss Ada O'Brien, Cape Cove, Gaspe Co., Quebec.

Sevengala Redeemed His Promise To Amuse

An Interesting Programme Was Given at the Opera House Last Night--Hypnotism and Telepathy--Some of the Funny Stunts His Subjects Did.

"Sevengala," who styles himself the "king of fun-makers," and who lives up to his reputation, sent a well-pleased, if somewhat small, audience away from the Grand Opera House last night. Sevengala is an exponent of the art of hypnotism, and by his work last night demonstrated the fact that he is master of the art he practices. In addition to being pleased, the audience was entertained and instructed, the performance being one which could not fail to please those who saw and heard it.

In the first part of the programme the operator had a dozen "subjects" taken voluntarily from the audience, upon the stage, and these he placed under hypnotic influence, making them perform feats which caused the audience great amusement. The subjects imagined they were Sousa's band, and, with sprinkling cans, feather dusters, funnels, etc., they played (?) one of that composer's marches. A fishing scene, when four of the young men suddenly became enthusiastic followers of Izaak Walton and hooked fish from the orchestra seats, one taking off his shoes and stockings and wading in the imaginary water, was most amusing. This part of the programme was very interesting, the audience for the greater part of the time being simply convulsed with laughter.

In the second part Sevengala gave an exhibition of what he termed "Le transmission by telepathy," in which he places a young lady under hypnotic influence, and afterward communicates with her by telephathy commissions given by members of the audience to him. The young lady performed many really remarkable feats, this feature proving a fitting climax to a delightful evening's entertainment. Sevengala asserts that this feature is one which no one on earth except himself is able to carry out, and disclaims mind-reading, which, he says, is simply the use of tricks.

Sevengala will be in the Opera House this-night and during the remainder of the week. His performance is well worth seeing.

Prospects For Wycliff Were Never So Bright

Rev. E. A. Langfeldt Tells of the Recent Meeting of the Alumni Association---New Buildings Promised.

Rev. E. A. Langfeld, returned last Saturday from Toronto, where he had attended the alumni meetings of his alma mater, Wycliffe College, during the week. Being asked by an Examiner reporter to say something of the meetings, he stated that at no time was the outlook for Wycliffe College as bright as now. Seventy-four students are in training for the ministry of the Church of England, the largest number of any theological college within the church of England. An addition to the building has become absolutely necessary to accommodate all the applicants, 27 of whom could not be acepted this year. The chairman of Wycliffe College, Hon. S. H. Blake, promised at Convocation that a new building would be added without delay. In the thirty years of its existence Wycliffe College has sent into the ministry 162 graduates. They are scattered all over the world; some at the Arctic Circle, in South America, Africa, China, Persia Japan, India, the West Indies, United Stes, England, Palestine and throughout the Dominion.

Another feature of the meeting was the reception of a delegation from the alumni of the sister church college, conveying fraternal greetings of the graduates of Trinity College.

The new principal, Rev. Dr. O'Meara, a fellow graduate, received from the alumni a cordially worded, address pledging support and loyalty of the graduates. At Convocation two oil paintings of Dr. N. W. Hoyles, K. C., and Hon. S. H. Blake, K. C., were unveiled, and presented to the College. The meetings were highly successful, and proved to be very helpful and pleasant both spiritually and socially.

A Former Port Hope Girl Committed Suicide

Bessie Gerardy, Formerly of Port Hope, Now of Owossa, Mich, Took Poison in Presence of School Chums--Result of Reading Sensational Novels--Only Twelve Years of Age.

Windsor, Oct. 8.—Bessie Gerardy, aged 12, a school girl, who went with her family to Owosso, Mich., a year ago, from Port Hope, Ont., committed suicide by taking poison this morning, in the presence of four of her little school mates, at the pumphouse of the country school in Venice. "I am tired of life, I want to die. I have taken poison!" she shouted to her teacher, Miss Beulah Wilcox, as she ran into the schoolroom, after swallowing the poison, pursued by her school-mates, whom she had told of her deed. A doctor was called, but as he had to come about nine miles, the child was dead when he arrived.

Sensational Novels

That the child of 12 years should conceive and carry out a plan of suicide is alone attributed to the reading of sensational novels. It is believed that the lurid story of a suicide in a trashy novel which fell into her hands had an indelible influence on her mind. Several weeks ago the child told her mother, when surprised while searching through the medicine chest at home, that she was tired of life, and intended to commit suicide. The only poison in the house was a bottle of nux vomica. This was hidden by the mother where it was thought the child could not find it, but she did find it. Just before school opened this morning the child had apparently been in the best of spirits. Children were playing near the pumphouse, when suddenly little Bessie pulled out a bottle labelled "Poison."

Deliberate Suicide

She pointed at the label, and said to her girl chums: "This is poison, I am going to take it and kill myself, as I am tired of life." As she talked she poured the contents of the bottle into a half-filled cup of water, and before the children could realize what she was about to do, she had swallowed it. Then she screamed, and the children joined her as she raced to "tell teacher." She was a child of more than ordinary brightness. Her father is Richard Gerardy, a wealthy farmer.

Men's Guild Honours Departing Member

Mr. G. G. Pratley Presented With Address and Travelling Bag by Fellow-Members of St. Luke's Guild—Regular Meeting of Organization Held Last Night.

The regular monthly meeting of St. Luke's Men's Guild was held last night in the Guild Rooms on Hunter street, at which a large attendance was present. The president, Mr. G. F. Warde, was in the chair. The Rector opened the meeting with devotional exercises. The usual routine business was attened to. It was decided to let the Girls' Auxiliary join with the Men's Guild at their concert and allow them to have sales tables. The sidesmen for November were appointed. One new member was received. A pleasant feature of the evening was the presentation of an address and travelling bag to Mr. G. G. Pratley, a member of the Guild since its inception. After the business of the Guild had been transacted the rector addressed the men. He said that he had learned only on Sunday that Mr. Pratley was about to leave. Personally he regretted it exceedingly for one could not help being attached to Mr. Pratley. He did not think there was a more model man anywhere than he. As a churchman he was loyal and most devoted to his church; he could not remember of Mr. Pratley ever having neglected attending his church, except when sick or on a holiday. He had neither the bad habit of running from one church to another, but attended his own with strict regularity. As a young man he was of exemplary conduct, in fact he knew of nothing that could be said against him, and he had the good faculty of making friends everywhere. Mr. Pratley was in every sense of the word a child of St. Luke's. He was baptized there, received his instructions in the faith there, and was confirmed there; his whole life had been lived under the shadow of the church. It was therefore no wonder that all regretted his leaving. To express all this and more, the Rector said he was asked to read the following address to Mr. Pratley:—

St. Luke's Church, Ashburnham.
October, 8th, 1906.

Mr. G. G. Pratley,—

Dear Sir,—We have learned with much regret that you are about to leave Peterborough, and that by your removal our pleasant associations with you in church life will have to be severed.

We desire to express to you before you leave how much we have valued your friendship, and how greatly we have appreciated your active interest in the work of the church. For several years you have been secretary of the Men's Guild, and during your tenure of that office you have done much to interest others in the affairs of the guild, and to keep it an active organization. You have been associated with the Finance Committee of the church, and your business knowledge and ability as an accountant have ever been readily placed at the disposal of the church in the service for Christ and our fellow-men.

We ask you to accept the accompanying gift as a slight token of our esteem and respect, and we beg of you to be assured that our good wishes and prayers shall follow you to your new abode.

We remain, on behalf of St. Luke's Church and Men's Guild,

Very sincerely yours.
Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, M.A., Rector,
Frank Adams, People's Warden.
G. F. Warde, President Men's Guild.

Mr. Warde then presented to Mr. Pratley a beautiful leather travelling bag, in a few well chosen words, adding his personal regards, and regrets he felt at his leaving.

Mr. Pratley, when rising to respond, was greeted with loud applause. He was quite overcome by the kindness shown him. He himself regretted severing the pleasant ties, but opportunities lay within his reach that he could not help but accept. Though he would go to Uncle Sam's domains he would always remain a British subject. He thanked the guild for their kindness, and assured them that he would never forget St. Luke's and its pleasant associations.

Other members spoke, all expressing the same sentiments of regret at his leaving.

Refreshments were then served, and the toast "to our guest," proposed by the Rector, heartily drunk, and accepted with "for he is a jolly, good fellow." After a pleasant social hour the gathering dispersed, after singing "God Save the King."

The New Physical Director's Welcome

Will be Held at Y. M. C. A. Opening Reception on Friday.

On Friday evening of this week, October 12, the annual Y.M.C.A. opening and the reception to the new physical director, Mr. E. Dingman, who arrives in the city on Wednesday, will be held.

The Social and Physical Committees are combining their best efforts to make this event a great success.

The programme will be run off in the gymnasium. A basketball contest will take place between the Arrows and the Alerts, and several other special features will be put on.

The Y.M.C.A. orchestra will be in attendance. Several popular local singers will also participate.

The building will be thrown open on the evening to the general public, a hearty invitation being extended to all, and no admission fee.

Fuller particulars in printed programme. Everybody reserve the date.

Annual Tea At All Saint's Church

Will be Held on Thursday, November 8th.

The annual thanksgiving tea, in connection with All Saints' church, will be held on Thursday, November 18th, in the basement of the church, when the ladies of this church will serve the usual bountiful dinner. These events are always looked forward to with pleasure, by not only the members of this congregation, but by many other citizens.

Locals Have Good Team But Badly Need System

What the Hamilton Press Has to Say of the Game—Gillespie's Playing is Particularly Referred to by the Mountain Scribes.

The Hamilton papers, in their accounts of Saturday's game, while they refer to Peterborough's lack of system, express the opinion that the locals have a good team and that they will give the Argos a run for second money, at least. The Spectator, in part, says:

Fifteen hungry Tigers, accompanied by about 150 enthusiastic supporters, journeyed to Peterborough on Saturday, where, in a drizzling rain that continued until within a few minutes of the conclusion of the game, and on a field dotted with pools of water and so soft that the players sank into the mud a couple of inches every step they took, the champions played their first game of the season with the baby team of the O. R.F.U. senior series. The score, 36 to 0, tells the tale of what happened. The home team was outclassed in every department, and the Tigers came home in the evening with another scalp dangling to their belts. It was a hollow victory for, while the Peterborough boys fought gamely to the finish, the result was never in doubt, and from the time that the oval was kicked off it was just a question of how many points the Tigers would roll up, and whether the Peterboroughs would score or not.

A more disagreeable day for football could scarcely be imagined, yet the attendance was large for a place the size of Peterborough, evidencing the popularity of the snap-back game in that busy and progressive little burg. The grand-stand, which is as large as the one at the cricket grounds, was crowded, and a couple of hundred enthusiastic spectators lined the touch lines and witnessed the game from beneath umbrellas. It was a fairly good exhibition despite the sloppy and slippery condition of the field and the wetness of the pigskin, which made it hard to handle. The Peterborough backs did some fumbling, but the Tigers' back division made very few mistakes. It worked like a piece of well-oiled machinery, and the many spectacular stunts pulled off electrified the crowd and at times made it forget that the home-brews were being swamped. Time and again, when the Tigers got going, four or five of them would bundle the ball, carrying it nearly half the length of the field before the man with the pigskin was caught with the goods on him, and made to bite the mud.

While the Peterborough dozen was overwhelmingly defeated, it was far from being disgraced, as every man on the team put up a plucky fight until the final whistle sounded. Individually the Peterborough players put up a good game, considering that it was only their second appearance in senior company, and that they were stacked up against the greatest exponents of the snapback game in the country, but in team work they were sadly deficient. In fact they made little or no attempt at team work. When a man got the ball he made ground he could with it, but the idea of passing it never occurred to him, with the result that he seldom made much headway. Gillespie was the shining star of the team. He made a couple of costly fumbles, but he also made some of the most sensational runs of the day. He was very speedy and time and again carried the ball from well behind his goal line to a place of safety, zig-zagging his way past a number of Tigers before being stopped. Mulhern at full back also played a good defence game, getting out of a number of tight corners. McWilliams at centre half had a lot of work to do. His punting was weak, the slippery ball bothering him considerably, but otherwise he played well. In the second half Crowley replaced Ford on the half-back line, and his tackling was a feature. Easton, at quarter, was always in the game, and buried many a Tiger's face in the mud. For a man of his reputation, Hurtubise did not do anything wonderful. After he had bumped into Barron once or twice he was content to allow the Tigers' big centre to do pretty much as he pleased. Of the wings, Crough, who received his education while a member of the Tigers' team a year ago, Craig and Meagher were the pick. They were unable to do much against the Tigers strong line, but when they did manage to get away they were fast and fearless.

The Hamilton Herald says of the Peterborough team:—

Dry grounds would not have been as beneficial to Peterborough as to the Tigers. The Petes are badly in need of a coach who has a thorough knowledge of the Burnside rules. They have the material for a team of championship calibre, but they lack system and good management. There was very little team work on the part of the northerners, and when they did attempt any code work, the players did not seem to understand the meaning of the signals. Individually, the Petes did some spectacular work, Gillespie, the left half-back being particularly brilliant. The back division seemed to depend on him entirely to do the work, and he generally did it with little or no assistance. When the ball was kicked behind the Peterborough line, it was generally Gillespie who carried it out. In fact, he was IT of the Petes, and as half-back has few superiors.

Eugene Hurtubise, amateur champion wrestler of Canada, played centre for the breakfast food eaters. He is even bigger than his name, and has a reputation for his unladylike tactics on the football field. But he is only human, and found out before the game nicely started that he had a worthy opponent in Wally Barron.

City League To Meet To-night

Business of Importance is to Be Done.

A meeting of the Executive of the City League will be held to-night at 7.30 o'clock, sharp, at the Examiner office. Business of importance is to come up in connection with Saturday's game between the Bankers and Quakers. The clubs are asked to send representatives.

City League Game Next Saturday

Quakers and Bankers to Meet at Riverside Park.

The first game in the City League will be played on Saturday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock between the Bankers and Quakers, a contest which should furnish great excitement and a good exhibition of rugby. Both teams have been practising faithfully and will be in fine shape for the game which should attract a good crowd. The City League should be encouraged, for from its ranks must come the seniors of the future. Gillespie and Mulhern of the seniors are graduates of the old City League and if the present league turns out a few such men it will have served its purpose.

The league game will be followed by a practice match between the Peterborough team and a picked team from the league.

W. A. Knox Is Now Y.M.C.A. Champion

Athlete Well Known Here Distinguishes Himself.

In the Canadian Y.M.C.A. championship contests at Hamilton on Saturday, Walter Knox, of Orillia, who is well known in Peterborough, having raced here, beat Bobby Kerr, the well-known Canadian sprinter in the 100 yards dash, won the Spaulding medal, emblematic of the championship. He won the 100 yards in 10 1-5 seconds, the broad jump, shot put and pole vault and was second in the hammer throwing. He broke the record for putting the shot and equalled the record, 11 feet, for the pole vault.

Athletic Association Has Been Suggested

Groups all Sporting Organizations of Peterborough Under One Management--United Efforts Would Prove Beneficial--A Suggestion That Might be Followed Out With Profit.

A suggestion was made to The Examiner to-day by a well-known sporting man which, the more it is studied, seems to be an excellent one.

It is to the effect that a Peterborough Athletic Association should be formed to take charge of the more popular branches of sport in Peterborough. Thus hockey, lacrosse and rugby would be under the same management, a system that would undoubtedly work advantageously in the interests of all these games. For one thing, the matter of financing the clubs would be a much more easy matter if they were all under the control of one body. There would be no trouble in securing a membership of two or three hundred, whose efforts, if united, would result in great things for all lines of sport. The various teams would be assured of the support of a powerful body of men, all working with a common end in view of making Peterborough a prominent sporting centre.

The scheme could be promoted with little trouble, and there are enough energetic and enthusiastic sportsmen in Peterborough to make the plan a success from the beginning. The suggestion is a good one, and might be considered with profit by all those who take an interest in the athletic organizations of the city.

Field Days At Other Institutes

Records of the Students of London and Toronto Compared With Those of Peterboro'

It may be of interest to the pupils of the local Collegiate Institute and their friends to compare their Annual Field Day with those of London and Toronto, and incidentally, to note the different times made in certain events at these three Collegiate Institutes. There were three schools competing, but they may be considered as one. At London there were races for the fair sex, but in the eastern cities there are no Atlantas fostered; they are rather "Taught to Walk Demurely" as the song from the "Yankee Consul" says. At any rate the Peterborough girls are as good if not better, than those of London and Toronto.

In the 100 yards dash, senior, the Times (were, respectively:—Peterborough, 12-5 seconds; London, 11 4-5 seconds; Toronto, 10 4-5 seconds.

220 yards race, senior, Peterborough 28 1-5 seconds; London, 24 seconds; Toronto, 24 seconds.

1-4 mile run, senior, Peterborough 1 minute, 8 seconds; Toronto, 54 seconds.

High jump, senior, Peterborough, 4 feet, 43-4 inches; London, 5 feet; Toronto 5 feet, 3 1-2 inches.

Running jump, senior, Peterborough 14 feet, 6 inches; London, 18 feet, 3 1-2 inches; Toronto, 21 feet.

In the junior events London made the 100 yards in 10 4-5 seconds; Peterborough 13 seconds. In the high jump London made 4 feet, 10 inches; Peterborough, 4 feet, 4 3-4 inches. In the broad jump London made 15 feet, 2 inches; Peterborough 12 feet, 3 inches.

In Toronto and London the students prepare earnestly for the Field Day and great enthusiasm prevails for a month or more before that day. In this city the boys do not train as long or as persistently and as a result they do not make as good records as the pupils of the other schools. In Toronto especially the pupils of the three Institutes become stirred with enthusiasm and at the Varsity field, where the sports were held a number of friendly fights occurred. This is becoming a prevalent accompaniment of sport—a free fight. Formerly it was merely the toughs who did the scrapping, now everybody takes a hand in it. The result will be that in time the people will not patronize sport, especially if it increases as it has been doing. We can take a good lesson to heart from the example of English sports who do not forget themselves when on the athletic field and lower themselves to mobbing and fighting. Although the Peterborough boys did not do as well as those of the other two cities, still we are proud of them and with sufficient training, we are sure they would do even better than those mentioned. What has been done in the past can be done in the future.

RUGBY.

Coach Poe, of the Peterborough rugby team paid the Tigers a compliment on Saturday of which they are well worthy. He watched the game from the touch-line and did his best to encourage his team. Speaking of the Hamilton boys, he said:—"I have seen most of the United States college teams at work, but of all the teams I have ever seen the Hamilton Tigers have the most good tricks."—Hamilton Times.

Before the game started the Peterborough rooters sang a number of parodies on popular songs, telling about what was going to happen to the Tigers. After the champions got going they closed up like clams.—Hamilton Spectator.

The beating the Tigers gave Peterborough on Saturday reminds us of the great bumpings they gave us last summer. Peterborough should keep in its own class. That's what they told us last year also.—London Free Press.

• • • •

The Tigers used a new code of signals and all of their old tricks and a few new ones. The criss-cross take back and shift plays were all worked with good results, the cris-cross in particular puzzling the home players and being responsible for a couple of the scores. The play was new to many of the spectators and it kept them busy watching the ball.—Hamilton Spectator.

The senior rugby team will practice on Wednesday and Thursday nights at the rink and on Saturday afternoon at Riverside Park when they will meet a picked team from the City League.

The Quakers will practise this evening in the Brock street rink at 7.30. Every member of the team is requested to be on hand.

Acrobat Falls From Sky-Scraper

After Three Double Somersaults Escapes Unhurt.

Examiner Special.

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 8th.—A workman fell from the fourteenth story of the local Collegiate Institute and their the new Long building this afternoon and was back at work in five minutes, without an injury of any kind save two blistered hands. There was nothing between him and the stone walk, 200 feet below, when he started for it head foremost, but fifteen or twenty feet down he managed to catch a rope used for hoisting purposes, turned a complete somersault while a crowd of spectators stood paralyzed with horror, slid a dozen feet further before he got the better of his momentum, and then climbed back hand over hand to the top of the building, picked up his trowel and resumed work.

The man was John A. Michelson, and and his family lives in Chicago. He is a bricklayer and terra cotta worker, is 40 years old, and weighs 140 pounds.

"I used to be an acrobat," said Michaelson, "and I guess that is what saved me. It happened this way," he went on. "I was getting a piece of terra cotta in place, when it got the better of me and I could feel that it was about to go over the edge. It weighed 200 pounds, and the first thing I thought of was the people on the sidewalk below. I thought if the piece was to fall the only thing for me to do was to push it far enough so it would clear the sidewalk when it struck. But I was too close to the edge myself, and when the piece went over I followed head first.

"Scared? I didn't have time to be scared. I just grabbed. I don't know whether I even knew the rope was there. But I felt my hands strike something, grasped it as a drowning man would grasp a straw, flopped over in the air until I was right side up, and, after a short slide downward, stopped. You knew I couldn't very well stay suspended there in the air, so up the rope I went hand over hand."

A CHANCE FOR THE YOUNG MAN

We call attention of our readers to the advertisement of the National Railway Training School, of Minneapolis, Minn., which will be found in another column. This school provides the training which is so necessary nowadays for the applicant for a railroad position. The instruction given by this school is wholly by mail, thus making it unnecessary for the student to leave home. Many young men on the farms and in the cities and towns deplore the lack of opportunity to get ahead in the world, when the fact is, opportunities are to be found on every side if one has the ability to grasp them. The young men of this vicinity are now given the opportunity to enrol with a reputable training school, which has the endorsement of railroad officials, and get valuable training in the essentials of railroad work for a small price. The work this school is doing is highly commendable and should receive the hearty support of our citizens.

Protestant Home Board Held Its Annual Meeting

Old Officers Were All Re-elected—Treasurer's Report Shows a Satisfactory Balance—Attendance Was Not Large.

The annual meeting of the Peterborough Protestant Home Board, was held yesterday afternoon at the Home but was not as largely attended as usual. The only business transacted was the receiving of reports and the election of officers. The former officers were re-elected and a new office was established, that of assistant secretary, which will be filled by Miss Sarah Robinson.

There were present Miss Roger, Mrs. Hall, Mrs. Birdsall, Miss Nicholls, Mrs. R. S. Davidson, Mrs. Roger, Mrs. Jas. Dennistoun, Miss Stewart, and the secretary, M. Miller.

The Report

The secretary, M. Miller, presented her report as follows:

In reviewing the work of the past year there is much to encourage and gratify those interested in the work. Apart from the general routine, two questions that have given the committee serious thought, have been satisfactorily settled.

For many years the Home has not been able to accommodate all applications for admission, and in the majority of cases these persons were most deserving. In view of this fact, at the annual meeting last year the trustees of the Board, (Dr. Halliday, J. B. McWilliams and G. M. Roger) were asked to confer with representatives of the city and county councils, and the clergy of the city, to devise some means by which those in need could be provided for.

In January a meeting was held, and the result was the county council decided to build a House of Refuge, and when this is completed there will be no more difficulty in providing for the poor.

In 1872, the late Sheriff Hall very kindly gave the committee of management a long lease of the property occupied by the Home. For some time the trustees and committee have thought it advisable to purchase the property, if possible. After negotiations the trustees of the Hall estate consented to this, and a deed was given the trustees of the Home.

During the year 34 have been given a comfortable home, the greater number of whom have been inmates for many years. There have been 4 deaths, all persons of very advanced years. Seventeen applied for admission who at date of application could not be admitted, but, as vacancies occurred five were accepted.

The matron has discharged her duties most faithfully, always showing the same kindness and consideration to those under her care.

The committee of management is very grateful to all who have in any way contributed to the comfort and pleasure of the old people, and to ladies who have been added to the committee and taken an interest in the business meetings, the most sincere thanks of everyone connected with the Home are due, to the clergy and physicians, who responded so generously to the calls made upon their time. The officers also thank most kindly the editors of the newspapers for their kindness in giving space to the work and news of the Home.

M. MILLER,
Secretary.

Treasurer's Statement

The treasurer, Mrs. W. M. Roger, presented an encouraging report. The total receipts for the year were $2655.95, and the expenditures $2145.-02, leaving a balance of $510.93.

The following officers were elected:
President—Miss Roger.
1st Vice-Pres.—Mrs. Hall.
2nd Vice-Pres.—Mrs. J. B. McWilliams.
Treas.—Mrs. W. M Roger.
Asst. Treas.—Mrs. R. S. Davidson.
Secretary—M. Miller.
Asst. Secretary—Miss Sarah Robinson.

Warsaw To Have Branch Of Conservatory Of Music

Large Number Desire to Take Advantage of the Classes—Concrete Walks and Crossings are Finished—Other News Notes.

Warsaw, October 9. — Mr. W. E. McCann, of the staff of the Peterborough Conservatory of Music, was in town on Friday last, making arrangements for the opening of a branch of that institution here.

A large number of parents and pupils met Mr. McCann and made arrangements for lessons. Private lessons will be given in piano, organ and vocal music, and a choral society will be formed for the training of mixed voices. This latter feature will no doubt appeal to a large number here who are interested in choral work, and Mr. McCann will be pleased to meet them on Saturday evening next. Mr. McCann comes highly recommended, he being an honour graduate of Toronto University and is at present organist and choir master of the George street Methodist church, Peterborough. It is understood that a room over Mr. A. F. Choate's store has been secured as a music room.

The new concrete walks and crossings were completed on Friday last and are quite in line with the many other improvements being made.

Miss M. Middleton returned on Saturday from a month's visit to Lakefield, Lakehurst and Lindsay.

Mr. H. J Reid of Gananoque returned home on Friday having spent a week with his father, Mr. G. W. Reid.

Mr. Fred Tully of Hamilton, was in town for a few days last week.

Mr. Cephas Payne, who has been visiting his brother, at Deloraine, Man., returned home on Saturday.

Mr. Jas. McIlvena and Mrs. McIlvena, Apsley, are here for a few days.

Miss Ethel Doughty of Peterborough, is visiting her cousin, Miss McIntosh.

Mr. Albert Smithson and Mrs. Smithson, were in Millbrook last week visiting relatives.

Mr. T. Miller left on Monday for Madoc where he has secured a position as school teacher.

The Bell Telephone Company has a number of men engaged on the line making changes, which will result in giving Warsaw a through line to Peterborough.

Mr. C. J. Owens, who it is understood, has recently purchased the Redmond property in Otonabee, is spending a week here, making plans for a new barn from some model buildings in this vicinity.

WEDDING BELLS

CARVETH—SPENCER.

Examiner Special

Warsaw, Oct. 8. — On the evening of Wednesday, September 26th, the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Spencer, Dummer, was the scene of a very pretty wedding, when their youngest daughter, Luella, was united in marriage to Mr. Arthur Carveth, of Hall's Glen. The nuptial knot was tied by Rev. D. E. Johnson, B. D., of South Dummer.

The bride wore a handsome costume of cream silk, Panama, trimmed with lace and ribbon, carrying a beautiful bouquet of white asters. The bride was attended by Miss Violet Carveth, sister of the groom, who was prettily attired in a similar costume, and carrying a bouquet of pink asters.

Miss Mildred Clementi, niece of the bride, made a charming little flower girl. She was dressed in pale blue.

The groom was assisted by Mr. Rork Ferguson, cousin of the bride.

Precisely as the hour hand pointed to seven the bridal party entered the waiting room, which was prettily decorated with plants and cut flowers. Meanwhile the organ pealed forth the strains of a wedding march played by Miss Lillie Carveth, sister of the groom.

The ceremony being completed and congratulations exchanged, the guests numbering about 50, adjourned to the dining room to a sumptuous repast. The table was decorated with white flowers.

The remainder of the evening was spent in music and singing. All enjoyed very much the music furnished by Mr. Archie Carveth, with his phonograph.

The esteem in which the young couple are held was evidenced by the large number of beautiful and costly presents.

Tea makes for temperance, and consequently law and order. Tea makes health and happiness, and that is why the sealed lead packets of the "SALADA" Tea Company are so popular.

Pinkertons Guard Homes

Attempted Kidnapping Leads To Action.

(Examiner Special.)

New York, Oct. 10.—The attempt of two men in a buggy to kidnap Eleonie Mary Ladenburg, the 14-year-old daughter of Mrs. Adolf Ladenburg, on a lonely road on Hempstead Plains, L.I., led Mrs. Ladenburg to say to-day that she proposed to establish her own police force and that, with other wealthy residents, she would maintain protection for their families.

"The attack on my daughter," she said, "is the fifth such incident that has happened to us many families in this vicinity in the last two months. Among the families so attacked are the James Burdens and the Keenes. In those instances, as in this, no one knows positively that the outlaws intended kidnapping, but they made the attack, and viciously, too.

"In my mind, this is the same gang that has been blowing safes and robbing houses all around us. I have called for the police at Westbury, Mineola and Hempstead, but I cannot get hold of any of them. I have engaged the Pinkertons."

The fashionable residents in the vicinity of the Ladenburg estate, near Westbury, L.I., were ready at any hour last night to lynch the men who made the attack had they been caught, but, though searching parties scoured the country for miles about the vicinity of the outrage, no trace of the men was found.

"Lock Me Up," Was Little Boy's Cry

He Did Not Want His Chum to Go Without Him.

(Examiner Special.)

Port Huron, Mich. Oct. 10. — "Please lock me up with Harrison. We've always been playmates. If he has to go to Lansing I want to go with him."

Thus pleaded Ernest Hoodless at the St. Clair County Jail to-day. His companion, Harrison Stockford, was detained there awaiting transfer to the State Industrial School in Lansing, where he was sentenced until he is 16 years of age.

The boys are both 13 years of age. They had started off to see the world, but were picked up at Emmet. Stockford is an orphan.

Crying as if his heart would break, Ernest walked slowly away when told that the jail was not for him, and that he could see his chum no more.

Had Been Parted Forty-nine Years

Brother and Sister United in Walkerville.

(Examiner Special.)

Walkerville, Oct. 10.—After a separation of 49 years, George Monk, of Chatham township, and his sister, Mrs. Stanfield, of St. Thomas, have been reunited at the home of Joseph Winterburn, 87 Argyle street, Walkerville.

The brother and sister parted in 1857. Monk, then an employee of the Great Western Railway, went south to accept a new position, and was absent for several years, returning to find that his sister had been married during his absence and had removed to some other part of the country. Her whereabouts was not learned until a year or two ago, when Joseph Winterburn, of Walkerville, a son-in-law of Monk, paid a visit to the Old Country in search of her, finally locating her in St. Thomas under the name of Mrs. Stanfield. The result was the reunion.

It is expected that another reunion will be held at the home of Mrs. Stanfield in St. Thomas next Christmas, when all the relatives will be present.

Wanted Chop Suey Then Mutinied

Chinese Firemen Strike for Strange Reason.

(Examiner Special.)

Pensacola, Fla., Oct. 10. — The Chinamen composing the fire room crew of the British steamer E. O. Salmorast, ancohred at Tarragona wharf, revolted last night and made a desperate dash for liberty, fighting like fiends with the officers, who stopped them as they were swimming over the sides of the vessel.

They were finally clubbed into submission, but soon made other dash, this time fighting even more desperately. They were armed with stilettos, pieces of iron, and brass knuckles. With the assistance of workmen on the wharf they were again overpowered and placed in irons.

The men mutinied because the cook had failed to provide them with chop suey.

Sensation Was Caused by His Arrest.

(Examiner Special.)

Scranton, Pa., Oct. 10.—George B. Schooley, of Philadelphia, whose action yesterday in contesting the will of the late James L. Crawford, a millionaire coal operator, created a sensation here, was to-day arrested upon the accusation of James G. Shepher, stepson of Crawford, of having committed forgery.

Schooley claims that under a will subsequent to that probated, Crawford, who was his cousin, had made him his chief beneficiary, bequeathing him $1,000,000 cash and stocks in coal property and the Chicago subway. He also alleges that he was to become president of the People's Coal Company here, and was to receive $10,000 a month out of its profits. Schooley was given a hearing and held in $10,000 bail to answer at court.

THE RASH ACTION OF RASPBERRIES

Mrs. Rolland Hill, of Dummer, near Stony Lake, has left with the Examiner a freak of vegetation, in the shape of branches of raspberries containing ripe raspberries, ripening raspberries and raspberry blossoms. While raspberries have a way of sometimes engineering an aftermath, it is not often that they show such freaks in the middle of October.

The Lincoln Paper company at Merriton has purchased the Lybster mills there, and will convert them into up-to-date paper mills. News and wrapping paper will be manufactured.

The Phonograph and the Graft

By O. HENRY

Copyright by S. S. McClure Co.

I LOOKED in at the engine room of the Bloomfield-Cutter Manufacturing company, limited, for the engineer was Kirksy, and there was a golden half hour between the time he shut down steam and washed up that I coveted.

I found Kirksy resting, with his pipe lit, smut faced and blue overalled.

"'Tis a fair afternoon," I said, "but bids to be colder."

"Did I ever tell you," began Kirksy honorably, "about the time Henry Horsecollar and me took a phonograph to South America?" And I felt ashamed of my subterfuge and dropped into the wooden chair he kicked toward me.

"Henry was a quarter breed, quarterback Cherokee, educated east in the idioms of football and west in contraband whisky, and a gentleman, same as you or me. He was easy and romping in his ways; a man about six foot, with a kind of rubber tire movement.

"Henry and me met at Texarkana and figured out this phonograph scheme. He had $360 which came to him out of a land allotment in the reservation. I had run down from Little Rock on account of a distressful scene I had witnessed on the street there. A man stood on a box and passed around some gold watches, screw case, stem winders, Elgin movement; very elegant. Twenty bucks they cost you over the counter. At $3 the crowd fought for the tickers. The man happened to find a valise full of them handy, and he passed them out like putting hot biscuits on a plate. The backs were hard to unscrew, but the crowd put its ear to the case, and they ticked mollifying and agreeable. Three of those watches were genuine tickers, but the rest, they were only kickers.

"Hey? Why, empty cases, with one of them horny black bugs that fly around electric lights in 'em. Them bugs kick off minutes and seconds industrious and beautiful. The man I was speaking of cleaned up $288 and went away, because he knew that when it came to wind watches in Little Rock an entomologist would be needed, and he wasn't one.

"So as I say, Henry had $360 and I had $288. The phonograph idea was Henry's, but I took to it freely, being fond of machinery of all kinds.

"We bought a fine phonograph in Texarkana—one of the best make—and half a trunkful of records. We packed up and took the T. and P. for New Orleans. From that celebrated center of molasses and disfranchised coon songs we took a steamer for—yes, I think it was South America or Mexico—I am full of inability to divulge the location of it—'tis on the rural delivery map, 'tis colored yellow on the map and branded with the literature of cigar boxes.

"We landed on a smiling coast at a town they denounced by the name, as near as I can recollect, of Sore-toe-kangaroo. 'Twas a palatable enough place to look at. The houses were clean and white, sticking about among the scenery like hard boiled eggs served with lettuce. There was a block of skyscraper mountains in the suburbs, and they kept pretty quiet, like they were laying one finger on their lips and watching the town. And the sea was remarking 'Sh-sh-sh!' on the beach, and now and then a ripe cocoanut would fall kerflip in the sand, and that was all there was doing.

"The captain went ashore with us and offered to conduct what he seemed to like to call the obsequies. He introduced Henry and me to the United States consul and a roan man, the head of the department of mercenary, and licentious disposition, the way it read upon his sign.

"'I touch here again a week from today,' says the captain.

"'By that time,' we told him, 'we'll be amassing wealth in the interior towns with our galvanized prima donna and correct imitations of Sousa's band excavating a march from a tin mine.'

"'Ye'll not,' says the captain. 'Ye'll be hypnotized. Any gentleman in the audience who kindly steps upon the stage and looks this country in the eye will be converted to the hypothesis that he's but a fly in the Elgin creamery. Ye'll be standing knee deep in the surf waiting for me, and your machine for making hamburger steak out of the hitherto respected art of music will be playing "There's no place like home."'

"Henry skinned a twenty off his roll and received from the bureau of mercenary dispositions a paper bearing a red seal and a dialect story, and no change.

"Then we got the consul full of red wine and struck him for a horoscope. He was a thin, youngish kind of man, I should say past fifty, sort of French-Irish in his affectious and puffed up with dissonsolation. Yes, he was a flattened kind of a man in whom drink lay stagnant, inclined to corpulence and misery. Yes, I think he was a kind of Dutchman, being very sad and genial in his ways.

"'The marvelous invention,' he says, 'entitled the phonograph has never before invaded these shores. The people have never heard it. They would not believe if if they should. Simple hearted children of nature, progress has never condemned them to accept the work of a can opener as an overture, and ragtime might incite them to a bloody revolution. But you can try the experiment. The best chance you have is that the populace may not wake up when you play. There's two ways,' says the consul, 'they may take it- they may become inebriated with attention, like an Atlanta colonel listening to "Marching Through Georgia," or they will be scared and clamber to the key of the music with an ax and yourselves into a dungeon. In the latter case,' says the consul, 'I'll do my duty by cabling to the state department, and I'll wrap the stars and stripes around you when you come to be shot, and threaten them with the vengeance of the greatest gold export and financial reserve nation on earth. The flag is full of bullet holes now,' says the consul, 'made in that way. Twice before,' says the consul, 'I have cabled our government for a couple of gunboats to protect American citizens. The first time the department sent me a pair of gum boots. The other time was when a man named Pease was going to be executed here. They referred that appeal to the secretary of agriculture. Let us now disturb the senor behind the bar for a subsequence of the red wine.'

"Thus soliloquized the consul of Sore-toe-kangaroo to me and Henry Horsecollar.

"But, notwithstanding, we hired a room that afternoon in the Calle de los Angeles, the main street that runs along the shore, and put our trunks there. 'Twas a good sized room, dark and cheerful, but small. 'Twas on a various street, diversified by houses and conservatory plants. The peasantry of the city passed to and fro on the fine pasturage between the sidewalks. 'Twas, for the world, like an opera chorus when the Royal Kafoozlum is about to enter.

"We were rubbing the dust off the machine and getting fixed to start business the next day when a big, fine looking white man in white clothes stopped at the door and looked in. We extended the invitations, and he walked inside and sized us up. He was chewing a long cigar and wrinkling his eyes, meditative, like a girl trying to decide which dress to wear to the party.

"'New York?' he says to me finally.

"'Originally, and from time to time,' I says. 'Hasn't it rubbed off yet?'

"'It's simple,' says he, 'when you know how. It's the fit of the vest. They don't cut vests right anywhere else. Coats, maybe, but not vests.'

"The white man looks at Henry Horsecollar and hesitates.

"'Injun,' says Henry; 'tame Injun.'

"'Mellinger,' says the man. 'Homer P. Mellinger. Boys, you're confiscated. You're babes in the wood without a chaperon or referee, and it's my duty to start you going. I'll knock out the props and launch you proper in the pellucid waters of Sore-toe-kangaroo. You'll have to be christened, and if you'll come with me I'll break a bottle of wine across your bows, according to Hoyle.'

"Well, for two days Homer P. Mellinger did the honors. That man cut ice in Sore-toe-kangaroo. He was it. He was the Royal Kafoozlum. If me and Henry was babes in the wood, he was a Robin Redbreast from the topmost bough. Him and me and Henry have the most remarkable effect.

Ninety-nine cases out of a hundred of Female Troubles are due to neglect. Bowels become constipated — kidneys irregular — skin neglected — and the poisons of the body, which should be carried off by these important organs, are taken up by the blood carried to the female organs and poison them, thus starting up a train of female troubles.

FRUIT-A-TIVES are made from fruits and by their remarkable action on bowels, kidneys and skin, rid the system of poisons, purify the blood, and restore the delicate organs of generation to new vigor and health.

programme to happen to them.'

"We three were sitting at table in the cantina of the Purified Saints. Mellinger poured out wine and was looking some worried. I was thinking.

"'They're a sharp crowd,' he says, kind of fretful. 'They're capitalized by a foreign syndicate after rubber, and they're loaded to the mussle for bribing. I'm sick,' goes on Mellinger, 'of comic opera. I want to smell East river and wear suspenders again. At times I feel like throwing up my job, but I'm fool enough to be sort of proud of it. "There's Mellinger," they say here; "por Dios, you can't touch him with a million!" I'd like to take that record back and show it to Billy Renfrow some day, and that tightens my grip whenever I see a fat thing that I could corral just by winking one eye—and losing my graft. By George, they can't monkey with me; they know it! What money I get I make honest and spend it. Some day I'll make a pile and go back and eat caviare with Billy. Tonight I'll show you how to handle a bunch of corruptionists. I'll show them what Mellinger, private secretary, means when you spell it with the cotton and tissue paper off.'

"Mellinger appears shaky and breaks his glass against the neck of the bottle.

"I says to myself, 'White man, if I'm not mistaken, there's been a bait laid out where the tail of your eye could see it.'

"That night, according to arrangements, me and Henry took the phonograph to a room in a 'dobe house in a dirty side street, where the grass was knee high. 'Twas a long room, lit with smoky oil lamps. There was plenty of chairs and a table at the back end.

"By and by the invitations to the musicale came sliding in by pairs and threes and spade flushes. Their color was of a diversity, running from a three days' smoked meerschaum to a patent leather polish. They were as polite as wax, being devastated with enjoyments to give Senor Mellinger the good evenings. I understood their Spanish talk—I ran a pumping engine two years in a Mexican silver mine and had it pat—but I never letson.

"Maybe fifty of 'em had come and was seated, when in slid the king bee, the governor of the district. Mellinger met him at the door and escorted him to the grand stand. When I saw that Latin man I knew that Mellinger, private secretary, had all the dances on his card taken. That was a big, squashy man, the color of a rubber overshoe, and he had an eye like a head waiter's.

"Mellinger explained, fluent, in the Castilian idioms, that the soul was disconcerted with joy at introducing to his respected friends America's greatest invention, the wonder of the age. Henry got the cue and run on an elegant brass band record, and the festivities became initiated. The governor man has a bit of English under his hat, and when the music was choked off he says:

"'Ver-r-ree fine. Gr-r-racias, the American gentleemen, the so esplendeed moosic as to playee.'

"The table was a long one, and Henry and me sat at the end of it next the wall. The governor sat at the other end. Homer P. Mellinger stood at the side of it. I was just wondering how Mellinger was going to handle his crowd, when the home talent suddenly opened the services.

"That governor man was suitable for uprisings and policies. I judge he was a ready kind of man, who took his own time.

"'Do the American senors understand Spanish?' he asked in his native accents.

"'They do not,' says Mellinger.

"'Then listen,' goes on the Latin man prompt. 'The musics are of sufficient prettiness, but not of necessity. Let us speak of business. I well know why we are here, since I observe my compatriots. You had a whisper yesterday, Senor Mellingery of our proposals. Tonight we will speak out. We know that you stand in the president's favor, and we know your influence. The government will be changed. We know the worth of your services. We esteem your friendship and aid so much that'—Mellinger raises his hand, but the governor man bottles him up. 'Do not speak until I have done.'

"The governor man then draws a package wrapped in paper from his pocket and lays it on the table by Mellinger's hand.

"'In that you will find $100,000 in money of your country. You can do nothing against us, but you can be worth that for us. Go back to the capital and obey our instructions. Take that money now. We trust you. You will find with it a paper giving in detail the work you will be expected to do for us. Do not have the unwiseness to refuse.'

"The governor man paused, with his eyes fixed on Mellinger, full of expressions and observances. I looked at Mellinger and was glad Billy Renfrow couldn't see him then. The sweat was popping out on his forehead, and he stood dumb, tapping the little package with the ends of his fingers. The Colorado maduro gang was after his graft. He had only to change his politics and stuff six figures in his inside pocket.

"Henry whispers to me and wants the pause in the programme interpreted. I whisper back, 'H. P. is up against a bribe, senator's size, and the coons have got him going.' I saw Mellinger's hand moving closer to the package. 'He's weakening,' I whispered to Henry. 'We'll remind him,' says Henry, 'of the peanut roaster on Thirty-fourth street, New York.'

"Henry stooped and got a record from the basketful we'd brought, slid it in the phonograph and started her off. It was a cornet solo, very neat and beautiful, and the name of it was 'Home, Sweet Home.' Not one of them fifty odd men in the room moved while it was playing, and the governor man kept his eyes steady on Mellinger. I saw Mellinger's head go up little by little, and his hand came creeping away from the package. Not until the last note sounded did anybody stir.

MIDDLE LIFE

A Time When Women Are Susceptible to Many Dread Diseases—Intelligent Women Prepare for It. Two Relate Their Experiences.

The "change of life" is the most critical period of a woman's existence, and the anxiety felt by women as it draws near is not without reason.

Every woman who neglects the care of her health at this time invites disease and pain.

When her system is in a deranged condition, or she is predisposed to apoplexy, or congestion of any organ, the tendency is at this period likely to become active—and with a host of nervous irritations, make life a burden. At this time, also, cancers and tumors are more liable to form and begin their destructive work.

Such warning symptoms as sense of suffocation, hot flashes, headaches, backaches, dread of impending evil, timidity, sounds in the ears, palpitation of the heart, sparks before the eyes, irregularities, constipation, variable appetite, weakness, inquietude, and dizziness are promptly heeded by intelligent women who are approaching the period in life when woman's great change may be expected.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was prepared to meet the needs of woman's system at this trying period of her life. It invigorates and strengthens the female organism and builds up the weakened nervous system.

For special advice regarding this important period women are invited to write to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., and it will be furnished absolutely free of charge. The present Mrs. Pinkham is the daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham, her assistant before her decease, and for twenty-five years since her advice has been freely given to sick women.

Read what Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound did for Mrs. Powless and Mrs. Mann:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"In my opinion there is no medicine made for women which can compare with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and you have no firmer friend in the Dominion than I am. At the time of change of life I suffered until I was nearly crazy, and was not fit to live with. I was so irritable, irrational and nervous that I was a torment to myself and others. I surely thought that I would lose my reason before I got through, when fortunately an old friend recommended your Vegetable Compound. I took it for five months and then off and on until the critical period had passed, and it restored me to perfect health. My advice to suffering women is to try your Vegetable Compound, and they will not be disappointed."—Mrs. E. Powless, Deseronto, Ont.

Another Woman's Case.

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"As I owe my splendid health to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, I am very pleased to write and tell you my experience with it. I am the mother of three children grown to womanhood, and have safely passed the change of life, and feel as young and as strong as I did twenty years ago, and I know that this is all due to your woman's friend, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I used it before my children were born, and it greatly assisted nature and saved me much pain during the change of life. I took it, off and on, for four years, and had but little trouble and sickness that most women have to endure."—Mrs. James K. Mann, 306 Bathurst St., Toronto, Canada.

What Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for Mrs. Powless and Mrs. Mann, it will do for other women at this time of life.

It has conquered pain, restored health, and prolonged life in cases that utterly baffled physicians.

"PE-RU-NA WORKED WONDERS"

Says a Well-Known Canadian.

MR. P. BRIEN.

Mr. P. Brien, Accountant, residing at 13 Third street, Limoilou, Quebec, writes:

"The fatigues entailed by my duties as accountant began to weaken my system about a year ago. I felt that I would not long be able to withstand the severe strain upon my nerves, as, a thing unknown to me before, I would long for office hours to be over in order to rest.

"I gradually grew weaker and a few months later my sight was impaired. I then broke down completely and was obliged to take my bed. I was also suffering from palpitation of the heart.

"After a few weeks' treatment by a local physician. I was in the same critical condition, and as the doctor hold out no great prospects for me, I decided to experiment on myself.

"I took several remedies advertised as tonics, but did not derive any benefit.

"Peruna was then given a trial, and before I had taken it a week I felt my condition improving. After a few weeks more had elapsed, during which time I followed the directions carefully, my shattered nervous system became firmer, my sight stronger and I hoped to be out soon again.

"My expectations were realized, for in three weeks I assumed my duties as accountant at the office.

"Peruna certainly worked wonders on my system, and for persons run-down from overwork, I believe it is the most efficacious tonic.!'

Pe-ru-na is a Systemic Catarrh Remedy, Especially Adapted to Cases of Nervous Prostration, Caused By Overwork, Mental Strain Or Extreme Summer Heat.

IN latitudes where warm weather is of long continuance, the inhabitants become more or less accustomed to it.

In Temperate Zones, however, where the change from winter to summer is great, the system is sometimes poorly prepared to meet the exigencies of hot weather. This is the cause of much sickness.

Stomach catarrh, indigestion and dyspepsia are not among the least of summer ailments.

When the digestion is disturbed, the assimilation is also affected, and as a result the body does not receive the nourishment it should. Lassitude, weakness, brain fag, loss of flesh and nervous prostration are the natural results.

INDIGESTION CAUSES WEAKNESS.

What is needed is a remedy that will restore the digestive organs to their normal condition.

Such a remedy has been found in Peruna. It has proven itself of priceless value in thousands of cases of this kind.

Its action has been seemingly miraculous in restoring some patients who had given up all hope of recovery.

But there is nothing strange about Peruna's action. It simply tones up the mucous membranes of the organs involved restoring them to their normal conditions and leaving Nature to perform her duties unhindered.

PE-RU-NA'S BENEFICIAL EFFECT.

That person who has sound, healthy mucous membranes lining the entire digestive tract is well-guarded against the usual summer ailments.

Peruna is the means whereby to attain this most desirable condition.

If you suffer from any of the abovementioned symptoms, try a bottle of Peruna.

One bottle of this remedy is sufficient to convince any one of its merit as a safe and reliable remedy for all catarrhal conditions.

We have many letters of gratitude received from persons who have experienced its benefits.

These testimonials are proof to us that Peruna has not failed in the mission for which it was intended, that of relieving suffering and restoring health.

Assistant War Correspondent Recommends Pe-ru-na.

Mr. H. B. Manley, assistant War Correspondent during the War in China, care "Black and White," 688 Craig St., Montreal, Canada, writes:

"When a man travels in extremely hot or cold climates, he realizes how valuable a friend he has if he carries a bottle of Peruna.

"I know of no article in my traveling outfit which I have learned to praise higher.

"If you are suffering with the extreme heat, Peruna restores you, or if you are afflicted with a cold, la grippe or bronchitis, Peruna restores you in a short time.

"Or if you suffer with sleeplessness or if your appetite is poor, again Peruna acts as a good, true friend and is the tonic needed.

"I have tried it for months and am only too glad to acknowledge it as a true, loyal standby in times of trouble. I do not hesitate to recommend it to all."

and then Homer P. Mellinger takes up the bundle of boodle and slams it in the governor man's face.

"'That's my answer,' says Mellinger, private secretary, 'and there'll be another in the morning. I have proofs of conspiracy against every man of you. The show is over, gentlemen.'

"'There's one more act,' puts in the governor man. 'You are a servant, I believe, employed by the president to copy letters and answer raps at the door. I am governor here. Senors, I call upon you in the name of the cause to seize this man!'

"All me and Mellinger had to do was to follow."

"That brindled gang of conspirators shoved back their chairs and advanced in force. I could see where Mellinger had made a mistake in massing his enemy so as to make a grand stand play. I think he made another one, too, but we can pass that. Mellinger's idea of graft and mine being different, according to estimations and points of view.

"There was only one window and door in that room, and they were in the front end. Here was fifty odd Latin men coming in a bunch to obstruct the legislation of Mellinger. You may say there was three of us, for me and Henry, simultaneous, declared New York city and the Cherokee Nation in sympathy with the weaker party.

"Then it was that Henry Horsecollar rose to a point of disorder and interfered, showing admirable the advantages of education as applied to the American Indian's natural intellect and native refinement. He stood up and smoothed back his hair on each side with his hands as you have seen little girls do when they play.

"'Get behind me, both of you,' says Henry.

"'What is it to be?' I asked.

"'I'm going to buck center,' says Henry, in his football idioms. 'There isn't a tackle in the lot of them. Keep close behind me and rush the game.'

"That cultured red man exhaled an arrangement of sounds with his mouth that caused the Latin aggregation to pause with thoughtfulness and hesitations. The matter of his proclamation seemed to be a co-operation of the Cherokee college yell with the Carlisle war whoop. He went at the chocolate team like the flip of a little boy's nigger shooter. His right elbow laid out the governor man on the gridiron, and he made a lane the length of the crowd that a woman could have carried a stepladder through without striking anything. All me and Mellinger had to do was to follow.

"In five minutes we were out of that street and at the military headquarters, where Mellinger had things his own way.

"The next day Mellinger takes me and Henry to one side and begins to shed tens and twenties.

"'I want to buy that phonograph,' he says. 'I liked that last tune it played. Now, you boys better go back home, for they'll give you trouble here before I can get the screws put on 'em. If you happen to ever see Billy Renfrow again, tell him I'm coming back to New York as soon as I can make a stake—honest.'

"'This is more money,' says I, 'than the machine is worth.'

"'Tis government expense money,' says Mellinger, 'and the government's getting the tune grinder cheap.'

"Henry and I knew that pretty well, but we never let Homer P. Mellinger know that we had seen how near he came to losing his graft.

"We laid low until the day the steamer came back. When we saw the captain's boat on the beach me and Henry went down and stood in the edge of the water. The captain grinned when he saw us.

"'I told you you'd be waitin',' he says. 'Where's the Hamburger machine?'

"'It stays behind,' I says, 'to play "Home, Sweet Home."'

"'I told you so,' says the captain again. 'Climb in the boat.'

"'And that,' said Kirksy, "is the way me and Henry Horsecollar introduced the phonograph in that Latin country along about the vicinity of South America."

Train Kills Toronto Zoo's Camel.

Passengers on the Canadian Pacific Railway express, coming into the city the other morning were somewhat alarmed by a quick application of the air-brakes, which brought the train to a sudden standstill on the banks of the Don.

Those who ran out to discover the cause of the stop were more surprised to find a dead camel lying on the track.

It appears that as the train came rushing along the river the engineer saw a huge animal tearing down the track in front of the engine. The animal cast one frightened look behind, and let out a few links of speed, but the express train was too fast, and in a few seconds the camel, for such it turned out to be, was being tossed through the air. The animal was caught on a narrow strip of track and could get to neither side.

The dead camel was the pride of the Zoo. He was formerly a working camel in southern Russia, and carried many thousand dollars of merchandise between China and Russia. Mr. Frederick Nicholls brought it to this city and presented it to the Riverdale Zoo. It was out for its usual stroll when the fatality occurred. With Zoo visitors the dead animal was known as "Moses."

DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT.

AUTOGRAPH IS IN DEMAND.

The Name of J. M. Courtney Much Sought After.

The Toronto Telegram's Ottawa correspondent says: When J. M. Courtney leaves the East Block for good and all on November 1st, the scramble for his autograph will go on.

Mr. Courtney's signatures are worth all the way from 5 cents to five thousand dollars each. It simply depends on the background. The Deputy Minister of Finance has, of course, often written his name when it wasn't worth a copper except to his more devoted admirers, and then only from a sentimental standpoint.

On the other hand, his autographs have been worth altogether something like one hundred and sixty millions of dollars.

Practically all the paper money of the Dominion of Canada now in circulation bears the name of J. M. Courtney. The value of it now is slightly over forty-seven millions. Away back in 1871 it was only a little over seven million.

Big and Little Bill.

The little bit of 25-cent scrip has Mr. Courtney's signature—the "shinplaster." The one dollar bill has it, the two, the four, five, ten, twenty, fifty, one hundred, five hundred, one thousand and five thousand. Most people haven't the privilege of reading it on the big bills, those valuable bits of paper being used chiefly in transactions between banks.

In the last thirty years the Government has redeemed old money to the tune of a hundred and ten millions and over. Go into the East Block and a vile aroma will guide you to the heavily-barred lair of the Comptroller of the Currency. The aroma is from huge wads of worn bills waiting their turn for the furnace. It is the everlasting redemption of old bills and the issue of new ones that causes the signature of the Deputy Minister of Finance to be so much in demand. It is on, at the present moment, more than a million and a half "shin-plasters." It is on nearly one hundred thousand fours, and on five thousand eight hundred notes of the denomination of five thousand dollars.

WANTED.

Trousers That Will Not "Bag" at the Knees.

Whatever may be the merits of the dispute between the tailors, there is one feature to which they might profitably devote their gigantic intellects, and that is, the "baggy" trouser, says the Montreal Standard. This is perhaps the saddest fact in our civilization. One reads with much pain, in the public prints, that the King of Britain wears trousers which bag at the knee. Here you have the greatest king on earth, who seems to have all things at the command, unable to obtain a pair of trousers which can be guaranteed not to bag at the knees. It is a painful commentary upon human limitation.

It must not be supposed that sartorial minds have not wrestled with this problem. Various devices have been adopted, and one can recall that in the days of his youth, there was a daring artist who thought he had triumphed by inserting a piece of elastic, attached at each end to the trouser, beneath the knee. The invention proved to be a failure. Success in this important matter should not be despaired of. Fortune and fame await the tailor who can build a pair of trousers which will not bag at the knees. Until this can be realized, modern civilization can only be considered crude and incomplete.

Summer Resorts Discomforts.

This is the time of year when hundreds lock up their comfortable homes in the cities, and hie them to the river or seaside resort, where, as a general experience, the rooms will be small and stuffy, the ablutions restricted to the water tub, and the food of a character unfitted to endure a close and critical examination. All of which is accepted with great meekness. The citizen who has his bath every morning, says "thank you," with great sweetness, when the chambermaid—who is generally a "maid of all work."—condescends to put a little water in his jug after he has begged to be supplied with the same many times. The citizen, too, is a man of importance at home. The community respect him. His wife and family are proud of him. His word is law to not a few human creatures. In the country, on a holiday, he confesses his impotence. When he lights his bedroom lamp at night, and finds the bed unmade, and the room like a furnace, he says meekly—"Oh, well, what about it, anyway. The great thing is the fresh air along the lake side." Did he taste this experience but once at home, the servant would be dismissed.

Nevertheless, these little afflictions are perhaps wholesomely chastening in their effects. They teach the lesson that man is a feeble creature at the best. Surround him with all the means of grace and refinement, and he will preen his plumes, and swell his chest not a little. Offer him a pint of water for his baths let him wrestle with the flies for the coveted possession of loud smelling beefsteak, and he shrivels into nothingness.

A Horse's Nose.

A man at the horse market recently refused to buy an apparently desirable animal on the ground that "he had a Roman nose."

"A horse's nose tells a whole lot about his disposition," said the reader of equine character. "An animal with a prominent nose has courage and stubbornness in equal proportion; consequently he makes a first class balker. Noses of the pancake variety indicate meekness. A nose that is wide between the eyes denotes trustworthiness. A generally vicious temperament accompanies the nose that narrows at the top. Horses that run away, bite their neighbors and kick the dashboard into flinders have that type of nose. A horse with broad, flaring nostrils is a high liver; also he is lazy. The thin, sensitive nostrils belong to racers and high class carriage horses. Fire department horses usually have the aristocratic nasal lines. Deep horizontal ridges in a horse's nose indicate humility and even solemnity. Ministers' horses and those driven by undertakers are frequently marked by that peculiarity. Of course, there are exceptions to those deductions, but taken all in all in the thoroughgoing horseman will pronounce them about right."

FACTS AND FANCIES.

Jet Combs and Collars a Summer Fancy—Colored Shoes—Motor Hat.

Jet is very fashionable this summer, especially for ornaments. A charming high comb of the Spanish type is inset with brilliants, and another attractive form is a jet dog collar crossed with bars of diamonds or pearls.

There is a new motor hat that is adorably light and small. Once fastened on it would defy the whole of Hans Andersen's cavern of winds. In shape it is nothing more than a very small cocked hat, a tiny Napoleon shape, in chip with a soft glace rosette at each point. The most acutely Gibsonian headdress rises uncrushed in front of it, and the motor veil drapes over it neatly.

Colored shoes, with stockings to match, have superseded black shoes. It would look ugly even with a dark dress to wear black stockings and shoes. The little varnished shoe with paste buckles may be tolerated, but the stocking must be of some bright color.

The more varieties of trimming and the more varied the designs the smarter is the little linen bolero suit. Imitation Irish lace renaissance braid, embroidered motifs combined with net and valenciennes lace are used on the same garment.

The little girl's dress seen in the picture is attractively carried out in white mull and English embroidery. The full skirt is tucked between bands of the embroidery. And the bloused waist has bands and neck trimming of the same embroidery.

Buying an Election.

In bygone days men were often unwilling to be made members of the British house of commons. It was costly and therefore a difficult position for a poor man, but at the same time representatives were not easily to be found among the well to do classes. There is an amusing account of how the sheriff rode up to the county court in the fourteenth century, ready to nominate a candidate. A gay knight, fearful of election, "hastily withdraws from the crowd at the words election and parliament and spurreth off as fast as his good horse may carry him." On the other hand, some sought election by any means, and the first instance of corruption in electioneering matters is said to be that of Thomas Long, in 1571, who, "being found to be a very simple man and not fit to serve in that place, was questioned how he came to be elected." The simple man admitted that he "gave to Anthony Garland, mayor of the town, £4 ($20) for his seat in parliament," which was ordered to be returned, though the seat was not forfeited.

What Produces Perfume.

It is not oxygen, but light, which is the main cause of the transformation and destruction of the odorous principles, although in many cases the two agents act in concert. In producing the perfume of plants light acts both as a chemical and mechanical power. The intensity of the perfume of flowers depends upon the balance established at every hour of the day between the pressure of water in their cellules, which tend to drive the perfumes outward, and the drying action of light. Where there is too much heat there is too little scent. This is due to the excess of light and the dearth of water.

FRIBBLES OF FASHION.

Cloth of Gold Slippers For Evening Wear—Lace Insets on Hats.

Shoes to win approval must be as low cut as slippers. Cloth of gold slippers are shown for wear with elaborate frocks.

In some of the leghorn hats medallions of batiste are inset. The contrast between straw and embroidery is brought out more sharply by the black plumes and aigrets and masses of tulle which trim it.

Buckle sets of rose gold in a lovely deep yellow tone are a fad of the moment. The design is usually of roses. The back buckle is often four or five inches in height and several inches wide, and the front piece is rather smaller. Steel is appearing on most of the smart belts and girdles, and the effect, when of good quality, is exceedingly effective and pretty, particularly when worn with a gray gown, and what woman this summer does not possess a frock of this fashionable color?

The newest ornament for the coiffure is a golden circlet like a large bracelet that fits the base of the knot of hair when piled high on the head. Very often these circlets are jeweled with precious stones.

Linen suits for young girls have collars, cuffs and pocket flaps of colored linen ornamented with straight rows of white braid.

Embroidered batiste in a lovely shade of pale blue develops the frock illustrated. The jacket is of Irish lace lined with blue chiffon.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

FOR SCHOOL DAYS.

Comforts and Luxuries For the Boarding School Miss.

If getting a young girl ready for boarding school meant only the selection of her clothing the task would be a comparatively easy one, but nowadays when each student has a room and bed to herself mothers feel that they must make these small boudoirs as attractive and homelike as possible and to this end send furniture, pictures and rugs and hangings, besides the bed and table linens that are required in most institutions.

If convenient ship from home as many pieces of furniture that the girl likes as can be spared, for when she is tired or blue and sees a familiar writing desk or easy rocking chair, a picture from the living room she is fond of or even a small rug that has pleasant associations in her mind she feels soothed and the room becomes a real haven of rest. Send things to make this bedroom bright and cheerful. The dainty comb and brush sets, manicure pieces or pincushions, boxes for holding ribbons and ties if made in delicate pink silk or light blue chints or cretonnes make a remarkable difference in the appearance of the apartment and give the finishing touches that immediately stamp the room as a comfortable one instead of a furnished room fitted for a temporary lodger. A small set of book shelves hung on the walls and filled with the volumes the occupant likes best adds to the real comfort as well as to its appearance. Even solid linen bags attached to the dresser or wall if made of pretty denim or cretonnes and tied with a big white cord and tassel give a desirable personal touch, besides being eminently useful for storing away collars and shirt waists that have been worn.

Whether a girl does fancy needlework or not, a workbasket lined with bright colored chints or silk and fitted with black and white thread in both silk and cotton as well as any other shades that correspond with the frocks she possesses should be a part of the contents, for they may be needed at any time to mend a rent in the material or to sew up a seam that is ripped. Then, too, darning cotton and an egg shaped darner must be included, for holes in stockings should be mended, and careful girls will find a well equipped workbox with plenty of needles of all sizes, scissors and bodkins an advantage in keeping their wardrobes in condition.

In cases of emergency a small medicine chest will be found useful, and the mother who provides one for her daughter before she leaves home for the year will have supplied her with the means of staving off a cold, curing a headache, caring for a cut or healing a bruised spot that might cause suffering except for the home remedies. In this chest there should be, besides the cold cream for chapped hands and skins roughened by the harsh winds, camphor, vaseline, alcohol, ginger, arnica, a simple cough mixture and one of the Sun cholera mixtures.

Another box that should be carefully prepared is the toilet chest, with all the necessities for a comfortable and refreshing bath. It should include at least half a dozen cakes of good soap, such as castile or any of the white varieties that are free from scent; two bottles of a choice toilet water, either violet, lemon verbena or a scent that girls prefer, and a box or two of talcum powder.

There should be half a dozen large bath towels; a dozen wash rags in addition to a dozen hand towels, for a girl should never be skimped on these articles necessary for personal cleanliness, as well as for health. A large sponge, a brush for the nails and perhaps one for the face and body may be included in this wash list if not too expensive.—New York Telegram.

The Only Perfect Emulsion

Any well made emulsion of good Cod Liver Oil is good as far as it goes, but if it lacks Iron it is not a perfect emulsion, because Iron is even more necessary and more valuable than the oil.

Ferrol is not only made of the best Cod Liver Oil, but it combines with the oil Iron and Phosphorus and is the only emulsion that contains Iron at all.

Moreover

is finer, more palatable and easier to digest than any other preparation of Cod Liver Oil. Anyone can take Ferrol; few can take Cod Liver Oil in any other way.

Every intelligent person knows that three of the greatest remedial agents known to science are Cod Liver Oil, Iron and Phosphorus. To get them in combination and in proper proportion you must have Ferrol. There is no other way.

Sufferers from Anæmia, Bronchitis, Chronic Coughs and Colds, Lung Troubles of any kind, Nervous Prostration, Chronic Rheumatism, Neuralgia, General Debility, Loss of Weight, Whooping Cough, Croup, La Grippe or any of the ailments known as wasting diseases, can take Ferrol with the confident assurance that it will cure them if a cure is possible.

REMEMBER

Each dose of Ferrol contains a full medicinal dose of Iron and in no other way can Iron be properly administered.

Ferrol holds the record for increasing the weight.

Ferrol contains neither alcohol, "dope" nor dangerous drugs of any kind.

Ferrol is the Ideal Infant Food. If your baby is not thriving, give it Ferrol and watch it grow.

"Tub" hats for little girls are very picturesque. One style is built on the lines of the Buffalo Bill sombrero, although of white duck instead of felt it has all the ear marks of the real wild west hat of the plainsman. Bent up directly at the left side of the front, the brim is fastened with a bow of ribbon, and a ribbon band encircles the crown.

Wherever you go you see a white dress surmounted by a brown hat. Flat brimmed or turban brimmed or without a brim, it is trimmed with rosettes of ribbon and draped with a veil of gauze, lace or chiffon. It seems to have usurped the popularity enjoyed by the black hat, and in many circumstances it deserves its position.

It is a long time since we have had watteau plaits with us except for tea gowns and garments of that order. Recently there have been displayed some admirable lace coats which show the watteau outline. In one notable case the coat was composed of Milanese lace. The plait started from a square yoke of Irish lace and ended in a distant point well below the line of the knee.

In the fall empire effects will be confined to dressy outdoor wraps and ceremonious indoor gowns.

The yachting dress seen in the cut is of dark blue serge. The skirt is kilted at the sides and back. Gilt buttons trim the short jacket.

The newest fashionable color is called Vesuvius. It is a deep yellow with a shot of flame in its lights and shades.

The blouse illustrated is a French model that is very becoming to a plump figure. It is made of Nattier blue gros grain silk and has a harness effect about the neck and shoulders trimmed with silk covered buttons. On the lower part of the waist are motifs of braid. PAPER BAG HOUSEKEEPING.

With a Little Thought It Could Be Made a Source of Comfort.

Much is said in criticism of the tendency to live in paper bags so far as food is concerned. Now, on the other side it can be claimed justly that paper bags make housekeeping possible where none could exist if food could not be bought in small quantities from day to day or even meal to meal. Space is so contracted in city homes that it is often wiser to let the items of the dinner remain in the market and grocery until nearly time to use them. Buying in small amounts is not extravagance, for there is less temptation to waste.

By giving thought to it the housekeeping that is limited to half and quarter pounds of supplies may yet yield much comfort. Monotony and lack of thought are the especial danger. It gets to be easier to live on bread and tea and canned stuff than to cook, but it need not be so, and these faults are noticeable where there is opportunity for a broader system of housekeeping.

"My husband has no appetite and is tired of meat and potatoes," said a woman with a large kitchen and outfit for cooking. "Why don't you cook him a couple of eggs in tomatoes?" was my reply, explaining the method of scooping out the seeds from the tomatoes, dropping a raw egg in each, seasoning and baking them. "This would give him the elements in both meat and vegetables, and if seasoned tastily with salt and pepper it is most appetizing." "Oh, but it would be such a lot of work!" she exclaimed, shrinking from doing anything out of her usual rut, and my advice was lost. Yet in what is termed paper bag housekeeping another woman would have served the tomato and eggs hot from a chafing dish or gas range in half an hour from the time she brought them in from a grocery, while the first housekeeper, with her pantry and coal fire, would plod along in the same dull repetition of cookery. Lack of help in the house has also made what is sometimes given the name of light housekeeping a necessity, and in the present state of things it is hard to see how this sort of living can be eliminated or why it cannot be made a source of comfort.—Exchange.

Talks on Orange Meat

(THE PURE FOOD) No. 1

Canadian from field to table.

ORANGE MEAT is made from the best wheat grown in Canada. That's the reason why it is the best cereal in the world. From the Western wheat fields, it is brought by rail and lake right to our elevators at Kingston. Then our experts cook, malt and toast it changing wheat starch to wheat sugars. From the time it enters our elevators as wheat—until it comes on your table as ORANGE MEAT—it is never touched by human hands. The wheat is entirely handled by machinery. It is a Canadian cereal—perfected by Canadians—to build up the health and delight the appetite of Canadians.

ORANGE MEAT contains all the body, brain and vigor building elements of wheat. Analysis shows that ORANGE MEAT contains more wheat sugars than any other cereal.

It's not merely "something good to eat." It is a perfect FOOD. It contains the whole wheat—the outer shell omitted from flour and the wheat germ which supplies Phosphorus to the nerves and brain. ORANGE MEAT weighs ⅓ more than any other package.

Your grocer has ORANGE MEAT in 15c. and 25c. packages. 15c. size contains coupons good for new premiums. 25c. size contains 2½ times the 15c. quantity. Write "Orange Meat, Kingston", for new premium catalogue.

THE FACE OF A SERAPH

MODERN METHODS OF CRIMINAL TREATMENT TO DEVELOP IT.

W. P. Archibald, Dominion Parole Officer, Advocates the Recognition of the Divine Spark in Every Man to the End That However Devious and Winding and Shadowy in His Wanderings the Man May Be Restored to Society.

It has been said, and very unjustly, too, that our penitentiaries are universities of crime, whose pupils are the enemies of society, and that the criminal class is everywhere made up of men who have received their education in custody. I do not believe that such a statement can be true, writes W. P. Archibald, Dominion Parole Officer, in Toronto Sunday World. If it is, the more quickly our penal institutions are abolished the better it will be for society. Whatever may have been the condition of the penal institutions in former years, modern institutions do not make criminals. On the other hand they are doing much to unmake them.

Virtue of Discipline.

A large proportion of the prisoners annually discharged from our penitentiaries are far better equipped for gaining an honest living under fair treatment than when they were received. I believe as a rule their physical, their mental, and moral conditions are greatly improved through their detention and subsequent treatment. Habits of industry are formed through their being employed at industrial pursuits, discipline is taught which gives men the stronger sense of self-control and self-government. There is no cruelty in a strong or well-organized discipline; in fact, cruelty is more often practiced where discipline is lax, and an unknown quality. But even should these conditions exist in some of the Canadian prisons the man generally goes out better than when received.

People to-day are too far away from the needs and sorrows of humanity to undertake their betterment, or the evolution of social conditions.

A parish priest of austerity,
Climbed up in a high church steeple,
To be nearer God, so he might hand
His word down to the people.
And in sermon, script, he daily wrote,
Which he thought was sent from heaven.
And he dropped this down on the people's heads,
Two times, one day in seven.
In his age God said: "Come down and die,"
And he called out from the steeple,
"Where art Thou, Lord?" and the Lord replied,
"Down here among the people."

The Criminal.

The man we call a criminal cannot be defined at one glance. He defies any single angle vision. He cannot be estimated from one viewpoint far or near. The police see him as a disturber of the peace, and, one whom they may legitimately exploit. The judge sees him as the violator of law and order, and a subject for all the terrors which the law calls for. The warden of a penal institution sees him under conviction of a crime, to him the fact of his detention and presence in a penitentiary is grim punishment in itself, and he proceeds to carry out the instructions of "rule and regulation." Society sees him as a menace to its quiet and good order, and whether the violator of law is in cell or in dungeon, is satisfied to know itself so well rid of this menace. The criminal will never cease to be a profound study until we have clearly defined the causes which have deflected him from the straight line of accepted conduct to one of such acute moral obliquity. Within our penitentiaries to-day we have about 1,300 souls. Until the causes which have produced such anti-social results in these units of society are discovered, the criminal man will be the study of the philanthropist and the political economist from whatever viewpoint he may be prosecuted. To seek for the fatal causes which have produced criminals in the heart, and which are still producing them, is one of the quests of the Holy Grail of our century. There are hopeful indications that the quest is neither vain nor delusive.

Treatment of the Inebriate.

One thing is certain; we have greatly advanced our methods of dealing with the criminal of late years. We cannot corral all men into classes, or put the brand of disfavor on the masses. The time is not long since the inebriate was the declared incarnation of all perversity and the embodiment of an evil genius. Since it was written that he had no inheritance in the Kingdom of God. It has been a contention among thousands whether he should have allotted to him any inheritance in the kingdom of men. We have learned a more righteous way in dealing with the inebriate. He has been taken in hand by those more kindly hands who search for causes as well as the effects, and the inebriate treatment will undergo a radical change during the next decade of criminal treatment and research. One thing that is patent to almost everybody to-day is embodied in the fact that inebriety is not, as a rule, a vicious and criminal perversity in men. Perhaps some predisposing cause outside of a depraved heart, where we have so continuously located it, may be held to answer for the masterful drink impulse.

Need of the Drunkard.

The discovery that inebriety may be the symptom of a pathological condition of the brain, and of the nerve centres, and, that the drink impulse is but physical demand for relief — the wild and the maniac cry of the inner man—throws a more lurid light over the way which the unfortunate drunkard has stumbled in his fate for a thousand years. The man in the midst of the drink storm is not found a moral delinquent only — he is a physical and mental delinquent. He is an antimaniac. It is not a jail that is demanded for him, it is the retreat of an asylum. The man is not only sick, but impotent. It is not a prison that is needed, but a catholicon within the ward of a hospital. When once the inebriate is safe out of the hands of the jailer and safe within the hands of the medical practitioner these predisposing causes in the disordered nerve centres will receive an intelligent analysis and treatment. Everything that appeals to the soul and spirit as well as to the reparation of tissue has its place in the medical armamentarium. Already in Canada there is a move in the right direction and the inebriate in Montreal and Toronto is receiving medical attention as special cases. It is the dawn of a better day for this unfortunate man. Theology and pathology are joined together in quest of the source of the inebriate's degeneracy, the one is in no danger of interfering in the domain of the other, both have their province of usefulness in the betterment of men.

An Accident in a Great Plan.

To the broad-minded and thoughtful, the criminal man appeals, as an accident in a great plan. He is not so much the harmful and vicious despoiler as he is himself harmed and despoiled. He is out of place in the vast aggression; and, but for him as an agreeing and accordant aggression, he is an energy misdirected, and because misdirected, not only a wasted energy, but one of danger. To remove the menace to society this energy must be turned into another channel, a channel of usefulness and activity. The criminal man or woman is abnormal and out of adjustment, but this does not signify he is therefore unadjustable. He must be brought to the right place and adjusted. The problem is, how far can their readjustment be made without sacrificing the existing relations between the doers of the law, and the law breakers? One of the highest English authorities I have read on this question states: "It is on the assumption that punishment will have the effect of deterring crime that its infliction can alone be justified. It may be well doubted, whether, in more recent times, the humane and praiseworthy desire to restore and reform the fallen criminal may not have produced too great a tendency to forget that the protection of society should be the first consideration of the law giver."

Responsibility of Society.

The subordination of the unit to the imperious demands of the many, is in result generally the cruel use of a force trusted with the many, not for the suppression of the unit, but for the protection of the unit. Society, to justify its position in the case of the man in prison, speaks to-day of the "congenital criminal"; of the "born thief"; of the "hereditary drunkard"; until it is almost the popular belief, that all thieves are born thieves, and all drunkards are born drunkards. What possible interest can you or I have in a born criminal? If such they are, he is an alien to society and out of harmony with humanity. If this is true, he is simply a natal defect and there is no remedy for such.

Let us get as far away as possible from the thought that men are born thieves, or liars, or murderers, and that some men succeed to the woful estate of the drunkard which they cannot decline. The criminal is not born, he is something made and the modern juggernaut, society, which so heartlessly pronounces men degenerates, and passes them by with a wave of the hand, is too responsible for the existing causes of human deterioration to open its mouth in condemnation.

The Hope of Reclamation.

In conclusion, if we are obliged to admit natal defects in men, so we are obliged to admit natal calamities. But natal defects may be destroyed or eradicated, and so indeed may natal excellences, and we admit men may be born with criminal instincts, but these criminal instincts can be destroyed in the child. They have no such roots or fibre that they reach from the cradle to the grave." Men may be born with the instincts of angels, but neither are these angelic instincts of such root or fibre so strong in a man as to defy extinction.

The social conditions which are competent to uproot the vicious instincts of a child are also competent to firmly root the disposition and the instincts which are not in character vicious, but full of virtue.

Since theology and pathology have united in the discovery of the genesis of crime, it is found that there is nothing in any man, natal or acquired, which makes him a responsible antisocial unit, or in which one or the other, or perhaps both, of these forces, may not be minimized or wholly destroyed.

Good In All Men.

We must accept the criminal as he is now revealed to us in the searchlight which science and religion turn upon him. He cannot be dismissed as an anthropological monster, he is one with us; he belongs to us; he must be met and treated as a part of the social fabric of life; and as a social phenomenon. He must be helped over the chasm which he is digging with his own hands. The voice of God may fall into a faint whisper in the human soul, but it never dies away into utter silence. The man whose cell may prove his sepulchre, has his past, his ruined, broken past, full of wasted opportunities, of fruitless efforts, and unrequited ambitions. He is a man to feel all these things and his soul cries out for the touch of the true and the good.

No man is altogether bad, no one goes so far in wrongdoing but that he can retrace his steps.

An artist once took the face of a seraph and by malicious lines put into it here and there changed the seraph's face to that of an evil genius. The order with us must be reversed, we must take the face marked by its evil, make it the face of the seraph. There is this divine spark in every man. There is a way back to the fair and the good beginning, however devious it may be, or however shadowy its numerous windings.

That pain in the Back is Kidney Trouble

GIN PILLS WILL CURE IT

A strain or severe cold, or a dozen other causes may have started it—but the Kidneys are at the bottom of it. Backache (especially in the "small" of the back) means Kidney Disease. Plasters and liniments give some relief but they never cure. Lots of people with swollen hands and feet, are treating themselves for rheumatism, when, in fact their sick kidneys are causing the pain and swelling. GIN PILLS cure that pain in the Back every time, because they cure the Kidneys.

OTTAWA, March 17th, 1905.

I had the honor of being appointed assistant artist to the chief artist of London "Black and White" to accompany him three years ago to China to help him get pictures of the Boxer Uprising. That is a hard country on the kidneys. I came back very much troubled, and have been so ever since. My attention was called to Gin Pills. I have taken two boxes, and can positively say that I have never felt better in my life.

H. MANLEY.

If you have tried plasters, liniments and doctors, save your money and try GIN PILLS, FREE. Write us your name and address, and in what paper you saw this offer, and we will send you a free sample box of GIN PILLS. These famous Pills for Sick Kidneys are sold by all druggists at 50c a box, or 6 boxes for $2.50.

L'HOMME PROPOSE.

Since brighter days in other lands,
Ere yet my second self had died
And through life' morn with linked hands,
We seemed to walk with single aim

Since — of one mind, one heart, one blood,
One name—my nobler counterpart,
Was drawn with haste to promised good,
And all my light of life grew dim.

On earth there has not dawned for me,
Of human worth a goodlier form,
Than this fond friend now ceased to be,
Than this true soul in Liberty.

Nor love of books, nor art, nor song,
Nor love of mighty thoughts of men,
Nor love of right, nor hate of wrong,
Not mutual bonds of great and good.

But that which truly holds them all—
His broadly, grandly human heart,
Did draw us, spite of great and small,
And bound us to the bitter end.

With yearnings for the golden west,
And proud uprest for martial fame,
At length he sailed the river's breast,
But fell upon its farther brink.

'Mid fringes of the virgin trees
And gleanings of a shining mere,
And music of the murmuring bees,
At length he waits the blessed dawn.
—Byron Nicholson.

TELLS BY THEIR SLEEP

"I can tell by my little ones' sleep when a cold is coming on" said a mother when speaking of the advance symptoms of colds in children. "They toss about, are restless, their breathing is heavy and there are symptoms of night sweats. The next morning I start with Scott's Emulsion. The chances are that in a day or two they are all over it. Their rest is again peaceful and the breathing normal."

Here's a suggestion for all mothers. Scott's Emulsion always has been almost magical in its action when used as the ounce of prevention. Nothing seems to overcome child weakness quite so effectively and quickly as Scott's Emulsion.

Pain in the Back Completely Cured by Bu-Ju.

The Strong Testimony of a Toronto Man.

The wearing pain of Kidney Disorder need no longer be endured as a necessary evil—for science has at last succeeded in compounding a remedy, in Bu-Ju, that cures quickly and surely the worst Kidney Troubles.

Bu-Ju is every day earning for itself the lasting gratitude of sufferers all over the Province—and all we can say in praise of it is more than backed up by those who have been relieved and cured by it. Read this letter:

The Claflin Chemical Co., Windsor, Ont.

I am anxious that you should know the relief and benefit I have derived from taking your Bu-Ju Pills.

I first got a sample from Geo. Marshall, Druggist, 310 Queen St. E., and was so much benefited that I decided to take more.

The effect has been marvellous.

I had suffered severely for years with pain in the back—especially on rising in the morning—but I am pleased to say that the pain has completely disappeared. Before using Bu-Ju I tried every remedy I heard of for Kidney Troubles without ever receiving relief.

I strongly advise anyone suffering from Kidney Trouble to take Bu-Ju without delay.

Yours truly, (signed) CHAS. E. LUSTY,
3 Taylor St., Toronto, Ont., May 15, 1906.

When years of severe suffering yield so speedily to Bu-Ju, do not doubt that it will cure you—get a free sample to-day. It will prove to you that Bu-Ju is different from anything else you have ever tried.

At all dealers—50c. a box—or by mail from the Claflin Chemical Co., Windsor. Money back if not as represented. 48

THE PLAIN GIRL.

A Course of Treatment That Made Her Quite Attractive.

The plain girl was "tired to death" of being mentioned as "that plain girl over there" and looked long and scrutinizingly at her figure one day in the glass. After this scrutinizing process she determined to kill the faults of "plain Mary Brown." First of all she began some exercises for rounding out her figure. The one she used most frequently was this:

Stand erect, with the head held easily, arms at the side. Taking in a full breath very slowly, lift the arms shoulder high, at the same time rising on the toes. Now bend the knees very slowly, keeping the body in a well poised position, then rise very slowly, still on the toes. Then sink back to position.

This exercise she found developed a habit of walking, standing, sitting and rising correctly, straightened the shoulders and rounded out the hollows. Bending the knees did away with the stiffness, and with that the awkwardness disappeared.

Her face, neck and arms she bathed in very hot water every night, rubbed in a good cold cream and rubbed out every suggestion of a line or wrinkle. In the morning she washed her face with hot water, making a lather of soap on her hands, not touching a cloth to her skin. This was followed by a good dashing of clear hot water and that in turn by a vigorous spatting with the fingers dipped in cold water, says Woman's Life.

She practiced smiling to make the corners of her mouth turn up, and soon she found the forced smile had become a natural one; that the contented spirit within generated by the "smiling habit" was beginning to show itself in a happy expression, brightened eyes and an utter routing of all the old lines that erstwhile marked her face.

THE NURSERY.

Care of the Room Devoted to the Use of the Children.

Never sweep the nursery with an ordinary broom, as it raises too much dust. A soft hair broom should be used or else a flannel bag put over the regular broom. At least every other day the rugs should be taken up and shaken outdoors and the floor wiped up with a damp cloth, adding a few drops of carbolic acid or some other mild disinfectant to the water in which the cloth is damped.

Never under any circumstances use a feather duster in the nursery. All the furniture, woodwork and pictures should be dusted every day with a damp cloth, being careful to dust behind the pictures as well as the other parts. Every week or two dust down the walls with a damp cloth tied on to a broom. Cover the crib and bed with a large sheet when the room is swept and remove all the lighter pieces of furniture after they have been wiped off while the room is being cleaned.

At least twice a day, even in the coldest weather, the nursery windows should be opened both top and bottom for fully half an hour and the room fairly flooded with fresh air and sunshine also if you can get it.—New York Mail.

LAUNDRY LINES.

Soaking handkerchiefs all night in strong salt water will greatly facilitate their washing.

A little salt placed in the starch will prevent it from blowing out of the clothes on a windy day.

If hooks and eyes have rusted white goods put the garment into water in which has been dissolved a little cream of tartar and boil for a few minutes.

In washing the flannels should be attended to first, then muslins and fine pieces, while towels, dusters and rougher things should be left until the last.

The value of wringing clothes well cannot be overestimated. A good laundress squeezes out the last drop of soapy water and again rinses the garment well after she has thoroughly rinsed it.

If you are doubtful whether a muslin or print dress will wash well preface the washing by soaking it for ten minutes in a pail of tepid water, into which a teaspoonful of turpentine has been stirred.

The Important Kitchen.

In furnishing a house or choosing a flat much thought and care should be expended upon the kitchen. Here is the crux of the family happiness, the source of health and good spirits—too often its beauty and convenience are matters of little forethought—an airy, bright, well ventilated kitchen, with shelves, drawers, tables and stoves in positions which are the triumph of perfection as far as convenience and time saving are concerned. There is no reason why a kitchen should not be a pleasant place, yet it is usually the junk shop for all the old, broken down furniture and utensils in the house. Dingy, dirty brown walls, ugly tin and granite dishes on the walls and behind the stove dirt and dampness make a happy hunting ground for beetles and bugs. This is the horror of neat housewives with sanitary ambitions.

Crushed Velvet.

The following way of restoring the pile of velvet is said to be excellent: If it is only slightly crushed treat it in the same way crape is treated—by steaming it on the right side until heated through. If very much crushed wet it on the underside, let some one hold a hot iron bottom side upward and pass the wet side of the velvet slowly over the flat surface. When the steam rises thickly through the right side it will raise the pile with it Dry without handling.

The Time of Terror.

"Are you afraid of microbes?"

"Not ordinarily," said the unscientific person. "Not until it comes to trying to spell or pronounce their names."—Houston Post.

HON. G. W. ROSS TESTIFIES

In Spite of Evidence of Ex-Premier, and That of Col. Davidson, the Ex-Finance Minister Stands Unshaken —Hon. Mr. Ross Could Not Remember Having Moved Resolution Recorded In the Minutes.

Toronto, Oct. 10.—The echo of the court room was the only response when the name of Mr. George W. Fowler, M. P., was called by Mr. Shepley at the session of the Insurance Commission yesterday morning. The time was spent in supplying missing links in the chain of testimony.

Hon. G. W. Ross.

Hon. G. W Ross was the first to give evidence. He had been a director of the Union Trust for some three years and held $1,000 of stock, but the transaction with the Great West Land Co. had originated before he came in and he had not become familiar with it nor taken much interest in that matter. He could not recall particular discussions regarding the unloading of lands by the Trust Co., except the agreement by which Dr. Montague was to dispose of 100,000 acres for the Trust Co. He could not recall any discussion of releasing the 237 shares of bonus stock nor the moving of the adoption of the mortgage agreement which was attributed to him in the minutes. He said he thought he would remember if there had been any discussion of surrendering stock.

Clerks Who Copied Minutes.

Two clerks in the employ of the Trust Co. who copied the minutes of the meetings of Nov. 7 and 13 in the minute book testified that the draft was prepared by Mr. Foster.

Hon. George E. Foster.

Hon. G. E. Foster told of the borrowing which the Union Trust Co. had done. A bylaw in February, 1902, gave authority to borrow $200,000. This was afterwards increased to $400,000. The borrowing was for investment in stocks and Mr. Foster admitted that they had anticipated their possession of money for investment by borrowing money. The company had loaned money on Crow's Nest Pass shares, and the propriety of the loan had been fully discussed. The $400,000 was borrowed in New York through the local Standard Bank. The company bought stock outright in New York. The balance of 50 per cent. unpaid stock was called in to increase the working power of the company. Then the capital stock was increased $500,000 to meet maturing obligations and to get clear title to Western lands and avoid paying interest.

Stands By His Minutes.

Mr. Foster also said that, notwithstanding the testimony of Lieut.-Col. Davidson and Hon. George W. Ross, he still held that the minutes were correct and in accordance with his recollection of the facts.

The examination of Mr. Foster was continued in the afternoon. The compilation of securities and stocks held by the Union Trust at the end of the year 1905 was produced by Mr. Shepley. This showed a total amount of stocks on Dec. 31 of market value held by the company to be $347,500, against a book value of $449,109.68.

A Question of Borrowing.

"You had to pay Pope and Fowler the extra dollar per acre by way of getting an interest in the company if you had have financed the game yourself?"

Mr. Foster said "yes."

"Did it occur to you that you were practically borrowing money to pay on the lands you had bought?"

Witness said the syndicate did not borrow a single dollar from the Trust Co. to get the stock, but admitted that the syndicate had borrowed from the Union Trust Co. to pay Pope and Fowler for the delivered option.

The Montague deal, as given by Dr. Oronhyatekha, was asserted by the witness as being accurate in every detail.

At the time of the turning over of the lands of the Montague syndicate to the Union Trust Co. Mr. Foster gave his very unwilling assent to the deal, claiming he had some equity that should have been settled.

A transaction with the Manitoba & Northwestern Road Co. was explained by the witness. When the syndicate wanted to buy these lands the price was too high and the manager of that company said that he was getting a commission of 25 per cent., he would half it with the syndicate. Hence Mr. Foster got $5,000 rebate or commission, which he divied up with the other directors, each taking one-quarter. These accounts passed the auditors and there was no trouble whatever about them.

Million Mark In Sight.

Toronto, Oct. 10.—A revenue of one million dollars a year in the Provincial Secretary's Department of the Government is a possibility which, unless some unforeseen circumstance arises, should blossom into reality by the end of next year. In fact the income of the department for this year, it is now apparent, will be over the $900,000 mark, a conservative estimate of the increase in receipts being $250,000 over those of 1905, when the total was about $670,000.

Taft Proclaims Amnesty.

Havana, Oct. 10.—Charles E. Magoon, the newly-appointed provisional Governor of Cuba arrived in Havana yesterday. Coincident with his coming Governor Taft gave out a general decree proclaiming amnesty not only to the rebels, but to all persons charged with political offences or crimes in any way connected with the revolution.

All Disarmed But One Band.

Havana, Oct. 10.—The disarmament commissioners in Santiago report that all the insurgents in that province have been disbanded with the exception of one band, which is in an inaccessible region near Bayamo.

Alleged Embezzler Arrested.

Halifax, N. S., Oct. 10.—Charles Darlington, managing director of the Maritime Gasoline Engine and Supplies Co., a Toronto concern, was arrested here early yesterday morning on board a launch by the deputy sheriff after putting up a stiff fight, in which the sheriff's officer was cut somewhat. The prisoner is charged with embezzlement of about $2,100. Darlington was arraigned in the police court yesterday and remanded.

Officers Was to Blame.

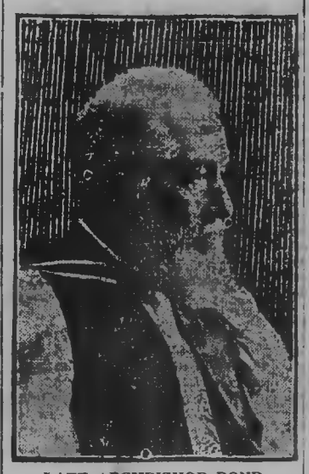
St. Petersburg, Oct. 10.—The commissions, appointed by Emperor Nicholas to investigate the causes of the Sveaborg and Cronstadt mutinies, have found that the blame was largely attributable to the negligence and inefficiency of the officers.

STRIKING FIGURE GONE.

Archbishop Bond of Montreal, Primate of the Anglican Church For All Canada, Passes Away.

Montreal, Que., Oct. 10.—Archbishop Bond, the Primate of all Canada, died at 6.30 a.m. yesterday after a number of weeks of gradual sinking following a stroke of paralysis.

The late archbishop was born in Truro, England, Sept. 10, 1815, consequently was in his 91st year at the time of his decease. He was educated in England, and about 1840 commenced to study for holy orders, and was ordained deacon in Quebec in 1841. He was at first engaged in diocesan mission work, but in 1842 was appointed incumbent of Lachine, P. Q., where he worked for six years. In 1848 he left there to assume the position of assistant minister at St. George's Church at Montreal, where he remained as rector and assistant for more than thirty years.



LATE ARCHBISHOP BOND.
(Anglican Primate of all Canada.)

Dr. Bond was appointed Archdeacon of Hochelaga in 1870. Dean of Montreal in 1873, and Bishop on the resignation of Dr. Ogden in 1878. He succeeded the late Archbishop Machray.

His Grace was stricken with paralysis in December last while preaching in St. James the Apostle Church.

As a result of Archbishop Bond's death, Bishop Sweatman, Lord Bishop of Toronto, will become Lord Archbishop of Toronto, and Metropolitan of Canada, being the senior bishop in point of consecration in the ecclesiastical province of Canada.

The choice for the primate of all Canada will lie between Archbishop Matheson, Metropolitan of Rupert's Land, and the new archbishop of the ecclesiastical province of Canada.

GREAT PLAYER PASSES.

Adelaide Ristori, Italy's Famous Actress, Is Dead.

Rome, Oct. 10.—The Marchesa Del Grillo, better known as Adelaide Ristori, the celebrated Italian actress, died early yesterday morning of pneumonia.

Adelaide Ristori was born in 1821. In 1855 she took Paris by storm. The French Government made her brilliant offers, with the idea of persuading her to join the Comedie Francaise, but she preferred to remain Italian. For years afterwards she traveled throughout Europe. In 1866 Ristori was warmly welcomed in America. Subsequently she visited South America. She retired from the stage in 1885.

The 80th birthday of Ristori was celebrated in Rome on Jan. 29, 1902, and was made the occasion for many festivities throughout Italy. King Emmanuel, accompanied by a large suite, visited and felicitated her; Queen Elene sent her a present, and she received very many congratulatory telegrams from monarchs and other distinguished personages of various countries.

Ex-Mayor Cremated.

Montreal, Oct. 10.—The ashes of ex-Mayor Beaugrand will be buried today with the coffin plate in the cemetery of Mount Royal. The cremation of the remains took place yesterday morning at 11 o'clock. A few close friends witnessed the ceremony.

Boy Shot In the Head.

Kemptville, Oct. 10.—The 14-year-old son of Moses Beckett of Beckett's Landing, was accidentally shot by a boy named Taylor, and may not recover. The boys had a gun loaded with buckshot and the weapon discharged, young Beckett receiving the charge in the head.

Police Were Arrested On Murder Charge

Two of the MacLaren's Arrested With Four Others.

THREE STRIKERS IN CUSTODY

Buckingham Strike Situation Has Vastly Changed—Chief of Police Kiernan Swears That the Strikers Fired the First Shot, But Independent Circles Says Police Shot First—The Riot Act Was Not Read.

Buckingham, Que., Oct. 10.—The strike situation here has vastly changed. Yesterday three strikers were arrested, viz., Hilaire Charette, who was examined before Magistrate Pearson in the afternoon, and Isadore Renaud and Adelard Hamlin, two wounded men who are still in the hospital.

But no sooner was this sensation over than on the other side several of the prosecutors and police were arrested for murder and attempted murder and taken to Hull by Sheriff Wright and Chief Provincial Detective McCaskill.

They were Albert and Alexander MacLaren, two of the partners of the lumber company; James Kiernan, brother of the chief of police; J. E. Vallilee, mayor of Buckingham; Bert Cameron, a special constable, and J. C. Cummings, the bailiff of Buckingham.

The day was wet and miserable and quiet was the order throughout. In the afternoon the ratepayers of the town held a public meeting, at which it was decided to ask the Minister of Militia, who was responsible for the bringing of the military to Buckingham, and who was to foot the bill.

Says Strikers Shot First.

Shortly after this, in the presence of the militia, the arrests began, and in the court house the evidence of Chief of Police Frank Kiernan, who was wounded, was heard. He swore that the strikers had fired first and declared that if they had not returned the fire they would all have been killed. The examination was postponed.

Afterwards the prisoner, Charette, was allowed his liberty on his own recognizances, and the same procedure was adopted in the case of all the other prisoners.

Despite the fact that order is thoroughly restored, 50 Royal Canadian Dragoons from St. Johns, Que., arrived here last evening. This, it is believed, is to prevent further rioting when the company begins to move the logs down the river, which, it is said, will be done some time to-day.

Twenty special constables came up from Montreal during the day in case of necessity. Talking with the men yesterday, they said they were as determined as ever, though they will endeavor to maintain order, and are averse to violence.

Some of the younger ones declare they are willing to die in defence of their rights.

Strong Case For Men.

In independent circles it is believed that the union men have a strong case against the MacLaren company, the mayor, and the police, who are stated generally to have fired the first shots. In any case, big developments are anticipated.

The main hope of the strikers in the case before the courts is still the fact that Mayor Vallilee, who is general manager for the MacLaren company, though acting for the strike-breakers, made no attempt to read the Riot Act. Counsel for the strikers declares that, all the circumstances considered, the strike-breakers have thus played into the hands of the men.

"How The Church May Best Help Community"

An Epoch-Marking Gathering Held at St. John's Church Last Night When This Subject Was Discussed.

Ministers and Representative Laymen of the City's Churches Gather at Social Function.

Many Practical Suggestions on the Work of the Churches in the Community.

So far as is known, the first gathering of its kind ever held in Canada was that held in the assembly hall at St. John's church last night, when at the invitation of the Rector and Wardens of that church the members of the Peterborough Ministerial Association and representative members of the different churches represented on that Association to the number of about 150 gathered to enjoy a social evening and to discuss a question which has a very practical bearing upon the work of the churches of to-day, the subject which formed the basis of the numerous addresses being "How the church may best help the community." This subject, were it taken up and dealt with by representatives of one particular denomination and discussed would be of interest, but when a gathering representing all the churches included in the membership of the Ministerial Association, it becomes one of special interest. The denominations represented at the gathering last night were: Anglican, Presbyterian, Methodist and Baptist, the ministers from all the churches of those communions in the city being present, with many of the leading laymen from each.

Brotherly Love

The gathering was characterized by a feeling of brotherly love and a community of interests, which, unfortunately, in the past, has been too often conspicuous by its absence between representatives of the different denominations of Protestant churches.

It was found, as one of the speakers aptly remarked, that the difference between the churches were largely paper partitions, and that in the essentials they were practically one. Much reference was made to the proposed organic union, and it was felt that at least, so far as Peterborough was concerned, the meeting and mingling of personality and thought of those who were members of different Christian churches would, to a large extent, simplify the question of organic union, which many of the speakers believed to be a reality of the near future.

As to the question under discussion, that of the best means by which the church could help the community, many suggestions, all of them pertinent, and the majority, practical, were made, and from this standpoint alone the gathering should be of abundant fruit.

It was revealed, by the addresses given last night, that the conditions of society were far from ideal, and suggestions were made as to the best means of remedying a condition which all agreed should not exist. The means of interesting the laity of the churches in the practical work of those bodies was recognized as essential to the success of the latter, and means by which this result could be obtained were suggested. This was recognized by Rev. Mr. Manning as one of the chief essentials to the success of Christian effort. The teaching of an ideal citizenship, telling men how ot be thrifty, and materially prospetous, was believed by Dr. Morrison to be one of the functions of the church, while Mr. Dumble thought that the church might turn its attention to the educational system and endeavour to have our young men and women taught useful accomplishments thereby contributing to their material comfort. A plea was made by Mr. Dennistoun for the children, he urged that more attention be paid to the care of unfortunate children, as a means of improving the morals of that particular section of the community.

Municipal questions were also dealt with, and the disinclination on the part of the best citizens to bear their share of the burden of civic government was deplored, this circumstance being attributed by Mr. G. M. Roger to the fact that public men were severely, and often maliciously, and even ignorantly, criticised by the public and the press.

Addresses not All

The addresses, however, were by no means the all-important feature of the function. It was, in the first place, a social gathering, and as such, as well as in its intellectual feature, it was a splendid success.

To the ladies of St. John's much credit, indeed, is due for the most efficient manner in which the social side of the function was planned and executed. The large assembly hall, in which the gathering was held, was most tastefully arranged. One long table and two smaller tables were set for the guests, and were filled, their wants being very capably attended to by a number of the young

Interesting Tribute To The Late Miss Loveday

A Great Loss to the Great Work in Which She Was Engaged—The Late Dr. Barnardo's Last Tribute of Appreciation.

"Ups and Downs," the official organ of Dr. Barnardo's Canadian Homes, has the following tribute to the late Miss Loveday, secretary of the Hazel Brae branch of the Homes:

A terrible, unspeakable sad calamity has befallen our work. Miss Loveday, who has been associated for the past fourteen years with the work at Hazel Brae, and for seven years has had charge of the secretarial department of the Girls' Branch, was one of the victims of the hotel fire at Ottawa on the night of the 14th of September. She had gone down to Ottawa on that day, and registered on arrival at the Gilmour House, the hotel where for many years past, the lady visitors have made their headquarters in Ottawa. Although it was late in the afternoon when she arrived she made several calls in the city, and her movements have been traced up to about nine o'clock. At or about that hour she probably returned to her room. At 11.15 the fire broke out, originating in the elevator shaft. In a few minutes the building was in flames, and she was not among those who succeeded in making their escape. The horrible tragedy has taken from us one of whom we can truly say that no institution ever numbered on its staff a more devoted, zealous, untiring worker. Her work was her one thought and life interest, and morning, noon and night she was at her post. A woman of remarkably strong physical and mental constitution she devoted all her time and powers to the duties of her position, and at midnight was as ready to take up her pen and write letters, or to discuss matters connected with the welfare of her girls, or to start off on a fatiguing journey, as at midday. She was a person of fine business qualifications and possessed a fund of shrewd common sense, and, withal, those who were most closely associated with her could appreciate best her real unselfish kindliness of spirit. Miss Loveday was the last person to gush, or to talk "goody-goody," but no one could be brought into contact with her without realizing that she was in the truest sense a Christian worker.

We cannot think it wrong to reproduce the following extract from the last Christmas letter received by Miss Loveday from Dr. Barnardo, before his death, as it will serve to show how high a place she held in his esteem:

"I am writing in the hope that this letter will find you before Christmas Day, as I want in the first place to wish you a very happy Christmas, and in the second place to assure you that I am not unmindful of your labours of love, and of your zealous, untiring industry in connection with the work I have placed in your hands in Canada. I am afraid sometimes you may have thought that I was not so appreciative of your services as I really am. Doubtless my silence may have led you to imagine this, but when you recollect how great the burden of my correspondence is, how enormous it is, how it grows each year by leaps and bounds, you will understand that I shrink from writing a single letter that is not absolutely necessary. But I am constantly made mindful of the valuable character of your work. I hear from my children who have gone over to Canada, and who write to me, and who tell me of you. I hear from my fellow workers who come over here from time to time, and I know from all this how arduous your labours are, and how much of the success we have in Canada may be said to be due to your labours. Let me therefore thank you once and for all, and assure you that you must no, misjudge my silence in future and imagine it is due to want of interest, or want of knowledge, or want of appreciation of your life's work. To do so, would be to do me a great injustice, I assure you."

Her task is over, the full, useful, active life, brought to a sudden, an awful close, on earth. We can very ill express our sense of personal loss in the removal of our friend and colleague, or the irreparable misfortune to the work. We can but offer our respectful sympathy to the bereaved relatives in England, upon whom the event will fall as a blow so sudden and severe that it is too painful to attempt to realize the effect. May the God of all consolation be with them in this hour of trial, and may the realizing sense of His healing presence be their upholding and strength. Nothing could be more appropriate than the message cabled by Mr. Baker: "Deepest sympathy. Thessalonians four, thirteen". "But I would not have you to be ignorant, brethren, concerning them which are asleep, that ye sorrow not, even as others which have no hope." We have only to add that Miss Harris, who has been Miss Loveday's faithful and indefatigable assistant, will, for the present, take charge of the secretary's duties at the Peterborough Home.

A meeting of all the managers throughout Saskatchewan and Alberta has been summoned to meet in Calgary some time this month to attempt to place the theatrical business on a better basis.

THORPE GOES TO PENITENTIARY

Found Guilty of Burglarizing Mr. T. C. Elliot's Store Last July.

Has a Criminal Record of Long Standing Marked Up Against Him.

He Asked the Court For Clemency, But Got a Three-Year Sentence.

John Thorpe was the cynosure of all eyes in the court room yesterday afternoon as he took his seat in the prisoner's box to stand trial for burglarizing Mr. T. C. Elliott's store last July. All eyes were turned upon him again last night as he left the box, found guilty of the crime by "twelve good men and true." The prisoner pleaded not guilty to the charge, but from wholly circumstantial evidence, guilt was plainly written on all his actions, and the verdict was one which seemed to meet with the unanimous approval of those who had followed the case closely.

This morning he appeared for sentence and asked for the clemency of the court. Thorpe, however, has a bad criminal record which His Lordship was fully acquainted with, and sentenced the prisoner to three years in penitentiary at hard labour.

The facts of the thefts are mostly familiar to Examiner readers as a full report of the burglary was published when the prisoner received his preliminary hearing before the Police Magistrate on July 27, the morning the burglary was committed. It will be remembered that he was captured by the good detective work of P. C. Meharry, a few minutes after he had crawled out through a hole in the bottom of the rear door of the Bee Hive store. Taken to the police station, he was searched, and on his person was found $10.94 which, together with $1.09 found strewn over the floor, corresponded within a cent to the $12.02 left in the till by the cashier.

Mr. T. H. Moore, of Lindsay, conducted the case for the Crown, while Mr. Goodwill, of Roger, Bennet and Goodwill, pleaded for the prisoner.

John Meharry

The first witness for the prosecution was P. C. Meharry, and to Mr. Moore, said he was a constable in Peterborough, and was on duty on the evening of July 26 and the early morning of July 27. While passing the blind lane on Hunter street he heard a noise like something breaking. He stopped to listen, but could not determined where the noise originated from. He passed on down through the alleyway, trying each door until he came to the rear of the Bee Hive. At the door he found a man's coat, vest and hat, which he carefully examined. He looked through the window, but saw nothing peculiar in the interior. He went further down the alleyway and, returning, looked at the clothes again. He then went out to George street where he met Mr. Finnie, the night watchman, and on coming back to Hunter street they saw the prisoner coming from the alleyway and walk eastward. He, the witness, asked Mr. Finnie to see if the clothes were gone, while he kept an eye on the prisoner. He was informed that they had been removed and that there was a hole in the door. Things looked suspicious, and he therefore followed the prisoner, catching him at Hunter street. He asked the prisoner where he was going, and the latter said he was on his way to Havelock. Witness then remarked, "I guess you won't this morning." He asked him why he broke into the store, and he declared he did not, but stated that he had gone down the alleyway for another purpose. Mr. Finnie next took the prisoner to the police station, where he was searched, and found on him was a jackknife and about $11 in money—one bill and the rest silver and coppers. Among this were some American coppers and nickels.

He telephoned to Mr. Elliott to come down, and together with Mr. Finnie, walked up to the Bee Hive store, where they found $1.09 on the floor and the till broken open. They discovered that there was a difference of 10c. or 11 cents in comparing the two amounts. The prisoner was again searched, and a 10-cent piece besides an English coin were found.

Don't take that, the prisoner remarked, "that's my own," referring to the English coin.

"Isn't it all your own?"

"Yes, but I had that before," returned the prisoner.

The pencils, witness further stated, were cut out of the door, and a hole made large enough for a man to enter.

To Mr. Goodwill, witness stated that the night was fairly dark, but it was not pitchy. The nearest electric light was that on the corner of George and Hunter streets. The first time he went up the lane was about 4 o'clock in the morning. The light in the alleyway was fairly good. He did not notice that the door was broken in at that time.

Edward Finnie

Edward Finnie, night watchman, was next called, and to Mr. Moore stated that his beat consisted of

Lakefield Temperance House In Short Time

Mr. Chas. McBride, of Gore's Landing, Will Conduct It—To Open Shortly.

Examiner Special.

Lakefield, October 10. — It is reported here to-day that a temperance hotel will be opened in this village in the near future. Mr. Chas. McBride of Gore's Landing, it is understood, will be the proprietor of the new house, and will take charge in a few days. Considerable improvements will be effected in the house, and it will be fitted up to accommodate all the wants of the travelling public in what is believed will be a satisfactory manner.

Norwood Fair Very Promising

Fine Weather Smiles on the Directors of East Peterboro' Exhibition.

To-day the famed Norwood Fair takes place, or rather the second day. Last year the fair was not very successful on account of the inclemency of the weather, but this year's should be a record-breaker. The noon train, with two coaches added here, carried a large crowd, perhaps one of the largest Peterborough crowds that ever attended the Norwood Fair. This is the premier day, with Asphodel and Dummer farmers, and there is a certainty that the little village will be alive to-day.

St. Peter's Choir Honoured Their Leader Last Night

Miss Nettie Lewis Recipient of Presentation on Eve of Her Marriage.

Last evening the members of St. Peter's Choir waited upon Miss Nettie Lewis, who for the past two years has been leader of the choir and presented her with an eulogistic address and a handsome silver service on the eve of her marriage to Mr. Geo. Scott, which took place this morning.

The presentation was made by Miss Maggie Doherty, and the following address was read by Miss Annie Simons:—

Miss Nettie Lewis,

Leader of St. Peter's Cathedral Choir, Peterborough.

Dear Miss Lewis,—We, the members the choir of St. Peter's Cathedral are gathered together on this, the eve of your marriage, to extend to you our congratulations and we think we would be very ungrateful indeed, if we did not acknowledge in some way our sincere thankfulness to you for your kindness to us. We have found you ever a faithful and painstaking instructor, freely giving to us the benefit of your experience.

We would ask your acceptance of this slight token of our esteem and respect, and we rejoice to know that is not your intention to sever your connection with our choir. Wishing you many years of hearty prosperity and happiness in your new life.

Signed,—

The Members of St. Peter's Choir.

M. Sandford Hall Has Been Promoted

Is Now Manager of the Quill Lake, Sask., Bank.

Mr. Sandford R. Hall, son of Mr. Sheriff Hall, who for the past two years has been connected with the Point St. Charles branch of the Bank of Toronto, has been promoted manager of the Quill Lake, Sask., branch of that bank. Mr. Hall received his training in the Bank of Toronto here, and is very popular in the city, especially in Y.M.C.A. circles. His many Peterborough friends will be pleased to hear of his promotion.

Bought Property From Dickson Co.

Mr. Wm. Collins, East City, Has Made Important Purchase.

Mr. Wm. Collins, the well-known East City grocery man, at the corner of Hunter street and Driscoll Terrace, has purchased the store, land and buildings there which formerly belonged to the Dickson Company. It is understood the purchase price was in the neighbourhood of $7,000.

Leg Taken Off Beneath Train At Fenelon Falls

Well Known Painter of That Town Sustains Injury.

Examiner Special

Fenelon Falls, Oct. 10. — Thomas Stephenson was run over at the station here to-day by the G. T. R. noon train, and had his right leg taken off just above the instep. On account of the crush at the station he was pushed off the platform, falling beneath the wheels of the train.

He was taken to the hospital at Lindsay and the accident will, it is probable, necessitate the amputation of the leg.

Stephenson is a painter here, and a well-known resident.

OBITUARY

FRANK C. WALKER

A sad death occurred at his residence last evening at six o'clock, when Frank C. Walker succumbed to the effects of bronchitis. The deceased has been ill for the past two weeks with bronchial trouble and was troubled with heart disease. He was born in Birmington, Iowa, fifty-three years ago where he lived the greater part of his life. He came to Peterborough four years ago, being sent here by the American Cereal Company. Before that time he had been in that Company's employ at Cedar Rapids, Iowa, being an expert miller.

In 1871 the late Mr. Walker was married to Miss Kate E. Edwards. He also leaves to mourn his loss a son, Roy, who is an employee of the C.G.E., and a daughter, Miss Emily, who is at home. There are also two brothers and two sisters who live in Nebraska, some of whom are expected to come to Peterborough.

The arrangements for burial have not been made, before going to press.

New Cigar Factory In Peterborough

The Old Opera House Has Been Leased For a Term of Five Years.

Manufacturing Will Be Begun by the End of Month—Many Hands Employed.

Wages For Experts Are High—Women and Boys Will Be In Majority.

Peterborough is certainly becoming a great focusing point for new industries. The latest to come this way is a cigar manufacturing concern which has finally decided to locate here. The company will be known as the Planters' Cigar Company, under the management and proprietorship of Mr. M. E. Friedman, of New York City. Mr. Friedman has been in the city for more than a week now, and in company with Mr. Poussette, the company's solicitor, has been looking up a location. They have decided on the old opera house which, in a few weeks' time, will be turned into a modern cigar manufacturing establishment.

Several brands of cigars will be manufactured—the Lord Nelson and Silent Kiss being the most important.

Work has now been commenced in the old opera house, and by the end of the month the proprietor expects to have the transformation of the building completed.

Large Employment

At the beginning there will be at least thirty-five hands employed which number will have increased to 100 at the end of the first year. In three or four months fifty hands will have employment.

Division of Building

At the east end of the building will be located the bond room, and the office will be situated at the head of the stairs. The old stage will be partitioned off into wash rooms and lavatories.

Most of the workers at first will come from Toronto, as experienced hands are necessary. They will be chiefly young women and boys, as their fingers are more deft in working among the materials than those of men.

Good Wages

The wages for experts will be large. Expert women cigar-makers receive in the neighbourhood of $14 a week, while expert men, whose wages are controlled by the union, earn $35 a week.

Large Output

At the beginning the output will be about 25,000 cigars per week, increasing to 200,000 per month.

The company have secured a lease of the old opera house for five years and expect to have the factory in operation by the first of next month.

They will make application to the City Council for fixed assessment.

T. A. S. Will Be At Home On Oct. 18

Social Will be Held in Their Hall on Evening Before Thanksgiving Day.

On the evening of Wednesday, Oct. 17th, the night before Thanksgiving Day, the members of St. Peter's T.A.S. will give an "At Home" in their hall. A tea will be the feature of the first part of the evening, while progressive euchre will be the amusement during the latter part. It is needless to say that an enjoyable evening should be spent as the T.A.S. have the reputation of having good spreads and pleasant socials.

3000 Free Samples Of Breakfast Food In City

Mr. Harry A. Bishop, of The Canadian Shredded Wheat Co., Here To Direct Their Distribution.

To-day Mr. Harry A. Bishop, representing the Canadian Shredded Wheat Company, of Toronto, with mills at Niagara Falls, arrived in the city to superintend the distribution of the 3,000 free samples of Shredded Wheat Biscuit and Triscuit in the city.

These samples will be left at every home in Peterborough, the company adopting this means of advertising their goods, which, it is believed, will be rewarded in the future by a large opportunity of selling them. In each sample package there are four full Triscuits, enough for a breakfast for a moderate sized family.

Mr. Bishop expects to finish in the city in the course of the work of distributing the samples until the end of the week and during the interval will place the goods in every house in the city. This is probably the most costly distribution of free samples ever made in this city and the company expects to receive satisfactory results from the advertising campaign, which is used to support the newspaper advertising.

AN UNIQUE GATHERING

The interesting, and important, meeting held in St. John's School House last night, was unique in the history of interdenominational relations in Peterborough, or any other place in Canada, perhaps. Without any attempt at careful analysis of its features, or consideration of the effects it is likely to produce, it may be said that it marked an epoch in Church activity in Peterborough. Many persons of other denominations regarded the gathering as a thing apart, something quite novel in such relationships, and stated that they could not have believed that such a gathering — such a reunion of various church personalities, such a harmonising of denominational interests, and aspirations, was possible in Peterborough; and great credit is given to the courage and catholicism of spirit of Rev. Can. Davidson, who conceived and, with the hearty cooperation of the Church officials and congregation, carried out the idea, with most marked success. While, perhaps, nothing material, or tangible, may result from this gathering, there is little doubt that the spirit of social and religious harmony developed will tend to stimulate the activities of Christian workers in every denomination, and develop a spirit of aggressive cooperation, and general concentration of effort, which cannot fail to exercise a beneficial effect upon the community.

EXPIATION

The intimation that Mr. McGillivray will retire from the position he has held so long in the Independent Order of Foresters, can hardly fail, the Montreal Herald thinks, to be accepted by the Order and the public as a sign of repentance for the misdeeds revealed by the evidence given before the Insurance Commission. It is also evident that Sir John Boyd feels the delicacy of his position, as might indeed have been expected. He has allowed it to be made known that he will retire from the bench in a few months. The cases are by no means identical, for Chancellor Boyd has made it very clear that his relations with the Union Trust Company were purely advisory, that he was deceived by his fellow-directors, that he would never have authorized the transactions if he had known the truth, that he paid for his own shares and thought that others were doing likewise, while Mr. McGillivray had been from the very first the confidential assistant of Dr. Oronhyatekha, knew everything about the Order and the Trust Company, entered the land syndicate on the same basis as Mr. Foster, and, like Mr. Foster, profited by the dual relationship as members of the syndicate working with the Trust Company's money and as director of the Trust Company lending money to the syndicate. If, therefore, we may assume that Sir John Boyd is retiring because he feels been in some degrees subverted by ben in some degree subverted by the fact of his being a victim of these practices, for he was a victim, rather than a contributory, surely it is not too much to assume that Mr. McGillivray's retirement is by way of expiation. And there need be little doubt that it will be followed by others.

In Mr. Foster's case, no such action is necessary, for the excellent reason that he ceased to be manager of the Trust Company last May, not very long after he sent out that delightful circular to party friends asking for contributions to a fund to be used in hunting up scandals against Liberals. Virtuous man. It is still open to Mr. Foster, however, to accept the intimation of the Ottawa Journal, that his political usefulness is gone. He can hardly imagine that their example does not apply to him at all.

PLAIN TALK

Referring to the remarks of Magistrate Hunt, of Aylmer, Ont., in regard to the apathy of professed temperance people, in the matter of enforcing temperance legislation, the Ottawa Journal says: "That is pretty plain talk, but based as it is on the personal experience of a trained observer, it is talk of the sort which has more than the germ of good. It suggests a moral, which is not hard to seek. The advocates of cure the enactment of prohibitory laws unless they are prepared personally to assist in their enforcement, as they would be prepared to assist personally in the enforcement of any laws affecting their purely material interests. The leaders in any plan of moral reform should not only fear God but learn to keep their powder dry. For a good law not enforced begets contempt for the principle upon which the law is based. A bad law, well enforced, carries the probability of early repeal. But a good law which fails in enforcement by reason of the laziness or faint-heartedness of the men who have secured its enactment puts breath in the nostrils of the scoffer."

DENIED A HEARING

The request of Dr. P. D. Goldsmith for an investigation into the cause of his dismissal from the position of Physician to the Institution for the Deaf and Dumb has been ingored by the Minister of Education, who has not had the courtesy to return any answer to Dr. Goldsmith's letter.

This shows clearly that there was no good or sufficient reason for the peremptory discharge of an efficient public officer against whom no charge was—or could be laid.

It also proves that the statement which Dr. Pyne made in regard to the matter was as untruthful and ridiculous as the Ontario declared ti to be when it was first given to the public.

"The mills of the gods ground slowly" but surely, as Mr. Whitney and his colleagues will find a very few years hence.—Belleville Ontario.

It might be timely to inquire what became of Premier Whitney's declaration that no public official would be discharged from office without charge preferred and investigation made. It is ignored in the interests of political application of the spoils doctrin, for the benefit of party workers.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The Ottawa printers, in severing the tie with the International Typographical Union, are merely in advance of other Canadian labour unions. It is merely a matter of time, the London Advertiser thinks, and of the growth of this country, when all Canadian labour organization will be national, and not a tail to the labour kite across the line.

Ottawa seems to be rapidly qualifying for some such position, as the Washington of the North. They have had fire, battle, murder and sudden death, and falling walls, crushing its citizens. We are not necessarily to suppose that the Ottawa people are any wickeder than other places, or than those on whom the tower of Siloam fell. In regard to the disaster of the falling walls of the Gilmour hotel, somebody in authority, has, it seems, incurred a weighty responsibility.

The Brockville Times, Conservative, thus moralises:—"Although an attempt has been made by certain Grit papers to connect the name of Mr. Borden, the Conservative leader, with certain parliamentary land grafting in Western Canada it is worthy of note that even the Toronto Globe is forced to give him full exoneration. Those who know Mr. Borden know that he is incapable of being implicated in any such business." Mr. Borden may have been judged harshly, but people reasoned on the principle that a man is to be judged by the company he keeps. The men mixed up in the western land deal were among the political allies which accompanied him on his Western political tour.

PROVINCIAL SUBSIDIES

Montreal Gazette.

To take money collected from the federal taxpayers and give it to the provincial legislatures to spend will be doing wrong to the Dominion without helping the provinces in any beneficial way. The record of every province almost from the first is in support of this position. They all have the same history. Their administrators, after a period of unjustifiable outlay, found themselves short. They imposed a slight tax. They spent the proceeds, and they put on another tax. If they get an extra grant out of the federal treasury it will be spent as the proceeds of the taxes were spent, and the improvements will be short again. The country wants not more expenditure, but economy, both at federal and the provincial capitals; and in the latter economy can be secured only by making those who spend the money take the responsibility of raising it.

Local Preacher At Convention

Rev. J. G. Lewis Attends Temperance Convention.

Rev. J. G. Lewis, of Mark street church was in Toronto yesterday attending the convention of Temperance and Moral Reform. The meetings were held in the Board room of the Wesley building, and business in connection with temperance and reforms in the province were considered.

from Brock street to Peter Hamilton's foundry. He was in the blind alley at 10 o'clock and again at 12, and found everything right. About 2 o'clock he made another trip and all was well. He did not see any clothes on the box. He met the policeman between 3 and 4 o'clock, and in consequence of what he said they walked back. At the corner of George and Hunter streets he saw the prisoner coming out of the lane. He went down and saw the door broken into and the clothes gone. He related these facts to the officer, who then arrested the prisoner.

To Mr. Goodwill witness testified that at 10 minutes to 2, when he was in the blind lane, the door was not broken into.

Thos. C. Elliot

Mr. Elliott, the proprietor of the Bee Hive store, was the next witness for the prosecution. To Mr. Moore he said he closed his store the day before about 1 o'clock, it being a half holiday. He was 'phoned on the morning of the 27th of July, and, on reaching his store, found a couple of panels cut out of the lower part of the door. On looking at the cash box he found it broken and money scattered on the floor as the previous witnesses had stated.

Miss Florence Derry

Miss Derry, who is Mr. Elliott's cashier, was then called, and to Mr. Moore said she counted the cash in the cash box about 12.30 o'clock the day before and found $9.92. After that, $2.10 was taken in, making in all $12.02.

This concluded the evidence for the prosecution. No witnesses were called for the defence.

Addressed the Jury

In his address to the jury, Mr. Goodwill based the defence on the supposition that the whole in the panel of the door was not cut by the knife found on the prisoner and that it was cut during the few minutes intervening between the time the policeman and Mr. Finnis were at the door.

Mr. Goodwill only consented to take the case at noon yesterday, so that his time for its consideration was limited.

Judge's Address

His Lordship in addressing the jury gave an impartial review of the evidence heard. The evidence, he said, was wholly circumstantial, but very often this was just as good as any other, but in circumstantial evidence the jury must consider whether the circumstances agree with the supposed guilt of the prisoner.

Guilty

The case was then left in the hands of the jury, who, after deliberating a short time, returned with the above mentioned verdict.

This morning the prisoner appeared before His Lordship for sentence, and when asked if he had anything to say, said he had not except to ask the court for clemency.

"Have you ever been convicted before?" asked His Lordship.

"Yes, sir, in Toronto."

"Were you convicted of theft in 1881 and sentenced to two years in jail?"

"Yes, sir."

"Have you ever been in the reformatory?"

"Yes, but not for stealing."

"You were sentenced there for three years?"

"Yes, sir."

"And afterwards you were in the Central Prison for six months?"

"I was."

In view of the long list of convictions against you I sentence you to three years in the penitentiary at hard labour," concluded His Lordship.

Prisoner's Appearance

Thorpe is a man of 38 years of age, with roughened features and with a shin conspicuous by its absence. He has every appearance of a hardened criminal and appeared to be little affected by the sentence of the judge.

Pleasant Social At Riverdale

Concert in Aid of the Children's Aid Society.

The concert given last night at the Riverside Church, North Monaghan, was a decided success. The attendance was large, including many from Peterborough and the programme was most enjoyable as was indicated by the applause with which each number was greeted. The proceeds, which amounted to $14.57 were donated to the Children's Aid Society. Mr. John Holmes was an efficient programme and the following programme was rendered:—

Chairman's address.

Solo, "The Maple Leaf Forever", Rev. J. G. Potter, the audience joining in the chorus.

Solo, ...Mr. Duncan Campbell
Recitation ... ...Miss Rush
Solo .... Miss Doxsee
Mandolin solo ... ... Mr. Skinner
Solo ... .Miss Winnie Anderson
Solo ... Miss Evans, North Monaghan
Solo ... ...Mr. German
Solo ....Mr. Eley

An encore was demanded in every case and those taking part generously responded.

At the conclusion of the programme refreshments were served and a pleasant social time was spent in which the visitors were made to feel thoroughly at home.

Bad Attack of La Grippe.

A year ago I had a bad attack of la grippe, and all the doctor's prescriptions proved to be of no avail. I was told to try Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine, and found it a great blessing, as it thoroughly cured me. I told my doctor that I intended to recommend it to all my friends." — Mrs. L. Hutton 12 Claremont street, Toronto, Ont.

Routine Business Was Transacted

Meeting of the North Monaghan Council on Monday.

The North Monaghan Council met in the Town Hall at 7.30 p. m. on Monday, when there were present Messrs. Brown, Morrow, Holmes, and Fowler.

In the absence of the Reeve Mr. Fowler was elected chairman. The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed.

Accounts were passed from:—

P. Hamilton Co'y, repairs to grader	$10 50
Kingan Hardware Co., shovels, etc, ...	3 20
Peterborough Examiner Co., printing account	57 65
R. Colin, Road Commissioner, Division No. 2, putting in 6 culverts	36 00

On motion of Messrs. Holmes and Brown, the accounts of P. Hamilton & Co. and Kingan Hardware Co. were passed and ordered to be paid and the accounts of Peterborough Examiner Printing Company and R. Colin, were referred for investigation.

Mr. Francis Brown attended the meeting and requested the council to grade and watertable Frank street as several houses were to be erected thereon this fall.

On motion of Messrs. Morrow and Brown, the matter of grading Frank street was referred to the Road Commissioner of Division No. 4.

The clerk was instructed to write the Divisional Superintendent of the G.T.R. in reference to the opening by them of a crossing at McKellar street.

Mr. Brown reported that in the matter of repairs to the road near Lockie's Creek as complained of by Mr. Hogg, the Commissioner of Division No. 3, had been instructed to do what work as might be found necessary to make the road safe for public traffic.

Council then adjourned until the statutory meeting in December unless sooner called by the Reeve.

FALLING HAIR STOPPED

Baldness Cured by Destroying the Parasite Germ That Causes It.

Baldness follows falling hair, falling hair follows dandruff; and dandruff is the result of a germ digging its way into the scalp to the root of the hair where it saps the vitality of the hair. To destroy that germ is to prevent as well as cure dandruff, falling hair, and, lastly, baldness. There is only one preparation known to do that, Newbro's Herpicide, and entirely new, scientific discovery. Wherever it has been tried it has proven wonderfully successful. It can't be otherwise, because it utterly destroys the dandruff germ. "You destroy the cause, you remove the effect." Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Ormond & Walsh, special agents.

Sale of the Cubitt Stock of Wall Papers
—We have struck the right keynote in selling borders and wall papers at the same price. Cubbit's stock of wall paper is selling like "hot cakes" at Stratton's. Remember we have only 10,000 rolls of this paper at half price. Mostly all new patterns, purchased within the year from the leading Montreal wall paper makers. Remember the prices,—papers per roll 3c., borders per roll 3c., papers per roll 5c., borders per roll 5c., papers per roll 10c., borders per roll 10c. and and 8c. Just think what this means —a room papered for less than half a dollar at one price, and less than one dollar at the other. Come early any day this week and bring the size of your room. A. H. Burleigh Lock Open Until Nov. 1

Mr. Hall Obtains an Extension of the Time for Closing.

A few days ago a notice was sent out to the effect that the Burleigh Falls lock would close for the season on October 15th. Since then it has been found that there is a large quantity of wood in Lovesick Lake, which is to be brought to Peterborough and the local wood dealers stated that if it were not brought down it would affect the price on the local market.

Mr. Hall, therefore, took up the question at Ottawa and as a result of his efforts the lock will remain open until November 1st.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

SEVENGALA THE WONDERFUL

Only a fair-sized audience gathered at the Grand last night to see Sevengela, the hypnotist, in his demonstrations, but those who were there will not soon forget the performance. Laughter was the keynote of the evening, and Sevengela maintained his name of "The King of Fun-Makers." The subjects under his control performed antics that convulsed the audience with merriment. A balloon voyage was the piece de resistance, the adventures of the aeronauts being truly thrilling. All the subjects made the ascent, encountering a hail and rain storm in the clouds and then running into warm weather, under the influence of which the balloon expanded so much that it finally exploded, and the entire company had to swim for life when their basket struck the ocean. A more humorous episode could not be devised, and the audience went simply wild with amusement.

The experiments in telepathy, which concluded the programme, were very mysterious and wonderful. Sevengela is well worthy of a visit.

Union Pacific was the big feature on tremendous transactions gaining 3 points. Penna. and Steel common made new high levels while St. Paul, Amal. Copper and Southern Pac. showed much strength. Smelters was very strong early but a profit-taking movement later sold it off. There was a great deal of profit-taking in the whole market in the last hour, but the strength in Penna. Atchison and Steel common kept prices up and closed the market firm.

A Galaxy Of Talent Invades Canada's Capital

Notable Gathering of Canada's Political Leaders.

THE PREMIERS BANQUETED

Sir Wilfrid Described the Canadian Constitution as Not Perfect, But a Workable Arrangement — Premiers In Session Agree Upon Two Resolutions — Both Refer to Demand For Increased Subsidy.

Ottawa, Oct. 10.—Ten Prime Ministers, six members of the Dominion Cabinet, ten members of Provincial Ministries, one member of the Imperial Parliament and the leader of the Opposition in the Canadian Parliament were guests at the opening dinner of the Canadian Club last night. There probably never has been such a galaxy of political talent assembled at a banquet as was gathered in the Russell House dining hall on this occasion. Every Government in Canada was represented, and when the toast list was taken up the speeches were endless. Fortunately a judicious hint was given to stick to ten-minute talks, otherwise the advent of dawn would have seen the speakers still on their feet.

The Leading Figures.

The leading figures at the banquet were:—

Dominion Ministers—Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Messrs. Fielding, Paterson, Fisher, Brodeur, Aylesworth and Lemieux.

Provincial Ministers—Premiers McBride, Rutherford, Scott, Roblin, Whitney, Gouin, Tweedie, Murray Peters, Messrs. Cross, Calder, Campbell, Foy, Matheson, Turgeon, Weir, Pugsley, Drysdale and Hughes.

Imperial Parliament—Mr. Hamar Greenwood.

It was nearly 10.30 when President J. Plunkett Taylor invited the company to drink to the health of "Our Guests," with which the names of Sir Wilfrid Laurier and the Provincial Premiers were coupled, each of whom made speeches dealing especially with the making of Canada's constitution, which Sir Wilfrid described as not perfect, but a workable arrangement.

Reach An Agreement.

The Premiers reached a unanimous agreement yesterday afternoon. They have been in conference for two days endeavoring to reconcile the differences which existed between the various provinces in their claims for an increased allowance from the Dominion treasury.

Two resolutions were adopted. They will be presented to Sir Wilfrid Laurier and the other Federal Ministers this morning.

The first of these resolutions declares the need for increased allowances, as outlined in the Quebec resolutions in 1902, viz.:

Eighty cents a head of the population of the provinces, as shown by the last census figures.

An increase in the allowance for legislation, and

An allowance of 20 cents a head for the administration of criminal justice.

This was unanimously agreed to without prejudice to the claim of any province to special consideration owing to the peculiar claims for better treatment.

The second resolution declares that pending the amendment to the British North America Act, necessary to give effect to the first resolution, the Canadian Parliament should, at the next session, enact a measure for the temporary relief of the provinces.

Sir Wilfrid Notified.

The chairman of the provincial conference, Premier Gouin, has informed Sir Wilfrid that a unanimous agreement has been reached, and that the conference would like to lay its resolutions before the Federal Government this morning. This will be done at 11 o'clock behind closed doors, as all of the proceedings have been conducted.

At 1 o'clock yesterday Mr. R. L. Borden entertained the members of the conference at luncheon in the Senate Restaurant. Among those invited were Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Hon. Sydney Fisher, Hon. Wm. Paterson, Hon. [illegible] Speaker Sutherland, Hon. J. P. Whitney, Hon. J. J. Foy, Hon. A. J. Matheson, Hon. Lomer Gouin, Hon. A. Turgeon, Hon. A. Tessier, Hon. W. A. Weir, Hon. G. H. Murray, Hon. Arthur Drysdale, Hon. L. J. Tweedie, Hon. W. Pugsley, Hon. Arthur Peters, Hon. G. E. Hughes, Hon. R. P. Roblin, Hon. C. H. Campbell, Hon. Walter Scott, Hon. J. H. Calder, Hon. H. C. Rutherford, Hon. C. S. Cross, Hon. R. McBride, Hon. Joseph Pope, Mr. Chas. Marcil, Mr. R. H. Pope.

WIFE'S STORY OF HUSBAND.

Takes $8,000 With Him, Leaving His Wife Practically Penniless.

St. Catharines, Oct. 10.—Edward Moore, retired grocer of this city, left town rather unexpectedly last Friday, and yesterday his wife claimed that he has deserted her and had taken with him almost $8,000, while she is practically penniless.

Mrs. Moore tells a long story of her husband's unfaithfulness, and claims he was intimate for some time with a young woman well known about the city, who has also recently left for unknown parts.

She has already taken action to prosecute her husband.

Lost Child in Wolf's Den.

St. Joseph's, Minn., Oct. 10.—After being lost for two days, during which the entire countryside joined in a hunt for her, 4-year-old Margaret Schweitzer, daughter of a well-to-do farmer, was found unharmed in a wolf's den in the forest near here yesterday morning. The child was well and apparently contented, but scolding her rescuers for having driven away the "nice little doggies" with which she had been playing.

Placing Boundary Buoys.

Erie, Pa., Oct. 10.—The United States cruiser Morrell and the Canadian cruiser Vigilant have begun the work of setting buoys to mark the boundary between the American and Canadian waters in Lake Erie. The placing of the buoys at intervals of five miles will, it is hoped, eliminate all further cause of annoyance between the fishermen of the two countries.

Girl's Bad Trolley Fall.

Toronto, Oct. 10.—Rosie Rether, a 15-year-old girl, got off a car the wrong way last night and landed upon her head. At an early hour this morning she was still unconscious in Grace Hospital.

How The Church May Best Help Community

ladies of the parish who, in their loyalty to the rector and his project, had generously volunteered their services. The refreshments served were of an unusually excellent character.

One of the features of the gathering worthy of passing notice was the presence of three Anglican laymen from outside the city, Mr. E. J. B. Pense, M.P.P., of Kingston; Mr. Frank Hodgins, K.C., of Toronto; and Mr. N. Farrer Davidson, of Toronto, President of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew's for Canada, were among the guests, while telegrams and letters of regret from Hon. Geo. A. Cox, Mr. J. S. Willison and Mr. J. A. Macdonald, of Toronto, as well as from Rev. J. P. Wilson, of Belleville, all of whom had been invited to be present, but who were unable to attend. It was stated that a large number of local letters in reply to invitations were received, most of them, and some of them in very graceful and forcible terms, expressing sympathy with the object of the gathering.

The assembly hall, and the guild room adjoining the latter, being used as a reception room, were very prettily decorated, the guild room having been recently re-furnished through the efforts of the ladies, and presented a very inviting appearance. The tables were adorned with flowers and ribbons, light being furnished by many-coloured candles in silver candlesticks. While the guests were gathering, and during the progress of the tea, music was provided by an orchestra led by Mr. J. Halpany.

To permit of the tables being removed and the school house being reseated for the symposium on the subject of "How can the church benefit the community," the guests adjourned to the church and the interval was filled with a little sacred music. This consisted of two organ voluntaries finely performed by Mr. R. J. Devey, organist —"Contemplation" and "Adoration," from Gaul's "Holy City," a well sung solo by Mr. H. W. Morphet, "Hold Thou My Hand," and a quartette of well balanced parts, excellently sung by Mr. G. C. Chandler, Mr. Allen and Mesdames Devey and Seward. The tenor solo was taken very effectively by Mr. Chandler. This was followed by a very brief service conducted by the rector.

The hymn, beginning,

O, Lord, how joyful 'tis to see
The brethren join in love to Thee, founded upon the Scripture, "Behold, how joyful it is, for brethren to dwell together in unity," was very heartily sung. Then prayers for unity among Christians, for Peterborough and country and praises for the bounty showered upon the city and country. The service was brief but earnest. The company to the number of between 150 and 200 returned to the school room where the speaking upon the set subject took place.

In the interval the ladies had been at work and the tables had been cleared away from the assembly hall, which was transformed from a place of festivity into a meeting house. Upon return to the hall, Rev. Dr. Crothers moved Mr. D. Hughes Charles to the position of chairman of the meeting, which proposal was unanimously agreed upon, and the more practical feature of the gathering was entered upon.

The Addresses

Mr. Hughes Charles, in taking the chair, remarked humourously that it was seldom that the laymen had an opportunity of talking at the preachers, and he thought it would serve the latter right if he preached a sermon at them. The meeting had been called for the purpose of considering the needs of the community and how they may best be met. The idea that the clergy represented the church was exploded now. The laity is a factor which is now recognized in the church life. The chairman paid a tribute to the ladies for their part in the meeting in assisting the rector. They were proud of the young ladies of St. John's. At this juncture the rector read letters and telegrams from a number of gentlemen who had been invited to attend, but who were unable to accept the invitations.

Municipal Questions

Mr. G. M. Roger was the first speaker and dealt largely with municipal questions and regretted the fact that men who entered municipal life were criticised by the press and the public, the result being that good men were not anxious to offer themselves for public service. He was greatly inspired by the meeting and could not conceive of anything more appropriate or fitting. He suggested that the community could be served by the exercise of more sympathy with those who enter municipal life.

Rev. Dr. Torrance, replying to Mr. Roger, suggested that no public man in municipal life was as severely criticised as were the ministers, and suggested that often the gentlemen of the cloth would be glad to receive suggestions from the laity on preaching sermons.

Mr. Geo. Edmison, who said he had had ten years' experience in the Municipal Council and on the School Board, believed that the members of these bodies were not as severely criticised as the judges and police magistrates.

Practical Edncation

Mr. D. W. Dumble's contribution to the discussion was a most practical one. He complimented the ladies of the parish upon the success of their efforts, and, dealing with the subject under discussion, suggested that the church should make efforts, constant and long, to raise the condition of the people who by their own habits of life, have placed themselves in a degraded condition. The educational system of the country is at fault, he said, and prominent men might, with profit, take up the question and try to have more practical subjects taught in our public schools. He was afraid that the churches were not quite meeting the demands made upon them. He had said that he wished that the money spent in the George Street Methodist Church had been put into three churches. Some women were afraid to go into our fine churches because they wore poke bonnets.

Laymen and the Church

The relation of the representative laymen of the church was the theme dealt with by Rev. H. M. Manning in his address. He thought that the representative men of the congregations should take more interest in uplifting the individual men in the church. He suggested that if the homes of those who were not interested in the church were visited by devoted laymen, the cause for which the church stood would be advanced. The great trouble in these modern times was that the business men did not have time to devote to church work, and as a result the cause was suffering. The work of the church, of the preacher and the laymen should be to help men who are down to get up and to stand on their feet. It was, he said, better to get half a dozen men to work, than to do half a dozen men's work.

To Go Hand-in-Hand

Dr. Morrison believed that the work of the Church should go hand in hand with other affairs in life. Too many men and women do not know how to make the best out of their lives, and these he thought the Church might well try to teach. Men should be taught to live within their means, because when one is in debt there is very little inclination towards spiritual things.

Rev. Mr. Scott said in his address that the regeneration of society must have its source in the heart of the individual, and that the great moral problems can only be solved by men and women being religious.

Sympathy Needed

There is nothing, said Rev. Dr. Crothers, that appeals to the man on the street like sympathy and sincerity, and he urged upon the gathering the necessity of practicing these qualities. The Church could help the community by being united, and he felt after the beautiful service in the church that after all the Churches were practically all one, differing only in non-essentials. He urged greater interest being taken in the press, and suggested that when an editorial article helped one, the editor should be encouraged. He did not take much interest in politics, but thought that the discussions in the press should be raised above the partisanship level.

The duty of the Church was to make the world here as pure and sweet and clean as possible, and there would be no occasion to worrying about the future.

The Chief Problem

Mr. R. M. Dennistoun thought that the question of the care of children was one which the Church might well consider. He pleaded for greater consideration for child-life.

An interesting, earnest and practical address was that given by Mr. N. Farrer Davidson of Toronto, who spoke of the disinclination on the part of laymen to undertake Church work because of the fact that it made them conspicuous. The life of the home was also a matter worthy of serious consideration.

A Hopeful Sign.

Mr. E. J. B. Pense, M.P.P., for Kingston, made a valuable contribution to the discussion. He considered it a very hopeful sign that a gathering such as that was held under the auspices of the Anglican Church. The great Northwest was likely to be the scene of the first practical example of church union, and he felt that in 10 or 15 years, when church union had become a fact, those who were present last night, could look back upon that gathering with pleasure.

Mr. Frank Hodgins, K.C., followed with a short address, and other speakers were Rev. A. H. Brace, Rev. A. Bright, Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, Rev. J. G. Lewis, Mr. T. E. Bradburn, M.P.P., Mr. G. H. Williamson, Rev. W. Major and Rev. J. G. Potter.

The gathering closed with the National Anthem.

Lady Teacher For The Council

Miss Johnston, of Toronto, Nominated for Advisory Council.

The Woman Teachers' Association of Toronto, have nominated Miss Johnston as candidate for the Advisory Council of Ontario, and would like to see her elected, because she has been for a number of years a recognized leader among her fellow-teachers. She has been twice President of the Toronto Teachers' Association.

She is an experienced teacher with a strong personality, is logical, tactful, courteous and has wonderful powers of expression. She is also well versed in educational matters. She is the only woman candidate, and as seven-eighths of the teachers of Ontario are women, surely there should be one woman representative on the Council.

Appointing Of Milk Inspector

Special Committee to Deal With Matter.

To-morrow night the special committee appointed in connection with Ald. McIntyre's milk by-law, to look after the appointing of an officer to see that the milk supplied to the people of the city is clean and pure, will meet and it is probable that some steps will be taken towards selecting such an officer.

The Committee of the Whole Council will also meet to-morrow night.

Bad Knee Cured By Zam-Buk

A Footballers' Valuable Experience.

As an example of the value of Zam-Buk in cases of abrasions and injuries to muscles and tendons, as well as to the skin, the recent experience of Mr. E. Leslie, of Harriet street, Winnipeg, may be mentioned. He says: "While playing football I received a kick on the knee. I had had previous trouble with that knee, and expected that I would be laid off, unable to walk, next day. I rubbed on some Zam-Buk however, and, to my surprise and pleasure, it prevented all serious consequences. Before I had used the second box the knee was quite cured! Now, I always carry a box when travelling, for I think Zam-Buk a blessing to humanity."

Such it has proved on many occasions. Made entirely from herbal essences, it is a purely natural balm. Eczema, ulcers, abscesses, sores on the back or loins, piles, scalding sores, itching or chafed surfaces, sore feet, blistered or chapped hands, sore nipples—for all these, as well as for cuts, burns, bruises, scalds and everyday skin injuries, it is a veritable boon. For household use, nurses, doctors and mothers everywhere give it a good word. Of its value to athletes the above case is but one example. Shering, the winner of the Marathon race, used Zam-Buk while training, and uses it for bruises, sore feet, and as an embrocation. The leading athletes of the world have expressed their appreciation of its value. All druggists, at 50c. per box, or post free from the Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, upon receipt of price; 6 boxes for $2.50. Send one cent stamp and full name and address, and free sample box will be mailed you.

RATEPAYER WANTS TO KNOW

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—Will you kindly insert my letter in your paper. I would like to know how much longer we are to have a pond in front of our houses on upper George street, for when it's not water it's a mud pond and it's never dry, even in dry weather. It was bad enough before the sewerage was put in but it's ten times worse since and they pretended to grade the streets, but I don't know what they call grading when they leave half the street all to one side from Smith street north for half a block disgraceful. They took good care to grade the east side of street where some of our councillmen live. Now, Mr. Street Inspector, I wish to call your attention at once to the matter before the winter sets in as in the spring. We may be flooded out as it's impossible to cross the street unless we put on rubber boots

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for your valuable paper as one who suffers

LAST NIGHT'S MEETING

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Please allow me to use your columns for a few remarks in connection with the gathering in St. John's School House, which I had no opportunity of making last evening.

First, as to the invited guests. We would have desired a much larger representation of each congregation, but were limited by lack of space. Will those many earnest leaders and workers in the different congregations not invited be assured that they would have been fully as welcome to St. John's as those who were chosen to represent them.

Secondly, as to any credit for this enterprise. While deeply grateful, I could not but feel how dangerous and undeserved were the words of commendation spoken with such kindly intent. Dangerous, because a great cause often suffers from the undue prominence of its promotors. Undeserved, because any success was only achieved by the warm co-operation of a great many persons, especially the different ministers of the city and our kind guests who threw themselves so thoroughly into the spirit of the undertaking, and so, even without speaking, contributed to its pleasure and influence.

Once more, let us remember with thankfulness that this expression of the spirit of unity and good will has been made possible only by a rapidly improving public spirit, which has been gradually evolved, matured by many by-gone, as well as present, leaders in both Church and State. Only a few years ago, last night's meeting would have been an utter impossibility. To-day these many representative men gladly assemble without doubt or suspicion, under the definite banner of vital christianity which is felt even now to unite us for co-operative effort. Surely a grea topportunity lies before us to join forces in moulding the future of this young and vigorous city.

Cannot we be absolutely loyal to our own branch of the one true church of Christ, treasuring our distinctive heritage in so far as it is in accordance with Truth, giving our distinctive witness, and at the same time cherish and express a kindly spirit to others and join with them in supporting and advancing the general broad principles of our Holy Religion?

Encouraged by the present outlook in this respect,

Yours, etc.,

J. C. DAVIDSON.

Nervous and Worried.

Mr. Archibald Sutherland, principal of the South Bar School, Sydney, N. S., writes: "I was greatly troubled with nervous dyspepsia, and after meals I often felt like vomiting, and my stomach was sore. I was nervous and worried, frequently had headache and shortness of breath. When several doctors failed I decided to try Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and it has entirely cured me. I shall be glad to be the means of bringing this medicine to the notice of any one who is suffering as I did."

WEDDING BELLS

SCOTT—LEWIS

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at St. Peter's Cathedral at 8 o'clock this morning when Miss Nettie Lewis, daughter of Mr. Thad. Lewis, Park street, was united in marriage to Mr. Geo. Scott, of Peterborough. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. O'Brien in the presence of a number of friends. The bridesmaid was Miss Annie McCarthy and the groomsman, Mr. Emmet Doherty.

Mendelssohn's wedding march was played by Miss Doherty. The full choir of the Cathedral was present and rendered a hymn in splendid style. Miss Annie Simons sang "Ave Verum," and Miss Lavina Hallihan "Ave Maria," with fine effect.

The bride was attired in a handsome blue travelling suit with lace blouse and hat to match. She carried a bouquet. The bridesmaid's dress was of cream serge with lace trimmings and hat to match.

The presents received by the young couple were costly and many, testifying to the high esteem in which they are held by their many friends. The groom's fellow-employees of the C.G.E. pattern department presented him with a cut glass bowl. The groom's gift to the bridesmaid was a gold locket set with diamonds, and to the groomsman a pair of gold cuff-links. The groom's father presented the bride with a piano.

Mr. and Mrs. Scott went at once to their home on Rubidge street, after the ceremony. Mrs. Scott has been for the last two years leader of St. Peter's choir and is very popular with the members of that organization.

BROOKS—WOODS.

A very pretty, though quiet wedding took place at the residence of the bride's father, Simcoe street, at 30 o'clock this afternoon, when Miss Octavia E. Wood, daughter of W. S. Wood, of this city, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Mr. B. Brooks, of Owen Sound. The ceremony took place in the presence of the relatives and near friends of the contracting parties. Rev. J. G. Lewis of Mark street Methodist church, officiating. Master Carman Carlow, nephew, of Warkworth, was page and little Miss Alita Wood, a niece of the bride, acted as flower girl.

The bride was becomingly gowned in a cream voile suit with chiffon trimmings and wore the customary veil and carried a large bouquet of orange blossoms. Her travelling suit was of navy blue lady's cloth with hat to match. The drawing room, in which the ceremony was performed, was prettily decorated with evergreens and maple leaves "in their sear and yellow," while a large bank of flowers made a very beautiful background. The happy couple left to-night via 5.38 G.T.R. train for points west and on their return will reside at No. 32 Stewart street.

Many handsome presents were received, attesting to the esteem and popularity in which the young people are held. The groom's present to the bride was a purse of gold. Those from a distance were Mr. Carlow and wife, of Warkworth and Mr. Wm. Brooks, brother of the groom, of Toronto.

Wage Case Was Decided To-day

Small Docket at This Morning's Police Court.

The only case on the docket this morning was one in which a man was claiming wages from his employer. Robt. Graham was the man who wanted the money and the defendant in the case was J. Jacobs, the well known horse buyer of Montreal. It appears that Graham had been hired by Jacobs to go to Toronto at the time of the Exhibition to look after some of his horses. Graham claimed $2 for his services which amount was not paid to him. Magistrate Dumble gave judgment of $16 for Graham.

No Decision Yet Reached In Duncan vs. Hamilton Case

Chief Questions Submitted to Jury Answered in Defendants' Favour—If Defendants Are Liable They Recommend Plaintiff to Get $300 Damages—His Lordship's Address to Jury.

In the case of Wm. Duncan vs. the Peter Hamilton Manufacturing Company, which was conducted yesterday, except for the judge's decision, the jury answered His Lordship's questions mostly in favour of the defendant. They found that the plaintiff could, by the exercise of reasonable care, have avoided the accident which therefore leaves it a clear case of contributory negligence. The jury also found that the accident happened to the plaintiff because he attempted to turn the crane without using the handle or crank, and also that the plaintiff freely and voluntarily, and with full knowledge of the nature of the risk he ran, implicitly agreed to incur it.

On the other hand, they believed that the gearing should have been protected by a shield, and that if the defendants were liable, the plaintiff should receive $300.

Mr. D. O'Connel looked after the interests of the plaintiff, and Mr. L. M. Hayes, of Hall & Hayes, for the defendants.

The following were the questions and their answers:

Q.—Did the accident to the plaintiff happen by reason of the slipping of the crank only, or by reason of the plaintiff attempting to turn the gearing or wheel to lower the hook without the use of the crank?

A.—According to the weight of evidence we think the accident was caused by plaintiff turning the wheel by hand.

Q.—Was the injury to the plaintiff caused by reason of any defect in the condition or arrangement of the works, machinery or plant of the defendant?

A.—Yes.

Q.—If so, what was such defect or defects?

A.—The gearing not being protected by a shield.

Q.—Were defendants guilty of negligence in not discovering or remedying that defect or defects?

A.—Yes.

Q.—Considering that the crane was a hand crane and not a power crane, and considering its use and the way it was used in defendants' moulding shop, was the gearing, as it was at the time of the accident, dangerous?

A.—Yes.

Q.—Did the plaintiff freely and voluntarily, and with full knowledge of the nature and extent of the risk he ran, implicitly agree to incur it?

A.—Yes.

Q.—Could the plaintiff, by reasonable care, have avoided the accident?

A.—Yes.

Q.—What damages do you find for the plaintiff that defendants should pay if defendants are liable?

A.—$300.00.

Judge's Address

Court resumed at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon when the Judge addressed the jury and in part said:

Gentlemen of the Jury, — Evidence has been given to show that Duncan, the plaintiff, was working in the establishement of the defendants, last February. In working the crane there an accident happened which resulted in an injury to him, for which he asks for damages. He comes into court and asks for damages and he is entitled to fair play. But so also are the defendants. This is the poor man's court, and he has a right to come for justice. But also has the rich man. He has no right to allow any person to put his hands in his pockets and take his money. There-I leave it with you to decide whether the plaintiff is entitled to damages or not. Often in doing the simplest act accidents happens for which the owners of the places where they occurr can not be held liable.

He thought that in the disposal of it, it would be better to ask questions rather than ask for a general verdict.

His Lordship after the reading of each question reviewed explicitely the evidence, in favour of both sides of the case. The jurors retired at 2.45 p.m.

M. M. Morrison Acquitted On Pocket Picking Charge

Evidence Only Cast Suspicion Upon Him—Judge Recommended Verdict of Not Guilty—Jury Did Not Retire —No Evidence Given in Defence.

On the recommendations of His Lordship Mr. Justice Britton, Milburn Martin Morrison, the Brockville youth, arrested on a charge of picking pockets at the Peterborough Industrial Fair, was this morning found not guilty by the jury, and discharged, without any evidence being given in his behalf. His Lordship, in his address to the jury, stated that a conviction could scarcely be made as it was merely a case of strong suspicion.

Morrison was arrested by P. C. Newhall on the last day of the exhibition, and at a preliminary hearing by the Police Magistrate, was committed for trial. He was placed in the prisoner's box last night shortly after 5 o'clock, and at 10 o'clock this morning was a free man. His father has been a close attendant at the Assizes since Monday, and was a pleased man as he walked out of the court room this morning with his son.

Considerable evidence was given for the prosecution, but none was heard for the prisoner, Mr. O'Connel, who appeared for him, deciding that it was unnecessary. Mr. T. H. Moore, of Lindsay, conducted the case for the Crown.

Jas. Miller

James Miller, the Smith farmer, who lost the money, was first called, and to Mr. Moore stated he was at the Peterborough exhibition, in company with his wife, on September 26th. He had $5, made up of two $2 bills and a one dollar bill, besides a cheque and a couple of dollars in his trousers pocket in loose change. There was a large crowd at the ticket office and considerable shoving was done. When he got inside the grounds his pocket book and $5 were gone from his trip pocket. The cheque amounted to $45. He then came up town to have the bank stop the cheque but he has not seen or heard of it since.

To Mr. O'Connel witness said that he got to the exhibition grounds about half past two and that the pocket book must have been taken outside the grounds.

Samuel Newhall

P. C. Newhall was next called, and stated to Mr. Moore that he was on duty the day of the Fair. He went down to the grounds about 2.15 in the afternoon, and in front of the gates his attention was called to the prisoner, on account of his peculiar actions, as well as to two other men. They were shoving against the crowd, but still were not purchasing tickets. One of the other two turned around, and seeing the witness in uniform, both immediately left on an up-town street car. He spoke to the conductor about them and when he had looked around the prisoner had disappeared. He then went home and changed his clothing and on returning saw the prisoner watching the Cooney Island show. He was standing behind an elderly man, with his hand on the old man's hip, and at the same time was pushing, jostling and shouting. Prisoner left, going to another crowd, and stood behind a young man. Leaving there he walked with his hand on his hip pocket, with the palm outwards over to the display building where he jostled against some ladies. He returned to the Cooney Island show, and again suspiciously put his hand under his coat tail, and in the vicinity of a spectator's pocket, so that it was lost to view. He next walked behind some buggies, where witness saw a bill in his hand. He then produced money from different pockets, put it in a wad, and replaced it in his inside pocket.

The prisoner next went back to the building and when his eye fell on witness he went on a half run around a tent, where he was arrested, while sitting on a window sill. Witness arrested him there for picking pockets. When he heard the charge the prisoner remarked: "Picking pockets! O, my God—two years! Has anybody complained of me? Don't be too hard on me. I admit my conduct was suspicious, and I was with the gang; I ought to get a good swift kick. I am a respectable medicine man, as you will find out later on."

When coming out of the gate, the prisoner asked, "Weren't you in the London police force?"

"How do you know?" returned the officer.

"O, I thought so," was the reply.

At the police station he was searched and on him were found $14 in one dollar bills, one $2 bill, and $1.95 in silver.

In the cross-examination, Mr. O'Connel asked the witness why he had not cited yesterday the prisoner's words at the time of his arrest, the same as at the preliminary trial. To this he replied that the words he used yesterday were those written in his note book the night after the arrest. He had not used the note-book at the former trial.

Robert Howland

The third witness for the prosecution was Robert Howland, porter for Grafton & Co. He stated he was at the exhibition distributing advertising matter, and wore a new suit with brass buttons. He saw the prisoner on the grounds near the Cooney Island show talking to the nigger. When prisoner saw him he put his hand to his mouth and spoke to the nigger, looking at him (witness.) The prisoner shook his head, and the prisoner began to move around once more. The latter probably thought he was a policeman, from his brass buttons. The man looked suspicious, and he told the policeman to watch him.

Adjourned Till Morning

At this juncture the case was adjourned until this morning at 9.30.

THIS MORNING'S EVIDENCE

Edward Simmons

The first witness called this morning was Edward Simmons, an employee of the Quaker Oats Company. He was at the Fair and saw the prisoner there. While at the Coney Island show he was the only one who did not stand back when told. He moved to another show, and then walked over towards the buggies to the north. He saw some money in his hand and afterwards he saw him go into the building.

Address to the Jury

His Lordship, in addressing the jury, said it seemed to him there could hardly be a conviction. It was a case of strong suspicion, the prisoner himself admitting at the time of his arrest that he was not guilty. He could not convict a man, he said, on suspicion alone, and recommended the jury to find the prisoner not guilty.

The jury, without leaving the court room, gave their verdict of not guilty, as recommended.

Prisoner Discharged

In addressing the prisoner, His Lordship said:

"You are a young man with a life before you, and I advise you in future to look out and do nothing which would cause suspicion to fall on you. You are now discharged."

Woman's Auxiliary Foreign Missions

Held at St. Andrew's Church—Interesting Addresses.

Yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock, the annual meeting of the Women's Foreign Missionary Auxiliary, was held in St. Andrew's church. There was a large attendance, showing the interest the members take in missionary work. A number of ladies read articles dealing with missionary work in foreign lands, and handled their subjects well.

A very pleasing feature of the meeting was the singing of a hymn appropriate to the occasion, by Miss King. After the address a delightful hour was spent in social intercourse.

The Joke Was On Rev. Mr. Wilson

An Amusing Incident at a Belleville Sunday School.

A refreshing incident occurred in Bridge street Sunday School, Belleville, on Sunday afternoon. Among those on the platform was Sir Mackenzie Bowell, an old boy of the school. In introducing Sir Mackenzie to the school, Rev. J. P. Wilson, the pastor, said: "Here is a Bridge street Sunday School boy who has held the highest office in the gift of his country. Now, children, how long do you think Sir Mackenzie has belonged to Bridge street Sunday School?"

There was intense silence for a moment. Then a young hopeful in the front seat jumped up, full of explosive interest.

"A thousand years!" he said.

The scene which ensued was not on the programme laid down by the genial pastor.

Endless Annoyance and Misery.

"As a man of 70 years I am grateful to God and to Dr. Chase's Ointment for a cure of piles which had caused me endless annoyance and much misery. The itching and burning was almost beyond endurance, but Dr. Chase's Ointment brought quick relief and I believe that the cure is lasting." — Rev. William Thomas, Brownsville, Ont.

Mission Band Held Meeting

A Successful and Pleasant Evening Spent—Hallowe'en Party on Oct. 30th.

The Mission Band of St. Andrew's Church had a very interesting meeting last evening. Miss Maynard, the secretary of the Y.W.C.A., gave an address dealing with her work in a boys' Orphan Home in London. Miss Maynard's experience proved very interesting to her listeners. Mrs. Potton then led the members in prayer. A solo by Miss Bella King, entitled, "If I Were a Voice," was a most delightful number. The collection received was very encouraging, amounting to over $14.

The Mission Band intend holding a Hallowe'en party on October 30, in the Sunday school room, and will undoubtedly provide a delightful evening's entertainment.

Did you ever stop to think that with the exception of the heart, the eye is the hardest worked part of the body.

As long as you are awake and your eyes are open they are working in your service.

Three pairs of muscles control the movement of each eyeball.

The two eyeballs move exactly together. Would you know the effect of their not working together—press your finger against one, so that it's position does not exactly correspond with the other.

How important it is that if these muscles tire and you have headaches and require Glasses, that your Glasses suit your eyes—our long experience makes us experts and able to fit you correctly.

Reminiscences Of The Tiger Hunt Saturday

The Toronto News Comments on Peterboro' and Hamilton Players—"Wait Until McPherson Comes Back."

Following are some of Joe Hays' comments in the Toronto News on Saturday's game:—

Tigers have no new plays, but they have made a wonderful improvement in the old ones.

The loyalty of the Tigers' followers is remarkable. The club ran a special to Peterborough, and about 200 enthusiasts accompanied them to the lift lock burg.

The grounds at Peterborough are located on the banks of the Otonabee, and the services of a couple of men are required to prevent impecunious enthusiasts from stealing into the grounds in their bathing suits.

The Tigers put up at the Oriental, Chris. Graham's hostelry.

Hurtubise did little else during the afternoon but dodge the raindrops—and talk.

Don Lyon was put out of the game for bumping into McWilliams, while the latter was working in his own artistic way, an offside interference play. Lyon is the Tiger man who was ruled off all last year.

There, is a wonderful change in Burkholder. In a team noted for their clean players, Burkholder is one of the least offensive. Originally one of the Walters' type the new game has made him quite as a lamb. "Who wouldn't be rough under the old rules?" he asks.

"Wait until MacPherson comes back from 'Varsity next year," is heard on every side in Peterborough. When "Mac" does return he will find plenty of material from which to build a first-class senior team.

Easton and Gillespie, of Peterborough are cracker jacks. The team would benefit greatly thereby if either one were allowed to give the signals instead of Hurtubise, who has a faculty of getting his numbers twisted. The snapper-back is hardly in a position to direct his team to the best advantage.

Kirkpatrick, who replaced Marlott in Saturday's game at Peterborough, played a strong game and should have little difficulty in holding a regular position on the team. The trouble seems to be that these Tigers have a surplus of the best kind of material, and someone has to be sacrificed. There's no reason why it should be Kirkpatrick all the time, judging by his excellent work on Saturday.

The Tigers are improving with age. There is plenty of championship material on the Peterborough team.

Gillespie, of Peterborough, is making one of the best half-backs in the business. He has plenty of speed, and is hard to catch.

Coach Poe has no reason to feel discouraged over the showing of his team. It will be heard from.

players has been patched up.—London Advertiser.

• • • •

The Quakers will practise to-night at 8 o'clock at the Brock street rink. A full attendance is requested as a captain will be elected.

• • • •

The Peterborough seniors will practice in the rink to-night and all players are requested to be out in uniform. The return game with Hamilton will be played a week from to-morrow and if the team wants to make a better showing than they did here they should get out and practise.

Bankers Will Play Quakers

First Game in City League on Saturday.

The first game in the City League will be played on Saturday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock at Riverside Park, when the Quakers and Bankers meet in what should prove one of the best games of the season. Both teams have secured good junior material and are practising hard for the struggle, the Quakers in the rink at night and the Bankers out of doors in the afternoon. The game will be warmly contested as the rivalry between the two clubs is intense. Chris. Graham will, in all probability referee the game.

"Reddy" Lamont Won His Fight

Former Peterboro' Ball Player Victor in Bout at Winnipeg.

"Reddy" Lamont, formerly of Toronto, and well known here, fought the main preliminary to the Lauder-Austin fight at Winnipeg last week. His opponent was Jimmy Page, of Winnipeg. Page started off like a runaway horse in the first two rounds, but faded away, and "Reddy" gained the decision at the end of the sixth. It was a corking good scrap for a preliminary.

PRETTY NEARLY TIME TO GET A MOVE ON

The Port Hope Guide asks:—What about a hockey team this winter? It is too bad to see the town having the championship for 1906 fade away so quickly. Let some person make a move; there is lots of good material.

RUGBY.

At the Bankers' practice yesterday afternoon Watson received a bad kick on the leg. It is not considered dangerous, however, and he will be out again this afternoon.

• • • •

MacPherson was out in a 'Varsity uniform last night, but still declares that he will not play this season unless the University is "stuck" for players. It's a cinch that they will be stuck under these conditions.

• • • •

The Hamilton Tigers took Peterborough's seniors on on Saturday. The Easterners were not in the same class with Ballard's boys from the bluff, being defeated 37 to 0. Peterborough certainly can't have a team of the same calibre as it did a few years since. Nevertheless Hamiltonians will have visions of the championship rag already. Ballard and DuMoulin were both on the Hamilton team at Peterborough on Saturday. It looks as if the reported difficulty between the two

WORK OF TUESDAY'S STORM,

Ottawa's Hoodoo Hotel Gilmour Craves More Victims—Street Car Burjed—Five Injured.

Ottawa, Oct. 10.—The city received a shock yesterday morning shortly after seven o'clock when the front walls of the ruins of the Gilmour Hotel, destroyed last month by fire, were blown down by a gale, burying a Gladstone avenue street car in the ruins.

Five Seriously Injured.

Five persons were seriously injured, but they were all reported by the hospital authorities last night to be out of danger. The injured:

Alexander Potvin, of the city fire brigade, badly injured about the body.

William Campbell, contractor, of Hintonburg, badly cut about the body.

Mrs. Thompson, 57 Munroe street, arms broken and body injured.

Harry Lynch, motorman, kneecap fractured and cut about the head.

Thomas McCabe, conductor, badly cut about the head and hands.

Will Investigate.

At a special meeting of the City Council last night the question of who was responsible for the collapse of the wall was discussed at length. A sub-committee to deal with the matter was appointed and this committee will make a thorough investigation. The committee got right down to work and decided to recommend that Building Inspector Pratt, who is also assessment commissioner, be asked to hand in his resignation at once.

GALE WRECKS BARGES.

At Toronto the gale reached 50 miles an hour, and blew down an uncompleted three-story brick store at Grace and College streets. Damage $3,000.

At Kingston a 60-mile-an-hour gale sank and battered many pleasure yachts, and the steamer Caspian received damages by pounding on the schooner Metzner.

Sault Ste. Marie reports say Lake Superior is being swept by northwest gale and snow storm and that navigation is difficult and dangerous.

On Lake Erie the storm was very severe.

At 12.30 Tuesday morning a tornado swept Ayr and swept trees, chimneys and roofs off, while the mills at Nithvale, a little west of the town, were unroofed, the roofs being carried 100 feet away.

At St. Johns, Que., the wind was the worst in years. Fences, trees and launches in the river suffered severely, and an apple boat was sunk. Many barns were also injured.

The barges Wayne and Foster were cut adrift during Tuesday night's gale by the steamer Bart, and are on the shore of Lake Superior, 14 miles above the Portage Lake ship canal. Nothing is known yet of the fate of the fourteen men who were on the two boats. The life-saving crew has gone to the wrecks. The Bart made the ship canal in safety after cutting loose the barges.

RAN FOR EXERCISE.

Two Liberal Candidates Split North Renfrew—Conservative Elected.

Pembroke, Oct. 10.—The latest reports from the North Renfrew polls show 816 majority. This return is practically complete, so far as majorities are concerned. It is not yet known whether both of the Liberal candidates secured enough votes to save their deposits. Dr. McKay has probably not more than 400 votes. He had a majority in no poll, and in several had only two or three votes. He did best at Osceola, where he split the vote with Mr. Murray.

Mr. Murray led in six polls and Mr. White in the other twenty-six. Every township but Bromley went Conservative. Pembroke Conservatives celebrated the victory with a street parade and much bugle-blowing and cheering.

ACCIDENT NEAR GODERICH.

Wagon Leaves Road and Upset, Carries Driver to Death.

Goderich, Oct. 10.—On Monday evening, during the storm, William Ivers of West Wawanosh was driving along the dangerous back road to the Nile, from Goderich. It is supposed his wagon wheels ran off the road on to the slope, and the tilt carried his load of 1,400 feet of lumber from the wagon, carrying him with it and burying him. The accident was not known till early yesterday morning, when the team, attached to the wagon, was found miles away, and the body under the lumber.

LONDON BRIBERY CASES.

Federal Minister and Provincial Premier Summoned as Witnesses.

Toronto, Oct. 10.—Hon. Frank Oliver, Minister of the Interior; Hon. Walter Scott, Premier of Saskatchewan; H. G. Lamothe, Clerk of the Crown in Chancery, at Ottawa, and J. B. Hunter, Hon. Mr. Hyman's private secretary, have been served with subpoenas at Ottawa requiring them to appear and testify on behalf of the crown on Thursday next in the London bye-election bribery case.

Two Men Drowned.

Sydney, N. S., Oct. 10.—At Point Tupper yesterday W. A. Anderson, 22 years old, I. C. R. night operator at Point Tupper, and Fred Porrier, a friend, 20 years old, a son of Car Inspector Porrier, started to sail across the strait in a boat. A squall struck the boat and it upset. Both were drowned.

ANGER IS GROWING.

People of Newfoundland Wax Wrathy, Feeling That Britain Sacrificed the Colony's Interests.

St. John's, Nfld., Oct. 10.—Popular anger against the modus vivendi arranged by the United States and British Governments relating to the Newfoundland herring fishery is growing. There is a general feeling that the compromise arrived at was a backdown on the part of the British ministry.

Archbishop Howley, the Roman Catholic primate, speaking on Sunday at a parochial festival, declared the modus vivendi a shameful betrayal of the colony's interests, and advocated agitation throughout the colony against it. He urged an immediate calling of the Legislature, spirited protests to the throne, the despatch of delegates to England and Canada, and an appeal to all autonomous British colonies to join in resisting what he termed an unbridled invasion of colonial rights.

The Telegram, the Premier's organ, ascribed the modus vivendi yesterday to the craven policy of timid Downing street bureaucrats, and expressed the hope that the Newfoundland Government will show the same resentment and spirit of determination and teach Little Englanders like Lord Elgin and Winston Churchill the same lesson that the colonists of Natal taught them when they tried to ride roughshod over the colony a few months ago.

Billingsgate.

London, Oct. 10.—C(A.P.)—The Leader describes the Archbishop of St. John's declaration, that the modus vivendi is a shameful betrayal of the interests of Newfoundland as Billingsgate.

The Daily Graphic declares the fisheries arrangement to have fully justified the intense indignation with which it is regarded in Newfoundland.

The Morning Post again insists on the necessity of the colonies being equipped with armaments sufficient to give their diplomatic requirements the necessary backing.

The Standard declares the present Government has deserted the sound precedent established by the Newfoundland treaty of 1904, and has granted totally unreasonable claims.

Trial For Manslaughter.

Carleton Place, Oct. 10.—George Bradley was committed for trial yesterday for manslaughter, the charge arising out of the death of his brother from a blow.

Freight Smash at Lucan.

Lucan, Oct. 8.—A rear-end collision between two extra westbound freight trains occurred here yesterday, demolishing one engine and four cars loaded with asbestos. No person was hurt.

In the past ten years Great Britain has settled no fewer than sixteen differences with other countries by arbitration.

Synopsis Of Canadian North-West HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

Any even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the North-west Provinces, excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry may be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land is situate.

Homestead Duties.—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:—

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased) of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

Application for patent should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa of his intention to do so.

Popular Brockville Lady Marries Peterboro' Boy

Mr. Frederick O'Connor, of This City, Wedded Yesterday in Brockville—Miss Mary Josephine Downey the Bride.

Examiner Special.

Brockville, Oct. 10. This morning at 10.45 in St. Francis Xavier church, Mr. Frederick A. O'Connor, of Peterborough, and Miss Mary Josephine (May) eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Downey, were united in marriage.

The event was one which has caused great interest for several weeks past, the bride being a member of one of Brockville's best known families, and a young lady well known to a large number of citizens.

Guests to the number of about one hundred were present and occupied the front section, and as one after another entered the church were escorted thither by the ushers in attendance. When the bride arrived, Prof. Stanistreet, presiding at the organ, rendered Mendelssohn's wedding march, and as she proceeded up the central aisle, leaning on the arm of her father, looked beautiful in an exquisite dress of Irish point lace mounted on chiffon and duchess satin, with the yoke of embroidered chiffon in rose design, and the trimmings of liberty satin. Her veil was white tulle fastened at the top with a cluster of orange blossoms, and the bouquet was a large one, made up of white roses and lilies of the valley. She was given away by her father. The ceremony was performed by Very Rev. Dean Murray, who also celebrated nuptial mass.

Miss Gertrude Downey, sister of the bride, was maid of honour, her dress being of pale blue crepe de chene over pale blue taffeta trimmed with gold passementerie valera and French valenciennes lace. She wore a large picture hat of pale blue chenille and tulle, and white plumes, and carried a large bouquet of pink roses.

Miss Loretta Dubuit, of Prescott, was the bridesmaid, and wore a gown of white embroidered chiffon over taffeta and rennaisance trimmings of liberty satin ribbon. She also wore a lace coat and her hat was of pink French felt, with a shaded plume of the same colour. She also carried a large bouquet of pink roses.

The groomsman was Dr. H. R. Storrs of Boston, and the ushers were Messrs. James Downey, Montreal; Wm. Downey, Jr. C. Dargavel, and Jas. A. Hutchinson, K. C., of Brockville.

The newly-wedded couple were then driven to the home of the bride's parents on Pine street, followed by the guests, where a reception was held and hearty congratulations were extended by all. The house was nicely decorated with palms, ferns and cut flowers, while over the railings were beautiful maple leaves in their autumn tints, thus adding an additional attractiveness to the scene. Mr and Mrs. O'Connor received in the drawing room.

Luncheon was then served, the tables being decorated with different colours and the health of the bride and groom was duly proposed and honoured, after which the former donned her travelling suit of wine-coloured broadcloth trimmed with black braid. The hat was to match, with shaded mulberry wings, and the blouse was white crepe de chene. A pretty pink stole, the gift of her mother, was also worn.

Mrs. Downey, mother of the bride, was gowned in rose crepe de chene over taffeta, the whole trimmed with cluny lace and white net. She wore a rose hat with lace trimmings, and carried a bouquet of violets.

The groom's sister, Mrs. (Dr.) T. J. Mober, wore grey crepe de chene with white hat and plumes and mink stole and also carried a bunch of violets.

Shortly after two o'clock Mr. and Mrs. O'Connor were escorted to the station, and after a hearty send-off were soon on their way to Chicago and other western cities followed by the best wishes of all. Returning they will take up their residence in Peterborough, the home of the groom. Mixed with this pleasant affair was a tinge of sadness over the departure of such an estimable young lady from Brockville, who having spent her life here, and winning her way into the hearts of so many of Brockville's citizens, will be greatly missed. The groom, who is a traveller for Johnston & Johnston, manufacturing druggists of New York, is a popular resident of the Lift Lock town, and has a comfortable home in readiness for his young bride, who will no doubt soon become as great a favourite there as here.

In testimony of the popularity Mrs. O'Connor enjoyed among her acquaintances one had but to take a look at the array of presents at her father's home. They consisted of articles of various descriptions, a great many of them of rarest kind, all will be cherished in their new home in Peterborough.

The groom's gift to the bride was a locket set with diamonds, which she wore during the ceremony, while her father presented her with a substantial cheque. The presents to the maid of honour and bridesmaid were pearl pins set with amethysts, while to the best man he gave a pearl scarf pin. The bride's gift to the groom was a signet ring.

Burglar Gets Two Years Less One Day In Central

For Robbing the Late Mrs. Dunsford's Residence—Was Arrested by P. C. Meharry—Has a Bad Criminal Record Against Him—Was Just Released From the Central Prison.

Having pleaded guilty to burglarizing the residence of the late Mrs. Dunsford, Simcoe street, a couple of weeks ago, Jeremiah Brown, alias Thos. Smith, was sentenced this morning by the Police Magistrate to two years less one day in the Central Prison. Brown, like Thorpe who received such a heavy sentence at the Assizes yesterday, has a long criminal list recorded against him. Upon inquiry from the Central Prison officials, Chief Roszel learned that the prisoner was only discharged from the Central on September 23. Within 36 hours the local widewake police force had him again behind the bars. He had been convicted at Ottawa under the name of Jeremiah Brown, and sentenced to 18 months in the Central for larceny. His last sojourn was the eighth term in the prison at Toronto.

Brown was captured on the Market Square here by P. C. Meharry and arrested for selling goods without a license. At that time he gave his name as Thos. Smith. Among the articles found was a bunch of keys in which was one belonging to a postoffice box, and by this was discovered the owner of the goods.

The prisoner pleaded guilty to the charge and was remanded for sentence a couple of times, awaiting information from the Central Prison officials. These facts were in the hands of the Magistrate this morning. In addressing the prisoner, he said in part:

"You are an old offender of the law and you have been in the Central Prison eight different times. You assume different names to suit your own purpose, and I sentence you to two years less one day in the Central Prison."

"Will you give me two years in Kingston?" asked the prisoner.

"No; in the Central Prison you will be more useful," returned the Magistrate.

As the prisoner left the box he turned to the Chief and said, "I'll call and see you when my two years are up."

"All right," replied the Chief, "you may get two more then."

It appears that the prisoner wanted to get his time in as soon as possible, and did not like the idea of being remanded twice.

Terrible Wind Storm Sweeps New York State

Wires Are Down For Twenty Miles at a Stretch—Heavy Fall of Sleet and Snow Accompanied the Gale—Damage Great.

Special Wire to Heintz & Co.

Buffalo, Oct. 11.—The northern part of New York State including New York City was visited by one of the greatest wind storms in its history last night, which did great damage throughout the country. The wires for twenty miles at a stretch are down and the telegraphic and telephone services are tied up. Trees were blown down everywhere, fences destroyed and other damage done. The wind was accompanied by a heavy fall of snow and sleet.

The local branch of Heintz & Co could not get a wire into New York at all to-day, and it was not until 1 o'clock this morning that communication was established with Buffalo.

Action Dismissed By His Lordship

In Case of Duncan vs. Hamilton At Assizes.

Yesterday, in the case of Duncan versus Peter Hamilton Manufacturing Company, His Lordship Mr Justice Britton, gave judgment. He dismissed the action, and if the plaintiff appeals the action is dismissed with costs.

Mr. L. M. Hayes acted for the defendant, and D. O'Connel for the plaintiff.

NO MEETING OF COMMISSIONERS

A meeting of the License Commissioners of West Peterborough was to have been held last night but owing to the absence of Mr. Jas. Kendry, had to be postponed. Mr. Kendry was called to New York on business on Sunday.

Accident To John Frazer May Have Fatal Results

Working at Lily Lake—Steam Pipe Burst—Skull Was Fractured—Small Hopes For Recovery.

Fatal results may follow, as a result of an accident at 9 o'clock this morning, to Mr. John Frazer at Lily Lake. He was working on the steam shovel at that place engaged in digging the blue clay that is used in the manufacture of Portland cement at Lakefield. In some manner a steam pipe burst near him, striking him on the head with perhaps fatal consequences. His skull was fractured and he bled profusely from the nose and mouth.

Dr. McNulty was summoned and the injured man removed to his home near Jackson's Park, and was then conveyed to St. Joseph's Hospital in the Dan Spence Ambulance. He was operated on this afternoon but the results are not very hopeful. His condition is very precarious and hopes for his recovery are slight. His home is near Jackson's Park, where he lives with his sister, Miss Frazer.

Jury Retraces Steps Twice Before Verdict Is Accepted

Case of Byers Against Kidd Proves an Interesting One—Occupies Almost Whole Day at the Assizes—Finally Decide in Favour of Defendant.

The alleged slander case of Byers versus Kidd constituted the last number on the programme at the assizes yesterday. Considerable trouble was experienced with the jury who were sent out three times before they brought in a verdict within their jurisdiction.

The case began at ten o'clock in the morning and it was 6.30 in the evening before the jury returned with a verdict satisfactory to His Lordship.

In this case the plaintiff, John Byers, is a dealer in timber, residing at Fraserville, and defendant, Walter Allen Kidd, is a storekeeper, residing at the same place. The plaintiff claimed that the defendant at the town hall in Millbrook, in the presence of Robt. Doak, J. P., Jas. Hanley, and a number of others, falsely and maliciously spoke concerning the plaintiff, the words, "You are the man that cut the logs and destroyed my coal," meaning thereby that the plaintiff wilfully destroyed certain logs, containing coal, the property of defendant, with intent to conceal or injure the contents, or value thereof, or did steal the same. The plaintiff claimed the sum of $5,000 for the said slander.

The defendant denied that he spoke or published the words alleged, and that if the said words were spoken or published, by him, he denied they were spoken or published without malice, and in the belief that they were true.

The solicitor for the plaintiff was R. F. McWilliams, and for the defendant, D. O'Connell.

At the conclusion of the evidence and addresses, the jury retired and their verdict was that each should pay his own costs. Justice Britton explained that their verdict must either be for the plaintiff or defendant. They again retired and the Judge in order to reach Toronto, left at that juncture, and Judge Weller was called upon to take his place.

After an hour's deliberation the jury returned, bringing in a verdict that each should pay one half the costs. This of course was refused and the third time they appeared their verdict was for the defendant.

His Honour Judge Weller entered the verdict without costs, leaving that to the trial judge.

Runaway At The Norwood Fair

Thos. E. Robson Thrown Out of Buggy But Was Uninjured.

Some visitors to the Norwood Fair yesterday had a bad scare. A horse belonging to Mr. Thos. S. Robson, of the village, was being driven in of the village, was being driven into the grounds, when it became frightened and ran away. For a time there was wild consternation among the spectators, and it was feared that someone would be seriously injured. Fortunately, however, the buggy upset, turning completely upside down, and no damage was done beyond slight injury to the buggy. Mr. Robson, who was driving, was thrown out, but escaped unhurt. The horse also was uninjured.

MR. JUSTICE RIDDELL.

Hon. A. B. Aylsworth, Minister of Justice, has happily and satisfactorily solved the problem of finding a fitting successor to the late Mr. Justice Street by the appointment to the vacancy in the High Court of W. R. Riddell, K.C. Judge Riddell is well known in Peterborough, where his brilliant abilities as a counsel have called him to attend almost every Court of Assize for years. He has had a distinguished career as a barrister, having been engaged in many causes celebres. He is as much distinguished for his high character as for his legal abilities; his appointment has every indication of being an excellent one, and he will doubtless fill his new position with credit and efficiency.

A HERO OF PEACE

If any man in these modern days deserves recognition for heroism, it is the late Engineer Blaine, who was in charge of the engine of the passenger train proceeding from Toronto to Montreal, which collided with a freight train at Napanee a few days ago. Blaine's heroic action on this occasion consisted in his deliberate sacrifice of his own life to save the lives of others. When he saw that the collision was inevitable, and that death was certain in the event of collision, he could have saved his life by leaping from his engine. If he had done so he would have saved his own life, but no doubt many of the passengers in his charge would have been killed or maimed. Instead of doing this, he called to his fireman to save himself by jumping, and he himself stuck to his post in order to reverse his engine and apply the brakes. This action, while it doubtless saved the lives of many in the passenger train, was a fatal delay to Blaine. He was instantly killed—he showed the greatest love by "laying down his life," not for his friends" particularly, but for his fellow-men and in the noble discharge of his duty. No words are needed to convince anybody that Blaine's action was the highest type of heroism that mortal man can accomplish. Many of those who have read the beautifully pathetic incident in Dickens' beautiful "Tale of Two Cities," where Sidney Carton goes to the scaffold in the place of the "Emigrant Evremond," for the love he bore the latter's wife in her maiden days, may have thought the incident overdrawn and improbable, but this day is justified in our eyes by the act of Engineer Blaine. His death was consistent with his life in devotion to duty. He must have had, by continual practice, the highest sense of duty engrained in his soul and character. At the moment of his imminent death, he obeyed the command of duty; he seemed to have forgotten, in his fidelity to his trust, himself, and his wife and five small children, who, deprived of their bread-winner, would be left, as they are now left, to fight the battle of life alone. A monument as high as the moon, memorial tablets in a thousand churches, would not have half the merit which, to the enduring credit of the Commercial Travellers' guild, attaches to their action in inaugurating a fund for the benefit of the family left fatherless and dependent. This body, to an especial degree, represents the travelling public, and it is a pleasure to see their gratitude for practical salvation from death take a practical form. Not only commercial travellers, however, but the public who travel, have reason for gratitude. Perhaps not one in a million of the passengers carried by our railways is a commercial traveller, and a general recognition of the self-sacrifice of Engineer Blaine will be an incentive to other engineers, if not to imitate him, to be prompted to greater care in the discharge of their duties by the feeling that devotion to duty is appreciated, and that in case of death, in its extreme, the families left dependent will be protected by the public, in whose interests life was deliberately, as in the case of Blaine, or as in other cases, incidentally, sacrificed by unswerving obedience to the call of duty. It is the duty in turn, or might well be regarded as the duty, of the travelling public to place the family of the late Engineer Blaine in the receipt of at least as large an income as was available for their support from his earnings. The railway company which was, by Blaine's action, saved much loss, by destruction of property and probable damages to be paid on account of killed or injured passengers, might also, as doubtless will be done, give substantial recognition. Blaine's action appeals to all who travel by rail, and through contributions to the Commercial Travellers' Fund are to be sent to Mr. James Sargent, secretary of the association, Toronto, or to the Toronto Star. The Examiner is willing to accept local contributions and forward them to the Travellers' Fund, or any other fund which may very well be inaugurated.

Norwood Presbyterians Gave Delightful Concert

Talent Chiefly Composed of Peterborough People—Audience of More Than 600—A Fitting Close to the Great Norwood Fair.

The delightful concert given in the Messrs. J. Finlay & Sons' new factory under the auspices of the Presbyterian Church last night made a fitting close to the greatest event in the Norwood year—the Norwood Fair. The function was also the opening of Mr. Finlay's new tub factory, a large, substantial building, which has just been completed.

The factory hall, gaily decorated for the occasion, is a spacious apartment brightly illuminated with electricity and capable of seating more than a thousand people. Last night the hall held an audience of fully 600, which was delighted by the charming nature of the event.

The concert was wholly of a musical character and given chiefly by Peterborough talent. Miss Helen Davies contributed a number of vocal solos, and her fine soprano voice charmed the big audience. Her singing was always warmly received and she gracefully responded to a number of encores. The male quartette from St. Paul's, consisting of Bennet, Gillespie, Crane and Nelson, were very much appreciated and would have been warmly welcomed had they appeared more often on the programme. Miss Julia Choate, the talented young violin virtuoso, contributed a delightful solo which she was called upon to duplicate. Mr. R. N. Merritt's baritone solos, "The Postilion" and "Thw Golden Bar," were also among the much-appreciated numbers of the programme. Others who contriubted were Miss Scholey, contralto soloist of the Metropolitan Church choir, Toronto, and Dr. Harris, violinist, from Niagara.

The following was the programme:

1.—Violin solo,... Il Trofotore...Fantaisia par J. Singaree
Dr. Harris
2.—Contralto solo, Sunshine and Rain, Blumenthal
Miss Olive Scholey
3.—Violin solo, ...Selected ... ...
Miss Choate
4.—Soprano solo, Mary of Argyle... S. Nelson
Miss Helen Davies
5.—Male quartette, The Old Brigade ... Caldicott
Messrs. Bennett, Gillespie, Crane and Nelson
6.—Baritone solo,...The Postillion, Molloy
Mr. R. N. Merrit
7.—Violin solo, Alice, Stanislaus Elliott
Dr. Harris
8.—Soprano solo, Your Lips Have Said You Love Me, ...Hawley
Miss Helen Davies
9.—Contralto solo, Sing On, ...Denza
Miss Scholey

PART II.

New Manager For Lindsay Academy

Mr. Bradburn Secures New Man to Handle His House There.

Mr. W. Shelton, manager of the Academy of Music in Lindsay, of which Mr. R. H. Bradburn is the proprietor for the year, left town last night, having secured a position as advance agent for a new company, which is being put on the road by Mr. Branscombe, who is at present managing the tour of the Westminster Abbey Choir in Canada.

Mr. Oswald Hamilton will succeed Mr. Shelton as manager of the Academy of Music, and no doubt will make success of it, being popular and experienced in dealing with the public.

Staff Captain Leaves The City

Mrs. McAmmond Will Farewell On Sunday.

Staff-Captain McAmmond left the city last night on the 5.15 C. P. R. train for Toronto, where he will await further orders. The staff-captain has been working in Peterborough now for 15 months, during which time he diligently worked among the local Salvation Army corps, upon which he has left a deep impression.

Mrs. McAmmond will remain here over Sunday, and on Sunday will farewell at the barracks to her Peterborough friends.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Hon. Mr. Cochrane, Minister of Lands, Forests and Mines, in the Whitney Government, expresses himself as greatly pleased with the decision of Mr. Justice Anglin that the ownership of the property in the river beds of Ontario is vested in the Province. That seems to form a good basis for public ownership of power possibilities. Will the Government, thus encouraged, continue to grant licenses on exceptional terms to private corporations?

There is scarcely day passes in which there is not one or more more responses to the ads. The other day a gentleman living in the southern part of the city, in fact, on Sunday morning, lost a dog. On Monday he advertised in the Examiner and on Wednesday the dog was returned to its owner as a result of the advertisement. This is only one of the many results that are happening daily.

Sale of the Cubitt Stock of Wall Papers
—We have struck the right keynote in selling borders and wall papers at the same price. Cubbit's stock of wall paper is selling like "hot cakes" at Stratton's. Remember we have only 10,000 rolls of this paper at half price. Mostly all new patterns, purchased within the year from the leading Montreal wall paper makers. Remember the prices,—papers per roll 3c., borders per roll 3c., papers per roll 5c., borders per roll 5c., papers per roll 10c., borders per roll 10c. and and 8c. Just think what this means —a room papered for less than half a dollar at one price, and less than one dollar at the other. Come early any day this week and bring the size of your room. A. H. Stratton & Co., 417 George street.

On the Action Of the Bowels

Almost the first question the doctor puts to his patuent is in reference to the action of the bowels. Not only are very many ailments attributed to constipation of the bowels, but their cure is impossible until the bowels are set right.

Dr. Chases' Kidney-Liver Pills ensure prompt movement of the bowels and also do far more than this, for by their action on the liver they cause a good glow of bile which is Nature's own cathartic and the only real cure for constipation.

By keeping the bowels regular you avoid the serious and dangerous ailments of the kidneys and can defy colds and contagious diseases.

Should you be already a sufferer from kidney disease, lumbago, backache, rheumatism or other diseases arising from a poisoned system there is cure for you in Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, because of their direct and combined action on the liver, kidneys and bowels.

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, one pill a dose, 25 cents a box, at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

A Big Warship For The Lakes

A Lover of Peace Poetically Deprecates the Idea.

The following despatch forms the subject of a poem by a South City resident:

Windsor, Ont., October 7th. — Commander Strathearn Hendrie of the Detroit division of the Michigan naval reserves, is authority for the statement that the protected United Sates cruiser Detroit will shortly be brought to the Great Lakes from the Atlantic Coast, for the training and instruction of the Michigan naval brigade. This will be the first time such a powerful war vessel has been upon the great lakes, and its arrival is looked upon as an event of great importance on both sides of the line.

The Detroit is at present located at the navy yard at Boston. She is of great size, which will necessitate cutting the vessel in two for the passage of the Welland Canal. Estimates have already been called for by the Navy Department at Washington for this purpose.

A BIG WARSHIP FOR THE LAKES.

A big warship for the Great Lakes,
United States cruiser Detroit,
Uncle Sam is whittling stakes,
For some wonderful strange exploit.
What need is there of great warships?
Is all not quiet on each lake?
Is Canada to close her lips,
Or is it, she will be awake?
Is there no bargain with the States?
The lakes are quiet everyway,
That no warships shall sail the lakes
To spoil the peace of Canada.

BABY'S TEETH FOR WATCH CHARM

Signor Mascagni and his wife wear watch-fob alike, and these have been the occasion of much curious comment. They are common Italian coins, each punctured with six holes, in which are set bits of some white substance, the nature of which is not apparent except on close examination. These are, in reality, the teeth of the first two Mascagni children, the teeth of the mother's charm being the first of her little daughter's, while the proud father wears in his charm the milk-teeth of his first-born son.

Millions are lost annually to British manufacturers, says a consular report on Algeria, by not adopting the metric system and by not quoting prices in the moneys of the countries to which they wish to export their goods.

Good Weather Returns; Favours Norwood Fair

Annual Exhibition Under Auspices of the East Peterboro' Agricultural Society Held Wednesday Was a Gratifying Success—Attendance Was Over 4000—Entry List Shows Increase of About 300—Some of the Incidents of a Very Successful Fair.

After thirty-eight years of uninterrupted progress, the annual fall fair of the East Peterborough Agricultural Society, which was held yesterday at Norwood, was one of the most successful in its history, and was attended by more than 4,000 persons, several hundred of whom were from this city, the noon C. P. R. train being crowded, and a number of special cars, added at this station.

Unlike last year the weather yesterday was almost ideal, the sun was bright and the the air bracing, a combination which was perfection itself, and as a result, the officers and directors of the society wore faces enrolled in smiles. Coming after a year such as 1905, when a steady down pour of rain prevented many from attending the fair, and many prospective exhibitors from sending in their exhibits, it was particularly welcome, and the fair of 1906 will be recorded in the annals of the society as one of the most successful and satisfactory in its history, and a tribute to the enterprise, agricultural skill and progressiveness of the wide-awake farmers of East Peterborough.

The secretary's entry book show an increase of about 300 over those of 1905, the number this year bordering on 2400, all classes being well represented.

The poultry exhibit was particularly meritorious, about 700 entries being made in this class alone.

The crowds began to arrive early in the afternoon, and by 2.30 fully 4000 people were on the grounds, and the fair was in full swing. The Midway this year was a feature and all the attractions were well patronized the visitors to the Norwood fair always having plenty of money to spend for anything they fancy.

The receipts this year at the gate will total about $1000, which will leave the society with a tidy little surplus after expenses and prize money have been paid.

In the live stock classes this year the entry list was very large, and the quality of the animals shown was very satisfactory; cattle, of course, predominated in number, and the majority of entries were in the dairy classes, the beef grades, however, being well represented by some splendid animals. The exhibits of Polled Angus Cattle were particularly good, and there was, perhaps, the keenest competition in them of any class on the grounds. The largest exhibitors in Polled Angus cattle were J. A. McLeod, W. C. Harris and D. L. Dodds, from Hope township.

The string of horses was fully up to that of last year, but the scarcity of horses in the country has affected the showing in this class. There seems to have been a revival, so far as sheep are concerned, for the entries in these classes were larger than those of many years in the past.

In the building the exhibits this year were very attractive, the aisles being crowded all afternoon. There were about the usual number of exhibits, and they were characterized by their usual excellence.

In spite of the apparently unfavourable year for fruit, vegetables and field roots, the showing in these classes was good, the latter being especially so. A mammoth field squash, grown by Mr. Fred Liscombe of Markham, weighed 257 pounds. A decided novelty was shown in the form of peanuts growing on their vines. They were exhibited by Mr. W. J. Campbell, and were grown on the farm of ex-Warden Buck.

During the afternoon the Norwood Band, under the leadership of Reeve Breault, rendered a splendid varied musical programme.

An interesting future of the fair yesterday was the annual inspection of the Cadets of the Norwood High school. Lt.-Col. Miller, of the 57th Regiment, Peterborough Rangers, was to have inspected the corps, but was unable to attend, and in his absence Major R. E. Birdsall, of the 40th Regiment, was inspecting officer. The corps was in command of Ernest Birdsall, son of Major Birdsall, and a grandson of Mr. Frank Birdsall, the venerable president of the East Peterborough Agricultural Society. He also holds a Lieutenant's commission in the 40th. The corps was put through the usual movements, which were executed with a promptness and precision which gave evidence of careful drill.

The live stock at the Norwood Fair has for some years been judged by men named by the Government for the purpose, and this practice has been found to be satisfactory.

The judges in the different classes yesterday were:

Horses, Mr. Pollard, Orono.

Beef Cattle, and Sheep, W. J. Garnhouse, Hightield.

Dairy cattle and swine, B. Mallory, Belleville.

Poultry, D. C. Trew, Lindsay.

Dairy products and miscellaneous domestic products, E. C. Squire, Norwood; T. W. Robinson, Peterborough.

Grain, John Duff, Indian River; C. Packenham, Norwood.

Field roots, Stanley Rightmeyer, Peterborough; Wm. Sharpe, Westwood.

Garden vegetables, Alex. Watt, Warsaw.

Fruit, A. B. German, Brickley.

Domestic manufactures, Jas. McNeil, Keene; Carman Waters, Norwood.

Ladies' Work, Mrs. (Dr.) Robertson, Norwood; Miss May A. Archer, Norwood.

Fine Arts, Miss Pricilla Wescott, Peterborough.

Speeding in the Ring

There was only one speeding event, in which there were three entries. In this trial conformation, soundness and style, as well as speed were considered. Mr. E. M. Elliott, of Peterborough was the judge. The entries were:

Jas. Elmhirst, "Little Girl."

Arthur Elmhirst, "Little Will."

Wm. Elmhirst, "City Queen."

In the first heat, Little Girl, when within a foot of the wire, fell, and her driver, a boy named Charlie Tucker, was thrown some ten yards, but managed to land on his feet, and escaped unhurt. He certainly had a close call, considering that the sulky took a somersault and fell on the horse's back. Little Girl was withdrawn from the remaining heats of the race. In the three heats, City Queen took first each time and Little Will second, the finishes being very close.

For the best lady driver there was an interesting competition. Mrs. S. J. Fisher, of Hastings, captured first prize; Miss Kelly, of Dummer, second, and Miss McNulty, of Asphodel, third. For the best lady rider there was but one entry, Miss Nettie Elmhirst, of Otonabee, who carried off the prize.

Entry List

The list of entries reported the day of the fair, were:

Roadster Horses—P F Boland entered a single horse under 15 1-2 hands; S J Fisher, single horse under 15 1-2 hands and driving horse under 4 years; Michael Heffernan, single horse 15 1-2 hands and over, single horse under 15 1-2 hands; Sargent & Son, brood mare and foal, foal of 1906, gelding two years old, filly two years old, single horse 15 1-2 hands and under; William O'Neil, gelding one year old, filly two years old; Henry Dunham, brood mare and foal, foal 1906, cavalry horse, horse under saddle; Thomas Webster, single horse, under 15 1-2 hands; Wm Knox, brood mare and foal, foal of 1906, and filly two years old; Walter Post, brood mare and foal, foal of 1906, two entries in each, also driving horse; Chas Hendy, single horse under 15 1-2 hands; John W Beavis, single horse 15 1-2 hands and over; Dr W E Wilson, single horse under 15 1-2 hands, and lady driver; W A Sherwin, matched team, under 15 1-2 hands; Adam Humphries, pony in harness and saddle horse suitable for infantry; Alf Robson, driving horse under four years; Ben C Parker, brood mare and foal, foal of 1906, ; S Hatherley, single horse under 15 1-2 hands, lady driver; Bert Stillman, brood mare and foal, foal of 1906, single driver under four years, and single horse under 15 1-2 hands; Dan Kelly, brood mare and foal, foal of 1906, and filly two years; A D Hall, single horse, under 15 1-2 hands, saddle horse for infantry; G A Macoun, single horse under 15 1-2 hands; Mrs D Kelly, single horse under 15 1-2 hands; W A Richardson, single horse under 15 1-2 hands, single horse over 15 1-2 hands.

Carriage Horses.—P F Boland, single horse under 15 1-2 hands, single horse 15 1-2 hands and over; Michael Hefferman, single horse under 15 1-2 hands, single horse 15 1-2 hands and over; Sargent & Son, gelding 2 years old, filly, 2 years old, single horse 15 1-2 hands and over,

The Army Officers Were Welcomed To The City

Adjt. Jennings and Brig. Turner Met on Their Way to Officers Congress Yesterday.

The 5.15 C.P.R. train yesterday afternoon carried some well known Salvation Army officers who were on their way to Toronto to attend the Officers' Congress which opened in that city yesterday. Adjt. Jennings, who was for some time stationed in this city, and who later took charge of the immigration work in this province, was among those who passed through from Halifax, where he is now located. He was met by a number of his friends here and was warmly welcomed back. To the Examiner he stated that while his real work had hardly commenced yet, since the immigrant boats still landed at Quebec, he was organizing his territory, preparatory to the winter work, when the steamers will land at Halifax instead of at Quebec.

The work of the Army, he reports, to be flourishing in the Maritime Provinces, and he expects to have a busy winter looking after the new comers to Canada.

Brig. Turner, who, until a few months ago, was in charge of the Ontario Province district, but who is now at St. John's directing the Maritime Provinces, was also on the train with Adjt. Jennings, and was warmly greeted by his friends here.

Little Girl Uses Indecent Language To An Old Man

Was Brought Before the Police Magistrate This Morning —Has Been in Police Court Before Will be Sent to the Country Away From Temptations.

A most audacious case of indecent proposal by a young girl of 13 years of age to an old man was ventilated at the Police Court this morning. The gentleman was formally a prominent official of Peterborough and the story he told before the magistrate was one disclosing the most immoral conduct one could imagine.

The parents of the young girl are among the most respectable people in the city and have six children besides the wayward one, who are all well spoken of. The parents appeared in court this morning and declared they had done all they could for the daughter and had thought she was improving in her morals until this case was reported to them.

On looking up the court record the chief found that the girl had been in Police Court just a year ago for indecent language to a young lady. Several other cases have also been reported and as the magistrate remarked, something would have to be done or her life and those of her associates would be contaminated.

Mr. R. M. Dennistoun representing the Children's Aid was present and suggested that the young girl be left at the Shelter for a few days from where she would soon be sent to some farm, where temptations would be eliminated. The parents agreed to this and she was sent to the Children's Shelter this morning.

NEW PHYSICAL DIRECTOR OF Y.M.C.A. TAKES UP WORK

Mr. Evert Dingman, the new physical director of the Y.M.C.A., arrived in the city last night from his home in Berlin, where he has been engaged in association work for some time. While the formal reception to Mr. Dingman will not take place until Friday night, the association building was visited by fully seventy-five men last night, who were made acquainted with the new physical director, and he was made to feel right at home.

Mr. Dingman expresses himself as greatly pleased with the association's quarters in Peterborough, and with the city. On the other hand, those who have met Mr. Dingman like him. He has all the appearance of a man who will make good in his work in the physical department of the association. He will enter upon his duties here at once.

100 ACRES FREE FOR THE COATES FACTORIES

An effort is being made to induce the Coates Manufacturing Company to locate their works south of the city, in North Monaghan. To-day Mr. N. A. McNamara went to Toronto, where it is understood he will offer the representatives of the Company 100 acres of land free on condition that they build their works on it. Mr. McNamara owns several hundred acres of land in the township of North Monaghan, near the city, and naturally he believes that if the Coates works were located there it would greatly increase the value of his property. He believes, too, that the locality would be a desirable one for the Coates people to erect its works in, and hopes to convince the Company of that fact.

Quarterly Business Meeting Held

Delegates Appointed From the Murray Street Baptist Church.

Last night the regular quarterly busines meeting of the Murray street Baptist church was held at the church. Owing to the absence of a number of the members who have been called from the city only the regular routine of business was transacted. Besides the convention is not far distant and is the chief topic among Baptist people. The following delegates have been appointed from the Murray street Baptist church to attend the convention:—

Rev. F. J. Scott, Messrs. Edwin Elcome, Geo. Cochrane, C. B. Routley, W. Aldridge, Mrs. Jas. Ellis, Mrs. Wm. Armstrong, David Snell.

Attention is called to the meeting to-night of all the committees of arrangements in connection with the coming convention.

A Chill On The Liver

Bileans Avert All Danger.

Passing from a heated room to the piercing cold outside frequently sets up liver chill. Liver chili deranges the work of the organ, brings on a constant chilly feeling, a shivering sensation, a disinclination to touch anything cold. It also causes headache, dullness, depression, constipation, heartburn and digestive disorders. Bileans act directly on stomach and liver and cure liver chill and all its symptoms. All druggists sell at 50 cents a box. Send one cent stamp to Bilean Co., Toronto, for free sample box.

THE WEATHER.

There was quite a flurry of snow this morning, a token that winter weather is fast approaching. This is rather an early date for the first appearance of snow. The first fall of the beautiful last year was on November 1st, and the year previous on October 22nd. We should yet have a few weeks, or even a month, of good weather, before the final freeze up.

Water Supply Determines Quaker Oats Co. Plans

If There Is Sufficient Water the Company is Said to Have Decided to Utilize Present Surplus Power—Means Enlargement to Local Mills.

Peterborough is likely to reap considerable benefit from the present visit of Mr. Robert Stuart, the treasurer and virtual head of the Quaker Oats Company, with the other officers and directors of the same company.

Yesterday these gentlemen left, in company with Mr. W. T. C. Boyd, of Bobcaygeon, for Lakefield, where they boarded the steamer Empress, of the Trent Valley Navigation Company, for a trip around the Kawartha Lakes. It is understood that this visit will be one of more than ordinary interest, in view of the fact that the trip around the lakes is being made for the specific purpose of learning, at first hand, of the prospects for a continuous flow of water in the Otonabee, and if his investigations lead him to the belief that there will be a satisfactory service, it is stated that the company, of which he is the presiding head, will at once undertake the erection and equipment of mills, which will use the power which the new power house is capable of developing, with a good head of water.

The Examiner is informed that these are the intentions of the company, and that this is the primary object of Mr .Stuart's trip around the lakes with Mr. Boyd.

There is little doubt that the result of his investigations will be satisfactory. The present water level is sufficient, and the condition of the means for conserving it in the northern lakes, are said to be practically perfect, and a continuous and steady flow of water is now assured during the whole year, a condition which the users of power in the city, in addition to Mr. Stuart, will appreciate.

This is said to be the deciding factor in the question as to whether the local mills will be enarged very materially, and if this is the case it seems probable that the city will secure what will undeniably prove a great boom.

Mr. Stuart and his associates will return to-day or to-morrow.

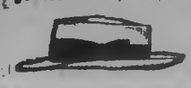
STYLE and SERVICE

Don't buy your Fall headwear until you have examined our new line of Mallory Cravenette Hats.

Cravenette is the name of a process, not a material. A Mallory Cravenette Hat simply means a hat of the finest felt, worked into refined and up-to-date styles and becoming shapes—the best hat qualities that you can buy anywhere, plus the added value that comes from the Priestley Cravenetting process which, as far as hats are concerned, is exclusive with the Mallory.



Come in to see them if for nothing else than to learn what are the latest and most fashionable Metropolitan hat styles.

Cement Shipments Over The Trent Waterway

To-day First Cargo of 20 Carloads Arrived Here From Kirkfield—A Regular Business Will be Established This Fall.

This morning the tug Ajax, of the Trent Valley Navigation Company's fleet, arrived in the city from Lakefield, having in tow two scows loaded with cement from the Lakefield Portland Cement Company, of that town. The tug left Lakefield early this morning, arriving before noon. The scows contained twenty carloads of cement, a whole train-load, and the cement company saved, it is estimated, $150 on freight from Lakefield to Peterborough on this one shipment alone.

A considerable portion of the shipment will be used for local consumption, and the remainder will be shipped by the C.P.R.

This is probably the heaviest shipment ever carried on the canal between this city and Lakefield in one cargo and represents about 600,000 pounds.

It is understood that this tug will be kept in commission for some weeks, bringing cement from Lakefield to this city for re-shipment on the C.P.R., the company finding it much cheaper than rail shipment.

This is one of the practical evidences of the value of the canal to shippers, and it serves as an illustration of the benefits the waterway, when completed, will confer upon the shippers along its route, and incidentally the public, for if freight is made cheaper the cost of the product will be lessened to consumers.

Selected Site For Radiator Works

Peterborough Men Decided on Location of Hastings' New Industry.

The Hastings Star this week says: Messrs. Mason, Stungeon and Davidson came down from Peterboorugh on Monday and arranged for going ahead with the radiator factory at once. The plans are nearly finished for the building which will be 150 x 60 feet, and the site has been chosen, purchased and surveyed. It is about three blocks west of the bridge on Water street, and was purchased from Mr. H. M. Fowlds. This is one of the best sites that could have been chosen, as it is convenient to shipping, both by rail and water.

APTLY APPLIES TO THE EXAMINER

The following is from the September number of the Inland Printer, an authority on matters pertaining to "the art preservative of all arts":

"In almost every city the best advertising medium among daily papers is the one that carries the greatest amount of small, or classified, advertising. The reason is obvious; the presence of these advertisements proves that the paper is bought because of its value as such, and not because it exploits some one-eyed idea or makes a specialty of a certain class of news, or has 'claims' on a party or faction, and such buyers read the whole paper. The sheet to advertise in is the one that is read, and the small-ad patronage is proof of that in daily, weekly or monthly."

The public are invited to compare the number and variety of the small advts. in the Examiner with those of any other paper published in this section, and draw their own conclusions.

WEDDING BELLS

MORGAN--GOODFELLOW

A pretty wedding took place last evening at 167 Park street, when Miss Margaret Ada Goodfellow was united in marriage to Mr. William Melvile Morgan, of this city. Rev. J. G. Potter officiated in the presence of some of the relatives and close friends. The bride's gown was a becoming suit of creoline while she carried a bouquet of carnations. Her travelling dress was of blue Pongee silk with hat to match. The wedding march was played by Miss Minnie Clark, after which the wedding supper was served. The married couple left last night on their honeymoon for points east. Many presents were received, showing the esteem in which the young couple are held.

JOHNSTON--CAMPBELL.

Yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock a quiet wedding ceremony was performed by Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, at St. Luke's Church, when Mr. Albert Manson Johnston, a prosperous farmer of the township of Cavan, was married to Miss Eva Maude Campbell, of Peterborough. The bride was dressed in a blue broadcloth travelling suit, with lace trimmings, and was attended by Miss Zena King, of this city, who wore cream serge. Mr. Chas. Johnston, brother of the groom, performed the duties of groomsman.

After the wedding Mr. and Mrs. Johnston left on the 5.15 C. P. R. train for Toronto, where they will spend their honeymoon, and on their return will reside in Cavan.

GEORGE WASHINGTON'S QUEUE

It Hid a Luxuriant Suit of Straight and Very Dark Hair.

The Father of his Country concealed a luxuriant suit of hair beneath his queue wig. Many now wish the old fashion were in vogue, to conceal thinned hair or baldness. Yet no one need have thin hair nor be bald, if he cure the dandruff that causes both. Dandruff can not be cured by scouring the scalp, because it is a germ disease, and the germ has to be killed. Newbro's Herpicide kills the dandruff germ—no other hair preparation will. "Destroy the cause, you remove the effect." There's no cure for dandruff but to kill the germ. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10 cents in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Ormond & Walsh, special agents.

Bad Attack of La Grippe.

A year ago I had a bad attack of la grippe, and all the doctor's prescriptions proved to be of no avail. I was told to try Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine, and found it a great blessing, as it thoroughly cured me. I told my doctor that I intended to recommend it to all my friends." — Mrs. L. Body To Be Taken To Burlington

Funeral of Late Mr. Walker To-morrow Morning.

The funeral of the late Frank C. Walker, of 21 Waterford street, will leave the family residence to-morrow morning at 10.30. It will then proceed to the G.T.R. station from where the body will be conveyed to Burlington, Iowa, the birthplace of the deceased, for burial.

Back To The Woods For The Anglers

Ketchecum Lake Party Left This Morning.

The Ketchecum Lake Fishing Club left this morning for their lodge, where they will spend the next two weeks in active search of salmon trout. Mr. H. C. Winch is in charge of the party as usual, and his reputation as a promoter of enjoyable outings has been based on an experience of many years. Archie Jackson, the chef of the party, left yesterday with provisions enough for the commissariat of a small-sized army. Mr. Robt. Gibbs took a section of the party out to-day, and the remainder will follow on Saturday.

Among those who will compose the party this year are Messrs. H. C. Winch, J. J. Lundy, E. A. Peck, Alex Elliott, W. J. McCallum, Walter Davidson, Wm. Bradburn, Henderson Nesbitt, W. H. Denham and Messrs. Robinson, Chisholm and Bennett, of Port Hope.

Two Accidents At C. G. E. Works

Back of Hand Cut and Finger Taken Off.

Two accidents of more or less serious nature occurred to employees at the Canadian General within the last two days.

Geo. W. Noyes, an East City resident, while fixing a circular saw, last night got his hand caught in it, cutting the back severely. He will be laid up for some time as a result of the accident.

Mr. Killenbeck, the other employee, had one of his fingers taken off this morning by a pair of power shears.

Eyes Worth Having

Did you ever stop to think that with the exception of the heart, the eye is the hardest worked part of the body.

As long as you are awake and your eyes are open they are working in your service.

Three pairs of muscles control the movement of each eyeball.

The two eyeballs move exactly together. Would you know the effect of their not working together—press your finger against one, so that it's position does not exactly correspond with the other.

How important it is that if these muscles tire and you have headaches etc., require Glasses, that your Glasses suit your eyes—our long experience makes us experts and able to fit you correctly.

Fowler On The Stand For His Evidence Next

But Mr. Shepley Thinks His Tardiness Shouldn't Be Condoned.

HON. MR. FOSTER CONCLUDES

His Evidence Was Ended In Forenoon and Mr. Matthew Wilson, K. C., Was Called—In Afternoon Mr. Foster Made a Long Statement of His View in Concrete Form of the Evidence He Had Given.

Toronto, Oct. 11.—Mr. George W. Fowler, M. P., was still absent when the insurance investigation was resumed yesterday morning, but Mr. Shepley stated to the Commission that he had received a telegram purporting to come from Mr. Fowler at Winnipeg, saying that he would be in Toronto next Friday morning. Mr. Shepley did not think that Mr. Fowler's tardy attendance should be condoned by the Commission, and he was considering the propriety of issuing a bench warrant. The Commissioners quite concurred in this.

Union Trust Investments.

Mr. Foster again took the stand, and gave a statement of the Union Trust investments for the year 1905, United States securities held by the company amounted to $449,109.68, and there were also Kamloops Lumber Co., $315,000; Alexandra Palace shares, $150,000; Alexandra Palace bonds, $130,000; Improved Realty Co. (preference), $50,000; Union Bank of Candda shares, $168,000; Northern Bank of Canada shares, $50,000; Nanaimo shares, $26,000; Crow's Nest, $12,500; a total of $1,360,614.68.

Taking up the Montague syndicate again, Mr. Shepley examined the witness in detail about some of the transactions. Mr. Foster thought that the syndicate had transferred to the I.O.F. all the lands they purchased subsequent to the original purchase of 44,000 acres, which would have been sufficient to cover Dr. Montague's equity and let him out. The syndicate did not go out of business when these transfers were made.

A $5,000 Division.

Mr. Shepley referred to $25,000, which, he stated, the Foresters had given for bringing lands under their mortgage and asked Mr. Foster: "Why did you divide $5,000 to other purposes?"

"You may say that we diverted $5,000 of it for some other purposes or you may say that we paid that out of the credit which we had to $10,000 which had come to us and which we placed to our account."

Rights of Counsel.

A sharp passage-at-arms arose while Mr. Shepley was pressing Mr. Foster for a definite reply to his question on this point. Mr. Nesbitt interposed a suggestion which elicited from Mr. Shepley the sharp retort: "You know you have no rights here at all, Mr. Nesbitt."

Mr. Foster immediatly spoke up: "Am I to understand my counsel has no rights here at all? If that is so it throws a very lurid light on the matter, and the phase it is assuming at the present time."

Mr. Shepley's reply was a quiet request to Mr. Foster to answer the question put to him. Witness complied with the request.

Mr. Wilson, K. C., on the Stand.

Mr. Matthew Wilson, K. C., was the next witness, and said his first introduction to the matters under investigation was as representative of certain members of the Board of Directors of the Provincial Trust Co., of which he was a member, who were desirous of getting control of the company. In this desire they were anxious to protect themselves from liability, and benefit the shareholders. In the transaction he was acting as solicitor or agent, and not as a director. Mr. Wilson described the various preliminary steps which led up to the agreement with Mr. William Laidlaw, K. C., under which he agreed to turn over sufficient stock to give Mr. Laidlaw control of the company. In domestic discussions with the executive, the conclusion was arrived at that the assets of the company, if carefully realized, would produce 60 per cent. on the dollar. Mr. Laidlaw first offered 59 cents, and afterwards increased his offer to 65 cents.

Mr. Foster's Statement.

In the afternon Hon. Mr. Foster made a long statement, summarizing the various subjects dealt with in his evidence and presenting his conclusions in concise form.

Mr. Wilson Again.

Mr. Wilson was recalled immediately after Mr. Foster had finished. The purchase of the capital stock of the Provincial Loan Co. through Mr. Laidlaw was explained by the witness.

Under the first arrangement Mr. Wilson was to receive $40 per day and expenses, to get in the stock sufficiently to get control of the company. Mr. Laidlaw or his nominees were to work out the balance. This idea was changed so that Wilson received $25 per day from his clients and his expenses and $1,000 from Mr. Laidlaw, not to get control of the company, but on the understanding that he was to use his utmost endeavor to get hold of the outstanding stock, so that when the arrangements were completed to transfer the stock no trouble would be raised from any quarter.

Mr. Shepley then took up the $50,000 that was given to Mr. Wilson by Mr. Laidlaw to get the options on the stock. Considerable correspondence, covering the purchase of the options, which were paid for by Mr. Wilson's own cheque, out of the above money put up by the Foresters, was read by Mr. Shepley, who asked the witness to produce these cheques.

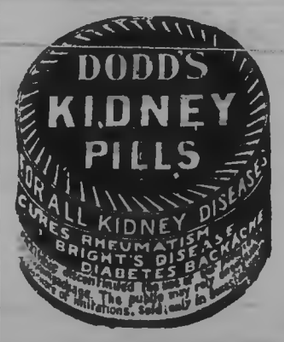
Will Get the Vouchers.

Witness said that these vouchers were in Chatham, but he would get them. He received, through Mr. Laidlaw, from the Foresters, $75,067.50, to buy this stock, less $1,000, his fee. He paid 65 cents for the stock.

Mr. Wilson got in nearly all of the $113,000 worth of stock except two blocks of stock held by clergymen, which were, he claimed, afterwards fully adjusted.

Mr. Wilson did not know the first thing about the understanding between the I. O. F. and the Union Trust Co. and Laidlaw about the terms of acquiring the Provincial Loan Co. He did not know that the Union Trust Co. had paid $2,500 for the expenses.

Mr. Shepley went briefly into the inception of the Great West Land Co. The subject will be continued at today's session.



DECAPITATED BY ENGINE.

Toronto Junction, Oct. 11.—As a passenger train approached the C. P. R. station here shortly after 9 o'clock yesterday morning, people were horrified to see a man step from the platform, run over to the track and lie down with his head on the rails. No one could interfere to prevent the accomplishment of his deed. His head was nearly severed and his body was badly mangled.

Late last night the man was identified as Richard Gugin, a laborer, at Swansea, while pitiful domestic conditions were also revealed, probably accounting for his terrible act.

His wife is seriously ill at Grace Hospital with typhoid fever, where she was taken about two weeks ago.

At the home on Craig avenue, Swansea, four small children, the eldest about eight, were found huddled together under an umbrella, with which they sought to shelter themselves from the rain and snow. They were crying, and were in a distressing condition.

Gugin was about 35 years of age. There will be no inquest.

Killed at Level Crossing.

St. John, N. B., Oct. 11.—At a dangerous crossing on the C. P. R. at Westfield, near this city, Theodore Purdy was instantly killed by the Atlantic express yesterday morning. He was driving across the track. Purdy was frightfully mangled and his horse seriously injured.

Furnace Explosion Kills.

Chicago, Oct. 11.—Two men are dead and five others injured, as the result of an explosion of a blast furnace in the plant of the Illinois Steel Co. in South Chicago Tuesday night. The injured will recover.

Seven Hurt In Wreck.

Topeka, Kan., Oct. 11.—Seven persons were injured seriously, and many more slightly, in the wreck which occurred Tuesday night two miles east of Wamego, on the Union Pacific Railway.

Actress' Fall to Death.

Chicago, Oct. 11.— Miss Florence McDonald, 26 years old, a member of the chorus in the "Blue Moon" Co., now playing at a downtown theatre, was killed early yesterday by falling out of a fourth-storey window in the Windsor-Clifton Hotel. While sitting on the window sill she had lost her balance.

NEWFOUNDLAND'S POLICY.

Will Nullify Fishing Modus Vivendi In Effect by Hampering the Yankee Fishermen at Every Turn.

Halifax, N. S., Oct. 11.—A St. John's, Nfld., despatch says:

The Colonial Government has resolved to combat the fishing modus vivendi entered into between England and the United States, by dragging forth every known colonial law and enforcing it to the letter against American fishermen.

Every concession hitherto granted the Americans will be withdrawn. Local fishermen will be encouraged to occupy the waters and drive other nets before the Americans arrive, thereby preventing the latter from enjoying the expected benefits of this arrangement.

For the slightest offence American vessels will be confiscated instead of fined as formerly.

Should Federate With Canada.

London, Oct. 11.—The publication of the text of the Newfoundland modus vivendi evoked strong editorial articles yesterday.

The Opposition newspapers condemn the Government for overriding the wishes of the Colony in order to conciliate the United States, and declare that the terms of the arrangements fully justify the intense indignation which is expressed.

The Morning Post is of the opinion that this should convince Newfoundland that the time has arrived to federate with Canada.

MALTOSE AND HEALTH.

Physicians Say Its Use in The Human System Is of Great Value.

The great value of Maltose as a nutritive substance can not be exaggerated. In the living organism it is transformed into assimilable sugar more rapidly than saccharose or cane sugar. It is very easy to digest and having not so sweet a taste as cane sugar, it can be taken in much greater quantities than the latter.

"Malta-Vita" is no meaningless coined word; it stands for its literal translation from the Latin and means exactly what it says—"Malt Life." The original phrase, "For the blood is the life," is the starting point and final winning post of Malta-Vita, which contains a considerable percentage of maltose, a natural sweetening agent, easily digestible and readily assimilated by the human economy, forming rich healthy blood.

Now for many years the medical profession have prescribed semi-solid malt extracts which contain a large percentage of maltose but which cost from fifty cents to seventy-five cents per pound. Malta-Vita contains from eight to ten per cent of this wonderful blood-maker and costs but ten cents per package.

Malta-Vita is scientifically prepared to meet the requirements of old and young, weak and strong. To every man, woman and child it gives blood, bone, muscle and brain vigor and a buoyancy of life that cannot come from other food. And it is good to eat. All grocers sell Malta-Vita.

Non-unionists Win Out In The Lumber Fight

Charges Against Men at Buckingham Dismissed Owing to a Flaw In the Warrants For Their Arrest—Date Was Omitted—Both Sides Agree to Make No Further Arrests For the Time Being.

Buckingham, Que., Oct. 11.—For the first time since the strike began, on Aug. 14, logs were yesterday piloted down the dam by employes of the MacLaren Co.

Surrounded by soldiers, non-union men started work at 1 o'clock and continued for three hours. The strikers watched the work from a near-by road, but did not interfere. Everything ran smoothly.

Both sides have agreed to make no further arrests for the time being. The provincial police are now in charge, and all the officials and strikers arrested Tuesday have been released on parole pending the inquests which are to be continued to-day.

The town has become quiet again, and fifty of the Ottawa soldiers have returned to their homes, leaving the regular cavalrymen to guard the mill.

Flaw In Warrants.

Messrs. Alex. and Albert MacLaren, proprietors of the Buckingham saw mill and pulp mill; Mayor Vallee, superintendent of the works; Chief of Police Kiernan; Bailiff J. C. Cummings; Jas. Kiernan, brother of the chief; James Cameron and Philomen Fournier, non-union employes, arrested at Buckingham on charges of murder and attempted murder, sworn out by J. Magnon, a cousin of Therault, the dead striker, appeared before Magistrate St. Julien in Hull yesterday morning and were free men in less than five minutes.

When court opened Mr. Henry Aylen for the defence drew attention to the fact that the warrants were decidedly imperfect, there being even no date on them, a fatal omission in itself.

The magistrate could not proceed on such warrants and the proceedings ended.

Lawyer Indicted.

The new feature in the strike situation is the indictment of E. Lamontagne, legal adviser of the locals, for murder and attempted murder.

The inquest on the two dead was called yesterday, but postponed without taking any evidence.

It is now said that the Federal and Provincial Labor Departments both made efforts to effect a reconciliation, and that while the men were willing the good offices of the Departments were declined by the MacLarens.

Denounce the Shooting.

Montreal, Oct. 11.—At a meeting of the Boot and Shoe Workers' Union last night, in the interests of Joseph Ainey, the Labor candidate in St. Mary's division, the shooting down of citizens at Buckingham was denounced by the speakers.

It was claimed that the detectives collected at that point from different cities had no authority either from the people of Buckingham or the Government to shoot people, and the matter ought to be investigated at once and the guilty punished.

BISON FURNACE

In an actual test under ordinary conditions a prominent Montreal Professor of Physics reports the following results with a Bison Hot Water Heater:

Starting with the water at 65°, eleven minutes after the match was applied its temperature increased to 100° in the upper section.

Four minutes later it went up to 137°.

And 29 minutes after starting it was at 194°.

The bottom section gets as hot as in any other furnace—the great gain is in the top section.

Next morning, 15 hours after it had been left for the night, the water was at 124° in the top section and 100° in the lower.

In any furnace the water always goes into the mains at the temperature of the upper section.

In the Bison Furnace the water in the upper section is always the hottest—in other furnaces it is the coolest.

A GREAT VALUE!

Suit to Order $18

We are stating an acknowledged fact when we say that we are making some of the best clothes made in Peterborough.

This holds good regardless of the price other tailors may ask for their work.

We put more style, fashion, value and wearing qualities into our garments than most tailors do, and we do it at a little over half the price. For the next thirty days we are going to sell the best Scotch Tweed Suit made to your order for $18.00 and a nice Black or Blue Twill Suit for $20.00. Don't miss these offerings, the goods are number one and the linings first-class. Leave your measure at once, these prices won't last very long.

Team For Tiger Game Will Be Picked To-night

Every Senior Should be Out in Uniform To-night.

The Peterborough team will practice to-night in the rink and every man of the following list must turn out to-night as there is an entirely new set of signals in use:—Coach Poe, Mulhern, Gillespie, Ford, Easton, Capt. Hurtubise, Crowley, Meagher, Craig, Crough, Gilbert, Regan, Dillon, Leclaire, Carmichael, Quinlan, Dixon. The new signals were tried last night and worked well. It is very important that every man should be on hand in uniform as the team for Hamilton will be selected to-night. There will be a meeting of the team committee immediately after the practice.

Seniors Had Good Practice

Nearly All the First Twelve Were Out Last Night.

The seniors had a good practice in the rink last night when a thorough drill of signals and trick plays was gone through. Among those out were Hurtubise, Craig, Leclaire Regan, Crough Easton, Ford, Gillespie, Gilbert, Mulhern, Carmichael, Quinlan, Dixon. The boys will be in good shape for their game in Hamilton, a week from to-day and should make a far better showing than they did against the boys from the Bluff on Saturday.

City League Opens Saturday

Bankers and Quakers Meet in Opening Struggle.

There promises to be a big crowd at the opening game in the City League on Saturday, when the Quakers and Bankers meet at 2.30 sharp at Riverside Park. Both teams are in good shape and the game will be hotly contested from start to finish. The league should be encouraged and supported as much as possible by the people of Peterborough, if they want to see senior material developed. The admission to Saturday's game will be 10 cents.

At the conclusion of the league game the seniors will play a picked City League team.

P. C. I. Rugby Club Organized

Will Have Some Good Material For a Strong Team.

The Collegiate Institute will have a rugby team this year and from the present prospects it will be a good one. The boys organized a club last night after school in the 3rd form room of the Institute and all are enthusiastic over the game. It will be known as the P. C. I. Rugby Club. The following officers were elected:—

President—E. H. Wood, 3rd Form.
Vice-President—F. Brown, 4th Form.
Secretary-Treasurer — E. A. Mann, 3rd Form.
Executive Committee—H. Hall, 2nd Form; A. Richardson, Upper 1st; V. Morrow, Lower 1st; G. Cummings, Commercial Form.

The Executive will meet in the near future to elect a captain, arrange for games, grounds, etc.

Lindsay Men Would Enter

The Examiner Road Race If It Were Made Open.

The Lindsay Post yesterday said:—Several entries have been made for the Peterborough Examiner road race on Thanksgiving Day, and the event promises to be a noted success. The course is to be 10 miles from Lakefield, through township of Smith, and finishing at the Examiner office on George street. Entries have been received from Havelock, Tweed, and several from the Peterborough Y.M.C.A. If the race had been made open to Lindsayites a couple or more might enter.

Chicago Cubs Revenge Defeat

Vanquished Americans by the Decisive Score of 7 to 1—Weather Very Cold.

The Chicago Cubs struck their gait yesterday, when they defeated the White Sox by 7 runs to 1 on the latter team's field. The weather was bitterly cold, the thermometer registering about six degrees below the freezing point. As a result, there were only about 10,000 fans in the seats, and the players were hindered by the nipping frost. The Nationals were on the spot with the stick, gladdening their supporters' dampened spirits from the defeat of the day before. Reulbach pitched in fine form, allowing only two hits.

The features of the game were Steinfeldt's batting and Reulbach's pitching, besides the rugby-like condition of the atmosphere.

Deadly Collison In a Ball Game

Teeth Embedded in Another's Skull.

Rolla, Mo., Oct. 10.—In a baseball game here yesterday, two young men, named Clark and McKee, belonging to the same team, collided with terrific force while trying to catch a ball, McKee being killed almost instantly and Clerk being rendered unconscious. Clark was the tailer of the two and it is reported that his upper teeth struck McKee in the forehead and were broken off and embedded in McKee's skull.

Hayes and Robbins Will Be Officials

In the Peterborough-Tiger Game Next Thursday.

Mr. T. W. McDonough, secretary of the local rugby team, received word from Secretary J. B. Hay, of the O.R.F.U. to the effect that Messrs. Hayes and Robbins, of Hamilton, would be the officials in the Peterborough-Tiger game at Hamilton a week from to-day. The officials are much to the liking of the locals, who regard them as the best officials in the business.

RUGBY.

About fourteen of the Quakers were out in uniform last night at the Brock street rink and a good, gingery practice was held. The Quakers are getting busy for their first game with the Bankers on Saturday.

* * * *

Stanley Caniff was elected captain of the Quakers last night at their practice.

* * * *

Captain Caniff, of the Quakers, requests every member of the team to be in uniform to-night at the Brock street rink at 9 o'clock. This will be the last practise before their first game.

* * * *

The Tigers and Argos play at Hamilton on Saturday. Looking at it from down here, the Argos chances are about equal to those of Port Hope, of getting the Trent Valley Canal.

* * * *

Gilbert, who has been out of the game with an injury sustained in the Victoria-Peterborough game two weeks ago, is able to be out again and showed up in good form at practice last night.

* * * *

The team for the Hamilton game will be picked to-night so that every man should be out. The idea in picking the team so far in advance of the game is that the management want every man to become thoroughly drilled in the signals.

* * * *

The Quakers had a good practice in the rink last night in preparation for their game with the Bankers in the first contest of the City League series on Saturday afternoon.

The New York Stock Market

(Furnished by J. R. Heintz & Co.)

New York, Oct. 11.—The big storm which prostrated all the wires to New York restricted business in the market materially to-day. Commission houses were without wires and outside speculators had to content themselves with watching the quotations with no chance to participate in the trading.

The market was quite strong in spots. Steel common, touched 50 and Penna. made a new high. Union Pac. was strong during the greater part of the day, but in the late trading a drive presumably for the purpose of catching stop orders was engineered, which carried the prices back sharply nearly 3points. The New York utility stocks, B.R.T. and Con. Gas advanced, with a sympathetic move in People's Gas. Copper was strong, touching a new high figure and then reacting.

In the last hour prices eased off on a general profit-taking move. The Bank of England to-day raised its rate of discount to 5 per cent. The close was firm.

SPECIAL EXHIBITS

There were more side shows, jewelry "Jews," candy stands, etc., on the grounds, than meritorious special exhibits. Of those deserving of special mention, the following notes will be found interesting reading:

THE POPULARITY OF THE SIMPLEX CREAM SEPARATOR

The close and critical observer at the Norwood Fair — particularly those on the look out to learn all about cream separators, must have been strongly impressed with the large number of farmers in this section, who are still without a separator. Interested groups stood around the special exhibit of the "Simplex Link Blade" machine, watching with critical eye the practical demonstration of the many features of this separator by men who know. Many intelligent and thrifty looking farmers, who apparently did not use a separator, were eager for every scrap of information, and questioned the representatives on the varied technical points which needed explanation.

The "Simplex Link-Blade" separator exhibit was made by the local agent, Mr. Dan Sedgwick, of Norwood, who was assisted by Mr. Geo. A. Gillespie, of Peterborough, general agent, and Mr. R. A. Peters, travelling salesman.

It made farmers think to be told that they could save money, save labor and make their dairying a pleasure to every member of the family.

"Makes you think, doesn't it, Mr. Welsh?" said Mr. Gillespie, addressing a progressive Asphodel farmer. "If you have seven cows the "Simplex" will pay for itself in ten months."

The cream separator is to-day almost as much a woman's machine as is the sewing machine — not that the woman ought to have the sole care of the separator—although in most cases she does have it. And, just because the man on the farm thinks he must be well supplied with labour saving improvements, so ought also the woman to have her most needful labour saving machine—the cream separator.

Keep thinking farmers of Dummer, Belmont and Asphodel—figure out how far behind you are without a cream separator—how much you would be ahead next year when you have one—turning cream out like lightning with the Simplex Link Blade. Get busy, and branch out, every one of you who haven't one.

GRAFTON & CO. STILL DEVELOPING

How many, it was asked, of the 4,000 people on the fair grounds did not inspect the attractive clothing exhibit of Grafton & Company, Limited, of Peterborough? It is safe to say that the number was chiefly confined to the hard working officers of the fair who were prevented by their duties from learning all about the new fall and winter styles of clothing. The exhibit was a picture, showing what is fashionably correct for the season. Crowds constantly studied it, and, under the impetus of the chilling winds, that prevailed all day, got their idea of what their choice would be of a warm winter suit or overcoat. Grafton & Co. pride themselves on being able to convert any man, woman or boy they meet face to face, in favour of their clothing—on the principal that what's worth buying is worth buying well. If there is a shadow of a doubt in your mind as to the superiority of their own tailor-made, high-grade suits and overcoats, the proofs are furnished on the spot. Good dressers admired their winter overcoats, raincoats and suits. Their "High-Grade" qualities displayed equalled their expensive "made-to-order" productions in the features of fit, material, workmanship and possessed decided financial advantages in being many dollars less in price. Demand is the best test of true worth, and the way Grafton & Co's trade seems to be developing speaks volumes in favour of their clothing.

MR. CHAS. C. McDONELL'S EXHIBIT

Some of the "handiest things" in the house, or on the farm were shown by Mr. Chas. C McDonell, of Downer's Corners, Otonabee, whesa consisted of a Chatham fanning mill, a labour-saving farm scale, an incubator, and an indespensable kitchen closet. They were all much admired, and Mr. McDonell secured numerous prospective purchasers.

LANG & MAHER SPRUNG SURPRISE

"The Daylight Clothiers" of Peterborough surprised the visitors at this Fair by their new Colonial Clothing exhibit, which occupied a position of prominence on the Fair grounds. This hustling clothing firm was wide-awake enough to appreciate the advantage of being early on the scene in order to secure the preferred position for their exhibit. As Mr. Joe Maher, who had charge of the exhibit said: "We're out for the coin and the early bird has the first chance."

Lang & Maher made a convincing display of the "Sovereign" Brand clothing. The style points that distinguish these models are worthy of some remark. They are, first of all notable for their well-bred appearance, which cannot escape attention. The patterns vary from the quiet subdued tones to the liveliest colour blendings that good taste will permit, thus capturing the fancy of every customer, no matter what his individual ideas with respect to dress may be. Secondly, wearers of the "Sovereign" Brand clothing become aware of the fact that the goodness of the coat is not all on the outside. In their construction permanent shapeliness is aimed at. The long life of the shape is secured on a resistible base of shrunken canvas and hair-cloth. The foundation of the coat's form is thus made permanent. A "Sovereign" Brand coat will not "break" at the shoulders, will not "drop" at the pockets, will not "wrinkle" down the front.

Thirdly—Another advantage is that you can set yourself before a mirror before you buy — satisfy yourself as to fit, colour-effect, and style, before you commit yourself to buying. You may tell a custom tailor the principal features, but he may make you a suit that is not what you want, but a modified version of what he thinks you want. With the "Sovereign" Brand you know in advance just what such style and cloth and colour-effect looks best on your own figure.

The liberty of Lang & Maher's advertising policy was amply shown at this Fair. The village and leading streets to the grounds were decorated with their attractive coloured bulletins, and clothing bills, while inside the grounds the buildings and fences were covered with them. At the exhibition two of the firm's assistants, handed out useful yardsticks, booklets, cards, etc., by the hundreds. They believe that if you advertise the world will know you; don't, and you'll die unknown."

Over 300 Delegates To Attend The Convention

And Accommodations Only Secured for 225 of These—Small Response From Other City Churches—Committee on Arrangements for the Baptist Convention Met Last Night.

The General Convention Committee of the Baptist churches of the city met last night in the Murray street church, to complete arrangements for the convention of Ontario and Quebec Baptists, which opens here next Wednesday. The principal business considered at the meeting last night was the report of the Committee on Billeting. This Committee reported that word had been received that over 300 delegates would be present. In view of this fact it is somewhat disappointing to learn that accommodation so far had been secured for only about 225, leaving 75 yet to be provided for. This condition is not the fault of the Billeting Committee, the members of which have done their best. It is a fact which, however, does not augur well for the practical working out of church union, that while requests were sent to the various Protestant churches some weeks ago, asking the members of the different congregations to assist in entertaining the visiting delegates, up to to-day only eight responses had been received from the other churches. So that the entertainment of the visitors will devolve largely upon the Baptists themselves.

Another appeal will be sent to the churches to be read from the pulpits on Sunday and it is hoped that the results will be more satisfactory. In the meantime any who are prepared to accommodate one or more of the delegates is requested to send their names to Mr. Albert Martin, the secretary of the committee. It is to be distinctly understood that the hostess is not required to provide dinner for her temporary guest or guests.

The fact that the convention will be held during Thanksgiving week is one which makes the entertainment of the visitors all the more difficult. Many persons will be leaving the city for the day and those who do not go away will be entertaining their own visitors. It is hoped, however, that the final appeal of the Baptists will be responded to.

Harry Gilman Injured In Goderich Accident

Telegram From a Friend to His Mother, However, States He Is All Right—Hoisting Engine on Car Fell Into The River.

Examiner Special.

Goderich, Oct. 12.—As the result of an accident which occurred about 11 o'clock this morning at the bridge, which the C. P. R. is constructing across the Maitland River here, one man was killed and three were badly injured. A hoisting engine, mounted on a flat car on the bridge, was raising a girder, when the car fell over into the river. Engineer Jack Maddeford, an Englishman, fell with it, and received injuries from which he died almost immediately. Messrs. Jack Campbell and D. Lynn, of this town, were badly hurt, the former having several ribs and an arm broken. Harvey Gilman, of Peterborough, received injuries in the back, and is said to be seriously hurt.

In connection with the above despatch, Mrs. John Gilman, East City, mother of the man reported injured, received the following wire this afternoon:

"Accident to-day. Harvey is all right.

"HUGH MAY."

The sender of the telegram is unknown to Mrs. Gilman, but he is probably a fellow-workman of her son, who sent the message at his request in order to prevent his mother from worrying over him.

He has been working on construction work for some little time.

Had Conference With Quaker Co.'s Treasurer

Coates Industsy Question Discussed—Officers of the Company Have Returned From Their Outing on the Lakes.

Messrs. Robert Stuart, treasurer, H. P. Crowell, president, and P. Wells, a director of the Quaker Oats Company, returned to the city to-day, after a several days' trip to the back lakes. This afternoon Mr. Stuart was to have a consultation with Mayor Best, Ald. McWilliams, chairman of the Manufacturers' Committee, and Mr. W. G. Morrow, in reference to the Coates Company.

One of the provisions of the agreement between the city and the company was that Peterborough should guarantee the Coates Company power at $15 per horse power per year, and of course in anything pertaining to power in Peterborough Mr. Stuart is vitally interested. The city may obtain the power either from the Peterborough or the Otonabee Power companies, or may have to generate their own power, in any case they have to provide power at the rate promised to the Coates Company.

Another matter that is likely to be taken up with Mr. Stuart is in reference to the agreement between the city and the Peterborough Light and Power Company regarding the proposed change in the street lighting system.

ONE THING AND ANOTHER

Oblige a Lady

ATTORNEY-General Moody was once riding on the platform of a Boston street car, standing next to the gate that protected passengers from cars coming on the other track. A Boston lady came to the door of car, and as it stopped, started toward the gate, which was hidden from her by the men standing before it. "Other side, lady, please," said the conductor. He was ignored as only a born-and-bred Bostonian can ignore a man. The lady took another step toward the gate. "You must get off the other side," said the conductor. "I wish to get off on this side," came the answer in tones that congealed that official into momentary silence. Before he could explain or expostulate, Mr. Moody came to his assistance. "Stand to one side, gentlemen," he remarked quietly. "The lady wishes to climb over the gate."—Ladies' Home Journal.

WEDDING BELLS

PRESTON—McWILLIAMS

The Lakefield News this week said: The residence of Mr. J. H. McWilliams was the scene of a pretty wedding on Wednesday evening, when his youngest daughter, Miss Effie, was united in marriage to Mr. Walter Preston, of North Smith. Rev. S. Sutherland Burns, Presbyterian clergyman, was the officiating minister. The bride, who was given away by her father, was attired in a becoming dress of blue coline with cream trimmings, and carried a shower bouquet of white carnations. The bridesmaid, Miss Lavina Preston, wore a very pretty gown of cream, and carried a bouquet of pink carnations. The groom was assisted by Mr. Wm. P. Gray, Jr. The home was very tastefully decorated with autumn leaves, flowers and berries. After the ceremony, which took place under a bell of autumn leaves, and congratulations and good wishes had been offered to the happy couple, the guests partook of a sumptuous wedding supper. Only the immediate relatives of the young pair were present, but the many gifts received by the bride testify to the high esteem and love in which they are held by their many friends. Gifts came from Calgary, Winnipeg, Toronto and many nearer places, but none hold a dearer place in the heart of the Bride than a tea set, from her Sunday School class, table linen and jardinere stand from the Sunday School teachers and the Home Mission Auxiliary, and a handsome rocking chair, the gift of the choir, of which she was a valued member.

Mr. and Mrs. Preston will reside in North Smith, and if wishes can bring happiness they are assured of more than the allotted share.

New Salesman At Cressman's

Mr. Alf. Temple to Take Charge of Furnishings Department.

Mr. Alf. Temple, formerly of Ottawa, has taken a position in the furnishings and clothing department of A. W. Cressman, and has arrived in the city to take up the duties of his new position, in succession to Mr. Everet Oles, who is resigning to take a rest. Mr. Temple is a thoroughly competent clothing man and has worked in the best stores in the Canadian Capital. He comes here with the highest recommendations, and will take charge of the department which has been no small factor in the success of the Cressman store in this city.

Mr. Temple is thoroughly conversant with the Semi-ready branch of the business, of which he will have charge, and there is every reason to believe that this department of the business will not suffer in his hands.

Buster Brown Gets An Education

The Weekly Cartoon To-morrow Will be a Good One.

Buster Brown is still learning. To-morrow the cartoons will show him "getting an education." It is one of the funniest of all the Buster Brown pictures yet published, and there have been some good ones.

Everyone should get a copy of The Examiner to-morrow and amuse the children.

Fifty Guests Entertained

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Parnell Celebrate Linen Wedding.

About fifty guests were pleasantly entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Richard Parnell at their residence on Edinburgh street last night.

It was the occasion of their linen wedding and a large number of appropriate gifts were presented to Mr. and Mrs. Parnell. During the evening a number of interesting games were played and refreshments served.

General Desire For Inspection of Milk

Provincial Board of Health to Take Matter Up.

A few months ago the Provincial Board of Health sent out letters to the local health officers regarding the difficulties they meet in connection with the milk supply. Since then there has been received a number of replies, in which it is claimed that the various clauses of the Act are inefficient. They also indicate that a better inspection should be made of the milk and dairies, and that the law should be clearer regarding the dilution of the milk, and the uses of the preservatives. These complaints will be placed before the Board of Health by the secretary Dr. Hodgetts.

THEY USED TO LAUGH

But To-day the Well-Dressed Man Knows More Than He Did.

A few years ago the customed in the Semi-Ready Wardrobe would say "Why, you have clothing as high in price as I can have it made to order." No tailor can make a $25 or $30 suit like Semi-Ready and sell it for the same money as the same quality Semi-Ready suit is sold. If the custom tailor wins is on the defensive to-day. "Why, you ask as much as for what I can get a real Semi-Ready suit." The physique, style measurements and the unbounded advantage of Semi-Ready tailoring are being appreciated by gentlemen who a few years ago would laugh at the idea of buying elsewhere than from a custom tailor. Nowadays they smile at the man who does not know any better than to buy a wait-to-order suit.

Cressman's have all the new Semi-Ready styles, and the exclusive agency for Peterborough and district.

GRAVE DISEASES, DUE TO STANDING

Facts About Miss Merkley's Dangerous Illness and Complete Cure.

Have you ever thought why so many women or girls rather walk an hour than stand still for ten minutes?

Miss Margret Merkley

It is because most women suffer from some derangement of their delicate organism, the discomfort of which is less trying when they are in motion than when standing.

In some states laws compel employers to provide resting places for their female employees.

But no amount of law can regulate the hard tasks of these women. They must get the strength which this work demands or run the risk of serious diseases and the surgeon's knife.

Read about the experience of Miss Margret Merkley, 275 3d Street, Milwaukee, Wis:—

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"Gradual loss of strength, nervousness, bearing-down pains and extreme irritation compelled me to seek medical advice. The doctor said I had diseased organs and ulceration, and advised an operation if I wanted to get well. I objected to this and decided to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. I soon found that all the good things said about this great medicine were true. The ulceration soon healed, backache, headache and nervousness disappeared, and in a short time I was strong, vigorous and perfectly well. I wish every working girl who suffers would try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a vegetable tonic which invigorates and strengthens the entire female organism, and will produce the same beneficial results in the cases of other sick women as with Miss Merkley.

PROVINCES AND DOMINION

The conference of Provincial premiers at Ottawa had one good effect. It served to elicit opinions regarding inter-provincial relations from various points of view. But the main chance was not lost sight of — a demand upon the Dominion treasury. Without entering into the abstract justice of the demand, it seems to be admissable that the province of Ontario is not so much in need of an increased subsidy as of proper use of the revenue now available for the purposes of the province. The financial tide in Ontario shows a constant tendency to rise, and in consequence the Whitney Government and its supporters are jubilating over the conditions, as enthusiastically as if the Government of the day were responsible. Thanks to the prudent management of preceding governments, thanks to the new sources of revenue they provided, and which the Conservative Opposition belittled and jeered at, Thanks to a long period of "thrifty judicious and clean" financial administration, the Whitney Government entered upon office with a splendid balance sheet, and a rising revenue, which has continued to advance. The increase from succession duties, which the present provincial treasurer wish'd to diminish by half, has shown a great activity. The receipts of the Provincial Secretary's department, owing to the great prosperity, and the activity of capital and enterprise, have grown greatly, and as far as income goes the province should be in a very comfortable condition. But finding funds available, or not available — it made no matter, the Whitney Government went in for a large increase of expenditure; offices were multiplied, donkey engines, in the shape of commissions, were attached to the Cabinet, and every way possible of spending money recklessly, resorted to. True, the development of the province calls for gradually increasing expenditures. Increased expenditure for legitimate purposes is excusable. The present government has not found the abundant sources of revenue of this province sufficient, but must needs demand an increased subsidy from the Dominion. No other province, on the grounds of contribution to the national revenue has better claims than Ontario, but this, in itself, is no ground for demanding a portion of the revenue, whose proper object is the development and betterment of the Dominion as a whole, without reference to any particular section. If the spirit of the confederation pact justifies an amplification of the scale of subsidies therein provided for, if it is necessary in the interests of the development of the several provinces, the united demand made at Ottawa upon the Dominion, would naturally represent a claim that might be admitted. But it will establish a precedent, which may in the future operate undesirably. If the increase of subsidy should encourage the provinces to expenditures out of proportion to their income, it is easily possible to forecast further applications.

Appointing Of Milk Inspector Is Not Easy

Matter is Causing Council Some Difficulty—Man Is Wanted Who Will Also Act as Truant Officer and Perform Other Duties.

The enforcement of the milk by-law is a question that is giving the council considerable trouble these days, the difficulty arising over the appointing of an inspector. The special committee composed of Ald. McIntyre, Johnston, Wilson and Hall, met previous to the meeting of the whole council last night and after discussing the matter it was decided to recommend to the council that a special officer be appointeed to look after the inspection of milk. It was suggested that this officer might afterwards be given the duties of truant officer, etc.

When the matter came up in the council afterwards, there was considerable discussion. The majority of the councillors apparently were in favour of appointing an official to inspect milk, the water supply and also act as truant officer.

Ald. Graham thought that the Medical Health Officer should look after the inspection of the milk, but the council were of the opinion that the Health Officer has enough to do now, without looking after the milk.

At length it was decided on motion of Ald. McWilliams to arrange a joint meeting of the Board of Health, Water Commissioners and as many of the council as possible to appoint an official to look after health matters.

Four Year Old Girl Strayed Away From Home

Wandered Alone From Sherbrooke Street to Mark Street, East City—Police Station Was the Connecting Link in Re-uniting Father and Child.

This morning a little four-year-old girl residing on Sherbrooke street, strayed away from home, and was not found by her anxious parents until after noon.

She was dressed comfortably before going out of the house to play, and probably on account of the exhilarating air, wandered so far that she was unable to retrace her steps.

She crossed the Hunter street bridge into East City, and when found by Mr. T. B. Maniece, grocer, at the corner of Hunter and Mark streets, was crying bitterly with the cold. Mr. Maniece telephoned the police station where the father had also communicated, and in a few minutes a happy reunion occurred in East City.

The little girl had been out in the cold wind from about 10 o'clock in the morning until 12.30.

CHILD LABOUR

Brantford Expositor.

The Expositor has been presenting to its readers, at intervals, for some weeks past, the need of important changes being made in the Ontario laws respecting the employment of child labour. Our attitude on this question is endorsed by the factory inspectors, who, for years past, without fail, have, in their annual reports, called attention to existing abuses, the false representations made by parents, the want of protection to employers, the need of a uniform age limit for stores and factories, and the desirability of making some provision for poor people who require to get some aid from their children before the latter are of legal age. The whole question is one of extreme importance, because good citizenship is involved therein, and, as Brantford is an industrial centre, we would be glad to have such assistance as our readers can afford. Among other things which appear to us desirable to embody in legislation are the following:

1. The law should be made uniform, and the employment of children under 14 years of age absolutely forbidden, both in factories and shops.

2. No child between 14 and 16 should be permitted to work unless the child can read fluently and write legibly simple sentences in the English language.

3. No child under 16 should be employed after 7 p.m., nor before 7 a.m., or longer than nine hours a day, or 54 hours a week.

4. No child under 16 should be employed in occupations dangerous to life, limb, health or morals.

5. Employment certificates should be issued by school superintendents, and only children 14 years of age should receive these. There should also be a statement of recent continuous attendance at school from the teacher, and an affidavit of age from the parent. These certificates, with accompanying age and schooling statements, should be kept on file by the secretary of the School Board.

6. Children from outside the municipality should require an age and educational certificate from the school superintendent, who shall have discretionary powers as to issuing the same.

7. Provision should be made for a partial attendance at school on the part of children between the ages of 14 or 16 who work in shops or factories.

8. Only physically fit children should receive certificates.

9. Employers should post conspicuously a list of children.

10. Relief cases should be dealt with by the police magistrate.

11. Forbidden employments should include work in hotels. (It is a well-known boys of tender years are employed as bell boys, and a part of their duty very frequently is the carrying of liquor to guests.)

If there are objections to any of the proposals above made, we would like to have them clearly stated, and would also be glad of further suggestions along the same lines.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The following is a sample Mailism:

Mr. Whitney and his Conservative colleagues at the conference of Premiers deserve the thanks of the provinces they represent for the determination and success with which they foiled the attempt of Sir Wilfrid Laurier to deprive Ontario and the sister provinces of their financial rights.—Mail and Empire.

That has reference to the Conference of the Premiers at Ottawa. Was, asks the Hamilton Times, the writer of it drunk? or had it its origin in native foolishness and contempt for the intelligence of the public?

One of the planks of the platform, adopted by the Dominion prohibition of prison labour in competition with free labour." This is a plank for which the Whitney Government has no use. Its prison labour contract, selling the labour of the prisoners for three cents an hour to compete with free labour, is, the Hamilton Times considers, the worst ever entered into, and deserves the condemnation of all fair-minded people.

More than the required 25 per cent. of votes have been secured for the submission of the question of local option to the electors of the City of Brantford. Application will at once be made to the Council to give the necessary bylaw, the two first readings and the campaign will be open by November 1st. We shall see how a large urban centre like Brantford will comport itself towards a law which will affect the hotel accommodation of a busy city; whether temperance sentiment is stronger than considerations of material interest.

The Toronto News affirms that Mr. Hyman should resign his seat for London because of the disclosures which have been made of corrupt practices in the last bye-election. There may be, the Brantford Expositor admits, a measure of justice in the demand, but our contemporary is asking Mr. Hyman to do what no man in public life in Canada, so far as we can recall, has yet done, even in cases where there has been wholesale bribery and the majority has been small. In Mr. Hyman's election the majority was very large, and he has not thus far been connected, even remotely, with the wrongdoing which has, up to the present, been disclosed.

WOMEN'S WORK

In view of some of the sentiments voiced at a recent gathering of citizens of all denominations, regarding the necessity in the interests of the country at large, of improvement in home conditions and the fostering of home life, the following from the Hamilton Herald will be read with interest by those who are concerned in social problems, and the influences likely to have a large share in their beneficial solution:—

Hamilton is honoured by the presence here of the delegates to the annual meeting of the National Council of Women. This noble organization, the mission of which is eminently practical, has already done much to promote the welfare of women, and its work is sure to widen. Its members must not be confounded with the "shrieking sisterhood"—those women who appear to think that the greatest need of the time is the elimination of the social and political distinctions between the sexes—the admission of women to all the political privileges, the burdening of women with all the political responsibilities that men possess or bear, and the entrance of women into every field of activity now occupied by men. As if the chief glory of woman is to be gained by unsexing herself!

This is not the sort of ideal to which the National Council of Women aspires. Its ideals are the happy home, family life sweetened and elevated by noble conception of wifely and maternal duty, social purity, the application of the golden rule to industrial and social conditions, a patriotism which incites to practical work rather than talk for the good of the country.

In good common sense, in legislative ability, in prudence and foresight, in the ability to shape means to ends, these ladies are not inferior to most of the men who manage the country's affairs, while in purity of purpose and excellence of character they are superior. They have already shown and will continue to show what it is not necessary for women to possess the right to vote in order to accomplish much useful work of a public character and to exert a wide and powerful influence for good.

We are glad to have these noble and gracious women in Hamilton. May their visit be as pleasant to them as it will be useful to the organizations which they represent.

SURPRISE A PURE HARD SOAP.

ONE OF THE THINGS it is hard to make folks understand is the fact that, with "SURPRISE" Soap, it is not necessary to boil or scald the clothes.

A tea-kettle of hot water is enough—and you don't rub hard. The soap does the work—loosens the dirt and it drops out.

You can use "SURPRISE" Soap any way you wish, but this tea-kettle-of-hot-water way is the best because it's quickest and easiest.

"SURPRISE" is a pure, hard soap of the highest grade. The first cost isn't any more than common soap.

One Ingredient of Zutoo

Is soda—just old-fashioned soda, that our grandmothers took to settle the stomach.

The principal ingredient—the one that stops the headache, is a vegetable ingredient, imported for us from Japan. It wont hurt you any more than will the soda.

The other ingredients of Zutoo are just as harmless.

If you knew what the drug cures contain, and their ultimate effect on the system, you would discard them at once and take Zutoo, which is harmless as Soda.

His brother, Gordon Millar, who has just returned from there, will fill his position at the postoffice. Mr. Murray Millar's family will remain in Orillia for the present.

A Novel Idea
—Several of the leading Methodist churches in Toronto have adopted the plan, for the coming winter, of serving cake and coffee in church after the Sunday night services. The object is to attract the young people of Toronto who are boarding and rooming. It is expected that other churches may follow the lead. Work is done along similar lines in the cities in England and Scotland.

Sale of the Cubitt Stock of Wall Papers
—We have struck the right keynote in selling borders and wall papers at the same price. Cubbitt's stock of wall paper is selling like "hot cakes" at Stratton's. Remember we have only 10,000 rolls of this paper at half price. Mostly all new patterns, purchased within the year from the leading Montreal wall paper makers. Remember the prices,—papers per roll 3c, borders per roll 3c, papers per roll 5c., borders per roll 5c., papers per roll 10c., borders per roll 10c. and and 8c. Just think what this means —a room papered for less than half a dollar at one price, and less than one dollar at the other. Come early any day this week and bring the size of your room. A. H. Stratton & Co., 417 George street.

Many Hogs Are Coming To City

Messrs. Stabler & Sons Brought 267 This Weak.

The farmers of Smith township are famed for the large number of hogs raised there. Almost every week brings a large influx to the city, and this week Messrs. Stabler & Sons alone brought down 267 for a local firm.

On Wednesday the number was 96, with a total weight of 17,569 lbs. These came from the Lakefield cheese factory. Last night the steamer Rainbow and scow arrived in the city with 171 from Buckhorn, the total weight being 30,600 lbs.

Open Classes At Lakefield

Peterborough Conservatory of Music Teachers Will Go There.

It is stated to be the intention of the directors of the Peterborough Conservatory of Music to establish classes in Lakefield, where members of the staff will make periodical visits, and given instruction in vocal and violin.

The prospects are that classes of considerable size will be formed in this village. Miss Dora Fossey is handling the matter for the Conservatory.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

SEVENGALA

Sevengala, the hypnotist has still the faculty of keeping his audiences at the Grand in a hilarious state of laughter. His mysterious performances still remain a mystery, but as fun provokers they have yet to be surpassed. The first part of the performance consists of the exhibition of Sevengala's hypnotic powers and his various changes of the programme are never duplicated. Last night his subjects went electioneering which formed the principal feature of the evening. Roller skating and honey hunting were a couple of the other attractions, enjoyed by the whole audience.

The mysterious exhibition in telepathy by Sevengala concluded the evening's performance which becomes more fascinating as the week passes by.

New York, Oct. 11.—On application of Franklino Bien, counsel for Richard F. Outcault and John Leffler, Judge Truax, of the Supreme Court, yesterday issued an order to show cause why an injunction should not be issued in the action instituted by Richard F. Outcault and John Leffler against Melville B. Raymond and the Melville B. Raymond Company to restrain them from the use of the characters "Buster Brown" and others created by Outcault; also from using the costumes, scenery and other paraphernalia in "Buster Brown's Holiday," which were originally used in "Buster Brown"; also from the use of the title, "Buster Brown," in any way.

The complaint and affidavit set forth the agreements between Outcault, Leffler and Raymond, under which Raymond was permitted to produce "Buster Brown" for several seasons, and the agreement made by the New York Herald with Raymond in June, 1906, permitting him to use "Buster Brown."

Outcault asserts in his affidavit that the Herald Company never had any producing rights, but only the right of publication, and that he procured agreements to that effect in October, 1902, in which the Herald relinquished all producing rights of "Buster Brown" to him.

The hearing has been set down in special term, part I., of the Supreme Court, for to-morrow.

THE WOMAN IN THE CASE

About "The Woman in the Case," the new play in which Eugenie Blair is to appear at the Grand Opera House next Wednesday evening, October 17, "there can be scarcely two opinions," says the always unbiased critic of Town Topics. "It teems with dramatic interest through three acts, and, if the last act is almost unnecessary, it has the merit of being short, and can be excused on that score. 'The Woman in the Case,' like most of the Fitch plays, tells a story of to-day—a story of New York men and manners,—and it tells it with the sure, deft manner of the man who knows. From the first it grips the interest and holds it. It is real and thrilling. It is refreshing, too, in its picture of domestic trust and loyalty. Very fine, indeed, is the character of Margaret Rolfe, and not one whit overdrawn; and almost equally good is that of Julian, her husband, manly, frank, and clean. Against this fair background the sordid, vulgar creature of the chorus and the town, Claire Forster, is silhouetted clear, and sharp, and forbidding. Clyde Fitch has written another success." For once, the popular verdict echoed that of the newspapers, for the play has now been acted for more than 250 nights in New York.

THE BELL BOY

"A Bell Boy," that charming and humourous extravaganza, which is everywhere making such a pronounced hit with the theatre-going public, will be presented at the Grand on Thursday evening. This will undoubtedly be one of the premier engagement of the season. It features a bunch of charming girls in a delightful musical melange, with dainty costumes and handsome scenic effects. The mischievous "bell boy," around whose care-free antics so much interest centres, is played by that clever young comedian, Mr. Johnny Galvin, who is admirably supported by Ella Galvin, Irene Drew, Ned Nelson, Jas. A. Grady and other capital artists.

The entire production is the hit of the season. Bright, clean and captivating, it holds the delighted attention of the audience from the prelude to the final fall of the curtain.

The hotelkeepers in the local option townships of Elgin are said to be considering action against Police Magistrate Hunt to compel him to prove his assertions about immorality in public houses.

A DIMPLE MAKER.

Find a child with dimples and chubby arms and legs and you find a healthy child. Find one with drawn face and poor, thin body and you see one that needs Scott's Emulsion. Your doctor will no doubt tell you the child is fat-starved—its food is not nourishing it.

Nothing helps these thin, pale children like Scott's Emulsion. It contains the very element of fat they need. It supplies them with a perfect and quickly digested nourishment. Scott's Emulsion brings dimples and rounded limbs.

SHERRING THE MARATHON WINNER
& ZAM-BUK'S HEALING POWER

William Sherring, of Hamilton, Canada's hero, the winner of the Marathon Race, trained on Zam-Buk and has proved its merits. He says:

"While training for my great run from Marathon to Athens, a distance of 26 miles, I used Zam-Buk and it proved a great boon to me. I have used it both as an embrocation and as a salve for chafing sores, bruises caused by stepping on to stones while running in light shoes, and other bruises and have found it the best salve and ointment I have ever tried. Its healing powers are exceptional, and for general household use it should be a wonderfully fine curative. I have pleasure in expressing my appreciation of its value."

Zam-Buk is a healing balm composed of the finest known medicinal herbal extracts. It acts as a skin food, and rejuvenates all diseased or injured tissue—rebuilds unsound skin, etc., just as a builder rebuilds a damaged building. The most delicate skin—the skin of young babies can absorb it. No staining, no harmful coloring matter, no mineral poisons. Pure nature applied to nature's ills.

A CERTAIN CURE FOR eczema, skin diseases and eruptions, ulcers, abscesses, boils, bad leg, chronic or poisoned sores, cuts, burns, scalds, scalp sores, ringworms, babies' heat or chafing sores, chapped hands, chilblains, sore nipples, and all skin diseases or injuries. All druggists at 50c a box, or post free from the Zam-Buk Co., Toronto. (6 boxes for $2.50).

People Will Vote On $21,000 Grant For New Collegiate Council Refused the Request of the Board to Grant Money Without Submitting the Question—Exhaustive Debate on the Subject Last Night—Deputation From Board Waited Upon the Council.

The meeting of the Committee of the Whole Council last night, was marked by one of the greatest debates on educational matters that has taken place in the city for some time, when the special Collegiate Institute Building Committee waited upon the Council to ask for a grant of $21,000, to complete the Collegiate Institute.

There was only one point at issue, whether the council would grant the money, or submit the matter to the people, but the debate was by no means confined to this subject, as there was discussion as to the merits of the High School, as to whether the freeholders represented the people, and several other points. It took the representatives of the Board of Education just one hour to state their case, and they had evidently made an exhaustive study of the subject, for they came bristling with information.

The result of the conference was that the matter will be submitted to the people, just when is not yet decided. This was not quite what the Board wanted, as they would have preferred to have the Council make the grant last night, because they considered that the delay involved in submitting a bylaw would be expensive. No vote was taken on the question, but the Mayor and Council were unanimous that the only thing that they could do, to carry out their responsibilities as representatives of the people, was to have the question voted upon.

The Board of Education deputation was composed of Messrs. W. H. Hill, D. W. Dumble, B. F. Ackerman, Dr. Morrison, L. M. Hayes, their solicitor, Mr. R. M. Dennistoun and secretary W. G. Morrow.

The members of the Council present were Mayor Best, Ald. McWilliams, Graham, Hicks, Duncan, Mason, Johnston, McIntyre, Adams and Wilson.

In opening the meeting, Mayor Best said that the city was expected to make a grant towards enlarging the North Ward School, also deal with the question of enlarging the West Ward School, and that the Board would like the Council to grant them $21,000 to complete the Collegiate Institute. He called uupon the Board of Education to state their case.

Dr. Morrison

Dr. Morrison, the first speaker, stated that the Board's object was entirely to deal with an extra grant for Collegiate purposes. They had at their disposal $40,000 for the building of the Collegiate Institute. They had found that to complete and equip the building would cost $61,000, and they asked the Council to provide the extra $21,000.

Peterborough had no Collegiate Institute building. The building used for that purpose was a public school building. It had not the facilities for work that it should have and was inadequate for the work. The speaker produced a list of the number of pupils during the last six years, as follows: 1900, 191 scholars; in 1902, 234 scholars; 1904, 258 scholars; 1906, 293 scholars. In the six years the increase was 102 pupils. With that increase continuing they would be very soon crowded out. With the same increase next year they would be in very bad condition. There are 2400 pupils attending the Public and Separate schools of Peterborough. In eight years they will have passed through the Public school course. About 100 new pupils are in the Collegiate this year. At the end of eight years 800 pupils would be applying for admission in the Collegiate Institute. The Institute was in reality the poor man's college. It was the duty of the School Board to see that the boys and girls of the city should have the best facilities put at their disposal.

The present building had been under the ban of the inspector for years, and they were in danger of losing their grant. The people realized that a Collegiate Institute was necessary as was shown by their vote in favour of $50,000. This sum was expected to be sufficient to put up a building that would be adequate for the needs of Peterborough for many years.

The committee had endeavoured to see what they could do with the $40,000 at their disposal, and had found that when the cost of heating and plumbing was deducted, there was not a large enough sum for the structure its If. It would cost $13,000 to do the plumbing, heating, etc., which would leave only $27,000 for the building itself.

The site, one of the best in the Province of Ontario, was such that it demanded a high class building. An inferior building would be putting a slur upon the community.

There were two methods of dealing with the question, by direct grant, or by submitting a bylaw to the people. The plans had been prepared as quickly as possible, and they were in a position to call for tenders, and get their building begun this fall. If they had to wait until a bylaw was submitted it would throw them so late that they would be unable to start work until next year.

Mr. D. W. Dumble

Mr. Dumble said that he had little to add. He had gone into the School Board opposed to the idea of spending $90,000 for a Collegiate. The people had been willing to grant $50,000, which would have gone much further two years ago, than it would to-day. $40,000 would not build a structure worthy of the site. The Board had spent a great deal of time and care in preparing the plans, first, in securing accommodation; secondly, in an appropriate building. They had reduced the size of the original building.

The building now proposed was as cheap as they would recommend to be built. He thought the Council could safely take it for granted that the request of the Board would be sanctioned by the people. He had not heard a word of objection against ing $61,000. It would be better for the Board to get the money quickly. Things would not be any cheaper next year, and it might be hard to get labour.

Mr. Hayes' Views

Mr. L. M. Hayes said that they came as practical men to practical men. The amount asked for was a very moderate sum. They had been very careful with the plans and estimates. Many smaller cities had buildings which cost more than the sum at their disposal even if they obtained the extra sum asked for. Some of the responsibility of erecting a proper Collegiate Institute fell upon the Council. The great possibilities looming up before Peterborough by the location of the Coates Company must be considered. It would increase their finances. "We must have a Collegiate Institute," said Mr. Hayes. He thought that it would be quite proper to take the matter in hand and put the grant through themselves, otherwise there would be considerable delay.

Mr. Hill's Argument

Mr. W. H Hill said that the council were as anxious as the Board to secure good educational advantages. There was not a teacher in the Collegiate doing the work they could do in a proper building, properly equipped. The fees were the second highest in the province, from $10 to $25. The children had the right to expect good teaching, which was not possible under present conditions. The least thing the Council could do was to provide proper accommodation. In regard to the giving of the money, he thought the Council ought to give it to the Board without going to the people. He thought that in going to the people there was not a fair vote. The Council represented the people more fully than the people who would vote on the bylaw, as only freeholders could vote. The non-freeholders had not a vote at all, and they sent more children to the Public Schools than the freeholders.

Mayor Best said that the property holders were the back-bone of the debentures issued by the Council.

Mr. Hill, continuing, said that in Toronto the Council did not think of going to the people for the money for buildings. This was the case also in Napanee and Chatham. Manual training could not be taken up until a new Collegiate Institute was built. In a manufacturing place like Peterborough, manual training was necessary. Mr. Hill referred to the growth of Lodes in Russia owing to the manual training taught in the schools there.

He said that in ten years the buildings that they proposed to erect would have to be enlarged, for which provision had been made.

Mr. Ackerman

Mr. B. F. Ackerman said that he had little to add, save that he thought the Council would not be blamed for giving the Board the money asked for without going to the people.

The Solicitor's Views

Mr. R. M. Dennistoun, the Board's solicitor, said that the Council had power to give the money without going to the people. There were 2,400 children attending the Public Schools, which would leave from 600 to 800 heads of houses interested in the school. Probably only 300 or 400 of these would be freeholders. The Council did not represent only the freeholders, but all the people. The freeholders might be divided into three classes. The first were those whose children had passed through the schools altogether; secondly, there was the class who sent their children to outside schools; and, lastly, there were the small property owners who had not many advantages themselves, and did not want to see the children get any more than themselves.

The Council ought to take the stand that this scheme was either right or wrong. If right, they should pass the grant; if not, they should denounce it.

Mayor Best said that the intention of the Government in erecting Normal Schools was to raise the standard of the Public Schools. The Council had already given money for the South Ward School and would have to give grants for enlarging the North Ward and West Ward Schools. "Did the Board think," asked the mayor, "that the people will stand for a grant of $21,000 after all this expenditure?"

Mr. Dumble took exception to the mayor's statement that the Public Schools had been robbed by the Collegiate Institute. The universities were filled by those who had gone through the Collegiate Institute. The higher the standard of the Public School, the more pupils would go into the Collegiate Institute.

Must Go to the People

Mayor Best said that the Council could not make a grant of $21,000 without going to the people, in view of the money already granted, and that would have to be granted for Public School purposes.

Ald. McWilliams

Ald. McWilliams said that the Council should give a decided answer at once. There had been a good deal of argument as to the claims of a High School upon the ratepayers. Personally, he was a strong supporter of Public Schools. The question at issue, however, was the grant for the High School. The people had granted a large sum of money, which settled the question that they thought a good Collegiate was necessary. The Board had dilly-dallied for a year, and then came back with a proposition that had little defence. The only wonder about the vote was that the bylaw was as much supported as it was. He thought the public would be well satisfied to grant what was necessary for an adequate Collegiate Institute. It would be nonsense to build an inadequate building.

The question had twice been before the people. They had been found willing to vote one amount, and not willing to grant another. Now they were asked to split the difference, and he thought the people should vote on the question. As to the question of delay, he thought that it was ill-advised of the Board to ask the Council to hurry the matter through after all the delay they themselves had caused.

Further Discussion

Ald. Adams said that, as a citizen of the city, he was interested in the Collegiate Institute, and would like to see a good one built. In granting the money without going to the people, they would be voting for the 45 or 50 freeholders interested in the Institute. The only argument advanced by the Board in asking that the money should be granted at once, was to save delay, and he did not think that three months' delay would make much difference.

Dr. Morrison said that the Council seemed opposed to granting the money without going to the people, and asked that the bylaw be submitted as soon as possible, and not wait until the first of January.

The Board of Education then withdrew and the Council did not further discuss the question, it being understood that the matter is to be submitted to the people.

OBITUARY

JOHN W. LENDRUM

The announcement is made to-day of the death of Mr. John W. Lendrum, who passed away last night at the family residence, No. 699 Watt street. The deceased was in his 72nd year, and had lived a retired life with his family for some years. During his lifetime, the late Mr. Lendrum was an active, hard-working man. About 30 years ago he carried on business on George street in a store which now forms part of the Bank of Toronto. Deceased was born in Blackheath, England, in 1834, and came to Peterborough in 1876. His wife still survives him, as well as a family of five, two sons and three daughters, one of his sons being Mr. W. G. Lendrum photographer, Charlotte street. He was a member of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, and his life was marked by a consistency to his religious duties and a strong faith in the teachings of the Scriptures. Deceased was a graduate of Cambridge University, England, he was also a charter member of Hawkesbury Masonic Lodge. He died quite peacefully, from a general breaking up of his system. The particulars of the funeral will be announced to-morrow.

Freight Train Snow Covered

People Are Having "Weather" In the West.

The weather further west must be more uninviting than our own. This morning about nine o'clock a C.P.R. freight train passed through the city with about six inches of snow on it in places. At any rate a gentleman related this to the Examiner this morning, and added the remark that he would prefer taking chances on Peterborough weather and stay here than look for better in the west.

Y.M.C.A. RECEPTION HELD TO-NIGHT

The Y.M.C.A. opening and reception to-night will be free to all. Ladies are especially invited. Gallery seats in the gymnasium will be reserved for them. They are, however, asked to come early, as it is expected that the gym. will be crowded to its utmost capacity.

A rare programme of music and other entertainment will be given, and Mr. Dingman, the new physical director, will be introduced.

The Montreal branch of the "Salada" Tea Company had delivered to them through the mails a few days ago, a letter addressed as follows: "Highest Award and Gold Medal, Fair, St. Louis, Montreal." The writer evidently mistook a newspaper notice of the "Salada" Company for the name of the firm, probably not understanding English.

A WOMAN TO BE PRETTY

Must Have Luxuriant and Glossy Hair No Matter What Colour.

The finest contour of a female face, the sweetest smile of a female mouth, loses something if the head is crowned with scant hair. Scant and falling hair, it is now known, is caused by a parasite that burrows into the scalp to the root of the hair, where it saps the vitality. The little white scales the germ throws up in burrowing are called dandruff. To cure dandruff permanently then, and to stop falling hair, that germ must be killed. Newbro's Herpicide, an entirely new result of the chemical laboratory, destroys the dandruff germ, and, of course, stops the falling hair, and prevents baldness. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10 cents in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Company, Detroit, Mich. Ormond & Walsh, special agents.

Mr. E. W. Lamprey Gets Promotion

Former Peterboro' Banker to go to Montreal Office.

Mr. E. W. Lamprey, manager of the Bank of Toronto, at Millbrook, and formerly of the local staff of the same institution, has been promoted to the Montreal branch. Mr. Lamprey has been in Millbrook since January last, and, as was the case in Peterborough made many friends, who, while they will regret his removal will learn with pleasure of his promotion. During the time that Mr. Lamprey spent in Millbrook, he became identified with all the movements which were calculated to benefit the town, and was, as a consequence, very popular. Only best wishes will follow him in his new office.

The Growing Of The "Dope" Fiend In Peterborough

Rather Startling Revelations of This Onward March Brought to Light—Druggist Refuses to Sell—The Authorities Become Anxious in London.

The other day a man of scraggy appearance, unshaven, tattered, vacant-eyed and walking with a shuffling step, entered a George street drugstore. Leaning across the counter, he whispered something into the proprietor's ear.

"Can't give it to you under any consideration," replied the druggist.

"Give me just a little bit of it, just a dime's worth," pleaded the man.

"You might beg all day, but you couldn't get that kind of thing here." The proprietor seemed determined to hold his ground, so the man left.

"He was after dope," said the druggist, as he gazed after him.

"What kind of dope?"

"Morphine."

The reporter who happened to be present during the dialogue followed the man down George street, but he seemed to enquire of no other places, and finally entered a hotel.

This morning in order to ascertain how many drug fiends were in Peterborough, several druggists were seen.

"We have no demand for cocaine," said one druggist, "sometimes a friend comes into the store asking for opium or morphine, but we never give it to them. We do not want that class of trade."

"How many recognized dope fiends are there in Peterborough?"

"Not more than five of six."

Another druggist had a similar verdict to render.

"We are sometimes troubled with requests for opium or morphine, but the regular number of users in Peterborough would not go beyond five or six."

However, there is some traffic in such vile drugs which the regular dealers do not see. The most pathetic cases are not those of the broken down being who begs the druggist to sell him "a dime's worth o' morphine for the love of Heaven," but rather the business man who strives to keep up appearances while the drug habit is eating at his vitals. Yet there are such cases in Peterborough, very quiet, unobtrusive cases, yet for that reason the more alarming.

London, Ontario, is greatly alarmed over its cocaine curse. Happily, Peterborough has escaped the same bane. A London, Ontario, despatch says:—

The prevalence of the cocaine habit among young men in this city has reached so serious a stage that Dr. F. P. Drake has publicly asked that the authorities take some steps to prevent its further spread.

Scores of young men in the city are victims of the drug and there is scarcely a physician in the city but who has several severe cases under his care.

In the hospital there are several patients under treatment, and some are in a very serious condition.

The police court has seen the downfall of several young men who became addicted to the drug, and theft cases among young men of respectable families have been numerous. A local paper printed what was looked upon by the police as a sensational story some time ago. Several physicians have now come forward with the statement that something must be done, as the habit is one which strikes the very heart of London's homes. The police are conducting an investigation now, it is understood.

Honour Shown To Popular Pastor At Lakevale Church

Rev. J. M. Whitelaw Given Address and Presentation on Eve of His Departure From Charge.

Last night the Presbytorians of Lakevale met in a social gathering to bid farwell to Rev. J. M. Whitelaw, B.A., who for the past three years has been pastor of that church, in connection with his work at Omemee, Bethany and Mount Pleasant. The congregation of Lakevale was well represented last night, and there were not lacking evidences of genuine sorrow at the approaching departure of Mr. Whitelaw, who has been very faithful and devoted to the work of the church. On behalf of the congregation, one of the prominent members read the following address, and presented Mr. Whitelaw with a generous purse:

Rev. J. M. Whitelaw, B.A.,
Omemee.

Dear Pastor,—We, the members of the congregation of the Presbyterian Church in Lakevale, learn with very great sorrow that your contemplated removal to another field of labour will, in the near future, deprive us of the pleasant ministrations that we have enjoyed during your fruitful pastorate of three years. Nearly every Sunday for that time we have sat under your earnest preaching, and, we hope, have profited as much by your pulpit ministrations as by more personal contact with you in your faithful discharge of your pastoral relations.

We have learned to respect and venerate you for your learning and piety, and to love you through the innumerable evidences of love and kindness we have received at your hands. While we shall miss you as our minister and pastor, we trust and pray that wherever you go your lines may be cast in pleasant places, and we are sure that the same zeal, earnestness and devotion you have shown here will make you valued and beloved by those over whom you may have spiritual oversight.

We would also desire to include Mrs. Whitelaw in our expressions of regret and appreciation and in our hearty good wishes for her and your welfare.

As in earnest of our good wishes, which make us wish it were more, we ask your acceptance of this purse of money, not as a reward, but as a recognition.

Signed, on behalf of the congregation.

In acknowledging the gift and expressions of good will accompanying it, Rev. Mr. Whitelaw referred to the exceedingly pleasant relations he had always experienced with the members of the Lakevale congregation, and voiced his regret at leaving the locality where he had spent three pleasant years. He had only the most sincere hope for the future success of the church.

Local Vocalist's Work Praised

Miss Olive Howell Sang at Millbrook on Sunday.

The Port Hope Guide correspondent from Millbrook this week says: Last Sunday the Methodist congregation was highly pleased with the able rendition of vocal solos by Miss Olive Howell of the Charlotte Street Methodist Church choir, Peterborough, who sang both morning and evening. She has a fine, clear voice. Her selections were "There Is a Green Hill Far Away" and "The Beautiful Land."

School Gardens Were Subject Of Discussion

At the East Peterborough Teachers' Association Convention—A Successful and Profitable Series of Meetings Held at Norwood—The Officers Elected.

Examiner Special.

Norwood, Oct. 11th.—The convention of the East Peterborough Teachers' Association, took place in the Norwood Model School on Octber 9th and 10th. The attendance was unusually large, probably owing to the fact that the Norwood Fair was held on the same day.

The president, Mr. J. Davidson, was in the chair. After a concise but able opening address some matters of business were disposed of.

Miss Carter then gave a very interesting account of her experiences with a school garden.

During the discussion which followed Miss Carter's talk, both Inspector Brown and Inspector Lees expressed their wish that many of the teachers would try the same experimnt.

Mr. Leake gave a very instructive and practical address on "How to teach constructive work." He dealt with the subject under the following headings: Cardboard work, clay moulding, raffia and weaving, but devoted the greater part of his time to the first mentioned which he illustrated with specimens which he brought with him.

A hearty vote of thanks was tendered Mr. Leake in appreciation of his services.

In the evening at eight o'clock Mr Leake gave an illustrated address on "Practical Education." At this meating there was a large audience, many of whom must necessarily have been impressed by the great benefit this phase of education would have, if properly conducted in our public schools.

The Wednesday morning session opened at nine o'clock. The first hour was devoted to business. Mr. Smithson, delegate to the O. E. A. read an excellent report of the proceedings of that Association. At 10 o'clock Mr. Lees gave a lucid explanation of the new school law and regulations.

The officers elected for next year are as follows:

President—Mr. Pilkey, Keene.

Vice-President—Mr. Leighton, Norwood.

Sec.-Treas.—Miss Kirkpatrick, Norwood.

Executive Committee — Miss Payne and Messrs. Brown, Lees and Smithson.

Delegates to the O.E.A. — Miss Carter and Mr. Gordon.

Auditors — Miss Waters and Miss MacLachlan.

The meeting closed with the singing of the National Anthem.

At a meeting of the Executive Committee it was decided to hold the next convention on May 23rd and 24th, 1907.

Wedding Anniversary Celebrated At Warsaw

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Lounsberry Entertain Number of Friends in Honour of Their Twentieth Wedding Day.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Lonsberry, Warsaw, celebrated the 20th anniversary of their marriage on Monday evening, Oct. 8th, when about 75 guests were present to celebrate the occasion with them. Among those present were:—Mr. and Mrs. T. Webster, Mr. and Mrs. T. Loughridge, Mr. and Mrs. W. McMillan, Mr. and Mrs. H. Fife, Miss Fife, Miss Webster, Mr. L. Webster, Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Elliott, Mr. and Mrs. F. Anderson, Mr. and Hamblin, Mr. and Mrs. C. Payne, besides many others too numerous to mention from Lakefield, Peterborough, Young's Point and other places. Needless to say justice was done to the dainty dejeuner which was served and a most enjoyable time spent by all until the "wee sma' hours." Mr. and Mrs. Lonsberry were the recipients of a large number of useful and costly presents in china from their numerous friends.

T. Kinnear & Co. Erect New Sign

With Dimensions of 50 Feet in Length and 8 Feet in Depth.

A handsome sign was erected yesterday by J. J. Turner & Sons for T. Kinnear & Co., wholesale grocers. The sign is fifty feet long and eight feet deep, and is placed on the top of the front wall of the building. Posts are substantially erected at the corners, giving the monster sign somewhat of the appearance of a fence.

The same firm has also placed a new sign of a very attractive appearance in front of Mr. Fred Darcy's restaurant, which is just above Mr. Pappi's new pool and billiard room.

New Officers Were Nominated

At Meeting of Philomathean Society.

At a meeting of the members of the Collegiate Institute Philomathean Society yesterday afternoon, the nominations for the various offices took place. The meeting was held in the Y.M.C.A. parlours, with the Vice-President, Mr. Bruce Ingham, in the chair, and a fairly good attendance of members present. The election will probably take place on Monday afternoon.

Following are the nominations:

For Honourary President, Mr. Fessenden.

For Honourary Vice-President, Mr. H. R. H. Kenter and Mr. R. N. Morfitt.

For President, Allan Munro, Ed. Wood, F. Brown.

For Vice-President, Miss Campbell, Miss Burnett.

For Secretary, Miss Kells (acclamation).

For Treasurer, Miss Young, Miss Marion Denne, Miss Crane.

It was moved by Mr. Jeffries, seconded by Mr. Hodgson, that the appointing of representatives from the several forms to the Executive be left to the officers.

Farmer Retiring; Will Live In City

Mr. James Chandley Sold Farm to Mr. John Geary.

Farm property near the city of Peterborough, is no drug on the market, as Mr. James Chandley, of Ennismore, who placed his farm with Messrs. Blewett and O'Brien, for sale, found out. This firm has sold two farms this week. Mr. Chandley's being one of them. It consists of 100 acres and was sold to Mr. John Geary, also of Ennismore, and the new owner will take possession in March, and Mr. Chandley will remove to Peterborough, where he will reside in future. On Oct. 16th an auction sale of his farm stock and implements will be held.

Eyes Worth Having

Did you ever stop to think that with the exception of the heart, the eye is the hardest worked part of the body.

As long as you are awake and your eyes are open they are working in your service.

Three pairs of muscles control the movement of each eyeball.

The two eyeballs move exactly together. Would you know the effect of their not working together—press your finger against one, so that it's position does not exactly correspond with the other.

How important it is that if these muscles tire and you have headaches are require Glasses, that your Glasses suit your eyes—our long experience makes us experts and able to fit you correctly.

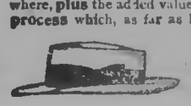
Mallory CRAVENETTE HATS

STYLE and SERVICE

Don't buy your Fall headwear until you have examined our new line of Mallory Cravenette Hats.

Cravenette is the name of a process, not a material. A Mallory Cravenette Hat simply means a hat of the finest felt, worked into refined and up-to-date styles and becoming shapes—the best hat qualities that you can buy anywhere, plus the added value that comes from the Priestley Cravenetting process which, as far as hats are concerned, is exclusive with the Mallory.



Come in to see them if for nothing else than to learn what are the latest and most fashionable metropolitan hat styles.

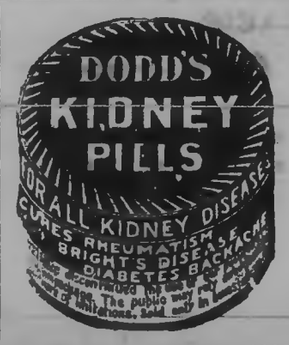
The Diphtheria Spread Stopped

No Further Trouble Anticipated In Ennismore.

The diphtheria outbreak in Ennismore, appears to have been gotten under control, and the three patients who were suffering from the disease are doing well, and no trouble is anticipated. The school of which they were members, and which has been closed during the last few weeks, as a precautionary measure, will re-open on Monday.

No new cases have developed and the disease is practically stamped out.



What Milkmen Will Have To Do To Obtain License

Must Comply With Section 10 of the Public Health Act and Must Have a Certificate to That Effect From Their Board of Health.

Ald. McIntyre's milk by-law comes into force on December 1st and after that time all persons selling milk in Peterborough must have a license. It would be well for milkmen to consider what they must do in order to obtain a license.

Every applicant for a license under the by-law shall be entitled thereto upon the production of a certificate signed by the secretary of the local Board of Health of the municipality in which such applicant resides that he has complied, in all respects, with the provisions of section 10, schedule B, of the Public Health Act which is as follows:—

All milch cows and cow byres, and all dairies or other places in which milk is sold or kept for general use, and all cheese factories and creameries, shall be subject to regular inspection under the direction of the said Board; and the proprietors shall be required to obtain permission in writing from the Board, to keep such dairy or other place in which milk is sold or kept as aforesaid, or to keep a cheese factory or creamery, and the same shall not be kept by anyone without such permission, which shall be granted after approval of such premises, upon inspection, subject to the condition that all such places as aforesaid are so kept and conducted that the milk shall not contain any matter or thing liable to produce disease either by reason of adulteration, contamination with sewage, absorption of disease germs, infection of cows, or any other generally recognized cows, and upon such condition being broken the said permission may be revoked by the Board.

South Bend, Ind., Man Is After "Queen Mary"

Fortune Teller Who Was at the Peterborough Fair Wanted by Gus. George—He Telegraphed the Orillia Chief of Police.

The lady referred to in the following from the Orillia Times, was at the Peterborough Industrial Fair where she made considerable money telling the fortunes of the visitors to the fair. The Times says:

"For several days Chief Constable Goodman was bombarded with messages from a man in South Bend, Indiana, giving his name as Gus. George who wanted to know the whereabouts of a woman who was here on show days, styling herself 'Queen Mary,' and attempting to make a business of telling fortunes. She first put up her tent on the show grounds, and, driven from there, started business on the roadside, near the gate. The chief drove her from that position and she then abandoned the field. Mr. Goodman received two telegrams, a message by telephone, and two by mail, and on Saturday discovered that the woman had been in Newmarket the day before. He wired George to that effect, and the latter is now no doubt upon the trail of 'the Queen.'"

The Army Officers Will Go To Montreal Corps

Staff Capt. and Mrs. McAmmond Will be Stationed There Next—Their Successors Will be Adjt. and Mrs. Wiggins.

Last night Mrs. (Staff-Capt.) McAmmond received a telephone message from the Staff-Capt. from Toronto, stating that their new station would be at No. 1 Barracks, in Montreal. They will leave for their new charge after the close of the Officers' Congress. The welcome meeting will in all probability be held on Thursday next.

The successors to Staff-Capt. and Mrs. McAmmond, will be Adjt. and Mrs. Wiggins, who will also arrive next week.

A coincident in connection with the new station of the local officers is the fact that prior to their marriage they were both stationed in Montreal, the Staff-Capt. being at what was then known as old No. 1 Barracks. The barracks at which their headquarters will be now, is not in the same location as that over which the Staff-Capt. had charge, but it is in the same section of the city.

Havelock Stirred Over Alleged Theft Of A Dog

Magistrate Edmison in That Village Yesterday to Settle the Matter—An Interesting Case—Plaintiff Was Premature.

The alleged theft of a dog, was responsible for Magistrate Edmison's trip to Havelock yesterday.

The supposed breaker of the law was Mr. J. Arnold, of Marmora township, the information being laid by Mr. William Houghton, of Belmont. The story is an interesting one, on account of its peculiarity. Mr. Houghton owned the dog, which was not yet a full grown one, and he left it with a Mrs. Collins of Belmont, to keep for him. Mr. Arnold was driving through that township a few days ago to look at some property, and on returning passed Mrs. Collins' residence. The canine, for some unknown reason, appeared to grow tired of his home, and was on the look out for a change of abode. He followed Mr. Arnold's buggy against the driver's consent, who several times tried to chase the doggy back. Havelock village was reached, but the little animal followed on through the village on the Marmora Road. Mr. Arnold stopped in Belmont for tea and offered to give the dog away, but the host had plenty without it. Further evidence brought to light the fact that the dog went home with Mr. Arnold and was afterwards found there by the plaintiff.

The latter at once charged Arnold with stealing the dog laying an information before making any inquiries.

The magistrate after hearing the evidence found the defendant not guilty, and dismissed the case.

Fruit Trees Were Ruined By Bad Storm

Damage to Orchards in Niagara District Over $1,000,000.

NEW TREES MUST BE GROWN

Fruit Trees Caught the Snow and Were Soon Loaded Beyond Their Strength —Result is Acres Are Covered With Peach Stumps and Brush—Telephone Wires Down—Cleveland Man Was Frozen to Death.

St. Catharines, Oct. 12.—It is estimated that over a million dollars' loss has been sustained in the Niagara district by the heavy rain, snow and sleet storm of the past few days.

There will be no loss to fruit-growers so far as crops are concerned, as the fruit season is practically finished, except for apples, and that fruit when blown from trees can be utilized. The damage to fruit trees, however, will be very heavy, as there is scarcely an orchard that has not suffered the loss of many trees.

Electric railway, telephone and telegraph wires were down in every direction, and the city was shut up from communication until night, when it has been partially resumed.

Ruin at Niagara Falls.

Niagara Falls, Ont., Oct. 12.—From all parts of Stamford and Niagara townships come reports of wreck and ruin, and the fruit growers count their losses in thousands of dollars. The peach orchards were still in full leaf, after a series of heavy rains during the past week. A snowstorm set in Wednesday evening, probably a foot of snow having fallen, and half of it has melted.

The fruit trees caught the snow and were soon loaded beyond their strength. When morning broke great peach orchards had been converted into acres of stumps and brush. The brittle limbs of the trees snapped under the load of snow and trunks were split to the ground. Apples, pears, cherry, plum and other fruit trees suffered severely, but the peach trees are damaged most. A lot of late fruit was lost. It will take years to repair the damage, for new trees will have to be grown.

In the city the damage is great, the Bell Telephone Co. being the heaviest loser. On Victoria avenue every pole for 2,000 feet of the main trunk line is broken, and the wreckage blocks the street from West avenue to Morrison street. The street railway is tied up and the fire alarm and electric light system paralyzed. Several factories are tied up for lack of power. Residential streets which boasted fine-shaped trees are filled with brush and the trees are ruined.

Fruit Trees Damaged.

Strathroy, Oct. 12.—This locality has been visited by one of the heaviest and most destructive snowstorms ever known here. It started snowing about 10 o'clock Wednesday morning and kept it up all night, during which time fully 15 or 16 inches of snow fell. Yesterday morning some streets were almost impassable with broken branches, a great many beautiful shade trees being ruined. Reports from the country state that fruit trees are destroyed and some orchards with the apples still on the trees are utterly ruined.

Sleighing at Sarnia.

Sarnia, Oct. 12.—A foot of snow fell between four and eight o'clock yesterday morning, and oldest settlers are raking their memories for an earlier record. A stiff northwest wind is blowing, and cutter riding is in order. It was a very stormy morning on Lake Huron and many vessels sheltered here.

Snow at Kingston.

Kingston, Oct. 12.—A rare snowstorm prevailed in the city yesterday. It began early in the morning and continued far into the day. It came from the north. Probably two or more inches fell, but when it struck the warm earth it rapidly melted.

Frozen to Death.

Cleveland, Ohio, Oct. 12.—The storm continued unabated yesterday, heavy snow falling steadily John Reese, 65 years of age, was found frozen to death in his home yesterday. He lived alone.

Records Broken.

Pittsburg, Oct. 12.—All records for low temperature in October since that was established in 1871 were broken yesterday when the mercury dropped to 28 degrees. Up to 9 o'clock yesterday morning six inches of snow had fallen in Corry, Pa.

"The Sign of the Slate"

on a SLATER SHOE means just what the signatures do on a Bank note. The paper may be the right kind—the engraving may be faultless—but unless the names of the proper officials are signed in their proper places—the note has no legal value. The signatures make the Bank responsible for the payment.

"The Sign of the Slate," either stamped on the sole or sewn on the lining of a shoe, makes it a SLATER SHOE—proves that it was made in the Slater factory by the famous Goodyear welt process—makes the Slater Shoe Company responsible for its wear, service and comfort. "The Sign of the Slate" means that the shoe has been examined—that factory experts could not find a flaw in it—that they deemed it worthy to uphold the high standard set by SLATER Shoes.

"The Sign of the Slate" is just as important to shoe buyers, as the signatures are to the holder of a Bank Note.

Entries Still Come For The Examiner Road Race

They Close, However, at 12 O'clock Saturday Night—Only One More Day of Grace—Good Time Will be Made.

There is only one day left in which to make entry for the Examiner Road Race, the first annual event, which will take place on Thursday next, Thanksgiving Day, from Lakefield to Peterborough, ten miles.

Already enough men have entered to ensure the success of the race, but it is understood that several others will file their entries between this and 12 o'clock to-morrow night, when the entries will positively close.

The cup and other prizes for the winners have all been ordered and will probably be in the city to-morrow when they will be placed on exhibition.

During the last week several of those who have entered have been going over the course, and it seems to be certain that good time will be made. The winner will, in all probability, have to cover the ten miles in about 55 minutes, in case the roads are in good condition.

To-morrow the officials and full information in reference to the race will be published, in this paper.

The main thing now to remember is that the entries close at midnight Saturday.

To-morrow's Big City League Game

Quakers and Bankers Meet at Riverside Park.

The City League game between the Bankers and Quakers to-morrow is causing considerable excitement and there promises to be a big crowd on hand when referee Chris. Graham starts them off. The teams have been practising every day and will be in the best of shape. Those who attend will see a good game of rugby and as it is the only attraction billed for to-morrow, should attract all the fans. The admission fee has been placed at 10 cents. The game will be called sharp at 2.30 at Riverside Park and will be followed by a practice game, between the seniors and a picked team.

Chris. Graham Will Be The Referee

In To-morrow's City League Game at Riverside Park.

Chris. Graham will be the referee of the big city league figure to-morrow afternoon and it is likely that Ernie Ford will be umpire. With two such officials the patrons of the game can rely on seeing a fast clean struggle. Both teams are in good shape and both have developed trick plays and team work worthy of the Hamilton Tigers, so that the contest will be a good exhibition of the snap back game.

RUGBY.

The Quakers held another practise last night at the Brock street rink, when about 15 were out in uniform. Capt. Caniff is rapidly getting his men in good shape.

• • • •

The Bankers had a workout on Riverside Park yesterday afternoon and are confident of trimming the Quakers in the first City League game to-morrow.

• • • •

A full practice of the Crescent Rugby Club is called for at the Oval to-morrow afternoon at three o'clock. Before practice a captain will be chosen and probably a team picked. The following will be tried on the wings:—Flowers, Stone, Mowry, Letellier, Curtis, Haskill Cummings, Monroe, Picard; for snap backs, Wood, Reid, Ray, V. Craig, Theobald, Braverder, Anderson. Changes will be made as the best will be chosen.

• • • •

Neither of the City League teams which are playing to-morrow have selected their teams, yet preferring to wait until the last practice to-day. Both have a large number of candidates to choose from.

• • • •

The following members of the Quakers rugby team are requested to be at the Brock street rink this evening at 7 o'clock for the final practice in preparation for to-morrow's game:—Capt. Caniff, Fitzgerald, Quinlan, Moore, Riely, Sisson, Clarke, Sullivan, Collins, Latimer, Bolin, Giroux, Moher, Webb. The team for to-morrow's game will be picked from the above.

• • • •

The organisers of the Roofers' club met last night and made arrangements to have a lot of topical verses printed and will hold a public rehearsal to-morrow night, when every good pair of lungs in town will be invited to be present. The place of meeting will be announced in to-morrow's papers.—Hamilton Spectator.

• • • •

Sep DuMoulin and George Ballard will give a chalk talk on the snap-back game in the Y.M.C.A. to-morrow evening at 8 o'clock. It will not be for Tigers only, but will be open to all local players. Members of both Tiger teams, W.E.P.C., Y.M.C.A., and Rough Riders are particularly invited to be present.—Hamilton Spectator.

• • • •

Hugh Hayes and F. Robbins, besides being two of the most competent officials connected with the O.R.F.U., are two of the most popular. Peterborough wanted them to referee last Saturday's game, but they were elsewhere. The Peterborough club yesterday suggested them as the officials for the game here on Thanksgiving Day.—Hamilton Spectator.

FOOTBALL

The Quaker football team may have their photos by calling on the secretary at the Examiner office.

Wash greasy dishes, pots or pans with Lever's Dry Soap a powder. It will remove the grease with the greatest ease. 36

Lindsay Cannot Stand For Rugby

And Crescents Will Not Go There on Thursday.

The Lindsay Post is in receipt of a letter from a representative of the Crescent rugby team, of Peterborough, asking for a game of rugby on Thanksgiving Day. But Lindsay plays nothing but Association football, so the game could not be arranged.

Port Perry After Championship

Will Place a Strong Hockey Team on Ice.

Hughie Anderson will not be seen on the ice this winter in an Uxbridge uniform. He has announced his intention to play with his old team at Port Perry. The Port Perry boys are out for championship honours this season and purpose having a strong team.

Havelock Man Backed To Win

Standard Says W. J. McBurney Will Win Road Race.

The Havelock Standard this weeks says:—A large number of our local sports will accompany Mr. W. J. McBurney to Peterborough on Thanksgiving Day and encourage him in his effort to land the cup in the Examiner's ten mile road race from Lakefield to Peterborough. The contestants will be started at Lakefield at 10.30 o'clock a. m. and finish in front of the Examiner office. "Bee" is making good time in his trial runs and the Standard backs him to land the mug.

White Sox Nine Win Third Game

Defeated Nationals by Three Runs, Shutting Them Out—21 Batsmen Struck Out.

Yesterday's game between Chicago Nationals and Americans proved disastrous for the former. The game in a sense was a fortunate one for the Sox. Their strongest batter fanned three times, while a substitute Rohe, made a three-bagger, bringing in three runs, the only runs made. Walsh, for the winning team demonstrated his ability in the box, striking out 12 men while Pfeister, for the Cubs had 9 to his credit. This makes two wins to one in favour of the Sox.

C.G.E. PLAYERS FOR THE GAME

The following C.G.E. players are requested to turn out to-morrow for the game with the seniors after the City League game:—Dixon, McGrath, Dainnard, Waram, Rose, Hefferman, Saunders, Freeborn, Campbell, Davidson, Crowe, F. Roddy, H. Roddy, McWilliams, Armstrong, Hickey, Grady, Lang, Donovan, Wyman, O'Connor, Derocher, Jarkins, Giroux Dorris, Grant, Irwin, Manager Whitcroft.

$100 Reward, $100

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Big Crowd From Peterboro' Will Go To Hamilton

Manager Doc. Thomson, of the senior Tigers has received word from Peterborough that the Pets will be much stronger when they play against the Tigers here on Thanksgiving Day than they were last Saturday. They are practicing faithfully, and will be in good shapec. It is expected that a big crowd will accompany the team. Arrangements have been made for a couple of special coaches to be attached to the early morning train, and the players and their supporters will be here in time to see the road race. The Peterborough boys have suggested Hugh Hayes and F. Robbins, of this city, as officials for the big game. They will suit the Tigers, and will probably be appointed by the union.—Hamilton Spectator.

The New York Stock Market

(Furnished by J. R. Heintz & Co.)

New York, Oct. 12.—The market was very irregular to-day. The opening was firm, and following this strength the list improved, but was checked, and declined moderately. Succeeding this, the specialty programme was again put into force, and several issues advanced after being dormant. The developments of the day indicated an improving monetary situation, and a good bank statement is expected to-morrow. The demand for stocks was good on concession. The dullness during the declines is an indication of technical strength. The market was held firm in the late trading by the strength in St. Paul, and the close was steady.

Nervous and Worried.

Mr. Archibald Sutherland, principal of the South Bar School, Sydney, N. S., writes: "I was greatly troubled with nervous dyspepsia, and after meals I often felt like vomiting, and my stomach was sore. I was nervous and worried, frequently had headache and shortness of breath. When several doctors failed I decided to try Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and it has entirely cured me. I shall be glad to be the means of bringing this medicine to the notice of any one who is suffering as I did."

Synopsis Of Canadian North-West HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

Any even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the North-west Provinces, excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry may be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land is situate.

Homestead Duties.—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:—

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased) of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act, as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

Application for patent should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa of his intention to do so.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy of the Minister of the Interior.

Some Sure Signs Of A Long And Cold Winter

A Local Resident Gives the Public the Benefit of His Years of Observation—Some of the Indications Which Point to Cold Weather—According to Him.

One of the oldest local inhabitants who has witnessed many a hard winter, and who has made a practice for many years of observing the conditions which precede winter, and which he takes to be signs as to the severity or otherwise of that season. It is possible, however, that with increasing years, and the consequent cooling of his blood, and the fact that he passed through some very severe winters in the early pioneer days of Peterborough county, may have made him somewhat pessimistic in his approaching old age.

He asserts that the coming winter will be the hardest one for the past twenty years, and claims that there is an abundance of signs to show this. He mentions the following among others:

The corn husks are a foot and a half thick, and all the stalks lean to the west.

The geese, ducks and chickens are growing a coat of fur under their fathers, and are rubbing borax on their feet to harden them up.

All the one-eyed owls are leaving the country a month ealier than usual and the bob-tailed squirrel are laying in sweet potatoes as well as nuts for winter provisions.

The farmer who has taken the trouble to investigate has found that all the toadstools on the old logs have wrinkles on them. The last time that this happened we had winter weather that froze the handles of plows.

Rabbits are sitting around with a humped-up look to them, and field mice have wrinkles in their tails. If this means anything it means 20 degrees below zero from November to May.

District Heating Co. Want Local Franchise

Will Convey Heat Through Pipes in the Streets From the Central Station to the Houses of Subscribers—Manufacturers' Committee Will Deal With the Matter

At the meeting of the Committee of the Whole Council last night Mr. A. H. Brintnell of the Dominion District Steam Heating Company, waited upon the council in reference to the company which he represents securing a franchise to carry on operations in this city. His system which has already been outlined in the Examiner is to pump steam from a central station through pipes to the homes of the subscribers, much the same as water or gas is conveyed. The matter was not discussed last night but was referred to the Manufacturers' Committee who will look into it and report to the Council. In connection with the matter the following communication was read:—

From the Dominion District Steam Heating Company, Limited, Toronto, agents for the American District District Steam Company, of Lockport, N.Y.

Dear Sir,—We beg to make application to the City Council of Peterborough for a franchise to install our District system of steam heating for the purpose of supplying heat to the business buildings and dwellings of your city. We also wish to have permission given us in the franchise to sell any surplus steam which we may have, for the purpose of electric lighting and power.

Our system is in about 400 cities and towns of the United States, and is working satisfactorily to the citizens of these various places. Our system of heating is, from a health, as well as a labour-saving, standpoint, the most modern and efficient system in existence, and possesses several features which make it most attractive for all the citizens.

Our representative will be pleased to impart any information required, and this letter is merely to have the matter put in the hands of the right committee, so that the Council may be able to investigate the matter thoroughly.

Yours, etc.,
The Dominion District Steam Heating Co., Limited,
J. N. M. KENDRY,
Managing Director.

Mr. Brintnell addressing the Council stated that the system began in Lockport twenty years ago. The inventors' first idea was to pump hot water through the pipes, but he had changed it to steam. They counted on the loss by condensation as 025 per cent. The system has been worked under experiment for fifteen years and the company had found that the condensation could be brought down to that point. About 400 cities were using the system. In Lockport it had a remarkable run of success, not a building dropping off the list. Chatham was the first Ontario city to undertake the system. Starting last year in November with 10 subscribers which soon increased to 23 and this year the number will be over a hundred.

As to the tearing up of the streets a suggestion had been made by an Alderman to place their pipes along side the water pipes of the city. They would complete a mile of street work in three or four weeks. The company intended to organize a local company here to look after the local end of the business. They had secured a number of well known local men who would be the provisional directors.

The company was not asking for any bonus for coming here. The system would take away the risk of fire and lower the insurance rate.

It was moved by Ald. Johnston, seconded by Ald. Wilson, that the matter should be referred to the Manufacturers' Committee to look into and report.

To Establish A Repository

Proposal, Mr. Jacobs Thinks, is Not a Good One.

Mr. A. W. Jacobs, of Montreal, who is in the city buying up horses for the Montreal market, will have made two shipments by the end of the week. On Wednesday night he shipped a load of heavy horses and to-day he was at the Cavanagh House preparing for another shipment to-morrow.

In view of the proposal which has been made to establish a horse repository in Peterborough, Mr. Jacobs was asked his opinion when seen by an Examiner reporter last night. He had not heard anything of the proposition, he said, but did not consider it would work satisfactorily in Peterborough.

He claimed that on an average he could buy horses $10 or $15 cheaper in the country than in the city. When farmers come to town with animals for sale their opinions as to their selling prices are often easily changed by others standing around. Before he has made up his mind to sell he wants more money than the buyer could purchase them on the farm.

To Succeed Rev. Canon Dixon

Ven Archdeacon Warren Gets Good Appointment.

Ven. Archdeacon Warren, of Lakefield, has accepted the invitation of the Bishop of Toronto, to become the Diocesan Mission Organizer in succession to Canon Dixon and he will take up the duties of that position, subject to the Mission Board's adoption of the recommendation of the Bishop. Mr. Warren will leave Lakefield in a short time, it is understood. This appointment is a recognition of the work of the Archdeacon in the interests of missions.

Bleeding Piles.

"For two years I suffered from bleeding piles and lost each day about a cup of blood. Last summer I went to the Ottawa general hospital to be operated on, but my old trouble returned and again I lost much blood. My father advised me to try Dr. Chase's Ointment and two boxes cured me. I have every reason to believe that the cure is a permanent one." — Mr. Arthur Lepine, school teacher, Granite Hill, Muskoka, Ont.

A Friend Told Me About

Bu-Ju

THE GENTLE KIDNEY CURE.

Hundreds of people, who have been cured of Kidney Trouble by Bu-Ju, were first induced to try this wonderful remedy by friends who had themselves been cured. The sales of Bu-Ju are daily increasing, because everyone who takes them is benefitted—and these in turn, tell others. So the good news is spread.

Here is what a Picton man says about Bu-Ju :—

"I have used Bu-Ju with great benefit to myself, and cheerfully recommend to all who, I think, are suffering from Kidney Troubles and Rheumatism.

"I think Bu-Ju the best remedy made."

Yours sincerely,

We are stating an acknowledged fact when we say that we are making some of the best clothes made in Peterborough.

This holds good regardless of the price other tailors may ask for their work.

We put more style, fashion, value and wearing qualities into our garments than most tailors do, and we do it at a little over half the price. For the next thirty days we are giving to sell the best Scotch Tweed Suit made to your order for $18.00 and a nice Black or Blue Twill Suit for $20.00. Don't miss these offerings, the goods are number one and the linings first-class. Leave your measure at once, these prices won't last very long.

Fifty Years Of Progress In Sunday School Work

First Steps Looking to Interdenominatial Work Taken in 1856—Great Advancement Made Since That Time—Citizens of Kingston Invite Sunday School Association to Hold Convention There This Month.

The initial steps looking to the beginning of interdenominational Sunday school work in Ontario were taken in July, 1856. The convention which was the outcome was held in Kingston, Feb. 11th, 12th, 13th, 1857. A second convention was not held until 1865, but ever since this date with which has come to be regarded as that from which the Ontario Sunday School Association dates its birth, active operations have been carried on under its auspices. Taking cognizance of the date of the first gathering practically fifty years ago the Ontario Association, on the invitation of the citizens of Kingston will hold their forty-first annual convention in that city on October 23rd, 24th and 25th.

A very strong programme has been prepared. Rev. Dr. Schaffler, New York, secretary of the International Lesson Committee, will be present and speak on the following topics: "The Pastor in Relation to the Sunday School," "What to Teach," "How to Teach," and "Whom to Teach." Mrs. Mary Foster Bryner, Peoria, Ill., an International Field Worker of repute and for many years writer of the lessons for Primary Teachers in the Sunday School Times will speak on,—"The New A B C in Sunday School Work." Besides this she will conduct a special Conference with Primary workers. Rev. W. C. Kerritt, Tacoma, Wash. International Field Worker of the Pacific Northwest, will speak on:—"The Sunday School Teacher's Vision," "The Home Department — Systematic Bible Study for All" and "A Breeze from the Pacific Slope." Rev. Dr. Armstrong, Ottawa, ex-Moderator General Assembly on "The Child in the Midst." Rev. Canon Greene, Orillia, on: "The Promotion of Bible Study in the Homes of the People—Its Necessity — Its Possibilities." Rev. R. E. Welsh, General Secretary of the Canadian Bible Society, on: "The Book we Teach," and Rev. Dr. Potts, Chairman of the International Lesson Committee, will close the convention with an address on "Twentieth Century Sunday School Ideals." Every auxiliary Association and every Sunday School in the province may send delegates to what promises to be one of the best conventions in the fifty years.

The Most Powerful Cruisers Ever Built

Great Britain's Three New Armoured Boats Will Overtake and Sink any Foreign Vessel—Will Have Speed of 27 Knots an Hour.

London, Thursday, October 11. — The Daily Telegraph says that it learns that the three so-called armoured cruisers, the Invincible, the Inflexible and the Indomitable, which are now being built on the Clyde and Tyne, are in reality a new type of battleship, having a broadside fire equal to that of the Dreadnought, and a much higher speed.

The paper says that they will be the most wonderful ships ever built for any fleet, having greater offensive power than any two battleships now in commission, combined with extraordinary speed.

There has been some more or less mysterious secrecy regarding the vessels since they were authorized in the spring of 1905, as was the case with the Dreadnought, and the present revelations come as a surprise.

The new ships will be of 17,250 tons, compared with the Dreadnought's 17,900, but they will be 40 feet longer. Their breadth will be 3 1-2 feet less than the Dreadnought's.

Each will carry eight 12-inch guns against the Dreadnough's ten, but their broadside fire will be identical, as the Dreadnought is only able to fire eight of her guns in broadside, while the new vessels can fire all of theirs.

They will be equipped with turbine engines designed to develop a speed of 25 knots, but it is likely that on their trials they will develop 27 knots.

To provide for this high speed, something in the weight of armour has been sacrificed, but otherwise the hulls will be constructed on the same principles as the Dreadnought's.

The object seems to be to enable them to overtake any foreign cruiser and sink it by their tremendous concentrated gun fire. It is expected that they will be shortly launched. When completed they probably will have cost 1,750,000 pounds each.

Peterboro' Girl Meets With Success In United States

Miss Courtney Has Graduated From South Bend Hospital —Banquet Given in Honour of the Class.

The South Bend, Ind., Tribune, of a recent date, contains an account of a banquet given in honour of the graduating class of nurses at the Epworth Hospital Training School, in that city. The account, in part, says:

"The banquet given at the Olive Hotel last evening in honour of the Epworth Hospital Training School, was a pronounced success, typical of the interest, and indicative of the high regard in which this institution is held by South Bend citizens, demonstration was an eloquent tribute to a hospital founded and maintained for the purpose of performing charity and beneficence."

Peterborough people will be interested to learn that Miss Winnifred Courtney, daughter of Mr. Ed. Courtney, was one of the graduating class referred to, and hence was one of the guests of honour on the occasion in question. Miss Courtney has been connected with the Epworth Hospital in South Bend, for three years, and her many friends will be glad to hear of her graduation. Miss Courtney has proved a very popular nurse and has been made the recipient of many presents from patients who have come under her care during her term at the hospital.

At the banquet, which was an elaborate affair and attended by the board of directors of the hospital, and many of the prominent citizens of South Bend, the speakers included Mr. C. J. Fogarty, Mayor of South Bend, who spoke on the value of the hospital in civic affairs.

Miss Courtney is well known in Peterborough, and the fact that she has met such success in a strange land, will bring satisfaction to her friends. It is a significant fact that six out of the seven graduates in the American hospital, were Canadians.

Harold Dunsford Leaving For West

Popular Young Man Going to Havre, Montana.

On Monday morning Mr. Harold Dunsford will leave the city for Havre, Montana, where he has secured a position in one of the large machine shops of that city, in which two other Peterborough young men, Messrs. Willis Garrow and A. L. Scott, are already employed.

Mr. Dunsford has been a resident of Peterborough all his life, and learned his trade, that of machinist, at the William Hamilton Manufacturing Company's works, and has worked there since he learned his trade. He has been prominent in athletics for a number of years, was a member of the Athletic Lacrosse and Basketball Teams, and last season played on the St. Paul's baseball team in the Guild League. He is a member of St. Andrew's Young Men's Guild, and is very popular with young men generally. His departure from the city will be deeply regretted.

Drank Gillett's Lye But Life Was Saved

Narrow Escape of a Fenelon Falls Boy This Week.

Examiner Special.

Fenelon Falls, Oct. 13.—A four-year-old son of Mr. H. York drank a quantity of solution of Gillett's lye by mistake on Wednesday, but by the prompt action of several neighbours the little one's life was saved, although he suffered considerable pain.

A great deal is said in advertisements about the quality of goods, but we think nothing is so convincing as the offer of the "Salada" Tea Company, who are always inviting the public to go into their grocer's, get a packet of their tea and try it for a couple of days, and if they do not find it much superior to the tea they are using, it can be returned to the grocer, they getting the full amount paid for the packet in return for the half empty one. This is a more convincing proof of quality than a dozen page advertisements.

The Questions Of Young Men

Will be Dealt With in Series of Special Sermons at All Saints'.

To-morrow night in All Saints' church, the rector, Rev. Wm Major, preach the first of a series of special sermons, on "Young Men's Questions." On Sunday night the subject will be dealt with largely in an introductory way, and will lead up to the succeeding sermons, which will be preached each Sunday evening, for some weeks.

A gang of telephone men are changing the telephone arrival to E. A. Tanner's Bros new premises.

A great deal of building has been going on in the village this summer. About twenty-five new houses have been erected besides the House of Refuge.

Mr. Sutherland of Peterborough, occupied the pulpit of the Baptist church here on Sunday last, morning and evening.

A Description Of The Flower Grandiflorus

The cactus grandiflorus or night-blooming cereus, is one of our rarest exotics, and we northern people never see it in its full magnificence as it appears in the tropics.

The plant is rough and rugged in appearance. Has the usual cactus peculiarity of growing in sections, seemingly without any definite stem or leaf and its general way of breaking into bloom is like this. On one of the sections a tiny speck appears. This grows and elongates into a bud. Some evening about eight o'clock this bud begins to open. Between eleven and midnight the flower is in full bloom, giving off a subtle fragrance that once felt is never forgotten. In its wild state this fragrance would summon night-flying insects to aid in the distribution of the wealth of golden pollen. The calyx is brown tinged with pink. The petals are pure white, ranged around the mass of pollen-laden stamens which recurve, and look like a large golden star. From the centre of the mass rises the style, capped by its stigma. It reminds one of our own water lily, but is more graceful. The expanded flower is eight to ten inches in diameter. In its native haunts it is more than twelve. At midnight passes the beauty of the bloom begins to depart, and before the dawn breaks a sorrowful, limp mass of faded petals hang from the leaf that so short a while ago bore such wealth of loveliness—sic transit gloria mundi.

Entertainment Was Enjoyed

A Successful Concert Under Auspices of St. John's, Lakefield.

Examiner Special.

Lakefield, Oct. 13.—The concert given on Thursday night in the town hall under the auspices of St. John's Church, in connection with the harvest festival, was attended by about three hundred persons, and a splendid programme was rendered. Ven. Archdeacon Warren occupied the chair, and, in opening the programme, gave a short address.

The following numbers were then rendered, each being well received:

Piano Solo—Miss Kline.
Vocal Solo—Miss Montgomery.
Violin Solo—Mr. Markle.
Solo—Mrs. Fitzgerald.
Recitation—Mrs. Sherin.
Solo—Miss Dalvill, with violin obligato by Miss Gervin.

During the intermission between the first and second parts of the programme, refreshments were served. After this exercise, the concluding numbers were given:

Duet — Mrs. Sherin and Miss Kline.
Solo—Miss Lefevre.
Solo—Mr. Collen.
Vocal Duet—Mrs. Fitzgerald and Miss Galvin.
Solo—Mr. Sparling.
Violin Solo—Mr. Markle.

The entertainment was a complete success, and the members of the parish are to be congratulated upon the result of their efforts.

Wrong Girl Was Nearly Married

Judge Got Maid of Honour Mixed Up With Bride.

Richmond, Va., Oct. 6.—A small wedding party called upon Judge Macon, who was to tie the knot, and as the ceremony progressed it became apparent that the bridegroom, John W. Scott, became more and more nervous. Hee finally burst out, "Hold on there, Judge; you are marrying me to the wrong girl!" The bride-to-be was Miss Bonibelle Gary and Miss E. N. Elliett was maid of honour.

As Miss Ellett is younger than Miss Gary, the Judge assumed that she was the bride and addressed all his questions to her. The Judge did not notice that Miss Ellett failed to answer, and was surprised when the bridegroom interrupted the ceremony near its conclusion to designate his bride. The marriage service was then begun all over again.

Miss Ellett was very much flustered by the incident, as rumors are rife that she is engaged to be married soon.

You Will Find It In The Pocket

How to Identify the Real Genuine Trademark in a Coat.

In the city of Ottawa there sprang up several imitation stores of the Semi-ready, and presumably the visitor to the Capital of the Dominion can get a Semi-ready coat in half a dozen different stores. There is only one Semi-ready Wardrobe in Ottawa, and the clerks in the other stores render themselves liable to prosecution when they offer garments to buyers as "Semi-ready." The real guard of the buyer is the Semi-ready trade-mark sewn in the pocket of the coat. Some of the clerks have the habit of deceiving the buyer. A. W. Crossman, agent for Peterborough.

Gin Pills Help You As Nothing Else Will

ONTARIO PROOF

GIN PILLS cure all Kidney ills from simple backache to diabetes pain in the small of the back and through the hips —swollen feet and hands—burning urine —constant desire to urinate—dizziness—headaches—spots before the eyes—with loss of appetite, sleeplessness and nervousness—disappear under the healing, soothing powers of GIN PILLS.

Men and women who have any kidney or bladder trouble are throwing away their one chance of health and happiness by not writing for a free sample.

OWEN SOUND, ONT., March 10th, 1905.

Having used a sample box of Gin Pills, and finding them give me great relief, I sent my father-in-law, A. McDermaid, of Keady, a box he having for years been used up with kidney and bladder trouble, and unable to get relief from the urinary remedies used. The Gin Pills gave him relief before half the box was used. He is now entirely cured, and I believe Gin Pills a great cure.

JAMES LODGE.

Do as Mr. Lodge did. Simply write us for a free sample box of GIN PILLS and try them at our expense. If you feel better in every way, and know that GIN PILLS are doing you good, surely you will continue using them until cured. That is why we will send you a free sample box if you write and tell us in what paper you saw this offer.

GIN PILLS are sold by druggists everywhere, 50c a box, or 6 for $2.50.

Crimson Blind

BY FRED M. WHITE

Author of "Tregarthen's Wife," "The Robe of Lucifer," Etc.

Copyright, 1905, by R. F. Fenno & Company.

"My dear young lady, I have done so. And the more questions I ask the worse it is for me. The cigar-case I claimed came from Walen's, beyond all question, and was purchased by the mysterious individual now in the hospital. I understood that the cigar-case was the very one I admired at Lockhart's some time ago, and ——"

"If you inquire at Lockhart's you will find such to be the case."

David looked up with a puzzled expression Ruth spoke so seriously, and with such an air of firm conviction, that he was absolutely staggered.

"So I did," he said. "And was informed in the most positive way by the junior partner that the case I admired had been purchased by an American called Smith and sent to the Metropole after he had forwarded dollar-notes for it. Surely you don't suppose that a firm like Lockhart's would be guilty of anything——"

Ruth rose to her feet, her face pale and resolute.

"This must be looked to," she said. "The cigar-case sent to you on that particular night was purchased at Lockhart's by myself and paid for with my own money!"

CHAPTER XIX.

The blinds were all down at Longdean Grange, a new desolation seemed to be added to the gloom of the place. Out in the village it had by some means become known that there was somebody dead in the house, either madam herself or one of those beautiful young ladies whom nobody had ever seen. Children loitering about the great lodge-gates regarded Williams with respectful awe and Dr. Walker with curiosity. The doctor was the link connecting the Grange with the outside world.

To add to the gloom of it all the bell over the stables clanged mournfully. The noise made Walker quite nervous as he walked up the drive by Williams's side. Not for a pension would he have dared approach the house alone. Williams, in the neediest and most dilapidated rusty black, had a face of deepest melancholy.

"But why that confound—— Why do they ring that bell?" Walker asked, irritably.

"Madam ordered it, sir," Williams replied. "She's queerer than ever, is mistress. She don't say much, but Miss Christiana's death is a great shock to her. She ordered the bell to be tolled, and she carried on awful when Miss Enid tried to stop it."

Walker murmured vaguely something doubtless representing sympathy.

"And my other patient, Williams?" he asked. "How is he getting along? Really, you ought to keep those dogs under better control. It's a dreadful business altogether. Fancy a man of Mr. Henson's high character and gentle disposition being attacked by a savage dog in the very house! I hope the hound is securely kennelled."

"Well, he isn't, sir," Williams said, with just the glint of a grin on his dry features. "And it wasn't altogether Rollo's fault. That dog was so devoted to Miss Christiana as you never see. And he got to know as the poor young lady was dying. So he creeps into the house and lies before her bedroom door, and when Mr. Henson comes along the dog takes it in his head as he wants to go in there. And now Rollo's got inside, and nobody except Miss Enid dare go near. I pity that there undertaker when he comes."

Walker shuddered slightly. Longdean Grange was a fearful place for the nerves. Nothing of the routine or the decorous ever happened there. The fees were high and the remuneration prompt, or Walker would have handed over his patient cheerfully to some body else. Not for a moment did he imagine that Williams was laughing at him. Well, he need not see the body, which was a comfort. With a perfectly easy conscience he could give a certificate of death. And if only somebody would stop that hideous bell! Someone was singing quietly in the drawing room, and the music seemed to be strangely bizarre and out of place.

Inside it seemed like a veritable house of the dead—the shadow of tragedy loomed everywhere. The dust rose in clouds from the floor as the servants passed to and fro. They were all clad in black, and shuffled uneasily, as if conscious that their clothes did not belong to them. Enid came out into the hall to meet the doctor. Her face seemed terribly white and drawn; there was something in her eyes that suggested anxiety more than grief.

"I suppose you have come principally to see Mr. Henson?" she said. "But my sister——"

"No occasion to intrude upon your grief for a moment, Miss Henson," Walker said, quietly. "As I have told you before, there was very little hope for your sister from the first. It was a melancholy satisfaction to me to find my diagnosis confirmed in every detail by so eminent an authority as Dr. Hatherly Bell. I will give you a certificate with pleasure—at once."

"You would like to see my sister?" Enid suggested.

The quivering anxiety was in her eyes again, the strained look on her face. Walker was discreetly silent as to what he had heard about that bloodhound, but he had by no means forgotten it.

"Not the least occasion, I assure you," he said, fervently. "Your sister had practically passed away when I last saw her. There are times when—er—you see—but really there is no necessity."

"Mr. Henson is terribly fastidious about these things."

"Then he shall be satisfied. I shall tell him that I have—er—seen the body. And I have, you know. In these matters a medical man cannot be too careful. If you will provide me with pen and ink——"

"Thank you very much. Will you come this way, please?"

Walker followed into the drawing-room. Mrs. Henson, wearing something faded and dishevelled in the way of a mourning dress, was crooning some dirge at the piano. Her white hair was streaming loosely over her shoulders, there was a vacant stare in her eyes. The intruders might have been statues for all the heed she took of them. Presently the discordant music ceased, and she began to pace noiselessly up and down the room.

"Another one gone," she murmured; "the best-beloved. It is always the best-beloved that dies, and the one we hate that is left. Take all those coaches away, send the guests back home. Why do they come chattering and feasting here? She shall be drawn by four black horses to Churchfield in the dead of the night, and there laid in the family vault."

"Mrs. Henson's residence," Enid explained, in a whisper. "It is some fifteen miles away. She has made up her mind that my sister shall be taken away as she says—to-morrow night. Is this paper all that is necessary for the—you understand? I have telephoned to the undertaker in Brighton."

Walker hastened to assure the girl that what little further formality was required he would see to himself. All he desired now was to visit Henson and get out of the house as soon as possible. As he hurried from the drawing-room he heard Mrs. Henson crooning and muttering, he saw the vacant glare in her eyes, and vaguely wondered how soon he should have another patient here.

Reginald Henson sat propped up in his bed, white and exhausted. Beyond doubt he had had a terrible shock and fright, and the droop of his eyelids told of shattered nerves. There was a thick white bandage round his throat, his left shoulder was strapped tightly. He spoke with difficulty.

"Do we feel any better this morning?" Walker asked, cheerfully.

"No, we don't," said Henson, with a total absence of his usual graciousness of manner. "We feel confoundedly weak, and sick, and dizzy. Every time I drop off to sleep I wake with a start and a feeling that that infernal dog is smothering me. Has the brute been shot yet?"

"I don't fancy so; in fact, he is still at his post upstairs, and therefore——"

"Therefore you have not seen the body of my poor dear cousin?"

"Otherwise I could have given no e— ate," Walker said, with dignity. "— ave satisfied myself, sir, and the requirements of the law, why, then, everybody is satisfied. I have seen the body."

Technically the little doctor spoke the truth. Henson muttered something that sounded like an apology. Walker smiled graciously and suggested that rest and a plain diet were all that his patient needed. Rest was the great thing. The bandages need not be removed for a day or two, at the expiration of which time he would look in again. Once the road was reached in safety Walker took off his hat and wiped the beads from his forehead.

"What a house," he muttered. "What a life to lead. Thank goodness I need not go there again before Saturday. If anybody were to offer me a small glass of brandy with a little soda now, I should feel tempted to break through my rule and drink it."

Meanwhile the long terror of the day dragged on inside the house. The servants crept about the place on tip-toe, the hideous bell clanged out. Mrs. Henson paced wearily up and down the drawing-room, singing and muttering to herself, until Enid was fain to fly or break down and yell hysterically. It was one of Margaret Henson's worst days.

The death of Christiana seemed to affect her terribly. Enid watched her in terror. More than once she was fearful that the frail thread would snap—the last faint glimmer of reason go out for ever. And yet it would be madness to tell Margaret Henson the truth. In the first place she would not have understood, and on the other hand she might have comprehended enough to betray to Reginald Henson. As it was, her grief was obvious and sincere enough. The whole thing was refinedly cruel, but really there was no help for it. And things had gone on splendidly.

Henson was powerless to interfere, and the doctor was satisfied. Once she had put her hand to the plough Enid's quick brain saw her through. But she would have been hard put to it to deceive Henson under his very nose without the help of the bloodhound. Now she could see her way still further. She waited nervously for a ring from the lodge-gates to the house, and about four o'clock it came. The undertaker was at the gates waiting for an escort to the Grange.

Enid passed her tongue out over a pair of dry lips. The critical moment was at hand. If she could get through the next hour she was safe. If not—but there must be no "if not," she told herself. The undertaker came, suave, quiet, respectful, but he dropped back from the hall door as he saw two gleaming, amber eyes regarding him menacingly.

"The dog loved my sister," Enid explained, quietly. "But he has found his way to her room, and he refuses to move. He fancies that we have done something with her. . . . Oh, no, I couldn't poison him! And it would be a dreadful thing if there were to be any thing like a struggle here. Come, Rollo."

Evidently the dog had learned his lesson well. He wagged his great tail, but refused to move. The undertaker took a couple of steps forward and Rollo's crest rose. There was a flash of white teeth and a growl. At the end of half an hour no progress had been made.

"There's only one thing for it," suggested Williams, in his rusty voice. "We can get the dog away for ten minutes at midnight. He likes a run then, and I'll bring the other dogs to fetch him, like."

"My time is very valuable just now," the undertaker suggested, humbly.

"Then you had better measure me," said Enid, turning a face absolutely flaming red and deadly white to the speaker. "It is a dreadful, ghastly business altogether, but I cannot possibly think of any other way. The idea of any thing like a struggle here is abhorrent. . . . And the dog's fidelity is so touching. My sister and I were exactly alike, except that she was fairer than me."

The undertaker was understood to demur slightly on professional grounds. It was very irregular and not in the least likely to give satisfaction.

"What does it matter?" Enid cried, passionately. She was acting none the less magnificently because her nerves were quivering like harpstrings. "When I am dead you can fling me in a ditch, for all I care. We are a strange family and do strange things. The question of satisfaction need not bother you. Take my measure and send her coffin home to-morrow, and we will manage to do the rest. Then to-morrow night you will have a four-horse hearse here at eleven o'clock, and drive the coffin to Churchfield church, where you will be expected. After that your work will be finished."

The bewildered young man responded that things should be exactly as the young lady required. He had seen many strange and wild things in his time, but none so strange and weird as this. It was all utterly irregular, of course, but people after all had a right to demand what they paid for. Enid watched the demure young man in black down the corridor, and then everything seemed to be enveloped in a dense purple mist, the world was spinning under her feet, there was a great noise like the rush of mighty waters in her brain. With a great effort she threw off the weakness and came to herself, trembling from head to foot.

"Courage," she murmured, "courage. This life has told on me more than I thought. With Chris's example before me I must not break down now."

CHAPTER XX.

The lamps gleamed upon the dusty statuary and pictures and faded flowers in the hall, they glinted upon a long polished oak casket there reposing upon trestles. Ever and anon a servant would peep in and vanish again as if ashamed of something. The house was deadly quiet now, for Mrs. Henson had fallen asleep, worn out with exhaustion, and Enid had instantly stopped the dreadful clamour of the bell. The silence that followed was almost as painful as the noise had been.

On the coffin were wreaths of flowers. Enid sat in the drawing-room with the door open, where she could see everything, but was herself unseen. She was getting terribly anxious and nervous again; the hour was near eleven, and the hearse might arrive at any time. She would know no kind of peace until she could get that hideous mockery out of the house.

She sat listening thus, straining her ears to catch the slightest sound. Suddenly there came a loud clamour at the front door an imperative knocking that caused Enid's heart to come into her mouth. Who could it be? What stranger had passed the dogs in that way?

She heard crabbed, sour, but courageous old Williams go to the door. She heard the clang of bolts and the rattle of chains, and then a weird cry from Williams. A voice responded that brought Enid, trembling and livid, into the hall. A young man with a dark, exceedingly handsome face and somewhat effeminate mouth stood there, with eyes for nothing but the shining flower-decked casket on the trestles. He seemed beside himself with rage and grief; he might have been a falsely imprisoned convict face to face with the real culprit.

"Why didn't you let me know?" he cried. "Why didn't you let me know?"

His voice rang in the roof. Enid flew to his side and placed her hand upon his lips.

"Your mother is asleep, Frank," she said. "She has had no sleep for three nights. A long rest may be the means of preserving her sanity. Why did you come here?"

The young man laughed silently. It was ghastly mirth to see, and it brought the tears into Enid's eyes. She had forgotten the danger of the young man's presence.

"I heard that Chris was ill," he said. "They told me that she was dying. And I could not keep away. And now I have come too late. Oh, Chris, Chris!"

He fell on his knees by the side of the coffin, his frame shaken by tearless sobs. Enid bit her lips to keep back the words that rose to them. She would have given much to have spoken the truth. But at any hazard she must remain silent. She waited till the paroxysm of grief had passed away, then she touched the intruder gently on the shoulder.

"There is great danger for you in this house," she said.

"What do I care for danger when Chris lies yonder?"

"But, dear Frank, there are others to consider besides yourself. There is your mother, for instance. Oh, you ought not to have come here to-night. If your father knew!"

"My father? He would be the last person in the world to know. And what cares he about anything, so long as he has his prints and his paintings? He has no feelings, no heart, no soul, I may say."

"Frank, you must go at once. Do you know that Reginald Henson is here? He has ears like a hare; it will be nothing less than a miracle unless he hears your voice. And then——"

The young man was touched at last. The look of grief died out of his eyes and a certain terror filled them.

"I think that I should have come in any case," he whispered. "I don't want to bring any further trouble upon you, Enid, but I wanted to see the last of her. I came here, and some of the dogs remembered me. If not, I might have had no occasion to trouble you. And I won't stay, seeing that Henson is here. Let me have something to remember her by; let me look into her room for a moment. If you only knew how I loved her! And you look as if you had no grief at all."

Enid started guiltily. She had quite forgotten her role for the time. Indeed, there was something unmistakably like relief on her face as she heard the porter's bell ring from the lodge to the house. Williams shuffled away, muttering that he would be more useful in the house than out of it just now, but a glance from Enid subdued him. Presently there came the sound of wheels on the gravel outside.

"They have come for the—the coffin," Enid murmured. "Frank, it would be best for you to go. Go upstairs, if you like; you know the way. Only, don't stay here."

The young man went off dreamily. A heavy grief dulled and blinded his senses; he walked along like one who wanders in his sleep. Christiana's room door was open and a lamp was there. There were dainty knick-knacks on the dressing-table, a vase or two of faded flowers—everything that denotes the presence of refined and gracious womanhood.

Frank Littimer stood there looking round him for some little time. On a table by the bedside stood a photograph of a girl in a silver frame. Littimer pounced upon it hungrily. It was a good picture—the best of Christiana's that he had ever seen. He slipped out into the corridor and gently closed the door behind him. Then he passed along with his whole gaze fixed on the portrait. The girl seemed to be smiling out of the frame at him. He had loved Christiana since she was a child; he felt that he had never loved her so much as at this moment. Well, he had something to remember her by—he had not come here in vain.

It seemed impossible yet to realize that Christiana was dead, that he would never look into her sunny, tender face again. No, he would wake up presently and find it had all been a dream. And how different to the last time he was here. He had been smuggled into the house, and he had occupied the room with the oak door. He——

The room with the oak door opened and a big man with a white bandage round his throat stood there with tottering limbs and an ugly smile on his loose mouth. Littimer started back.

"Reginald," he exclaimed, "I didn't expect to see you here, or——"

"Or you would never have dared to come?" Henson said, hoarsely. "I heard your voice and I was bound to give you a welcome, even at considerable personal inconvenience. Help me back to bed again. And now, you insolent young dog, how dare you show your face here?"

"I came to see Chris," Littimer said, doggedly. "And I came too late. Even if I had known that I was going to meet you, I should have been here all the same. Oh, I know what you are going to say; I know what you think. And some day I shall break out and defy you to do your worst."

Henson smiled as one might do at the outbreak of an angry child. His eyes flashed and his tongue spoke words that Littimer fairly cowed before. And yet he did not show it. He was like a boy who has found a stone for the man who stands over him with the whip. With quick intuition Henson saw this, and in a measure his manner changed.

"You will say next that you are not afraid of me," he suggested.

"Well," Littimer replied, slowly; "I am not so much afraid of you as I was."

"Ah! so you imagine that you have discovered something?"

Littimer apparently struggled between a prudent desire for silence and a disposition to speak. The sneer on the face of his enemy fairly maddened him.

When the Liver is out of Order calomel, cascara, salts, strong liver pills and purging mineral waters won't do any permanent good.

When a person is bilious, the liver is not giving up enough bile to move the bowels regularly—and some of the bile is being absorbed by the blood. In other words, the liver is in a weakened, unhealthy condition.

Now, purgatives don't act on the liver at all. They merely irritate the bowels, and afford only temporary relief. But FRUIT-A-TIVES are the one true LIVER TONIC. They act directly on the liver—strengthen and invigorate this vital organ—and put it in a normal, healthy condition.

FRUIT-A-TIVES also stimulate the glands of the skin—and regulate the kidneys and sweeten the stomach. When skin, liver and kidneys are normally healthy, there can be no biliousness, no constipation, no kidney trouble, no impure blood, no headaches.

No other medicine known to science is so reliable and so effective in curing Biliousness as these fruit liver tablets.

FRUIT-A-TIVES are fruit juices with tonics added—and are free from alcohol and dangerous drugs. 50c. a box or 6 for $2.50. Sent on receipt of price, if your druggist does not handle them.

When the Dunlop hands are not found stampt on rubber, there's something mist.

The rubber business has no center. In every nation there is at least one firm which has thoroly developt the sience of preparing finisht rubber from the crude imported stock. Here in Canada the Dunlop Company has held a stedfast purpose, and now it is lookt upon and talkt about as Canada's national rubber supply house.

Pneumatic Tires

Altho the name "Dunlop" has come to stand for a pneumatic tire that may be easily attacht or detacht, it has as good a right to stand for a pneumatic tire of any form—for the inflated tire is the invention of J. B. Dunlop. It was an easy process to develop the Dunlop idea and apply it to pneumatic tires for automobiles, sulkies and ambulances, as well as for bicycles. In order to make them strong enough for the heavier work, it is only necessary to put in more rubber and stouter fiber.

Solid Rubber Tires.

Skilfulness in one department of rubber tire making is sufficient license for successful practise in the other branches also. It is all a matter of rubber. Dunlops make tires for every style of vehicle from a fire engine to a baby carriage, and put into them a quality of rubber that cannot be surpast. Internal wire and cushion tires for carriages. Side wire tires (an exclusive Dunlop property) for heavy vehicles and wagons. The endless side wire tire for motor trucks. These lighter tires are shipt to the dealer in continuous lengths.

"Comfort" Rubber Heels

There is a surprize in store for anyone who has never walkt on heels made of Dunlop rubber. Too many rubber heels are woful imitations of shoddy and reclaimed stock, and besides having no "life," they become chipt or scrapt away after a little wear. "Comfort" heels will give a spring to the step down to the last point of wear. They are made of Para rubber, and not only will they last as long as hard leather heels, but they will also give a firmer and more buoyant step and absorb all the jar that is sent thru the spine when hard pavements are walkt over. Put on by all shoedealers for fifty cents the pair. Heels of good rubber are worth it and cannot be sold for less.

Dunlop Steam Packing

In all, the Dunlop two hands are stampt upon forty distinct kinds of articles of rubber. In this list is comprized "Polar Bear" and "Ebony Black" packing—another Dunlop success that is possest of unusual qualities. It will remain rubbery no matter how tightly it is compresst and its fiber cannot be destroyed by action of live steam, hot or cold water or oil.

HOW TO CHOOSE A SMART FALL WARDROBE.

Clothes That Make the Stout Woman Slim and the Slim Woman Lithe and Graceful—The Importance of a Happy Selection in Headgear.

No set rules can be given for choosing the fall wardrobe. Each person must study her own appearance and dress in accordance. What will suit a tall woman will look quite out of place on a woman of short dimensions, and a stout person cannot dress in the same style as a slim one without emphasizing her stoutness. And so each individual must find out for herself what will suit her best and study the minor details, so that her appearance helps to form a picturesque whole.

In choosing her dresses the tall woman should bear in mind that a short one detracts from the height, and in this matter fashion favors her, for the long trailing dresses for everyday wear are a thing of the past, and it is seldom a woman is seen in the streets with her skirts trailing along in the mud or dust or tucked away under her arm.

Some tall women in order to make themselves appear shorter make the mistake of stooping, thinking that in so doing they will lessen their height, while, instead of making themselves appear shorter, they only succeed in looking awkward and ungraceful. In a low, small chair the tall girl presents anything but an elegant appearance, with drooping shoulders and knees at an awkward angle. She gives the impression at once of being too big for the chair, whereas if she chooses an ordinary size seat she can sit as gracefully as any one.

The extra tall woman seems to have an advantage over the very short one in the fact that she can usually walk gracefully when once she has got out of the stooping habit; but with a very short person this is seldom the case, and her walk has a tendency to develop into a waddle. She can, however, add to her height more easily than a tall person can detract from hers. By wearing high heeled shoes quite an inch is added to the height. The broad waist belt gives length to the waist. Squatty hats should be avoided and very large ones overlooked by her.

The slender woman of ordinary height should find no difficulty in choosing her dress, as she is well cared for in the fashion books, and can usually manage to present a satisfactory appearance, but a stout woman has to be more careful and should remember when choosing her style of costume that the gown should be made for the person by whom it is meant to be worn and not because the style is smart and a little out of the ordinary.

The woman with a long neck should not expose too much of it to view, but should cover it up with a pretty fancy collar.

If you are possessed of a small flat nose, remember when buying your hats to avoid those that project very much in the front, as they will make the nose appear even more insignificant. A moderate size hat will modify the defect, if it can be so termed. Hats with sharp outlines or that are set back off the face should be avoided by the person with sharp and decidedly prominent features. The woman with a prominent nose has much to contend with, and her hats should not be severe in outline and should be set well forward.

Hands that are squeezed into gloves one or two sizes too small for them will only add to the size of the hand, and a tight shoe will not add grace to the walk, besides causing great pain to the feet.

What will suit one will not suit another, and it rests with each individual person to exercise her own good taste when choosing her costumes and hats.

Taffeta Silk Is Making Smart Fall Waists—Dainty Swiss Matinee.

Soft taffeta silk in plain effects and checks is making charming shirt waists to be worn with coat and shirt suits. Plain silk waists are piped with check, and vice versa. For example, a green and white checked waist is given character by a yoke trimming in the form of a two inch bias band of the waist material edged with corded pipings of plain green silk set with small silk covered buttons.

A particularly smart matinee of the lingerie order is made of dotted swiss. The petticoat is simply finished, the three flounces having embroidered scalloped edges, under which are set little frills of narrow valenciennes lace. The sack hangs straight and slightly full from a little yoke and is finished with a scalloped border and lace frill. A dainty feature is an oddly shaped collar embroidered by hand in a simple design.

Some of the fall cloth walking suits have a suggestion of the Norfolk and pony jackets in their coats. But the new coat fits closer than the spring pony jacket.

Several narrow bias ruffles about two inches wide, with a hem stitched on the right side, trim many of the new veiling skirts. They are arranged in five or six rows around the bottom or in a graduated scallop pattern beginning six inches above the hem.

In some of the new checked materials there is an introduction of dots in a deeper color than the material. They are grouped in little set figures, which give the checks a world of character.

The blouse pictured is a fall design of the severe type. The material is soft finished taffeta in a gray brown tint. The bands are of checked silk and the buttons enameled affairs in gold and brown tones.

Sewing on Buttons.

When sewing on buttons, before you lay the buttons on the garment, put the thread through so that the knot will be on the right side. That leaves it under the button and prevents it from being ironed or torn away. Before you begin sewing, lay a large pin across the button so that the threads go over the pin. After you have finished filling the holes, draw out the pin and draw the thread round and round beneath the button. This forms a stem to sustain the pulling and wear of the buttonhole.

Massage.

Flesh on any part of the body may be reduced by proper massage. Anoint with cocoa butter or any other good massage agent, so that the flesh will not be bruised; then, by picking up the flesh in tiny folds and rolling between thumb and first finger, you will be able to dissolve the tiny fat cells. Follow with cold water baths to avoid a flabby condition that otherwise might result from this massage.

MODISH SUMMER STYLES.

A Touch of Brown—Modish New Shoes and Sleeves—Swiss Popular.

A touch of brown is seen on many modish white and cream costumes. It appears in the hat, shoes, sunshades, gloves and girdle. This is the latest Parisian fancy and is considered very smart.

Tan and brown shoes, both in suede, pebble and smooth kid, are to be more worn this summer than ever. Pumps come to match all the new dress materials, but perhaps the newest of all are in cobalt blue.

Belts must match the shoes, and as they are to be found in all colors the idea is not difficult to carry out.

New sleeves on many of the afternoon costumes are nothing more than short double puffs with wrinkled cuffs of lace, chiffon or net reaching almost the entire length of the arm.

The short pointed train is to be seen on a number of dressy muslin gowns. It is very graceful when well arranged.

Swisses are about in great profusion, powdered with small figures. Even when a larger figure is used the space between is dotted with tiny editions of that figure or with dots.

Embroidered mull shares honors with swiss as a gown material. The mull designs are widely separated, each spray being entirely detached.

The pretty gown illustrated is designed for a child of ten years. It is evolved from dotted cream colored challie and made in princess style, with a tablier front. The chemisette is of embroidered mull, and the little collar of linen is buttonholed and edged with val lace. The buttons are of mother-of-pearl.

SAVED BABY'S LIFE.

There are thousands of mothers throughout Canada who have no hesitation in saying that the good health enjoyed by their little ones is entirely due to the judicious use of Baby's Own Tablets. And there are many mothers who do not hesitate to say that at critical periods the Tablets have saved a baby life. Mrs Wm. Fortin, St. Genevieve, Que. says: "I feel sure that Baby's Own Tablets saved my baby's life. When I first began giving them to him he was so badly constipated that the bowels could only be moved by injection, and he suffered terribly. After the first day I saw a marked change, and in less than a week the trouble was entirely removed, and he has since enjoyed the best of health." You can get Baby's Own Tablets from your druggist or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

The New Towels.

The woman who is deft with her needle may indulge in pretty towels, whether her purse is long or not, for there is no end of handwork used to beautify towels in these days.

One of the prettiest methods and at the same time one of the most practical is scalloping. The plain buckaback is got and the ends done in the simplest form of scallop, heavily padded. With a quarter to mark the scallops and a line drawn across the end to keep them even the marking may be done at home.

Instead of the fringe so popular a few years ago many of the handsomest towels are finished with a hemstitched hem or with embroidery or with Irish lace, although the latter is very expensive.

The very large towels are out of fashion, the favorite size being about twenty-five inches wide by forty long. Hand towels come in several sizes, the smallest of which is fourteen inches wide and twenty-four long.

Drawn work as a trimming for towels offers numerous possibilities to the woman who can do it well, and so does embroidery work. Both Irish and German embroidery are popular. All embroidery is of the variety known as blin, and the designs are not too elaborate.

SWEET LAVENDER.

SOME HOMELY USES FOR THIS FRAGRANT, PUNGENT HERB.

An Invaluable Adjunct For Imparting a Delicate Perfume to Linen. How to Make a Dainty Lavender Cone and Flat Sachet.

Who does not love lavender, from time immemorial associated with sweetness and cleanliness? The homely purple spikes and dull gray leaves seem to belong by right to the careful housewife and her linen cupboard, and, although many are the perfumes nowadays, it is doubtful if in the long run any is so popular as sweet lavender.

A LAVENDER CONE.

The illustration shows how to make a lavender cone, an invaluable adjunct for imparting a delicate perfume to linen. Lavender sprigs when thrown loosely are apt to shed their bloom and thus create a confusion of odd pieces. The cone, however, obviates this disadvantage.

To make a lavender cone take about seventeen to twenty-seven lavender sprigs, the number depending on the size of the flowers. Bind them firmly round the heads with a piece of linen thread. Now take a piece of baby ribbon and put it round one of the stalks, keeping it quite close to the head, and sew it with small stitches. Bend all the stalks when you have tied them and bring them over the flowers, and darn the ribbon over and underneath the stalks, keeping it as even as possible until the cone is finished, drawing it well into shape at the same time. You must not forget to leave a long piece of ribbon for a dainty center bow. The other cone is made exactly in the same way. The stalks of both cones are fitted into each other, tied with thread and bound over with ribbon, tied in the center. A pretty idea is to have contrasting ribbons for each cone. Thus green and lavender ribbons look well, white and green, lavender and pink, etc.

Some people prefer a flat lavender sachet, and the third illustration is designed. The flowers are first picked from the stalks and put in a soft muslin bag. The outer case is also composed of muslin, threaded down the middle and sides with mauve ribbon. The lettering and spray are worked in graduated shades of mauve and the whole finished off with a pretty lace frill.

The muslin case can be easily washed, and of course its size depends on where you intend placing the sachet. Both methods of using lavender are commendable on account of their small expense in making, also for the charming results obtained, and any one would say a hearty "Thank you very much!" for a present of either a lavender cone or sachet.

According to the most reliable English historians, Alfred the Great in 872 was the first English sovereign to wear a crown. From early inscriptions and historical records it appears that the Saxon kings before the time of Alfred wore simply a band of pearls around the head as a mark of royal power.

Pandora Range

A Ventilating Oven that Ventilates.

There is only one practical way of ventilating a range oven and that way has been adopted in the Pandora—is an actual, positive, working feature and not a mere talking point.

Fresh air is drawn from the outside through small vents into the oven while the odors and cooking fumes are forced by the fresh air out through small vents into the smoke flues, and up the chimney.

Roasts cooked in a Pandora oven retain their sweet, natural flavor, entirely free from cooking odors, absolutely unmixed with any foreign flavor. Puddings, cakes, bread, meats, etc., are always light, fresh and free from mixed odors or flavors.

In the Pandora range you get all that scientific study, practical experience, skilled workmanship and an immense and finely equipped plant combined, can produce—the highest possible attainment in range perfection.

Ask your local dealer to show you the Pandora range, or write to us for free catalogue before buying any other.

The First Firm To Use The New Style Of Spelling

The Toronto World observes with apparent satisfaction that the Dunlop Tire & Rubber Goods Company, a concern which advertises extensively throughout Canada, has adopted Andrew Carnegie's simplified style of spelling. Several years ago the World shortened up the words "through" and "thorough," but it remained for the Dunlop Company to adopt the innovation in its most complete form. Those who read Dunlop advertisements will learn how bicycle and automobile tires are "attacht" and "detacht." Also how rubber heels are "fixt" to the shoes. In an editorial dated Sept. 21, the World says: "The Dunlop Tire & Rubber Goods Company have set a good example in the matter of reformed spelling by being the first firm in Canada, as far as known, to use the simplified spelling in their advertisements."

"From the World's point of view this is a departure in the right direction and if the World is any judge of coming events in ten years from now this innovation will not be regarded as a novelty, but quite the usual thing."

Mr. J. H. Scriver Again Writes on Hoop Net Question

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Sir,—In your issue of the 12th ult., Mr. Nurse informs me that, "he was glad to hear from me, as I admit to be the owner of thee hoop nets mentioned and also the person who operated them." I assume he will be delighted this time.

As I can only judge Mr. Nurse by what he puts in print; the best in the world, no matter how cute; he cannot go back on what is over his own signature. I may here inform him I am not defending Mr. Johnston, but assume he knows the uselessness of "casting pearls before swine," and had Mr. Nurse not made false insinuations and charges against and cannot prove, I should not have waste time now did I not discover the fishermen, which he has failed to attempted a reply. Nor would I that he is so addicted to falsifying that he cannot tell the truth when it lies in print before him. What I have already said is correct. The parties I expected to visit us during the week was Mr. Bastedo, of the Department, the member for West Peterborough and whom they might invite. Now, Mr. Nurse insinuated in his 17th July letter, that these nets were prepared for deception. As I left camp Saturday noon—no date was yet decided upon for said visit—and did not return until 5.30 o'clock Monday morning—it was then I learned of their coming. Again I repeat I had nothing to do with inviting or bringing these parties down. As for the "talking of mud cat license," by Mr. Johnston or what he may have told the Rice Lake overseers, I know nothing about. Mr. Nurse says "only one overseer from Rice Lake was present." That was Mr. McAllister, and if Mr. Nurse tells the truth, "that he was strong against it," being prejudiced, disqualified him from acting justly in keeping with his declaration of office. As the fishermen, my employee and myself, had nothing to do with inviting, and if Mr. McAlister did not see us lift these nets he did see us left nets before that day and after Mr. Nurse says he ordered us to lift the nets. Nor can, or will, Overseer McAlister say I ever showed any disposition to avoid or evade him or any one else.

Mr. Nurse says "my memory is bad, as I forgot to tell about the rake off." As I never heard of it—only through Mr. Nurse's letters, and am not a manufacturer of lies, or stake my veracity on hearsays—I ignored it. Mr. Nurse quotes Mr. Bruce Johnston as authority. He like Mr. Nurse seems to have too much mouth and "lets the cat out of the bag." Say! was it Bruce or your brother George told you who took my net?

Mr. Nurse tries to cast doubt on what I said as the uninjurious effects of hoop nets, and asks how I "know when these fish got in the net." There is only two ways to know, that is by seeing and handling, not by imagination or hearsay, and when he cleans up the boneyard he himself has created, we will readily tell him how we know.

Mr. Nurse charges me with "reckless and misleading statements," by trying to make me father the veracity of what I said which was based on, "if Mr. Nurse tells the truth." This is why I say he "cannot tell the truth when it is in print before him. I challenge him to show where I said when "I was fishing at the mouth of the river that only one lunge and not over a dozen bass found their way into my nets." He says "dozens of people saw my nets," and further says "these nets were nearly full of lunge and bass every morning." This is an absolute falsehood and I challenge him to name six persons out of the dozen to prove his charge.

He informs me he "knows enough about hoop nets to know that I or no other man can take muskeats out of the water by their use without doing an injury to game fish." This, no one can know but by seeing and handling the nets and the fish, and as he never held a license he plainly proves over his own signature, he has been meddling with nets. Now, Sir, if a man goes prowling around your premises in your absence, what conclusion will you come to? If he breaks into your house, or barn, blows open you safe, you'd say he was a burglar. If he took anything away you'd say he was a thief, and so the law declares. Now tell me the difference between the above, and go sneaking around my nets, in my absence, lifting and taking fish therefrom. He says he "never held a license or wants to hold a license." Only persons of reliable and reputable character can knowingly hold such. Good reason why the grapes are sour and Jack would not eat his supper.

He says, "I know of parties taking bass and lunge out of nets," (we, and Co.) and this is a strong argument against the use of hoop nets." Sound, sensible logic, based on high ideals. If a man steals my goods, if he cannot be apprehended I must be punished. Now, Mr. Nurse is this the doctrine you advocate or was it a little moral dove that probed your conscience on behalf of the thieves who stole fish, etc.? I hope it will remain until you tell me two or three names, and I will, if not too late, make a job lot of them and the thieves that stole my net. Such characters are dangerous and should be locked up.

Mr. Nurse tries to make out, when I tell the truth, and give reasons therefor, and challenge him to do so, I use "slang and back-bite." He further says, he "did not expect anything else from a man of my calibre." Don't be deceived Mr. Nurse, Mr. Scriver has lived long enought and had enough experiance with men like you to not use a straw when he should use a club. You can call it "mud-slinging" if you like. Grand evidence of guilt.

As evidence against hoop nets, he calls my attention to the "Ontario Fish and Game Association in convention in Toronto about September 1, and what they say:

"The Committee on Nets favoured the absolute prohibition of trap, hoop and pound nets as very destructive." May I ask Mr. Nurse, as he assumes to know it all, and claims to have "the whole Province with him," "How many of these men know any more about what they are discussing than he does?" I hope they did not get in the same way. How many know the difference between a trap, hoop or pound net? How many have any more interest at stake than for their own slaughter? How many carry a rule to be sure the bass is over 10 inches and the 'lunge 24,' and quit fishing when the limit is reached? In seeking information, how many fishermen were consulted? Why were gill nets not included? Was it an oversight or because eight or ten rods of gill net can be put into a bushel bag and secreted under the buggy seat? As a rule these men have plenty, and care but little for anyone else. Dare you say, Mr. Nurse, that the 113 ratepayers in South Monaghan, who signed the petition circulated by Mr. Wodlock, asking "that hoop net licenses be granted to a few reliable and trustworthy residents for the removal of rough fish that destroy the spawn of game fish," and the 143 ratepayers in Otonabee, within two miles of the lake, who signed the petition I circulated, were not honest? I think they are a part of the "whole province."

We are in full sympathy with the Fish and Game Association for the protection of our game fish. This can only be done by education and enforcing the law. It is a fact that man "as he thinketh in his heart so is he." This answers why a bad person thinks everyone else is the same. The one who has not sufficient strength of mind to pass a game fish at his mercy thinks every other fellow would do likewise. Is it not passing strange that men of this stamp are often selected to enforce the law? It was men of this type who got the ear of the member for West Northumberland, by reporting that "the netting of muskats was only a cover for taking game fish," and he brought his influence along with the member for East Peterborough, who for lack of knowledge could not refute his charges, to bear on the Department. This is the reason licenses were discontinued, and the petition was circulated to refute it and not Mr. Nurse's influence or his petition. The men referred to are the two late overseers at Harwood. As a proof of what I say, these men discovered a net, of mine, labelled and in order, and to prove their contentions, seized it and took it seven miles to Harwood. The net they had to return by order of the Department. In the net were a number of bass, but instead of fining them out as the law directs, took them home and ate them, thus breaking the very law they were sworn to and paid for enforcing. Does that not prove that as a man "in his heart thinketh so is he?"

To further prove our contentions, if the Department will grant us permission in proper season, or the Ontario Game and Fish Association secure the same for us, and send a man to investigate, we will provide boats, nets, and a man to aid us, and prove what we have said as to the uninjurious effects of hoop nets and thus settle this so much talked of affair. Nor will I object to Mr. Nurse accompanying us, on condition that he allows himself to be locked up—from sunset to sunrise — each night.

Now, Mr. Nurse, you have preferred me some good advice and rendered me some good service, for which I wish to thank you.

In "letting the cat out of the bag" who took my net-it has been returned to me. While I was led to believe there were a great many fine people in South Monaghan, you have informed me that there are a large number of the criminal class at large that should be looked after. Though I have never met you, I have your measure to the sixteenth of an inch or less. Take this advice next time you have bad blood with a neighbour. Keep out of print and don't expose yourself.

Now, Mr. Editor, I am through with Mr. Nurse. If time will permit and your patience abide, I purpose giving the public my conclusions and deductions why hoop nets are the most harmless in use, the only and best friend to the game fish. Not one lunge or black bass enter these nets for every hundred attributed to them.

Keene, Oct. 6, 1906.

NERVOUS DEBILITY CURED

Excesses and indiscretions are the cause of more sorrow and suffering than all other diseases combined. We see the victims of vicious habits on every hand; the sallow, pimpled face, dark circled eyes, stooping form, stunted development, bashful, melancholic countenance and timid bearing proclaim to all the world his folly and tend to blight his existence. Our treatment positively cures all weak men by overcoming and removing the effects of former indiscretions and excesses. It stops all losses and drains and quickly restores the patient to what nature intended—a healthy and happy man with physical, mental and nerve powers complete.

For over 25 years Drs. K. & K. have treated with the greatest success all diseases of men and women.

If you have any secret disease that is a worry and a menace to your health consult old established physicians who do not have to experiment on you.

We guarantee to cure Nervous Debility, Blood Diseases, Stricture, Varicocele, Kidney and Bladder Diseases. Consultation Free. If unable to call, write for a Question Blank for Home Treatment.

Killed by Street Car

Ottawa, Oct. 12.—Horace Boulet, the five-year-old son of Joseph Boulet, laborer, Hull, was run down and killed yesterday morning while attempting to cross in front of a street car bound for Hull station, and in charge of Motorman George Perrault. Before the car could be stopped it went some distance and carried the child's body with it. The head was wedged in between one of the front wheels and the rail and the back and skull horribly crushed.

Tolstoi, M. P., Expelled.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 12.—Further expulsions from the Zemstvos of members of the outlawed Parliament who signed the Viborg manifesto are reported daily. Among the latest is that of Count Tolstoi, Moderate member of Parliament for Ufa.

Attacks on the police have commenced in St. Petersburg, but are less successful owing to the indifference of the people. One policeman was killed and one wounded Wednesday.

San Domingo Rebels Surrender.

Washington, Oct. 12.—Cable advices received here from San Domingo state that an agreement has been reached between the Government and insurgent force in the neighborhood of Monte Cristi whereby the insurgents will surrender to the Government to-day and Gen. Limarde, who conducted the campaign for President Caceris, will become governor of Monte Cristi.

Students Fined $5 Each.

Toronto, Oct. 12.—President Hutton announced yesterday that the university caput had decided to fine each of the 36 students engaged in the medicals' "hustle" last Monday, $5 each. The caput also called the attention of the students to section 4 on page 116 of the present calendar, which provides for expulsion for such doing, with the intimation that it would in future be enforced.

Tunnel Explosion.

New York, Oct. 12.—Three men were killed and a dozen others rendered unconscious by an explosion and fire in the Pennsylvania's tunnel under Long Island City yesterday. The cause of the explosion is unknown. At one time 15 of the rescuers were stretched out on the sidewalks under treatment to resuscitate them after vainly attempting the rescue.

Toms River, N. J., Oct. 12.—At the trial of Dr. Brouwer, charged with the murder of his wife, Miss Elizabeth Hyer, sister of the dead woman, testified that she was called to Dr. Brouwer's house several times during her sister's illness, and Dr. Brouwer told her that he was going to get a divorce.

Guelph, Oct. 12.—The Entomological Society of Ontario has elected the following officers: President, Dr. J. Fletcher, Ottawa; vice-president, L. D. Jarvis, Guelph; secretary, E. J. Zavitz, Guelph; treasurer, Prof. McCready, Guelph.

Settlement Of Differences Now In Sight

Provincial Repesentatives Are Becoming Reconciled.

POSITION OF MR. WHITNEY

Expected to Endorse Quebec Resolutions—Discussions Waxed Warm in the Conference—British Columbia May Receive Special Consideration—The Control of the Fisheries—Ontario and Lake Erie.

Ottawa, Oct. 12.—Late last night it transpired that matters in connection with the provincial demands were tending towards a more favorable conclusion.

The course pursued by Messrs. Whitney of Ontario and McBride of British Columbia has perhaps prevented a favorable reply on the subsidy question being reached ere this. The Ontario Premier wanted to reserve the right to put in further claims for subsidy, on the ground that his province paid more in customs revenue than the other provinces, and had received less in railway subsidies. On the other hand, Mr. McBride thought that British Columbia's special claims should be dealt with by a special commission of arbitration.

Discussion Waxed Warm.

At times the discussion of the pretensions of the two provinces named waxed warm, and the conference on the second day ended quite abruptly. It is now thought that Mr. Whitney will place himself in line with his fellow-delegates in a simple endorsation of the resolutions of the Quebec conference. As to British Columbia, there has been a stout resistance of the arbitration proposal. The majority of the conference recognize, however, that the Pacific Province has some right to preferential treatment, and are prepared to recommend a 50 per cent. increase in subsidies over and above the amount laid down in the resolutions. This, it is believed, Mr. McBride will accept.

Control of the Fisheries.

As to control of the fisheries, the majority are prepared to assure the Dominion Government that no trouble will be experienced. The eastern provinces are willing to acknowledge Dominion jurisdiction, and British Columbia takes a similar stand, but less definitely.

So far as Ontario is concerned, the great difficulty is with respect to Lake Erie. Its waters are international, and with only one Government in control fishery disputes or other issues between Canada and the United States can be adjusted much more promptly and effectively. Mr. Whitney hesitates, however, to take any step towards recognizing Dominion jurisdiction until he has consulted his Government. Taking it all in all, the outlook for a harmonious settlement of the subsidies and fisheries questions, followed by an early break-up of the conference, is now much brighter than at any other time.

JACK WHITTIER SHOT.

A Toronto Man Found Dead Near Sprague, Man.

Sprague, Man., Oct. 12.—Jack Whittier, a sectionman, employed by the Canadian Northern Railway at the gravel pit spur, left the camp house last Sunday morning with a rifle, apparently going to hunt. When he did not return on Sunday evening search was made in the woods and Wednesday evening he was found dead in an old lumber camp about nine miles east of Sprague, apparently shot through the head. Whittier came from Toronto. Coroner Inglis of Winnipeg has been sent for.

King's Daughters' Convention.

Ingersoll, Oct. 12.—The closing session of the provincial convention of the King's Daughters was held last evening, when addresses were given by Rev. R. J. M. Perkins, rector of St. James' Church; Mrs. I. C. Davis and Mrs. Savage, provincial secretary. Officers as follows were elected in the afternoon: Provincial secretary, Mrs. Savage, Toronto; recording secretary, Mrs. Wallace, Cornwall; executive committee, Mrs. Austen (Toronto), Dr. Bertha Dymond (Toronto), Miss Hislop (Stratford), Mrs. W. G. Button (Ingersoll), Mrs. Courtwright (Inwood), Miss Strange (Kingston), Mrs. Hal. Palkett (Ottawa), Mrs. Biggar (Ottawa), Miss Wilson (Hamilton).

Your Doctor

Can cure your Cough or Cold, no question about that, but—why go to all the trouble and inconvenience of looking him up, and then of having his prescription filled, when you can step into any drug store in Canada and obtain a bottle of SHILOH'S CURE for a quarter.

Why pay two to five dollars when a twenty-five cent bottle of SHILOH will cure you as quickly?

Why not do as hundreds of thousands of Canadians have done for the past thirty-four years: let SHILOH be your doctor whenever a Cough or Cold appears.

SHILOH will cure you, and all druggists back up this statement with a positive guarantee.

GOT BLOCK OF STOCK.

Mr. Matthew Wilson Tells of the Reorganized Union Trust Co. and the Pope and Fowler Option.

Toronto, Oct. 12.—The story unfolded by Matthew Wilson, K. C., before the Insurance Commission yesterday, of the sale of the Union Trust Co. last June to himself, E. E. A. DuVernet, acting for English capitalists, and Messrs. Gurney and O'Grady, of the Crown Bank, was the distinct feature of the sitting.

Mr. Wilson, together with Mr. DuVernet, took $500,000 worth of stock in the new Trust Co. on the distinct understanding that this block was to be distributed among English capitalists at a profit of $25,000 to him.

A mysterious cheque given to Mr. Wilson, and the gift of $2,500 to him by Mr. DuVernet, was the subject of earnest examination by Mr. Shepley. Mr. Wilson could not remember who signed the cheque, and whether he had been given the $2,500 the same day as he endorsed the cheque.

Mr. Wilson had not yet put up any money for his stock, and does not know who is financing the game. He had been offered the managership of the company at $10,000 per annum, but did not want it and took the presidency at $5,000 salary with $2,500 extra that Mr. DuVernet was putting up out of his own pocket. Mr. Wilson was asked to produce the cheque and other documents.

Pope and Fowler Option.

Mr. Shepley, when the session opened, took up the Pope and Fowler option. Mr. Wilson explained that the syndicate first bought a one-half undivided interest, the other half to be financed by a syndicate composed of Pope and Fowler and some others. This would not work, for the other syndicate could not get together on certain points, with the result that the Foster syndicate took over the whole option. Mr. Wilson objected strenuously to assuming any more liability, but Mr. McGillivray suggested that the Union Trust Co. finance the whole business, and Mr. Foster said that if it was a good thing the Union Trust ought to get a chance to make some money out of it.

Commissioner Kent asked the witness if he thought when a trust company borrowed from a bank it would make any difference if a majority of the directors of the Trust Co. were also directors of the bank.

"If the transactions were above board and concurred in by the other directors it would make no difference," was the witness' answer.

The Chancellor Inaccurate.

Counsel dealt with Chancellor Boyd's version, that he was given to understand that the members of the syndicate, including Wilson, were putting up equal shares, and that the Union Trust Co. was only a partner.

Mr. Wilson said that Sir John Boyd's recollection was inaccurate. He had explained the transaction in full to him twice.

The land transactions were gone into briefly. Witness said that he was very much surprised that Pope and Fowler had retained 7,000 acres of the selected land, and that the Great West Land Co. had bought an additional 9,000 acres to make up the 200,000.

"I do not say that Mr. Fowler is a dishonest man, but he should have given up all the lands selected under the option. If that statement is correct we ought to have that 7,000 acres, and we will have to get after somebody and get them back," he said.

Mr. Shepley questioned Mr. Wilson further on the negotiations that resulted in the formation of the Great West Land Co. at the afternoon session.

Mr. Fowler Has Arrived.

At last George W. Fowler, M. P., (King's and Albert) has arrived. He reached the city last night from Winnipeg. No sooner had he registered at the hotel than Mr. Ross, secretary of the Insurance Commission, advanced and served him with a formidable legal document, which required him to appear and testify before the Insurance Commission this morning, and also to show cause why he should not be fined or imprisoned for contempt.

BURIED THE DEAD.

Immense Throng Attended Funeral of the Two Dead Strikers.

Buckingham, Que. Oct. 12.—Matters have now quieted down in connection with the strike, and there will probably be no more developments until Monday, when the inquest opens.

An immense throng attended the funeral yesterday of the two dead strikers.

Detective Warner is dying.

Adverse to Modus Vivendi.

St. John's, Nfld., Oct. 12.—The Cabinet met last night to consider the advisability of a policy of protest against the modus vivendi between the British and American Governments relative to the Newfoundland fisheries. Leading fish merchants also met and adopted resolutions adverse to the modus vivendi. The organ of the Opposition blames the Premier for the whole trouble.

P. E. I. TOWN SUFFERS.

Fifty Houses, Two Churches and Public Building At Summerside, P. E. I., Go Up in Flames—Loss $200,000

Summerside, P. E. I., Oct. 12.—Fire did $200,000 damage here yesterday, and insurance only $50,000. The electric light station, jail, court house and 50 residences were destroyed, besides the Episcopal and Baptist churches.

The fire is supposed to have been incendiary, and cut a path through the town a hundred yards wide and a mile long.

The fire began in a railway shed, and was fanned by the heavy gale. The town had only two hand engines and one steamer to fight the fire. The firemen and engine from Charlottetown save the Presbyterian church.

Summerside has a population of 3,000; has a cabinet factory, three saw mills and several shipyards. Eggs, oysters, produce and sheep are exported largely.

Of the population of 4,000 many would be homeless were it not for the hospitality of those who fortunately escaped the destroying flames.

The whole town had a narrow escape from destruction. A fortunate change in the wind saved it.

There were no fatal accidents, but James Kenny had his arm broken by being run over by a team.

INTEREST OF CANADA.

Lord Dundonald Asks Question In Writing On Imperial Defence.

London, Oct. 12.—(C.A.P.)—Commenting on A. B. Carman's article in "Canada" on Canada and Imperial defence, Lord Dundonald, in a letter to "Canada," says: "If anything in this world is worth doing well. If Dpmff.. world is worth doing at all, it is at any rate worth doing well. If the empire, therefore, is worth defending, it is necessary to inform those specialists who are entrusted with the preparation of schemes for its defence, exactly how many troops will be available on the outbreak of war.

"These troops, if they are to be of real value, must be ready, not only in willingness to serve the empire, as every Canadian is ready, not only in spirit, courage and endurance, qualities which, from having had Canadian troops under my command in war time, I know them to possess to the fullest possible extent; but ready in arms, equipment, in an adequate supply of ammunition and material of war, with a personnel under the command of highly-trained leaders.

"How many men Canada could, at once on the declaration of war, put into the field under this latter condition is known to those who are responsible for her military defences and her place amongst the nations, and should be known and considered by every patriotic Canadian."

Canada will be represented at the decoration of the Nelson column by a large maple leaf shield.

REMAINS DISQUALIFIED.

Supreme Court Dismisses Mr. Dan Gallery's Appeal With Costs.

Ottawa, Oct. 12.—The Supreme Court yesterday gave judgment in the St. Anne's case in dismissing the appeal of Mr. Dan Gallery, ex-M. P. for St. Anne's Division of Montreal, against the judgment of the court below. This confirms the disqualification of Gallery for seven years from sitting in the Dominion Parliament, or voting or holding any office in connection therewith. The statute does not disqualify as far as provincial or municipal affairs.

When the Supreme Court met, Chief Justice Fitzpatrick said that the judgment of the court was that the appeal should be dismissed with costs.

Mayor Judd Stops Traffic.

London, Oct. 12.—Mayor Judd a day or two ago engaged Engineer J. M. Meyes of Toronto to inspect the street railway plant prior to the sitting of the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board, which began yesterday. Mr. Moyes' report stated that the Wellington street bridge was entirely unsafe for traffic, nearly half of the ties were rotting or rotten, as well as numerous guard timbers. The mayor immediately ordered traffic to cease on the bridge, and the company agreed. The commission visited the bridge, and confirmed the report of its unsafe condition.

Major Moodie Returns.

St. John's, Nfld., Oct. 12.—The sealing steamer Adventure, which left here Aug. 3, conveying Major Moodie, Canadian Governor of Hudson Bay, 15 Northwest Mounted Police and supplies for the Canadian Government posts there, returned yesterday a month overdue, the delay having been caused by stormy weather. The vessel was forced to bring back 210 tons of coal, which she was unable to discharge.

Fourteen Inches of Snow.

Buffalo, N. Y., Oct. 12.—Snow, which melted almost as fast as it fell, began falling here about 4.30 Wednesday and continued throughout the night. Had it been dry, the weather bureau estimates there would have been about 14 inches upon the ground.

Monkshaven Total Loss.

Fort William, Oct. 12.—The Canadian steamer Monkshaven, which was recently released from Angus Island after lying on the rocks at that point since the big storm of last November, was washed from her moorings by the storm on Tuesday and so badly battered against the rocks that she is now almost a total loss. The work of saving the boat had been under way all summer. The Monkshaven was a steel steamer, built in Scotland, and was valued at $70,000.

Captain Was Saved.

St. John's, Nfld., Oct. 12.—The fishing schooner Julia struck a shoal in Codroy River during a gale Wednesday night, and went down. Four men were drowned, but the captain succeeded in reaching the shore. The fishing schooner Helena is missing, and it is feared she and her crew have been lost.

Captain Was Drowned.

New London, Conn., Oct. 12.—During a heavy southeast gale yesterday afternoon, the steamer Ella Powell, Capt. Clock, from St. George, Staten Island, for Westerly, R. I., capsized and sank in the Race, and now lies in about 70 feet of water. The captain was drowned, but the only other man aboard, Nelson Mack, was rescued.

Hundreds of men and women are asking themselves that question. They are not well—and yet not exactly ill. Doctors say—"all run down—need a tonic." But tonics fail to bring back health and strength. It may be that your kidneys are affected. Here's a simple test to prove it:—

Collect the urine passed in the morning, in a glass vessel or bottle, and let stand 12 hours. If there is a reddish deposit—if the urine is cloudy or milky—or if there are floating particles or shreds—then assuredly there is some serious derangement of the kidneys.

Healthy urine stays perfectly clear.

ASTONISHED THE DOCTOR

Mrs. Eaton Recovering, Although Her Physician Said She Might Drop Dead at Any Time.

MRS. ROBT. EATON

"The Doctor told me I had heart disease and was liable to drop on the street at any time, says Mrs. Robt. Eaton, of Dufferin, Ont.

"My trouble began four years ago with a weak heart. I was often afraid to draw my breath, it pained me so. I was bothered with nervousness, shortness of breath dizziness, loss of and etite, smotheringand sinking spells, and could not sleep.

"Sometimes a great weakness would seize me and I would have to lie down to keep from falling. My hands and feet would seem to go to sleep and a sort of numbness would come all over me and perhaps immediately after the blood would rush to my head and a series of hot flashes would envelop me.

"I took all kinds of medicines, but kept gradually growing worse until about eight weeks ago, when I began using Dr. Leonhardt's Anti-Pill. From the start I improved, until now my appetite has returned, I can sleep well, and have no nervousness, dizziness, palpitation, faintness or any of my other troubles. They They have all entirely disappeared. I feel much stronger, look better, and altogether Anti-Pill has made a new woman of me.

"I am entirely cured and cannot say too much for this wonderful remedy. I would most heartily recommend Anti-Pill to anyone suffering as I did."

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving memory of William Manley, who died October 4th, 1906.

Dearest father, thou hast left us,
And thy loss we deeply feel,
But 'tis God that hast bereft us,
He can all our sorrows heal.

He's gone from earth, God called him home,
We know His ways are best,
That up in Heaven our darling's safe
Forever with the blest,

Peaceful be thy silent slumber,
Peaceful in the grave so low.
Thou no more wilt join our number,
Thou no more our songs shall know.

An angel whispered as he slept,
"The Master calls for thee,"
Then bore him safe, without one pang,
Beyond the crystal sea.

Yes, no more his smile will greet us,
And no more his loving words,
For the Saviour gently whispered
Come to me, oh, come to me.

But oh, the empty aching void
That's left within our home,
Since death's cold hand was laid upon
Our dear one for the tomb.

We seem to listen for his voice,
We miss his kindly thought,
And willing help about the place,
Which he gave, all unsought,

We know that he is safe from all
Yes, safe for evermore,
Our loved one is not lost to us
But only gone before.

No more his smile shall greet us,
And no more his loving jest,
For the Saviour gently whispered,
"Come to me, come home and rest."

At noonday he was taken
Safe to that Heavenly shore,
To the land where Jesus beckons,
Free from pain for evermore,

Yes, dear Jesus, thou didst call him
To that bright and happy home,
To be free from all his suffering,
And be present with the Lord.

We know that he is safe from all,
Yes, safe for evermore,
Our loved one is not lost to us,
But only gone before.

And up in Heaven, we know that he
Is watching over us still,
Our guardian angel in the sky,
Ever ready to do God's will.

He [illegible] earth has passed away,
[illegible] weary findeth rest;
[illegible] day in his day,
[illegible] among the blest,
[illegible] we will meet
[illegible] day of life is fled,
[illegible] with joy to greet us,
Where no farewell tears are shed,

The bread of life is love, the salt of life is work, the water of life is faith.—Jameson.

THE OLD STORY

The twilight falls, the night is near;
I fold my work away
And kneel to one who bends to hear
The story of the day.

The old, old story; yet I kneel
To tell it at thy call;
And cares grow lighter as I feel
That Jesus knows them all.

Yes, all! The morning and the night,
The joy, the grief, the loss
The roughened path, the sunbeam bright,
The hourly thorn and cross.

Thou knowest all, I lean my head,
My weary eyelids close;
Content and glad a while to tread
This path, since Jesus knows!

So here I lay me down to rest,
As nightly shadows fall,
And lean, confiding, on His breast
Who knows and pities all!

S. S. LESSON.

Lesson II., October 14.—The Ten Virgins.—Matt. 25: 1-13.

Golden Text.—"Watch therefore, for ye know neither the day nor the hour wherein the Son of Man cometh."—Matt. 25: 13.

BETWEEN THE LESSONS.

After answering the question of the lawyer about which we studied in our last lesson, Jesus put this inquiry to the Pharisees: "What think ye of the Christ? whose son is he?" From this time on, no one dared ask the Master any questions for the purpose of entrapping him. Later on this Tuesday, Jesus uttered warnings against the scribes and Pharisees, commended the widow for offering two mites, predicted the fall of Jerusalem with the future of the church and his coming again, and instructed his disciples to watch and be always ready for his coming. A part of this instruction was the parable of the Ten Virgins, which we study in our lesson.

CRITICAL NOTES.

1. Then. At the coming of the Lord, Matt. 25: 13; cp. 24: 29-51, especially vs. 42, 44. Virgins. It was customary for maidens to receive the bridal party with singing. Comp. Ps. 45: 14; Song Solomon 3: 11. In the parable they may be thought of as representing the members of the visible church, expectant of the Lord's return; a conception not set aside by the fact that at times the church is depicted as the bride herself, the Lamb's wife. Took their lamps. Because of the lateness of the hour. Matt. 25: 6. The lamps were earthenware, small and flat, in shape much like a gravy boat with the wick lying in the spout. The men who accompanied the procession doubtless carried flaming torches. Went forth. From their homes and perhaps from the town also. To meet the bridegroom. When, having received the bride from her parents, he returned with her to his own or his father's house; or else as he came to the bride's home to take her. Tobit 7: 13; I. Mac. 9: 37. The bridegroom represents Christ.

2. The choice of the number ten and its division into two groups of five each is not doctrinely significant. Comp. Luke 14: 31; cp. 15: 4, 8, 11; 19; 13. Foolish. Like many who gladly hear the gospel of the kingdom, but endure for a time only. Matt. 13: 20, 21. Wise. And prepared themselves for the expected event.

4. Their vessels. From which to refill the reservoirs of the lamps, which were lighted and burning while the maidens waited for the marriage procession. Ch. 25: 8.

5. The bridegroom tarried. Ch. 24: 48; II. Pet. 3: 4, 10. They all slumbered and slept. Through natural weariness. Perhaps they slept in the open. Gen. 28: 11; Matt. 26: 40. But, though sleeping, they were at the same time really waiting and watching for the bridegroom.

9. Buy for yourselves. Each individual must make his or her own preparation for the advent of the Lord.

10. The marriage feast. It seems to have been celebrated at the bridegroom's or his father's house. Matt. 25, 11, 12; 22: 2. The door was shut. Luke 13: 24, 25.

12. I know you not. They had not been prepared to welcome him; and he accordingly refused to acknowledge them, and treated them as strangers. Matt. 7: 22, 23; Luke 13: 23-28.

There are those who are rich in their poverty, because they are content, and use generously what they have; there are others, who in the midst of their riches are really poor, for their insatiable covetousness or profusion.—Calmet.

While the Jury Was Out

By William Frederick Dix

Copyright by S. S. McClure Co.

THE midmorning Colorado sun beat down upon a restless little group of men on the steps of the Fort Morton courthouse, upon the dusty cottonwood trees growing dispiritedly on each side of the road that stretched away from the little sandy square to become, a few hundred yards below, the main street of the town, and upon the tin roofs of the two story brick or frame stores on each side of it. The jury had been out overnight and, although it was 10 o'clock in the morning, had given no sign. The prisoner had not yet been brought up from the county jail near by, and the group of men directly interested in the proceedings were sitting and lounging about the steps, smoking and carrying on desultory conversation. The district judge, sitting on the top step, was an eastern college man, about forty years of age, once an athlete and still with a trim, slender figure. The only touch of the western in his dress was the gray slouch hat worn straight and firmly set upon his brown hair.

"A pretty bit of grazing land," he was saying to the sheriff as he looked out over the level prairie, dotted here and there with an adobe shack and occasional herds of cattle.

The sheriff, a brawny, blue shirted young fellow of thirty, with unkempt hair and mustache, uncrossed his booted legs, straightened out one of them, pushed his hand deep into the pocket of his corduroy trousers and yawned. As his coat was thrust back with the movement the butt of his 44 caliber "gun" might be seen. Without replying, he drew out a large silver watch and studied it absently.

The small boys among the group of hangers on in front of the steps were beguiling themselves tossing ball, and the prosecuting attorney, a young graduate from the east who had come up from Pueblo, called out:

"Here you are, Johnnie! Give us a catch!"

The small boy who had the ball grinned sheepishly and threw it at him.

"Harder; harder!" said the young lawyer cheerily. "That's no way to pitch a ball. Throw it in this way." And the boy's hands were scorched as he caught the return.

"Say, kin you pitch a curve?" he asked. "Let's see you do it."

"All right," said Hardy, rising good naturedly and taking off his coat. "Here you go. Hold on," he added. "You couldn't catch it if I did. Here, Mr. Hackett; go out there and let me throw you a few curves."

The others laughed at this, for Hackett, the senior counsel for the defense, also up from Pueblo for the trial, was an enormous middle aged Hoosier, six feet two in height and weighing 250 pounds. He had a mass of crisp black hair and wore a black broadcloth frock coat and trousers, low turned down collar and ready made tie. He was slow moving and ponderous, though forceful and shrewd in his profession, deliberate of speech and anything but an athlete.

"Here, I'll catch you," exclaimed the junior counsel, Blake, a somewhat lanky, powerfully built westerner, rising and depositing his rough brown sack coat beside Hardy's.

"Gee, you've got muscle!" he added, rubbing his hands after the first pass.

"Hurray!" yelled the small boy. "That was a corker. Git on to them curves, Clarence!" he cried in worshipful admiration.

"Wouldn't mind a little of that exercise myself," said the judge, rising interestedly and hesitating on the steps.

"Why not have a little game while we are waiting?" said Hardy, half jokingly. "Come on, sheriff!"

Moved by a common impulse the little group brightened up, threw away their cigar ends and moved half apologetically into the sandy square. At the left of the courthouse and adjoining it was a small open field of well trodden, dusty grass, where a scratch ball game was played occasionally and where horses were tethered during court. One of the small boys was dispatched for a suitable bat and ball and a catcher's glove, and by the time the sides were arranged he came racing back with them, highly excited, followed by several other small boys.

No one had the slightest idea of being drawn into a game when he left the steps, but the reaction had worked insidiously. The trial had been a particularly exciting one, and those who had followed it were tired after the three days' strain in the ill ventilated courtroom. The sympathies of all had undoubtedly been with the prisoner, although the state had been vigorous in its prosecution and the judge had conscientiously done his duty. Murder had been committed at Jamestown Creek a few months previously, though a change of venue had been obtained to Fort Morton, the prisoner's own town. Copperthwait had always been a quiet, law abiding ranchman. He was under thirty years of age, big, broad shouldered and swarthy, diffident in manner and somewhat slow of speech, though he had been slowly and thoroughly angered in a quarrel over a bunch of cattle. Six or eight steers had been branded twice, one mark over the other, and the dispute arose over this. Duke, the victim of the shooting, had borne a bad reputation, and the village street was usually more or less uneasy during his infrequent visits. He had killed his man and had been known to boast of it several times in Flynn's saloon. After this last quarrel he had sworn to shoot Copperthwait on sight. The quarrel had occurred in the morning. That afternoon Copperthwait had just left the Eagle hotel to mount his mustang tied to the hitching post in front, when Duke happened to turn the corner.

"Here comes Duke!" a bystander exclaimed. Copperthwait started and caught sight of his adversary. Duke stopped short and put his hand behind him, and Copperthwait, quick as a flash, fired once and put a bullet between Duke's eyes. He had offered no resistance to arrest and now was in the rough little jail near by while the twelve good men and true deliberated in the hot back room under the tin roof of the courthouse.

"I guess my hands are a little too soft to play," said the judge good naturedly, feeling a qualm as to the appropriateness of his joining actively in the sport, "but I'll be umpire if you want me."

The two teams were quickly formed, the Comanches against the Sioux. The Sioux won the toss and took the field, and the Comanches were struck out in one-two-three order. When the sides changed, Hardy, the prosecuting attorney, took the box, and Blake, the junior counsel for the defense, caught him

After much urging the judge had consented to preside over first base, since Mr. Hackett had positively refused to play and had been made umpire by general acclaim. As soon as his honor found himself coatless and on the field he threw himself into the battle with the greatest enthusiasm.

There was many an evidence of "softness" in the condition of the players and a noticeable tendency to let swift balls go by rather than grapple them with fingers unused to the hard impact. Wild throws to bases were not infrequent, and in consequence there were much base stealing and hilarious sarcasm from the players on both teams. The official relations of these men were for the time lost sight of. They were merely healthy, enthusiastic Americans, feeling the joy of tingling blood in their veins, the zest of friendly competition and of physical exercise.

He fired once and put a bullet between Duke's eyes.

The runs were frequent and the errors numerous, and at the end of the third inning so many hands were sore and so many arms growing stiff that it was mutually decided by the teams to call the next inning the last. The score stood eleven runs for the Comanches (the team made up of Judge Hillier, Hardy, Blake, the keeper of the Eagle hotel and one or two other witnesses), and nine for the Sioux, the battery of which was formed by the court clerk and the sheriff, whose heavy long boots, extending far up inside his corduroys, detracted somewhat from any grace of movement he might have had as he lent his entire soul and mind to the clerk's erratic curves, ably backed up by the assistant prosecutor, the stenographer and several witnesses.

At the beginning of the fourth and concluding inning the deputy sheriff had come up with the prisoner, who was not handcuffed, and they became interested onlookers. Copperthwait's nerve had been superb throughout the trial, and he seemed to take an intense interest in the game.

Just after play had commenced Hardy knocked a hot grounder to "short," who fielded the ball fiercely to first base. The baseman caught it, putting Hardy out and then quietly remarked:

"That settles me! Look at this thumb!"

"See here, old man," Hardy panted, examining it, "it's broken."

"Well, never mind. Let somebody take my place. Here, some one—you, Mulligan. Come and take the base. I'm out of it."

"Guess not," said Mulligan, the deputy. "I ain't played ball since"—

"Go on with the game!" cried a dozen others excitedly. "Some one, any one, take the base!"

"Here, Copperthwait, play first base. We've only got to hold 'em down this inning, and we'll beat 'em easy. There's one out already."

Copperthwait looked uncertainly at the deputy, then at the judge, and quickly pulled off his coat and stepped to the base. His face showed clearly the prison pallor, and this warm sunlight and fresh air seemed wonderfully sweet to his spirit. Taken suddenly away from the active, vigorous life of the ranch, for seven months confined in a dreary prison, the world had seemed gradually to recede from his ken. This sudden contrast of green open field, ringing with the hearty voices of his fellow men, and the vision of the free, limitless prairie on all sides was a tragic one to the man. He glanced at the players about him, pausing in the game and thinking only of it.

"Go ahead," he said quietly. "I'll play."

The Comanches failed to make a run during the rest of the inning, and when the Sioux came in they made two runs almost at once, tying the score, amid great enthusiasm.

As Copperthwait came to the bat it was evident that the psychological moment of the sport had arrived. Everything had been completely forgotten save the game, and so intense was the interest that the approach of the courthouse janitor was entirely unnoticed. He had come slowly down from the steps and, after a few moments of bewildered surprise, stood leaning against a tree near the catcher, watching the prisoner as he slowly moved the bat backward and forward over the plate.

"One ball!" yelled Mr. Hackett, mopping his neck with his handkerchief.

"Two balls!"

"Strike one!"

"Three balls!"

Crack!

The ball flew straight from the bat high above the right fielder's head, and Copperthwait was safe on second before the ball was fielded in.

The janitor began to grow very uneasy and edged slowly down the field toward the first baseman. The crowd yelled as Copperthwait, still panting, edged off toward third. Harvey turned suddenly and tried to catch him napping, but in his excitement he threw a little wild, the baseman missed it and Copperthwait reached third amid much uproar. The Sioux were all gathered now in a frantic crowd between third and home, yelling like their prototypes, and the Comanches were also noisy.

"Go it, Copperthwait," shouted his team mates. "Get home and we'll win the game! Steady, now! Look out, look out! Don't let them catch you!"

"Now, Hardy," pleaded the judge, "for heaven's sake, play ball! Don't let him make this run!"

"Steady, Hardy!" said the catcher. "Watch my signs."

The janitor had crept up close to first base.

"Say, judge," he whispered to his honor, who was now dancing like an Indian and watching every move of the pitcher and Copperthwait with devouring anxiety—"say, judge, the jury has come in and is ready with the verdict."

"Oh, to h— with the jury!" snapped out the judge. "Go on with the game!"

Hardy slammed in the ball straight over the plate, the baseman bunted it for a sacrifice hit and Copperthwait, who had crept nearly halfway, rushed in and slid triumphantly to the plate on his stomach.

"Safe!" yelled the umpire, and pandemonium broke loose.

"I guess safe's the word, all right," muttered the janitor to the deputy, who had instantly started for the prisoner. "I had a wink from the foreman of the jury as he came in."

Cloves In Church.

"When I was a boy the whole family went to church," says a Kansas City man. "We lived in the country, and every Sabbath morning the family coach was pulled out, a team hitched to it, and the family was piled in. The roads were awful, but that made no difference; he had to go.

"I well remember that mother put on her Sunday dress. It was a black silk, and somewhere in it there was a pocket and in the pocket a handkerchief and in the handkerchief some cloves. When we got to the church I remember we went up in front, where my father had a pew.

"When the preacher got going I also remember that some of us children would begin to get sleepy, and then I know that mother would take out that handkerchief and give out a clove to each one of us youngsters to keep us awake. I was thinking about it just the other day, and I just wondered if a child or a man in these modern times would take a clove out of his handkerchief or pocket in church and put it in his mouth what in the world his neighbor would think of him."—Kansas City Journal.

Too Busy to Grow.

A small office boy who had worked in the same position for two years on a salary of $3 a week finally plucked up enough courage to ask for an increase in wages.

"How much more would you like to have?" inquired his employer.

"Well," answered the lad, "I don't think $2 more a week would be too much."

"Well, you seem to me a rather small boy to be earning $5 a week," remarked his employer.

"I suppose I do. I know I'm small for my age," the boy explained, "but, to tell you the truth, since I've been here I haven't had time to grow."

He got the raise.—St. Nicholas.

Underwear and Chills.

The reasons for the flannel underwear preventing chilling are these: The material is a bad conductor of heat; hence it retains in itself the heat acquired from the body, and this heat is largely given to the moisture absorbed. Flannel also absorbs more moisture than an equal thickness of cotton or linen, and it retains moisture better than either. Now, the passing away of moisture into the air always means the cooling of the surface from which it passes. Taking an ordinary thin garment of linen or cotton, the loss of moisture may be so rapid as to cause a very great cooling, amounting, so far as the skin itself is concerned, to a chill.

Disadvantages of Rubber Tires.

Usually the rubber tire which seems destined to spread a cushion over the whole earth is considered an unmixed blessing, but, like other benefits, it carries with it new dangers. In chronicling a collision between a bicyclist and a buggy in the night recently, The Grand Valley Star says: "In the good old time before noiseless rubber tired buggies came into use, an approaching rig was generally heralded by a rattling noise, and collisions were not so liable. Nowadays drivers have to keep ears and eyes alert lest in turning a dark or sharp corner an approaching rig crashes into you."

This Proves that Corrugation Gives One-Third More Heating Surface

A string laid close over a corrugated surface covers a distance one third greater than when stretched over the same surface flat. The Happy Thought Range has a corrugated oven-lining, exclusively its own patent, and the above simple experiment proves that such corrugation gives one third more heating surface to the oven. That's one reason why the does its work one third more thoroughly, one third more quickly, and with one third less fuel expense than any other stove. Every Happy Thought burns coal or wood.

Didn't Like It.

The abhorrence of respectable British persons for the synonym for "sanguinary" is almost as extraordinary as its popularity with the lower classes. In days gone by O'Connell spoke of the "base, bloody and brutal Whigs," and the Times in reporting him rendered it very ingeniously, with a view to exhibit his bad language, as the "base, b— and brutal Whigs."

The Mississippi.

Mississippi was originally Mecht Sebe, "Father of Waters." It was first spelled Misisipi by Tabott, a Jesuit explorer, and one consonant after another has been since added until it is now loaded down. The Choctaws called it the "Long river;" the Illinois Indians knew it as the "Great Fish river;" on old maps it is designated as La Grande riviere, Riviere Conception, Riviere Baude, Fleuve St. Louis, Rio del Esperitu Santo, Rio Escondido and many other names. The Indian tribes that lived on its banks named different sections to please themselves, and it is said that from its source to its mouth it was originally called by more than 100 names. Some philologists doubt the correctness of the translations given above and commonly received and think the original word means "all the rivers of the earth."

A Favored Instrument.

The story is told of a newly rich woman who on the occasion of her daughter's wedding gave a large reception, for which music was furnished by an orchestra of twelve pieces. The leader of this orchestra was a violinist who had achieved a social as well as a professional success, and the rich woman evidently wished to recognize this fact and make clear her knowledge of it. When the evening was half over the butler approached the musicians, who were having a short intermission, and in his loftiest manner he said after referring to a paper in his hand:

"The violin eats in the dining room; the rest of the instruments eats in the pantry."

You need it to restore your nerves and to enrich your depleted blood.

The strongest reason why you need Ferrozone is because it will build up your run-down system and make you well.

It's because we know Ferrozone is absolutely certain to cure that we urge everyone in poor health to use it. If depressed, tired, nervous, sleepless, Ferrozone will make you cheery, bright and happy, because it will make you well.

FERROZONE
A Good Appetizer.

MR. AUBREY E. TEMPLEMAN, of Machias, writes: "I have found the greatest satisfaction in using Ferrozone, and consider it is the best tonic made. I was all run down a few months ago, and in a very miserable state of health. I took a few boxes of Ferrozone, and was surprised at the result. Ferrozone drove away that dull, heavy feeling, and put my system in splendid order. I am never nervous or sleepless, and have a hearty appetite. This is all due to Ferrozone, which I recommend in the strongest way possible."

FERROZONE
Gives Real Vigor.

MRS. NORMAN MACADAM, of Bridgeport, writes: "I am in good health to-day as the result of Ferrozone. Before using Ferrozone I was tired and miserable, lacked energy and ambition. But Ferrozone altered all that. It has built up my system, and given me more real vigor than I ever had before. Ferrozone is a good tonic."

Ferrozone Makes the Weak Strong—the Sick Well.

Ferrozone is sold only in 50c boxes, containing 50 Ferrozone Tablets. Six boxes for $2.50. At all dealers or by mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U.S.A., and Kingston, Ont.

In a Class by Itself

It is quite true FERROL is an emulsion of Cod Liver Oil and a particularly good one at that. But it combines Iron and Phosphorus with the Oil, and these are just what are needed to make the emulsion perfect and they are just what all other emulsions lack.

Symposium Of Leading Laymen Upon Church's Relation To The Community

Working Laymen of the Different Churches Express Opinions On This Subject.

Aftermath of Tuesday Night's Meeting Where Church Union Was Discussed.

General Opinion Is In Favour of Return to Ward System of Electing Aldermen.

In view of the remarkable gathering in St. John's school house on Tuesday evening, composed of earnest and influential representatives, clerical and lay, of all the Protestant churches in the city; in view of the spirit of concord and accord developed in the discussion of the subject, "How can the church best serve the community"; in view of the hopefulness of the ecclesiastical entente foreshadowed by the occasion; in view of all these considerations, The Examiner, always solicitous of promoting the advance of every movement promising to benefit the community, invited answers to the questions subjoined. That this solicitude is appreciated is shown by the following introduction to one of the letters of reply, addressed to The Examiner: "Before answering your questions, let me congratulate you on the warm interest you persistently take in all matters pertaining to the general well-being of Peterborough, and express the hope that you may long live to wield a vigorous pen in the promotion of good citizenship."

These questions arose out of the little informal discussion upon the subject mentioned, and with no extraneous suggestion, but solely from a desire, on the part of The Examiner, to maintain interest in what, according to the best thought of the city, promises, if followed out, to lead to results of far-reaching beneficence. If the cordial, commendable and, in some cases, enthusiastic sentiments expressed at the meeting, stood for anything beyond academic utterances, they may be well translated into something tangible in the way of action. The responses made to the questions proposed, consisting, as they do, of the deliberate opinions of one prominent member of nearly every Protestant church congregation in the city, are encouraging. If they are not practical in essence, they tend to practicality and to provoking discussion, which is a potent means of eliciting valuable ideas. These are the questions submitted, and answered below:

1.—Looking over the past, do you consider the attitude of the Protestant Churches towards the promotion of the welfare of the community as a whole as what it should be, or are you satisfied with past conditions; if not, is the time ripe for a definite advance?

2.—What is your general impression of the effect of the meeting held on Tuesday last? Is it likely to have any permanent results?

3.—It was suggested at the above meeting that sufficient encouragement was not given to men in public life—in what definite ways do you consider that such encouragement may be given? By what other means can men of administrative powers and high ideals be induced to offer themselves for public service?

4.—What is your opinion of election of councillors by general vote as contrasted with the ward system?

5.—Towards what definite objects

Y. M. C. A. OPENING RECEPTION

Y. M. C. A. Building in Which the Opening Reception Was Held Last Night. The Association Starts the Season With Bright Prospects.

The general trend of opinion, as expressed in the subjoined interviews from prominent laymen of the several churches, is that the churches have not lived up to their powers and opportunities in serving the best interests of the community, and that better results in this direction can be effected by a closer intimacy of relations between the churches and more active co-operation, such co-operation to include measures to improve civic representation, and change the general civic condition. A plea is made for more sympathetic and tolerant treatment of citizens who serve the community in a representative capacity.

Bank Of Trench Caved In; Boy Had Narrow Escape

Oliver Guerin Was Partially Buried in Gas Company's Trench—Rescued After Fifteen Minutes' Digging—Injuries Not Serious.

Oliver Guerin, a young lad employed as water-boy with the gang laying gas mains on Simcoe street for the Peterborough Light and Power Company, met with a very painful accident this morning. He was walking at the bottom of the trench near the corner of George and Simcoe streets, when, suddenly, the south bank caved in, covering the boy to his shoulders. The workmen employed a little to the east of the cave-in rushed at once to his assistance, but the earth had packed in closely around the boy, and it took fifteen minutes' work to release him from his predicament. Guerin was grey, a workor all the time, and was almost unconscious when rescued. A big crowd quickly collected around the trench.

His injuries did not appear to be serious when examined in Ormond & Wilgh's drug store, where he was carried. He complained of a sore back, and his legs were bruised and crushed by the pressure of the earth. The boy was taken in a cab to his home on Crescent street, where he was attended by Dr. McGrath.

Victoria County Police Magistrate's Sudden Death

Mr. John McSweyn Died While on Duty at Coboconk Yesterday—In Office Only a Short Time.

Examiner Special.

Lindsay, Oct. 12.—When the unexpected news was reported around town this morning that Mr. John McSweyn, Police Magistrate for the County of Victoria, was dead, it was received with incredulity by those of his friends who had seen and talked with him but a day or two previous, when he appeared to be in his usual state of health. Yet the sad news proved to be too true.

Mr. McSweyn had gone to Coboconk on Wednesday evening on the side in his official capacity, but was compelled to abandon the court on account of illness. His condition grew worse and word was communicated to his home in Lindsay, when his daughter, Miss Virgie, left to wait on him. During the night, Mr. McSweyn's condition grew steadily worse, and he passed away early this morning.

An Interesting Men's Meeting

Prof. Farquhar to Speak at Y. M. C. A. To-morrow.

The Peterborough Y.M.C.A. will be favored to-morrow by a visit from Prof. J. N. Farquhar of Calcutta, Y.M.C.A. representative there for the association in Ontario and Quebec. Mr. Farquhar will give two addresses to the Y.M.C.A. on Sunday, speaking to the boys at 10 o'clock, and to men at 4 o'clock. Special music will be rendered on both occasions. An effort will be made to take in as many visitors as possible.

Peterboro' Boy's Work In The West

Mr. G. W. Anderson is Now Principal of Business College.

The friends in the city of Mr. G. W. Anderson, an old Peterborough boy who left here about seven years ago for the American West, will be pleased to learn of his success in business. Mr. Anderson, after spending a few months in Dakota, settled in Crookston, Minn., where he earned for himself a good business education. After several years of practical experience in both office and business college work, he moved to Prince Albert, Sask., and opened a business college in that enterprising city, which has proved very successful.

Mr. Anderson has succeeded in placing graduates in several of the most responsible positions in Prince Albert and adjacent towns, and is assured that they are giving good satisfaction. The school opened for fall and winter season on September 1, and is already filled and in good running order.

Young Men's Guild Hold Meeting

Charlotte Street Young Men Discuss Matters of Interest.

The initial meeting of the Young Men's Guild of the Charlotte street Methodist church, was held in the Guild room last evening. The meeting was merely for the purpose of making a beginning for the season's work. Matters of general interest were discussed but details were left for the first regular meeting to be held in the Guild Room on October 23rd. Nomination and election of officers will take place and the season's work outlined.

Local Lord's Day Alliance Branch

Subscription Envelopes Distributed To-morrow.

Announcements will be made from the various pulpits of the city to-morrow, and subscription envelopes distributed in the respective churches for contributions to the work of the Dominion Lord's Day Alliance. Canada has now the best Lord's Day Act on her Statute books of any country in the world, the obtaining of which necessitated a large sum of legitimate expense. It is hoped that the citizens of Peterborough will aid liberally in defraying the same, and make their returns by the 25th of October to

Ontario Bank Depositors' Interests Absolutely Safe

The Institution Was This Morning Absorbed by Bank of Montreal—Ontario Bank No More.

Some Anxiety Among Local Depositors, But No Fear Need Be Felt Now.

A Modest Run on the Bank This Morning Relieved by News of the Absorption.

Mr. K. Eardly-Wilmot manager of the Peterborough branch of the Bank Of Montreal to-day received at 12:45 a despatch from Mr. E. S. Clouston, General Manager, stating that the Bank of Montreal had assumed all the liabilities of the Ontario Bank.

The rumour that became current in the city last night through an announcement in a Toronto evening journal that the Ontario Bank was in financial difficulties aroused a great deal of surprise and interest. This was to be expected since the Peterborough Branch is one of the largest of the bank in the province, and does a very large business with a very large list of clients. This city was also the former home of the General Manager, Mr. C. McGill, and besides there were many considerable holders of stock, here. All these things combined served to add interest to the circumstances.

This morning the vague rumours of the previous night became a certainty, and the news apparently had rapidly spread during the night and early morning, for when the bank opened its doors at 10 o'clock there was a crush in the corroidors of depositors anxious to secure the cash to their credit. The Savings Bank Department seemed a special centre of attraction. Here the crush was composed largely of women, girls and youths. About 10.30 Manager Crane announced that the responsibilities of the bank in respect of depositors had been resumed by the Bank of Montreal, and that that building was not the Ontario Bank, but the Bank of Montreal. This announcement temporarily allayed the excitement and there was a considerable withdrawal of depositors, but enough, who could not realize that their money was as safe as if in the Bank of England, remained to constitute a crush. The run continued, with a decided accession of intensity when at noon the closing of the factories released hundreds of the operatives, very many of whom joined the crowd that quietly, but tenaciously besieged the wickets, especially of the Savings Department.

In consequence of the large withdrawals the deposit accounts of the other city banks have had considerable accession, the Bank of Montreal naturally getting the bulk of the new accounts. Many deposited their withdrawn savings in the Post Office Savings Branch.

All depositors, no matter what the amount of their interests in the bank, can rest perfectly assured that they do not incur the slightest risk of losing a single cent. The Globe says that the Ontario Bank has been ab

DEPOSITORS PROTECTED.

The interests of every depositor in the Ontario Bank are fully protected by the joint action of the various other banks, through the Bank of Montreal, who have come to the rescue and jointly agreed to protect depositors, whose accounts are as safe as if they were placed in the Bank of England.

Officials Appointed For The Examiner Road Race

Final Instructions to Those Who Will Compete in This Event—The Course—Contestants Will Go To Lakefield On 8.30 G. T. R. Train.

The "Examiner Cup" which will be given by Hon. J. R. Stratton to the winner of the Examiner Road Race, to be held for one year, has arrived in the city and is now on exhibition in the window of W. A. Sanderson & Co., with the other prizes, a ring for first place, and a stick pin for the one who finishes second. The two latter prizes will be the absolute property of those winning them. The officials have been secured for the race, and are as follows:—

Starter, at Lakefield—Mr. J. D. Craig, assisted by Mr. R. P. Davidson, of Lakefield.

Time-keeper—Mr. W. E. Watson.

Judge at finish—Mr. R. M. Roy.

The race will start from the Tremont House, (W Leahy's Hotel) Lakefield and the course will be through the village to the bridge, across the river and canal, west to Phelan's Corners, and south in the township of Smith to Peterborough, past Nassau and along Water street to Smith, west on Smith to [illegible] and south on George to the Examiner office in front of which the finish will be made.

The competitors will leave the city on the G.T.R. train at 8.30, for Lakefield, and a conveyance will be at the latter village for the purpose of bringing the clothing and effects of the runners to the city. This rig will follow the runners, and any who become exhausted on the way will be picked up and brought to the city. The starter will also [illegible] on this [illegible], and will act as judge of the course.

The start will be made about 10.30 and the winner will reach the finishing line about noon, it is expected.

There were this morning ten entries, and up to 12 o'clock to-night will be allowed to receive any further entries. It is expected that several others will come in before that time. The prospects are that the time made in this race will compare very favourably with that in the old established races in the province.

The Examiner issues a general invitation to the public to witness the finish of the race, which will be over in ample time to allow the spectators to eat their holiday dinner at the usual time.

Alleged Case Of Ill Treatment

North Monaghan Family in Domestic Difficulty.

A case of alleged ill-treatment by a husband to his wife and daughter will come up before County Police Magistrate Edmison some time next week. The family are well known residents of North Monaghan and the case is of [illegible] serious nature.

The [illegible] statements are to the effect that her husband has beaten her and her daughter and smashed various things about the house.

NATIONAL AND LOCAL

The Trent Canal with only partial completion is justifying itself as a factor in local prosperity. The quantity of local traffic that is, and has been, developing, serves to show that when once the canal is completed not only Peterborough but all the country tributary to the line of canal will receive substantial benefits and internal trade be vastly benefitted. But great as the local benefit is certain to be, it will be as nothing compared to the national benefit. Though the value of the Trent Canal as a part of a through water route for grain from Port Arthur or Fort William to the seaboard is not fully appreciated, that value still exists. We have but touched the fringe of the wheat production possibilities of the Northwest. Perhaps only a tenth of the land available for the growing of wheat, is in use, yet we have every avenue of transportation congested—with less than a hundred millions of bushels. What will the conditions be when the wheat out-put amounts to five hundred million which it promises to do in the not remote future? The building of a new grain line by the C.P.R. from Georgian Bay to Peterborough, the double-tracking of the Grand Trunk line south from Midland will afford only a temporary relief, and the enlargement of the Welland Canal will not represent all the transportation sure to be demanded within a few years. Under such circumstances the opening and operation of the Trent Canal will be of immense importance as an auxiliary to the work of transportation. When so much transportation is needed the wisdom of opening a route which has such large possibilities, cannot be well criticised. The usefulness of the Trent Canal has passed beyond the stage of discussion: the stage of action has been reached.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The Toronto Star has a fine front page photograph of the nine provincial Oliver Twists, who visited Ottawa, asking for "more."

The mixing of grain in the Northwest elevators seems to produce as much trouble as the mixing of grain in its liquified form is said to cause.

There is a demand that more stringent legislation be enacted which would provide better machinery for dealing with the matter of pure milk supply. It should be made clear that watery milk is a misdemeanor and the use of chemical preservatives a crime. The health of the people is paramount to any and all considerations of policy gain, especially by cats that imperil the public health.

Peterborough feels as if it were the tenderfoot when frost first only pays a fleeting suppliment to the air. In the state of Michigan however the thermometer to-day does a slump. Late fruit and vegetable crops were destroyed. Even in the gardens of Ontario, the Niagara district, the first played havoc with the late grape crop. Peterborough though it experiences a comparatively northern position, got off rather easily in the way of frost. We seem, too, to be out of the storm belt. While the western and north-western part of the province was in the grip of a sleet-laden gale, we had only a sharp blow and just about enough snow for a sample—about equal to a heavy white frost.

While the labour riot with loss of life at Buckingham, Quebec, is deplorable, yet the hostility between the strikers and the police was quite evanescent, shewing that the collision did not result from premeditated violence, but was the outcome of a sudden ebullition of temper, which quickly subsided. It was as nothing compared with the truculent and organized resistance to authority which distinguished Chicago strike disturbances.

Pritchett, the man who figured so notoriously and so unpleasantly in the celebrated West Elgin disclosures, turns up as a star witness in the London business. It is certain things were bad enough in the London contest, but, says the Brantford Expositor, Pritchett is a man whom one of the judges who formed the West Elgin commission dubbed as self-confessed liar, and whose statements as to the number of ballots he switched were found to be utterly discredited by the scrutiny of the ballots themselves, which took place at Osgoode Hall.

The Woman's Council sitting in Hamilton feels the effects of the tea. Yesterday they sat on the press especially condemning, "Buster Brown" pictures and "quack" advertisements. Their strictures may be to a certain extent, deserved, but there are considerations that the women ignore. If the ladies were publishing a struggling country newspaper, and had to face the rank of hard-working employees who line up in front of the cashier's desk on Friday evenings, expecting as they have a right to do, that they will be paid, Jones hair tonic, warranted to grow hair on a hard hat, or some such infallible remedy would not appear so heinous in their eyes. If quack medicines which are to cure everything fail to make good their claims, they sin in good company, for even the doctors do not cure everything they put their hands to.

Leading Laymen Church's Relation To Community

ated in the past against its taking an active part in promoting the welfare of the community as a whole. The attitude of the churches has been more or less insular and denominational. Their guns and efforts have centred in the advancement of the contracted interests of their own communions rather than of those of the municipality at large. I believe the present an opportune time for a change in this respect for several reasons. The need of the co-operation of strong forces against the growth of an unhealthy spirit in public life was never, perhaps, more keenly felt by right-minded men than at the present. The marvellous expansion of our great Northwest and the coming to our shores of a mass of heterogeneous peoples, many from unenlightened lands, demands the spiritual and material strength of an undivided church. Further, the sentiments of tolerance, sympathy and unity are more general and intense among the churches to-day than ever before.

2. The meeting on Tuesday evening last cannot, I think, but have prominent results. There will be in the future less danger on the part of any church of mistrusting the motives and plans of the other churches. The occasion will result in a more friendly feeling among the several bodies represented. Such social intercourse must tend to make it easier for them to be brought into active co-operation. They will be hereafter quite likely to fly at one another's throats, but very likely to eat one another's dinners. There was also, I have reason to believe, an awakening of a keener sense of the church's civic responsibilities and duties.

3. Encouragement might be given to men of the right fibre to enter public life, through the organization of a citizens or ratepayers association, whose function it would be to select men best fitted for municipal office, men of practical capacity and sound principles, and to help to bring about their elections; to induce good men to remain in public life as Aldermen even after they have attained the honour of chief magistracy, and to stand in the way of the choice of time-servers. Further inducement would be found if there were a less general disposition to impute evil motives to public men without knowledge of facts, to malign them in public print from motives of personal or political malice, and to deal out uncharitable judgments on them in the shop, in the street, or in the home.

I prefer the election of councillors by general vote, believing that any mode of election that facilitates or encourages canvassing for votes is to be deprecated. This practice frequently enables men to get into the council who have no higher aim than to satisfy some personal ambition or to promote some petty local scheme.

5. (a) The elevation of the character of the council by helping to bring about the election of suitable candidates, men of business ability and experience, prompted by high moral aims and genuinely interested in the all-round well-being of the community.

(b) Stimulating and sustaining a healthy and intelligent public opinion through the medium of the press, of the schools, of the pulpits and of public platforms; aiming at making the bulk of the people intelligent, high-minded, truthful, industrious, frugal-minded and devoted to both the immaterial and the material interests of the city.

(c) To foster harmonious relations between employers and employed, and when differences arise, to assist as far as practicable in bringing about a prompt amicable settlement.

(d) To pay attention to the public amusements and sports of the city, discouraging and, where possible, preventing all that promote ill-health, the forming of bad habits, or the foolish expenditure of savings, but encouraging all those that have proved their claim to general approval.

J. JEFFRIES,
Methodist, George Street.

WARD SYSTEM THE BEST METHOD IN MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS—DR. MORRISON

1. The churches have never been satisfied with their past work, nor ever will be until the whole world hears the gospel and is regenerated. It seems to me that the time is at hand when greater good will be accomplished by the churches because the spirit of unity is now prevailing in the several denominations, and we all know that unity is strength.

2. Tuesday night's meeting was a decided success, if for no other reason than that it brought ministers and laymen of the different denominations together, and engendered in their souls a spirit of brotherly love and Christian charity. While it drifted from its original object, yet it developed a wonderful feeling for church unity. As for its permanent results, it ought to have many.

3. Men in public life are often too severely criticised, and that by writers in the press who have not the boldness to sign their names, and by the man on the street who does not understand the whole question under discussion. The majority of men are so engrossed with their business affairs that they do not care to sacrifice their time in so thankless job of serving the public, and besides, they prefer the quiet evening in the home or in the social circle rather than continue the day's work far into the night, transacting the affairs of the city. The remedy probably lies in hearty support from the press and general commendation from the people.

4. My opinion is that the ward system for electing aldermen is the more preferable. You will get more men to run for the Council, and a better distribution of the aldermen. Busy men hesitate to offer themselves as candidates for the general vote, knowing that they must canvas in the wards where they are not known, while in many instances they could count on sure election in their own ward without any effort of their own.

M. A. MORRISON,
Charlotte Street Methodist Church.

MAJORITY OF PUBLIC MEN UNSUITABLE FOR POSITIONS THEY OCCUPY

1. I do not consider the attitude of the Protestant churches towards the promotion of the welfare of the community, as a whole, what it should have been in the past. It is undoubtedly time for the churches to take more interest in the well-being, spiritually and morally, of the masses.

2. If the gentlemen who were present were honest in the opinions they expressed, the effects of the meeting cannot be otherwise than beneficial, and must eventually bring about permanent results, as unity is certainly strength.

3. The men in public life, in the majority of cases, are not the men suitable for the position held by them.

Greater care should be taken at nominations. We should have a larger attendance of representative men, who have a real interest in the public welfare, and will be judicious in the selection of candidates. A council should be representative of the classes, but the best men of each class.

4. The ward system is greatly superior, as stated at the meeting. "Men are better known in their own ward."

5. Progress, tempered with moderation, a decided interest in all things pertaining to the welfare of our citizens, and the liberal use of our every resource, will place the city be able to control with, and I resend to the outside world, a creditable showing.

Synopsis Of Canadian North-Wes
HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

Any even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the Northwest Provinces, excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry may be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land is situate.

Homestead Duties.—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:—

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased) of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

Application for patent should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa of his intention to do so.

A LEIPZIG GRADUATE
Wm. Norman Andrews, Managing Director of the Brantford Conservatory of Music, gives his Opinion of a well known Canadian Piano.

The Williams Piano Company have perhaps the most extensive list of testimonial letters in regard to the merits of the New Scale Williams Piano from Conservatories of Music and Musical and other Educational Institutions than any other Piano manufactured in Canada.

Mr. Wm. Norman Andrews, Managing Director of the Brantford Conservatory of Music is the latest one to add his words in favor of this great Canadian Piano. His letter is given below:

Conservatory of Music

"For some time I have had a New Scale Williams Piano in the Brantford Conservatory of Music, and can testify to its excellent qualities as one of the best of Canadian Pianos."

Sale of the Cubitt Stock of Wall Papers

—We have struck the right keynote in selling borders and wall papers at the same price. Cubbit's stock of wall paper is selling like "hot cakes" at Stratton's. Remember we have only 10,000 rolls of this paper at half price. Mostly all new patterns, purchased within the year from the leading Montreal wall paper makers. Remember the prices,—papers per roll 3c., borders per roll 3c., papers per roll 5c., borders per roll 5c., papers per roll 10c., borders per roll 10c. and and 8c. Just think what this means —a room papered for less than half a dollar at one price, and less than one dollar at the other. Come early any day this week and bring the size of your room. A. H. Stratton & Co., 417 George street.

Mr. Rich. Foster Had Operation

SUFFERED FOR YEARS WITH A COMPLICATION OF PELVIC DISEASES.

Robust Women Who Owe Their Restored Health and Usefulness to Pe-ru-na.

Read the Letters of Gratitude From Women Who Have Been Benefited By Dr. Hartman's Advice.

A Multitude of Such Letters Are Received Every Year.

A TYPICAL LETTER.

Mrs. Carry Peduzzi, Linstad, N. Dak., writes:

"I take pleasure in telling you that through your wonderful medicine I am entirely cured of catarrh of the stomach and pelvic organs.

"I was so rundown on account of my illness that I could no longer attend to my housework. I could not eat or sleep and had terrible pain in my back.

"I took Peruna and in five months I was well. I have not felt so well for a long time.

"I wish everyone who is sick would take Peruna and thus recover their health.

"I have Peruna in the house continually. I thank you for all that you have done for me."

A Medicine of Merit.

Miss Katie A. Washer, 1706 Prentice street, Louisville, Ky., writes:

"As my experience has been so favorable from the use of Peruna, I unhesitatingly state that I believe that it is a medicine of unquestioned merit for all the ills that we women suffer from.

"I find that it strengthens and infuses new life into the system, and whenever I feel rundown or over-tired, a few doses of Peruna will strengthen me again."

Found a Friend in Need—Pe-ru-na.

Mrs. Florence Aitkens, 1104 Front St., Toledo, Ohio, writes:

"Peruna cured me of catarrh of the uterus. I took about four bottles when I noticed an improvement and five bottles cured me.

"I do not know what I would have been like to-day had I not obtained Peruna, for I was in a terrible state.

"I had pains all over and was cross and irritable. I was losing hope of ever being well again.

"I am to-day a well woman after suffering for nine months. I cannot tell you how happy I feel, but you will know.

"Peruna is the best medicine on earth.

"My husband is now taking it and I will always keep Peruna in my house.

"Peruna is the best friend I ever had. It cured me."

America is the Land of Nervous Women.

The majority of women are nervous because they suffer from some form of pelvic catarrh.

The greatest obstacle in the way of recovery is that they do not understand that catarrh is the main source of their illness.

Women who are in doubt as to their ailments should write to Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio, who will give their letters prompt attention, without charge.

Miss Anna McGinn, 161 Plain street, Providence, R. I., writes:

"I wish to let you know of the good your medicine has done for me.

"I had what the doctors called heart trouble. I had been doctoring for a year before I tried your Peruna.

"I got a bottle of your Peruna and after a week's use of it I began to feel better. I could not eat, sleep, or work, but I have at last found that the medicine that will cure me is Peruna."

The Grand Trunk Link Line Is Now Completed

Will Mean a Saving of Time on Grain Shipments From Midland to Georgian Bay.

Examiner Special.

Lindsay, Oct. 13th. — The new link in the Grand Trunk line, or what is more commonly known as the "short cut," in the grain route to Midland, was opened up for traffic yesterday for the first time, when a double header arrived in the morning and later on in the day a Grand Trunk official passenger car passed down the line and went through to Belleville. Now that the short cut has been opened a great deal of the traffic which formerly came over the long grade on Victoria avenue, will henceforth be switched on to the new route. It will mean a great deal less labour and a decrease in the cost. Contractor Johnston has made good progress on the cut and has done the work well. All the ballasting material was secured from a large pit at Fenelon Falls, and is of the best quality. The road has been solidly built for heavy traffic.

Pickpocket Pays Costs And Is Discharged

Wept in Court for Fear of Heavy Sentence—His Character Not as Black as Was Expected—Left for His Home In Montreal.

Louis Delorimier, the Lower Canadian pickpocket, who was arrested last Saturday at the C.P.R. station for stealing $5 from Burns, a shantyman, was to-day allowed to go on suspended sentence, after paying his fine and costs.

Examiner readers will recollect that Delorimier was taken in custody last Saturday about noon by P. C. Newhill, charged with the above offence, and was found guilty of the theft by Magistrate Dumble at a hearing in the afternoon. He was remanded for a week, and this morning was occupied the prisoner's box.

His feelings, as he watched every move of the Magistrate, got the better of him, and he burst into sobs, and, in a melancholy tone, said that "he had never robbed nobody," and "it was whisky done it."

The Chief had written to the police authorities in Montreal, and learned from Silas T. Carpenter, Chief of Detectives, that Delorimier has no criminal record against him, but has been arrested for drunkenness several times. He was suspected of stealing 14 cords of wood and 10 tons of coal from the corporation of Montreal, but he had left the city before he was convicted.

The Magistrate allowed him to go on suspended sentence, giving him some good advice and assessing him $4.50, which included costs. The prisoner's face soon lit up with smiles, as he thanked His Worship and required the road to the station.

Port Hope Has Visions Of Future Greatness

Believes It Will Be Centre For Three Railways—C. P. R., C. N. R. and G. T. R. To Run Into That Town—The Terminus of the Lake Ferry.

Examiner Special

Port Hope, Oct 13 — The prospects of Port Hope becoming a great railway centre are at present very bright. The spur line of the Grand Trunk Railway is practically assured and consequently Port Hope will in all probability become the terminus of the trans-lake ferry, and an important divisional point of the G. T. R. with a new station, and other facilities. At the present time the Canadian Northern Railway, and the Canadian Pacific Railway, are also both engaged in surveying, preparatory to building lines through Port Hope, where large station will be erected.

Yesterday Mr. D. Hijmon, a C. P. R. engineer with a surveying gang of ten men, arrived in town. He will make Port Hope his headquarters while surveying a line for the C. P. R. from Newtonville to Cobourg. This line will be part of the through line from Montreal to Toronto, which the C. P. R. contemplates building in the near future.

Last week a party of surveyors of the Canadian Northern Railway were also engaged in locating a route for that line through Port Hope. They have staked out a line on the northern limits of the town, which passes through the farm of Messrs. Waddell, Harcourt, Crowhurst and Choat, and crosses the electric light pond about two thirds toward the north end of the pond.

Frank R. Clark's New Jewellery

A Former Successful Peterboro' Jeweller Opens a New Store.

Another important addition to Peterborough's jewellery stores was opened to-day on the corner of George and Brock streets, west side, a few doors north of the premises of the Canadian Express and Telegraph Company.

Mr. Frank R. Clarke, the proprietor, is one of Peterborough's "Old Boys," having carried on a jewellery business here about 20 years ago, on Simcoe street, next to W. H. Hamilton's grocery store. He afterwards disposed of his business and went to Warkworth, where he did a very successful trade in the same line, as well as in Stirling, where he owned a branch store. About six months ago he had a good offer to sell out, which he did, and since returned to his first love, and has become a resident of Peterborough again. Having decided to remain here, Mr. Clarke built himself a new residence on Bolivar street, and the next step he takes is to branch out in a new jewellery store on George street. These premises have been undergoing suitable changes and improvements for the past few weeks. The interior has been artistically decorated and fitted with up-to-date jewellery accessories, including handsome plate glass silent salesmen, wall cabinets and fixtures. Mr. Clarke's new stock has been bought for cash and selected with personal regards to the demands of this community. It includes the most elaborate goods in fine gold watches, diamonds, rare gems, presentation gifts, clocks, jewellery and fancy goods, which Mr. Clark claims have been marked at very moderate prices. The public is asked to examine this stock and learn something of the new firm's methods. Mrs Clarke's son is associated with him in the business. See advertisement.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

THE MERRY MAIDENS

The "Merry Maidens," or the "Sunny Side of Life," the play organized in Ottawa, and whose members consisted mostly of local girls, who's "mammas" had forbidden them to join the troupe, and who skipped out, causing loads of trouble for Chief Officer Keane and Chief de la Rondo, is said to have struck that line of hard luck which often follows in the wake of theatrical companies. Six or seven of the girls, who indignantly refused to forsake the stage when requested to do so by the authorities, have returned to the city sadder and wiser as the result of their experience as actresses. More are said to be on their way home, and news has reached Mr. Keane to the effect that in one town where the managers of the "Merry Maidens" expected to reap a harvest in box-office receipts, they became stranded.

"The show didn't pay," one of the "chorusses" said to a Citizen reporter. "We made a little money in one or two of the towns visited, but in other places the majority of the audiences were the stage hands, the caretakers and the bill boys. The managers got most of the money, and we, the ordinary members of the troupe, got little more than thanks. Those backing the show lost all the money that they ventured on the affair, and it is safe betting that the runaway girls, of whom so much has been heard, will be glad to get home."

Most of the girls who joined the company were aged from 15 to 20. They lived in Ottawa, working around town, and the posters of the company were loud and conspicuous, bearing in box-car letters advice to the townspeople to "See our pretty girls."—Ottawa Citizen.

HIS STUDIES ENDED

One of the members of "The Seminary Girl" Company has a small son who has just commenced his school season in his home town. The youngster came from school the other day, abjuring any future adherence to the golden rule.

"I'm not goin' to be kind and helpful any more!" he declared indignantly.

"Why so, dearie?" was the fond mother's question that elicited the incident which caused the boy's decision.

"It was this way," he began. "Freddie Smith put a tack, with the point up, on teacher's chair. Teacher was just goin' to sit down when I pulled away the chair so that he wouldn't get hurt. When he got up from the floor he licked me, then after school again Freddie licked me again for interferin'. No, I ain't never goin' to be kind to no people no more," he added, with childish multiplicity of negations.

The Baptist Convention A Big Religious Gathering

More Than 300 Delegates Will be Here Next Week to Attend Convention—The List of Visitors—Programme Includes Many Prominent Preachers in Denomination.

The largest church gathering in this city, since the Bay of Quinte Conference of the Methodist church in June, 1904, will be the convention of Ontario and Quebec Baptists, which will open here on Wednesday next, Oct, 17th, and will continue until the 23rd. The sessions will be held in the Murray street Baptist church, and it is expected that more than 300 delegates will be in attendance, including the most prominent Baptists, both preachers and laymen, in Canada. The important question which will be considered by the convention will be the proposal to hold a Dominion Convention sometime in the near future.

A number of former Peterborough pastors will be in the city attending the convention, and on Sunday, Oct. 21st, the majority of the pulpits in the Protestant churches will be occupied by visiting Baptist clergymen.

Referring to the convention, the Canadian Baptist of this week, says: "This is the first time that the Peterborough Baptists have undertaken the task of entertaining the convention, but with heartiness and determination they are giving attention to the matter, and with some assistance from the Gilmour Memorial church, and perhaps a little from those of other denominations, we have no doubt that thy will prove themselves equal to the task. A ready response on the part of the delegates to meet the wishes of the Billeting Committee, will very materially aid those upon whom the burden falls, to provide home for those desirous of entertainment."

The Delegates

The billeting of the delegates to the convention has not been completed yet, owing to the fact that the committee has not been able to secure as yet a sufficient number of responses to the request for entertainment for the visitors. The list of delegates who will be here is as follows:

Fall And Winter Classes Formally Opened At Y.M.C.A.

Introduction of New Physical Director, Mr. Dingman—An Interesting Programme Rendered—Fencing Bout and Basket Ball Game Special Features.

The formal opening of the Y. M. C. A. fall and winter term was held last night, in the gymnasium of the building, and proved to be an opening successful in every respect.

The event was a doubly interesting one, it being also a reception to Mr. E. Dingman, the new physical director, who but recently arrived in the city from Berlin.

More than three hundred were present, who were seated in the gallery of the gymnasium, where the programme could be heard to advantage, and where, also, the games in the arena below, could be easily seen.

The programme was chiefly of a musical character, given by well-known local artists, and every number was received with enthusiasm. The basket ball games which intervened, captured the attention of the audience, and although somewhat one-sided, was nevertheless an exciting exhibition.

Everything is now ready for the opening of the fall classes, which this year are expected to eclipse all others. The classes have been divided into three parts—the junior, intermediate and senior. These will be held on specially arranged evenings, and with Mr. Dingman, who comes to Peterborough highly recommended as director, progress will undoubtedly be made this year in the various lines of gymnasium work. Mr. Dingman is a young man who has had a good deal of experience in the work which he is about to undertake, and will have his work underway in a few days.

Mr. Garnet L. Galley, chairman of the Physical Committee, presided last night, and filled that office in his usual efficient manner. The Y.M. C. A. orchestra was present, and gave three contributions, which were all warmly applauded. After the opening selection, Mr. Galley introduced the new director, who, in a brief address, expressed his pleasure at coming to Peterborough, and at the honour conferred on him by the public reception.

A solo by Miss Rickey was the next contribution, and was one received with appreciation by the audience. A fencing combat between Sergt.-Major Brittain and Mr. J. Fairweather with single sticks, was a number keenly followed. The work of the swordsmen was particularly fine and a novelty to many, who had the pleasure of watching it. Mr. Galley acted as referee, and awarded the bout to Sergt.-Major Britain, who won out by 5 points to 4.

A comic solo by Mr. Wm. Coleman followed the first half of the basket ball game. Mr. Coleman delighted his hearers so much that he was called upon to duplicate his song.

Miss Clara Bellegham gave effectively the vocal solo, "Will you buy my Lavender?" in her clear soprano voice, and she would have been welcomed had she sang again. Miss Clarry presided at the piano as accompanist.

A couple of comic songs by Mr. Charles Coleman, which caught the popular ear, and a selection by the orchestra, closed the evening's programme.

The basket ball game, half of which was played near the beginning, and the other half towards the end of the reception, was by no means the least interesting portion of the event. The Alerts and Arrows—the two teams who figured so much last year in the game—came together, but the latter won easily by 40 to 19. The match was fast and exciting throughout and afforded excellent amusement. Considering that this was their first game, they played excellent ball, and it was only due to the poor shooting ability of the Alerts that the score was so small. The half time score ended 15 to 9 in favour of the winners.

The teams lined up as follows:

Arrows — Darling, Richardson, Dobbin, Cressman, Miller.

Alerts — Green, Fitzgerald, Downing, Emmerson, Staunton.

OBITUARY

HARRY GUERIN

Yesterday afternoon, at 4 o'clock, Harry Guerin, son of Adelore Guerin, passed away at his father's residence, at the age of six months. The bereft parents have the sympathy of all their friends.

The funeral will take place on Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock, from the family residence, 414 McDonel street, to the Roman Catholic Cemetery.

McDonel St. Tile Drain Completed

Sidewalk Replaced Inside the Tree Line.

The labourers who were engaged in putting in cement tile from the corner of Aylmer and McDonel streets to Bethune street, have completed the work. The water, which usually overflowed the road in that section in times of heavy rains, will now have a smooth passage to meet the tile drain from Bethune street down to the creek.

This morning the workmen began replacing the sidewalk which was torn up to permit of the laying of the tile. The sidewalk will, however, be placed inside the tree line to be uniform with the others connecting it at both ends. It is quite probable that a granolithic walk will be constructed there next year.

Chosen Friends Record Initiation

Twenty Four Were Admitted to Order Last Night.

Organizer Friend A. Bradshaw, who has been with us off and on for the past five weeks in the interest of the Order, was successful in bringing in 27 applications and 24 were obligated and initiated into the mysteries of the Order. Peterborough Council congratulates Friend Bradshaw on his good success, and with the assistance of the members, he expects to have another large class for initiation on October 24. Peterborough Council has now about 200 members.

Large Attendance At The Initial Meeting

Ladies' Literary Society of the T. A. S. Have Auspicious Beginning—Good Programme—Address by Rev. Dr. O'Brien.

The T. A. S. Assembly Hall contained one of the largest crowds in its history last evening at the opening of the Ladies' Literary Society in connection with the T. A. S. It is very gratifying to the officers and those connected with the society to see such interest taken in the work so early in the season, and it is to be hoped that the ladies will continue to attend as they have begun. This is the sixth year in the life of the society, and the work it has done has been eminently successful. It not only cultivates a literary and musical taste among its members, but also stimulates the other societies in connection with the T.A.S. This year better programmes will be provided, and the readings or lectures will be made very interesting and instructive.

Miss M. Deanbard, who is the president for the coming year, announced the programme as follows:

Instrumental Duet—Misses Bernice Giroux and Kathleen O'Brien.
Vocal Solo—Miss DeLire.
Vocal Solo—Miss Ball.
Address by Rev. Dr. O'Brien.
Vocal Solo—Miss M. Clancy.
Recitation—Miss M. Keneilly.
Instrumental Selection — Miss E. Taylor.

Miss Clancy sang by request, "Time's Roses," which was well received.

Misses M. Doherty and J. Clancy kindly acted as accompanists.

Rev. Dr. O'Brien, in his address, expressed his pleasure with the enthusiasm and interest the ladies showed in their literary society. He wished to see them persevere in their support of the society, not only by attending, but by actually assisting in the entertainments. He then gave a discourse on books and their influence, but especially on the congregation of the index, with reasons for its existence and with explanations of its duties. This congregation or committee is appointed by the Pope for the purpose of examining books which might have a pernicious influence upon the minds of the people, and of guarding against the circulation among the people of such books. In the society's library were books which were both interesting and beneficial, and which should have an elevating influence upon the readers' minds.

After his address, Miss Deannard, on behalf of the members, thanked Rev. Dr. O'Brien, and announced that at the next regular meeting, two weeks thence, Miss O'Connell would read a paper.

Thirty Bushels Per Acre Western Yield

Mr. Harry Carver, of North Monaghan, Returns From the Northwest and Tells of Great Wheat Yield—Settling Rapidly—Land Increases in Value.

The first member of Peterborough County's contingent of harvesters to the Northwest has returned home, but he is so perfectly delighted with what he saw in the West that he has decided to return again in the spring. Mr. Harry Carver, of North Monaghan, left here on August 14 and went to the West with the excursion from Toronto. The reports which he brings back are very prosaic. In the section where Mr. Carver spent the intervening time between his arrival there and last Saturday, when he left for home, the yield of wheat was from 25 to 30 bushels to the acre, a most satisfactory yield, indeed. The stubble land average 25 bushels, while the summer-fallowed sections went five bushels better.

Mr. Carver was at Limberg, a two-year-old town on the Kirkella branch of the C.P.R., about 315 miles west of Winnipeg. Limberg, while it is only two years of age, is a pretty lusty youngster. There are five stores, one hotel, two blacksmith shops, one barber shop, one implement shop, five elevators, two lumber yards, one bake-shop and one hardware store. There are about three dozen houses and one church.

The land in the vicinity of Limberg has increased in price very rapidly during the last few years, to-day from $25 to $30 an acre being paid for land in this section, while about 12 years ago the same land could have been bought for from $3 to $8.

The wages paid this year were very satisfactory. For a long engagement they averaged $45 per month, while, by the day, from $2 to $2.50 were the ruling figures.

The country looked so good to Mr. Carver that he states his intention of returning in the spring, when he will probably take up land. Homesteads about 100 miles north of Limberg, in the Touchwood Hills, within a few miles of the surveyed route of the Grand Trunk Pacific can be purchased on the usual terms from the Government. The soil is a rich, black loam, and is capable of raising good crops of wheat, as the yield of this year gives evidence.

Want It Outside The Tree Line

Perry Street Residents Are Anxious for a Sidewalk.

Residents on Perry street south, are anxious to have a sidewalk on the outside of the tree line. There is always a pool of water near the present sidewalk at the corner of Bethune street. So that it is almost impossible to drive up to the sidewalk. Connection could not be made with the sewer to drain off this water as the sewer is already over burdened. The City Engineer is dealing with the matter.

The New York Stock Market

(Furnished by J. R. Heintz & Co.)

New York, October 13th. — The stock market opened irregular, but soon became heavy. Public service issues under the lead of H.R.T. were weak. Con. Gas opened higher, but sold off rapidly. A political scare due to less confident statements from Republican headquarters regarding state outlook, was the reason given for the decline. Good statement of September earnings and more talk of a melon cutting opened Nor. Pac. up a point. Early strength in St. Paul was due to belief that L. P. deal had been accomplished and would be announced shortly. Mr. J. J. Hill is enthusiastic over U.S. Steel, and is said to have been a large buyer of common, predicting it will sell as high as the preferred. The bank statement was not up to expectations and the decline in prices continued slowly to the close which was heavy.

From One Dollar To Twenty Five Cents The Price

Sliding Scale of Subsidy Wanted By Mr. McBride.

SPECIAL TERMS FOR B. C.

Delay In Settling the Provincial Demands—Mr. McBride of Pacific Province Considered Unreasonable by His Colleagues In Premiers' Conference — They May Yet Vote Without Him.

Ottawa, Oct. 13.—Another day has passed and the Provincial Premiers are not yet in complete accord. Premier McBride of British Columbia is the disturbing element. Before long there will be a general election in his Province, and it is surmised that the big, clean-shaven, chubby-cheeked head of the British Columbia Government is looking to the Interprovincial Conference to furnish him with a trump card to play. Otherwise it is difficult to understand Mr. McBride's course. He probably deems himself very accommodating, but his fellow-Premiers, or the majority of them, are not of the same opinion.

Regard McBride As Unreasonable.

They regard him as unreasonable and anxious to advance his own interests at their expense. Mr. McBride, if what one hears is correct, is willing to leave British Columbia's claims to an Arbitration Commission, or to take, in addition to the increased subsidies provided for in the Quebec resolutions, a per capita amount on a sliding scale, commencing at $1 and dropping to 25 cents; then to become permanent when the population of British Columbia reaches 2,500,000; or he will be satisfied with an abstract resolution setting forth the fairness and justice of British Columbia's demands. The majority in the conference favor neither proposition, and it is possible that at to-day's meeting there will be a decisive vote on the endorsation of the Quebec resolutions, leaving British Columbia at liberty either to take advantage of the increased subsidies therein provided for or to record its vote against them.

Majority is Reasonable.

The majority is reasonable enough to recognize British Columbia's somewhat exceptional position. They appreciate the fact that the administration of an extensive mountainous country, inhabited by a sparse, widely scattered population, is more costly than the administration of a smaller and more compact densely populated area, and in order to give effect to this appreciation they are willing to recommend that British Columbia should be granted an additional sum amounting to between $50,000 and $100,000. Beyond this they do not seem prepared to go, and Mr. McBride is not offering to compromise. Thus there is a deadlock, which threatens to render the conference abortive unless one or the other gives way, or the majority pursue their own course regardless of British Columbia.

Situation Acute.

In the meantime the Dominion representatives are awaiting the issue. They participated in a general meeting yesterday morning, but their suggestions and advice appeared to have little effect in relieving the situation, which has become quite acute.

Mount Pelee Active.

Basse Terre, Island of Guadaloupe, Oct. 13.—A violent eruption Thursday of the Mount Pelee volcano, Island of Martinique, caused a rain of ashes over the southeastern part of Guadaloupe. Soufriere volcano, on this island, shows no signs of activity.

St. Thomas, D. W. I., Oct. 13.—From Oct. 6 to 12 the atmosphere was thickly charged with fine volcanic ashes, equaling in density any observed during the worst eruptions of Mount Pelee, which, apparently, is strongly disturbed.

Preference Abandoned.

Ottawa, Oct. 13.—A message received yesterday from D. H. [illegible]ss, Canadian commercial agent in Australia, says:

"British and New Zealand preference abandoned by Australia this session. Duty has been increased on agricultural implements and machinery."

Mr. Ross is forwarding all particulars by mail.

Bold Highwayman Arrested.

Hamilton, Oct. 13.—Archie Langley, West Main street, was last evening arrested on a charge of being the bold highwayman who held up citizens Thursday night near the Central School at the point of two revolvers. He is only a youth, and, with other youths of a playful disposition, imbued with dime-novel ideas, thought it would be fine sport to give a few pedestrians a scare.

Parisians Get a Scare.

Paris, Oct. 13.—Thirty yards of the Metropolitan subway, near the Buttes Chaument Park, a section necessary to complete the belt around Paris, caved in yesterday. The wildest excitement followed and it was feared that the neighboring houses would crumble.

Overcome by Gas, Killed.

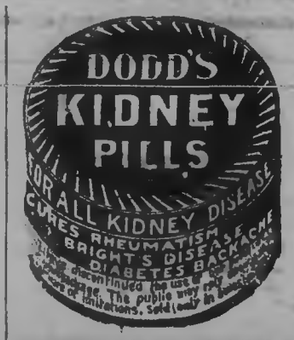
Deseronto, Oct. 13.—Wellington Hicks, an employe of the Deseronto Iron Co., was engaged in unloading charcoal when he was overcome by gas and fell down the elevator shaft a distance of forty feet, sustaining fatal injuries.

Weldon Nominated.

Shelburne, N. S., Oct. 13.—Dr. R. C. Weldon, K. C., Dean of Dalhousie College, was nominated by the Conservatives of Shelburne-Queen's yesterday to contest the county against Hon. W. S. Fielding. The convention passed a resolution pledging itself to a strict observance of the election law.

Canadian Riflemen Win.

Prescott, Oct. 13.—The international rifle match between the Fourth Separate Co., Ninth Regiment National Guards, New York, and the Prescott Rifle Association, was held on the Ogdensburg ranges yesterday, and resulted in a victory for the latter by 74 points.



Sleuth-Hound Term Applied To Prosecutor

Mr. George W. Fowler's Opinion of Mr. Shepley, K.C.

HE DECLINED TO ANSWER

Mr. Fowler Makes an Indignant Protest and Complains of Severe Treatment of Foresters—Denies He Was an Agent of Union Trust — Mr. DuVernet's Explanation of Union Trust Co. Reorganization.

Toronto, Oct. 13.—The Insurance Commission yesterday closed its Toronto sitting and adjourned to Montreal. The investigation of the I. O. F. affairs is not, however, completed. Mr. George W. Fowler, M. P., the long-looked-for witness, appeared and showed cause why he should not be committed for failure to attend when notified. The Commission abstained from making an order at the present time, and later Mr. Fowler went on the stand and gave evidence.

His refusals to answer questions were frequent; although in each case he ultimateely bowed to the ruling of the court, it was only after most vigorous and emphatic protests and protracted argument.

Mr. Shepley "A Sleuth Hound."

In a somewhat heated address he called Mr. Shepley a "sleuth hound," declared that the examination into the affairs of the I. O. F. had been severe because Conservative members of Parliament were connected with the various transactions, and accused counsel of acting unfairly. The public, he said, were talking and making comparisons between the course followed with respect to the I. O. F. and that which was pursued regarding a large company at the head of which was the chief financial backer of the Liberal party in Canada. Mr. Fowler will produce his papers, etc., when the Commission meets in Ottawa.

Mr. DuVernet Called.

The Commission met at 10 a. m. in order to give Mr. E. E. A. DuVernet an opportunity to explain his connection with the reorganization of the Union Trust Co. before his presence was required in the Police Court in connection with the bribery cases. Mr. DuVernet's account of the transaction differed materially from that of Mr. Matthew Wilson.

Dr. Oronhyatekha also went into the box and made a personal statement regarding certain payments to him out of the Great West Land Co. profits. He stated that he did not know he was a stockholder in that company until he was informed by Mr. McGillivray that 100 shares stood in his name. Hon. Mr. Foster had stated that Dr. Oronhyateka had asked for the stock.

Where Railways Helped.

Mr. Fowler in his evidence said that Messrs. Mackenzie and Mann endorsed a note for $14,000 which was part of their first payment to the C. P. R. and there was also an arrangement that if the lands remained on their hands to be sold by retail Mackenzie and Mann would finance seven-tenths of the property for which they were to get one-half of the seven-tenths.

Mr. Fowler also told how they had been refused the C. P. R. lands for $3.50 per acre at first, but after two interviews with Sir Thomas Shaughnessy and other officials they got them at that price, on the grounds that that was the price the lands were selling for at the time of the application, which was just before the raise to $5 per acre.

Mr. Fowler told of the different options he had got from Mr. Ryan—one for $200,000 and one for $250,000. The difference he was to have as his profits. Mr. Shepley asked numerous questions, and the witness explained that the property was bought under the contention that he was to make money out of it, and in good faith because he took one-quarter interest. When the Foresters bought the property they paid $265,000; it was now worth $600,000.

Gives One Straight Answer.

"Would you consider it proper to put before your intended partner the statement that you had paid more than you did?" asked Mr. Shepley.

"No," replied witness.

"Did you intend them to believe that you had paid the amount of the $250,000 option?"

"I won't answer that," was the firm rejoinder.

"Then the option was reduced to $225,000, which you put forward to your partners as indicating the price you were paying Ryan?" pursued counsel.

"You can put any inflection or inference you like on it. I put it forward to indicate what I was paying Ryan."

"Do you suppose they believed that was the correct option?"

"I did not suppose anything. They could believe what they like. They never asked me and I never told them. If they would have asked me if I was making a profit I would have told them."

"Will you make any further answer?" queried Mr. Shepley.

Fowler Says "I Won't."

"No. I won't." The refusal was flat.

"Did Ryan pay you the $55,000?"

"That is between Ryan and myself. I decline to answer."

Mr. Shepley asked for a ruling, and Judge MacTavish told witness to answer, but he declined again, and Judge MacTavish said: "It is a proper question and must be answer."

Mr. Fowler addressed the Commission. This might be subject to litigation. He would not answer it.

"Did Peter Ryan pay you $55,000?" asked Mr. Shepley.

"Not all of it."

"How much does he owe?"

"Can you find out?"

Mr. Shepley produced certain cheques, which witness assented to, showing that he received up to the amount of $40,000. He would find out what $2,000 cheques that he had forgotten.

"Who did you pay the money out to?"

"I don't know whether I will tell or not. Why should I tell?"

Mr. Shepley explained very carefully what the enquiry was for. Mr. Fowler argued that the whereabouts of the money was not revelant. He had sold the property to the Great West Land Co., and whether he got a portion or not made no difference.

Mr. Shepley then read Mr. Foster's evidence, which said that Fowler was the agent of the Union Trust Co.

Doesn't Care What Foster Said.

"What do I care what Foster said? I was not agent," declared Mr. Fowler.

"Must I be bound by what you say?"

"No."

"I won't waste any more time," said Mr. Shepley. "Will you answer the question."

"No. I was not an agent of the company."

"Will the court rule on this also?" asked Mr. Shepley.

Again Judge MacTavish sparred for wind, and Mr. Fowler explained the whole story again and swore positively that he was not an agent at any time.

Judge MacTavish explained the reasons why Mr. Fowler should answer.

"If you can show one tittle of evidence that I was an agent, I will tell you all. I claim I was not. It is painful to me to put myself in this position."

Judge MacTavish: "We are here to enquire into the affairs of the insurance company, to find out if we can where their money is, where it has gone to, and how it has got there, and we would not be doing our duty under the order-in-council which appointed us unless we followed it to a conclusion, and where, as in this case, there is evidence both ways, witnesses on both sides—put it that way if you like—our duty is not to stop the enquiry but to go on with it."

FROST DAMAGES GRAPES.

Second Blow to Niagara Growers Means Thousand Tons Loss.

St. Catharines, Oct. 13.—Heavy damage to grapes was done Thursday night by the severe black frost which visited the Niagara district.

It is estimated that there was about a fifth of the entire output of the peninsula still unpicked, being nearly a thousand tons, and a prominent dealer said yesterday morning that practically all of this was ruined by the frost. One grower is said to have lost 2,500 baskets alone.

This is a second blow to the hopes of the grape growers around here, who, when the Ontario Grape-Growing Co.'s wine-making plant was destroyed by fire last week, feared they would have nobody to take their grapes. However, the company had fitted up a temporary plant, and would have been prepared to take in most of the grapes, notwithstanding the fire.

Tomatoes which remained out are a total loss.

KNOCKED INTO THE RIVER.

Engine Falls Into River Bed—One Dead, Three Badly Hurt.

Goderich, Oct. 13.—One man was killed and three badly injured yesterday morning at the bridge the C. P. R. are constructing across the Maitland River here. A hoisting engine was on the bridge raising a girder when the engine, which was mounted on a flat car, fell over to the river bed below.

Engineer Jack Maddeford, an Englishman, was knocked into the river, and received severe injuries on the head, which resulted in his death almost immediately.

Jack Campbell and D. Lynn of this town were badly hurt, the former having some ribs and an arm broken, and the latter an arm broken.

Harvey Gillman of Peterboro was hurt in the back, and is said to be the worst injured of the three.

Two other men who were on the engine saved themselves by jumping.

Small Houses Are In Demand

Many People Want Houses Renting Under $10.

A prominent real estate dealer, in speaking to an Examiner reporter to-day, referred to the scarcity of small houses to rent, and expressed the opinion that a large number of such houses were needed in Peterborough. There were a dozen demands a day for houses renting for $10 and under, and it is impossible to supply the demand. A good many people, he remarked, were buying lots and building their own houses.

Fine Weather For Morning Market

Butter is no Dearer and Reaction is Expected in its Price—Eggs on the Wing

Fine weather had the effect of inducing the farmers to turn out in large numbers this morning. Both the inside and outside exhibits were plentiful, while apples and potatoes were bought up quickly. Butter is showing a tendency to become cheaper and with the closing of the cheese factories is certain to decrease somewhat. Eggs sold at 21c. a dozen. A lower price than was asked on last Saturday.

The following is the price list:—

Potatoes, per bag, 75c.
Snow apples, per bag, 65c.
St. Lawrence apples, per bag, 90c.
Other apples, per bag, 50c. to 75c.
Tomatoes, per basket, 20c.
Onions, per peck, 25c. to 30c.
Carrots, per peck, 15c.
Beets, per peck, 10c.
Butter, per pound, 27c. to 28c.
Eggs, per dozen, 21c.
Chickens, per pair, 70c. to 75c.
Ducks, per pair, 90c. to $1.00.
Geese, each, 90c. to $1.10.
Honey, per pound, 10c.
Clover hay, per ton, $11.00 to $12.00.
Timothy hay, per ton, $13.00 to $14.00.

There was a good supply of feed on the market and a corresponding demand. There were a few loads of hay at the usual price, while during the week a number of farmers brought in [illegible]. The general opinion is that the price of hay is still going to increase.

A GREAT VALUE!

Suit to Order $18

We are stating an acknowledged fact when we say that we are making some of the best clothes made in Peterborough.

This holds good regardless of the price other tailors may ask for their work.

We put more style, fashion, value and wearing qualities into our garments than most tailors do, and we do it at a little over half the price. For the next thirty days we are going to sell the best Scotch Tweed Suit made to your order for $18.00 and a nice Black or Blue Twill Suit for $20.00. Don't miss these offerings, the goods are number one and the linings first-class. Leave your measure at once, these prices won't last very long.

Hats, Caps, Gents' Furnishings and Ready-to-Wear Clothing.

The Toronto Globe this morning had the following interview with Mr. McGill, on the situation:—

The rumors that Mr. McGill, the General Manager of the bank, was out of the city, were set at rest late in the evening, were set at rest late in the evening by an interview which Mr. McGill gave The Globe. The General Manager of the bank, with Mrs. McGill and their son and daughter, are at the King Edward Hotel. Mr. McGill did not participate in the conferences of the directors last evening, and he said that he was not prepared to state what action had been taken to effect a union of the Ontario Bank with a larger institution.

"What has brought about the necessity for an amalgamation?" Mr. McGill was asked.

"It was only a matter of time when the bank would have to give in to the competition of banks with larger capital," returned the manager. "There is an arrangement on foot for some amalgamation, I believe, but I cannot give you any information about it. I am preparing a statement now as to the affairs of the bank."

"There are rumours that the investments of the bank have been unfortunate."

"There may be a difference of opinion about assets," said Mr. McGill, "but I do not wish to speak of that. One person may place one value upon certain assets, and another persons may place quite a different value on them. At any rate I do not wish to discuss the matter of the bank's position. I believe that there is an arrangement on for an amalgamation of the bank with another institution, and that is all."

The story of the bank's absorption was told in the following despatch from Toronto:—

Toronto, Oct. 13.—As a result of financial difficulties, following unfortunate investments or speculations on the part of the general manager, Charles McGill, the Ontario Bank will to-day be taken over by the Bank of Montreal.

Losses to the Ontario Bank, placed in round figures as at least one million dollars, have caused this unusual transaction.

An Official Statement.

Alexander Laird, assistant general manager of the bank of Commerce, authorized the following brief statement after the meeting at 2 o'clock this morning:

"A meeting of the representatives of the Toronto banks was held last night to consider what action should be taken in connection with the Ontario bank.

"Arrangements are now in progress, to be consummated on the arrival this morning in the city of the representative of the Bank of Montreal, for securing payment of all liabilities."

A meeting will be held early in the morning at which it will be settled whether the bank will be opened. All arrangements depend on the initiative of the Bank of Montreal.

Public Need Not Be Uneasy.

The object of the bankers is to prevent any run on the bank and to protect the depositors and this will be done. The general public need feel no uneasiness.

As to the position of the stockholders; nothing was announced, but it was rather intimated that their position is not so comfortable.

The Ontario Bank was incorporated in 1867. Its officers are: G. R. R. Cockburn, president; Donald Mackay, vice-president; R. D. Perry, Hon. R. Harcourt, R. Grass, Thomas Walmsley and John Flett.

It has branches in Alliston, Aurora, Bowmanville, Buckingham, Q., Collingwood, Cornwall, Fort William, Holstein, King City, Kingston, Lindsay, Montreal, Mount Forest, Newmarket, Ottawa, Peterboro, Port Arthur, Sudbury, Toronto, Trenton, Tweed, Waterford, and Warsaw.

Funds Misappropriated.

G. R. R. Cockburn was interviewed as to the cause of the trouble. He stated that misappropriation of the funds was the real difficulty, and this had all occurred in the last few months. The bank as a bank was all right, and in a healthy working condition, and the branches so far from being a hindrance were very productive and of great benefit.

The depositors and noteholders, he stated, would be guaranteed against loss by the Bank of Montreal, which was taking over the assets and business of the Ontario Bank. The other banks were guaranteeing the Bank of Montreal in this, the Bank of Montreal thus acting as the agent of the others.

With regard to the amount of misappropriation of the funds, Mr. Cockburn was not in a position to speak definitely, but admitted that it might exceed $1,000,000.

The question of prosecution of Mr. McGill, it is understood, remains in abeyance.

NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE

MISS MILDRED HOLLAND

the Charming and deservedly Popular Theatrical Star, writes as follows:

"I am delighted with Newbro's Herpicide. It is just what I have been looking for. I find that it not only prevents dandruff, but that it stops the hair from falling out. It is a most delightful hair dressing and no lady's toilet table is complete without it."

(Signed) MILDRED HOLLAND.

A woman to be pretty must have pretty hair. There is a subtle charm about beautiful hair that lends more of personal adornment than all of the skill of all of the 'beauty doctors' combined. The hair need not be of extraordinary or abnormal length, but it must have that distinctiveness of appearance that comes from intelligent care, and is the result of perfect hair health.

The most cultured ladies in every community use Newbro's Herpicide; and when you see a head of hair that glistens with beauty and is radiant with life, it is a fairly good indication that Newbro's Herpicide has been used.

A common cause of dulness of the hair is the presence of fine dust and soot in the streets that is kept in constant motion by trolley cars, automobiles, etc. This fine dust—frequently laden with disease germs—adheres to the hair and dulls its natural luster.

A delightful way to cleanse and beautify the hair is to moisten a cloth with Newbro's Herpicide and draw it carefully through the hair, taking one small strand at a time. It may be done daily, or less often, as desired.

The result of this cleansing process will prove a surprise, not only in the amount of dirt removed, but in the added beauty of the hair and the sense of cleanliness and comfort that follows. Shampooing will also remove this dust, but too frequent washing of the hair is harmful.

Newbro's Herpicide is the Original Remedy that "kills the dandruff germ." It eradicates dandruff and stops falling hair. It is the only real scalp prophylactic in existence. A delightful and refreshing hair dressing. Stops itching of the scalp almost instantly.

AT DRUG STORES:—Send 10c in stamps to the HERPICIDE CO. Dept. L., Windsor, Ont., for sample.

Money Taken From Drunk's Pocket

Seventeen Dollars He Says Is Missing From His Wad.

One drunk occupied the prisoner's box this morning, and his spree, according to his own statement, and the Magistrate's levy, cost him exactly $19. His name is Wm. Herbert, and as far as the police know he is a stranger in the city. He was found drunk yesterday and brought to the Police Station by P. C. Adams, where he slept off his debauch.

When he counted over his money he discovered that $17 was missing, and this, he stated, was taken from his pocket, but did not know by whom. The fine made up the balance.

Alleged Case Of Indecency

Will Be Aired in Police Court On Monday.

An alleged case of indecent proposal come up before the Magistrate this morning, and as a result an information was laid, and the case will be aired in Monday's police court. The lady who laid the charge of trespassing against the supposed offender, was present with her husband and stated that the proposals were made to her by a well known man in the city, while she was working at the rear of her house. He walked through the building from the front door, she says, and offered her money. The yard in which she was working was an enclosed one.

Is Progressing Favourably.

Some Opinions On The Tuesday Night Meeting

Citizen Thinks Pie, Pelf and Politics Should Not be Mixed—Rev. J. G. Lewis of Opinion That It May Prove Epoch-Making Event.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—The large and representative gathering of the Protestant denominations of Peterborough in St. John's Church last Tuesday evening may prove an epoch-making event in our city. The gracious invitation and reception by one church and the hearty response and keen appreciation by so many other churches augurs well for confidence and co-operation among the Christian workers, so essential in moral efforts and works of charity.

This kindlier feeling and more liberal spirit manifested among us, and so wide-spread in Church union movements in our Dominion and other lands, clearly show that the Spirit of God is coming in larger measure upon the churches and that they are being prepared for a great united onward movement to win the world to Christ, with a deepened conviction that "One is our master, even Christ, and all we are brethren."

Yours, etc.,
J. G. LEWIS.

Mark Street Parsonage, Oct. 12th, 1906.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Sir,—So many people are wondering what is to come of the religious inquiry recently held at St. John's, that one feels like asking how long Christians intend continuing to mix up religion with pie, pelf and politics. Surely it is patent that this long-continued attempt to get at a man's heart through his stomach is inconsistent with the idealism (faith) of Christ. Practical religion, practical politics, practical everything means reducing these things to a business basis, not raising them to a religious basis. It is this dragging of Jesus in the muck of life that turns many a man and woman away from the doors of churches and their eating houses. At the same time due allowance must be made, no doubt, for a new and half-educated people whose ideas (culture), dates from yesterday and from little else. The human rule has been substituted for the divine rule. We must study Christ, as well as follow Him. Our life would then reflect more of Him and less of mammon and vulgarity.

The Danger and Distress of Piles

It is a mistake to look on piles or hemorrhoids as merely an annoyance, for they are serious and dangerous, as well, and in their chronic or aggravated form bring keen distress and the ruination of health.

The cause of piles is very different in different cases, but there is always relief and with regular treatment thorough cure in the use of Dr. Chase's Ointment.

There is nothing severe or disagreeable about this treatment, for by its soothing influence it helps almost as soon as applied. You feel the benefit, and know for a certainty that it is doing you good.

On the circular which goes with every box of Dr. Chase's Ointment are given instructions as to the use of the ointment for itching, bleeding and protruding piles, and itching skin diseases. If you follow directions we guarantee satisfaction as a treatment for every form of piles.

Dr. Chase's Ointment has a unparalleled record of cures, 60c. a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

J. J. TURNER & SONS
TENT & AWNING MANUFACTURERS

Leading Laymen, Church's Relation To Community

should the efforts of the public-spirited citizens be chiefly directed for the good of our city?

You are requested to cover the ground as briefly as possible and to have your reply ready by to-morrow evening early, for use in Saturday's issue.

MAKE VOTING COMPULSARY ABOLISH CANVASSING AND ELEVATE THE COMMUNITY

1. While the clergymen of the various Protestant churches in Peterborough may be doing all they can to improve the general condition of the community, there are many members of these congregations who are doing very little along such lines. The only active (?) part they take in Christian work is to appear once (occasionally twice) at church on Sundays. They are conspicuous by their absence in the Sunday Schools, where children are supposed to receive valuable training to make them better citizens in later life. Cigarette-smoking by young children, one of the greatest curses of to-day, goes on practically unchecked, though such children cannot, legally, buy cigarettes. Other evils exist, and there is little united effort to check them.

So it seems clear that the churches are not doing all that they might as congregations.

2. The meeting held last Tuesday evening must prove beneficial. The coming together of members of different denominations, the interchange of thought, and the social intercourse, must result in a better mutual understanding, a warmer feeling of fellowship, and a closer realization of the brotherhood of man, and the fulfilment of the prayer, "that they all may be one." Such meetings seem to be a necessary prelude to, and a means of preparation for, organic union of the churches there represented, and such union cannot come without intelligent discussion, and a better realization that the differences are chiefly on non-essentials, and that on vital questions there is agreement.

3. The right to vote is not valued as it should be—as a sacred trust. Men who have to canvas for votes to secure their own election are apt to have selfish motives imputed to them, and, if elected, their actions are often unjustly criticised. Make voting compulsory, abolish canvassing, nominate the best men in the community, instead of always accepting those who offer themselves "at the request of a large number of the ratepayers," have the number (as few as conveniently may be, pay them a proper salary, and allow at least half of them (those who head the poll) to remain in office two terms, that they may have a proper chance to work out reforms.

4. The ward system of electing aldermen is to be preferred to electing by general vote, as it gives an equal representation to each part of the city. A man who is well acquainted with the needs of a certain ward is not necessarily well known in all the other wards, and, if not well known, is likely to be left at home on a general vote. Under either system, no man should be able to vote in more than one division—the one where he resides. It is surely safe to assume that in each ward two or more first-class candidates could be found, willing to accept civic honours.

5. I consider that the definite objects to be aimed at should be:

(a) A more hearty and general support of the work of the Children's Aid Society.

(b) The organization of some such society as the Civic Association, which did good work in Ashburnham a few years ago, mainly through the efforts of Rev. Dr. Symonds.

(c) The suppression of the cigarette evil.

(d) Arranging an annual course of public lectures on popular topics, and along educational lines.

ELECT THE COUNCIL BY A GENERAL VOTE AND HAVE TERMS OF TWO YEARS

1. "Unity is strength!," and the more the Christian community, Catholic and Protestant, can unite towards the promotion of the general welfare, the greater will be their strength and influence, but religious and secular organizations will each effect most when working within their distinctive spheres of operation, and neither will gain by trespassing upon the territory of the other. It would appear as if the way was opening up for greater co-operation in both directions than heretofore.

2. The meeting was suggestive of greater possibilities of united action than had previously been realized. These possibilities will be developed more surely by a gradual growth than by any attempt to force them into action.

3. The community should call to office men in whom they have confidence, and, having elected them, should treat them with confidence and consideration. It is not always the men who are best qualified for municipal office who are readiest to vaunt, or even to recognize their qualifications.

Our present casual and haphazard method of securing candidates for office are not calculated to reach or appeal to modest men.

A call to service carries weight and imparts responsibility according to the source from which it comes.

Such a body of men as were gathered together at St. John's on Tuesday night could exercise immense influence in municipal, educational and other public matters if they chose to act unitedly.

4. Something can be said both ways. At a recent meeting of the representatives of Canadian municipalities, every representative reporting, approved the general vote system, and I agreed.

It is easier to get six than twelve good men at any one time, and if half the membership of our public bodies were elected each year, instead of the whole number, the results would be better.

5. While intelligent discussion is always in order and helpful, public affairs cannot be successfully conducted either by "caucus" from the pulpit or from the editor's desk. I think, therefore, that more can be accomplished by securing the election of good men to public offices than by attempting to regulate public affairs from without. Public-spirited citizens should be prepared to take their part in public affairs, or to encourage and support those who do. One of Canada's greatest needs to-day is an elevating of our standards of citizenship, and to this all good men can contribute, either individually, or still more effectively by combination.

CITIZENS' COMMITTEE WOULD IMPROVE PERSONNEL OF ELECTED PUBLIC BODIES

In reply to the first question I should say that, so far as I judge in the attitude of the Protestant churches toward the promotion of the welfare of the community, considerable activity has been shown, especially during the past five years, largely through the efforts of the Ministerial Association. More activity could be shown on the part of the laymen.

2. I can only see good results following Tuesday's conference. It will no doubt infuse new life into the lay element in the various churches. The whole spirit of the gathering is a sign of the times looking towards more united Christian effort if not organic union.

3. Public men certainly do not get the encouragement they deserve. The plan by which Toronto improved the personnel of the School Board some years ago, through the agency of a representative Citizens' Committee, would be a good one in securing right men for civic positions.

4. I favour the ward system in electing aldermen in the larger places, and feel that Peterborough is in this list.

5. Question five is a very broad one, but I think the great solution lies in getting the individual to a right life, and this is the work of the churches and all the organizations connected with them.

G. H. WILLIAMSON,
Young Men's Christian Association.

POSITION SHOULD SEEK THE MAN AND NOT MAN THE POSITION—MR. BENNET

1. It seems to me that the Protestant Church as such cannot by any organized effort promote the welfare of the community.

The State resents so-called interference on the part of the Church—besides the Church has now more work for which it is fitted, and moreover directly responsible, than can be accomplished in generations. Should our Church membership be composed of men possessed of true manhood, actuated only by the spirit of the Master, the Church would unconsciously wield such a mighty influence in the community that evil disposed men would not dare to do the things now unblushingly practised in political, civic and business life. To teach a virtue we must live it. Mr. Dumble voiced my sentiments at the meeting when he referred to the fact that our churches were too large and luxurious to exercise the most beneficial influence upon the community.

2. I was very much pleased with the spirit exhibited at the meeting on Tuesday last to which no doubt the ladies by their magnificent and well-ordered repast, largely contributed. Surely none of those present would henceforth say, or even think, that his church was the Church, but each one would recognize good features of other denominations, and would be impressed with the fact that all may reach the same goal, though by different routes. Christian unity is not one of the least important features of the work carried on by the Young Men's Christian Association and the Young Women's Christian Association.

3. The spirit of the age seems to make it necessary for a man to offer himself for public service, but it seems to me that better men, and more faithful service, could be obtained for public places of trust, if the position sought the man, rather than the man the position. One elected by the unsolicited votes of the electors, without any effort or promises on his own part, would be more independent and very much less injuriously influenced by the unworthy criticisms of his fellow citizens.

4. On principle, I think councillors should be elected as they now are, by general vote, but in practice this principle does not appear to work out satisfactorily, inasmuch as the members may all be elected from two or three sections of the city, and the remaining districts suffer for lack of representation.

I would, therefore, as a matter of expediency recommend a return to the ward system to insure every section of the city being adequately represented, unless, of course, the canvassing nuisance, or some other equally objectionable results would follow.

5. The vigorous growth of our city forces us to avoid the petty methods of a village, and to emulate, in some degree, the system of a large manufacturing centre. Therefore our attention might be directed to: (a) The paving of the main street. (b) The improvement of the side streets, which, to a large extent, are at present a disgrace. (c) The procuring of a game ground for the pupils of the South Ward school, and for any other section of the city in need of such. (d) Better railway communication from Toronto and to Port Hope, in the morning. Why, sir, the St. Catharines people have the second, or one cent edition of the Globe and Mail before 8 a.m., on the day of publication. (e) More prompt and effective action in dealing with proposed manufactories, possibly by placing the whole of such work in the hands of a Commissioner, with power to act, within certain limits.

Yours truly,
J. W. BENNET,
Presbyterian—Knox Church.
Peterborough, 12th October, 1906.

DOMESTIC GOVERNMENT PERFECTION SHOULD BE CITIZEN'S FIRST CARE

1. I am certainly not satisfied with past conditions nor yet the outlook, and am conscious, too, that I am responsible for my share of that lack of advancement, and that there is great need and greater opportunity, too, for decided forward movements.

2. It would appear to me that every person present at that meeting could not help but feel conscious of a great desire to lay hold of every opportunity to better the conditions as we have them to-day in regard to the questions under discussion. With continued repetition of such gatherings excellent results could not help but be forthcoming.

3. Quite sufficient encouragement is given any qualified individual to enter public service as it brings its own reward, in that if he will be true to his convictions of right, he has ability ever so limited, he will ultimately be assured of the profound respect and confidence of his fellow-citizens and such individuals, with reasonable judgment and industry, will surely win the day in his own chosen walk of life, as well as having proved a useful and valuable member of society and what more can life afford that can be more valued.

4. Inasmuch as the whole is only equal to all its parts there is no real sound reason why the election of councillors should not be best served by general vote.

5. The efforts of public spirited citizens should be first devoted to improving and perfecting our domestic government, which means so much to us morally, physically, socially and financially. It would give us vastly better public utilities as regards water and light supply, streets, walks, public buildings, etc. It would improve the whole educational system of our children. It would vastly beautify our schools, public places and even our homes would reflect it powerfully. In fine I believe it to be the greatest stepping stone toward union of churches.

Bank Of Montreal Officers In Charge At Ontario Bank Now

Member of Inspector's Staff Arrived From Montreal—Local Members of Staff in Former Ontario Bank—The Anxiety on Part of Depositors Still Continues---Other Banks Reap Benefit --- Some Features of the Situation To-day.

The excitement on Saturday occasioned by the announcement of the absorption of the Ontario Bank by the Bank of Montreal, and the evident anxiety on the part of a large majority of the depositors to take their money from the former bank, and place it in some place where a greater degree of safety, in their estimation, would be assured, continued to a certain degree this morning. The scene of activity was transferred from George street to Water street, and at the corner of Simcoe and Water streets, a big crowd congregated, and the paying tellers were kept busy during the banking hours giving the depositors their money, a great many of them, apparently, desiring only to feel and see the actual money, to be re-assured.

Mr. Ed. Phipps of the Inspectors' Staff, of the Bank o Montreal, arrived in the city yesterday morning from Montreal, and was to-day in charge of the branches of the bank here, with Mr. K. Eardley-Wilmot. The staff of both banks were hard at work yesterday making preparations for to-day's business. Some of the staff of the Bank of Montreal were transferred to the former Ontario Bank offices, while for the meantime the whole staff of the Ontario Bank was retained by the succeeding institution.

When the banks opened this morning, the run, which, however, was an orderly one, was resumed, the greater number of persons withdrawing this morning being those from outside the city. The farmers who were in the city on Saturday, and who learned of the trouble, told their neighbours, and the latter started for the city at an early hour this morning to be on hand when the bank opened, to get their money.

It seemed extremely hard to convince them that the Bank of Montreal was actually now in possession of the former Ontario Bank, although the signs were on every window, and Bank of Montreal officers were in charge. Any number of person took their money from the former Ontario Bank branch, and immediately crossed the street, and deposited it in the Bank of Montreal, where they considered it safer; when as a matter of fact they were simply transferring it from one branch to another of the same bank. There was, however, a great satisfaction apparently in handling the money.

Instances are recorded, too, of depositors presenting marked cheques on the Ontario Bank to the Bank of Montreal, drawing their money, and at once opening a new account, depositing it again.

The last two days have certainly

WEDDING BELLS

HAYWARD–BARRETT

A very pretty, but quiet, October wedding took place on Saturday evening at the home of the groom's brother, Mr. Geo. O. Hayward, 66 Albert street, when Mr. James Hayward was united in marriage to Miss Alice J. Barrett, late of Small Bridge, Lancashire, England. The bride carried orange blossoms, and gowned in cream cashmere trimmed with lace and white satin yoke. Mrs. James Hayward was bridesmaid, and Mr. Hayward attended the groom.

The going-away dress was a suit of navy blue cloth with hat to match. The wedding trousseau was made in England and brought out for the occasion.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. A. H. Brace, of Park Street Baptist Church, after which the bridal party sat down to a sumptuous wedding feast.

The presents were both valuable and choice.

Mr. and Mrs. Hayward will reside in Peterborough.

Fire Turned Out To Be Only Smoke

Light & Power Co's Building Appeared to be in Danger.

A thick smoke issuing from the Peterborough Light and Power Company's chimney at their office on George street this morning, had the effect of calling out the fire team, but they did not however reach the scene of the supposed conflagration.

The smoke was first noticed by residents in the vicinity, one of whom thinking a fire had originated at the rear of the office, sent in an alarm. The hose wagon was called back again before arriving at the Light and Power Company's building.

WHAT A TRADEMARK DOES

Protects the Buyer Against Deception and Also Keeps Up the Standard Fixed by the Makers.

"Why don't you sell to the general clothing trade?" was the question asked the President of Semi-ready, Limited, on the occasion of his last visit to New York. "Because we have found it difficult to prevent deception by the salesman, in the ordinary clothing store. In one city in Canada, where we tried the experiment, the merchant used the Semi-ready tailored garments to attract trade to his store and then cajoled or persuaded the prospective buyer into taking some nameless, hot-iron shaped ready-made coat which would lose its shape in a few days. Semi-Ready tailoring can only be had in one store in each town or city. The trademark protects the buyer and the Semi-ready company alike. A. W. Cressman, agent for Peterborough.

Mr. John Crane Now Manager Local Branch Of Dominion Bank

Branch of This Institution Will Open Here To-morrow at 10 O'clock—To Be Located in Former Premises of Richard Hall & Son—A Solid, Substantial Institution.

Events in financial circles are moving with a rapidity these days, which makes it difficult to follow them.

On Saturday night Mr. Charles D. Gordon, manager of the Queen and Aster street branch of the Dominion Bank, of Canada, arrived in the city and arranged to open a branch of that institution here. It will open its doors to the public to-morrow morning at 10 o'clock, and it will be located in the store formerly occupied by Messrs. Richard Hall & Son, immediately west of the former Ontario Bank premises. Mr. John Crane, who, as everyone knows, was manager of the Ontario Bank, until its absorption, has been secured as the manager of the new branch, and he will assume charge of the business when the bank opens to-morrow morning.

Mr. Gordon is greatly pleased at the prospect for the business of the new bank in this city. He considers that the bank was fortunate in securing Mr. Crane as local manager, and believes that the appointment will be one which will work out to their mutual advantage.

The Dominion Bank is one of the most substantial of all the banking institutions on Canada. It has a paid up capital of $3,000,000, and undivided profits and rest amounting to $3,800,000. There is $23,000,000 on deposit in its vaults, and the bank has assets of $42,000,000. There are forty branches of the bank in Canada, and the confidence of the investing public in it is evidenced by the fact that the stock is quoted at about 270, and is on a 12 per cent. dividend basis.

Manager of the Peterborough Branch of the Dominion Bank.

The staff of about five members, will arrive from Toronto to-night, and at 10 o'clock to-morrow the branch will be open for business. It is probable that one or two members of the late Ontario Bank will enter the service of the Dominion Bank, but this has not been decided as yet.

Mr. Gordon states that the Dominion Bank had practically decided to open a branch in this city in any event. He was in Peterborough in April last and was so favourably impressed with the prospects here that he had recommended that a branch be opened here, and this had been practically decided on when recent events mad them hasten their plans.

Another Bank, Too

The Dominion Bank, however, is not the only one which will open a branch here. Mr. C. Neil, of the Royal Bank of Canada, was in the city on Tuesday, and practically decided to open a branch here. He was in communication with a number of persons for a location here, and it is said he had offered Mr. Pappin $2,000 for his lease of the former Palace Hotel premises. At noon the deal had not been fully closed, but Mr. Neil left the city on the 11.45 G.T.R. train, stating that the Royal Bank would open in Peterborough in a few days, and that he would return in a short time.

JUSTIFIABLE ENTERPRISE

If Hon. Mr. Whitney is as he claims, bold enough to be honest, he should act have much hesitation in giving credit to the late Ross Government for its action in coming to the rescue of the "Soo" industries and placing them upon their feet—taking an action which resulted in continuing one of the most important industrial enterprises in Canada. At the time the proposal to guarantee the loan of two millions, Mr. Whitney declared with his usual dramatic display of forced indignation that "the money might as well be thrown into Lake Ontario." Everybody, including Mr. Whitney himself, must rejoice that he was tremendously mistaken. No Government ever made, in connection with the industrial interests concerned, a better use of the provincial credit. As was predicted the province has lost, and will lose nothing financially, while the country at large is a great gainer. The "Soo" and the "Soo" industries are expanding greatly as a result and with all the expansion previously made the work is still going forward. The latest despatches tell us that the Lake Superior corporation is arranging to build at once an addition of five hundred feet to their present nine hundred feet of ore wharves which, when completed, will be about a third of a mile in length, and the necessity has developed of an additional blast furnace. The furnaces now in operation cannot supply pig iron enough for the use of the plant. The Liberal Government was wise and public-spirited in generously encouraging the development of the industries at Sault Ste Marie. Any Government with average capacity can carry on ordinary administrative routine, but it takes a Government of large outlook to inaugurate action that leads to large results. This the Liberal Government did and we have the results which are a source of gratification and pride to every Canadian.

SOUND BANKING SYSTEM

Incontestably Canada can congratulate itself upon having one of the best banking systems in the world. Our chartered banks have so great an inter-dependence and co-relation that each independent institution has behind it the tremendous financial strength of all our chartered banks. From this condition the most obscure branch of any bank has behind it, not only the entire strength of the bank to which it is attached, but the financial solidity of the united banking institutions of the country. Trouble in, or disaster to, one bank cannot shake public confidence in the others, since in case of trouble in respect to one, all the others stand loyally together to protect the common credit and to maintain and steady public confidence. The difficulties of the Ontario Bank, under other conditions, might have resulted in wide spread disaster. It might have led to a panic which would have had far-reaching and disastrous results. There would have been, no doubt, a large loss to depositors, for there was in the Ontario Bank on deposit the very large sum of twelve and a quarter millions of dollars. Of this sum, under the prompt co-operative action of the banks which led to the prompt assumption of the bank's liabilities, by one of the strongest banks in the world, the Bank of Montreal, not one cent will be lost by depositors, and besides holders of bills will suffer no loss, though shareholders may be adversely affected. This is an eminently satisfactory condition of things. There are thousands of persons of very limited means who had all their little savings in this bank and though in many cases the sums are small yet the loss of them, representing the all of any one depositor, would be as great a relative calamity as the loss of a millionaire's all — though it amounted to millions — would be to him. The great lesson, the great consolation to be derived from the situation is that the banking institutions of Canada are sound to the core. We have had a long period of national prosperity and the banks have wisely taken advantage of it to pile up large reserves which, in addition to co-operative action, absolutely guarantee depositors against loss. The retirement or absorption of the Ontario Bank will not have the slightest effect in justifying the slightest withdrawal of public confidence in our banking institutions. It hardly needed, however, the recent example of consolidated efforts on the part of the banks to impress the lesson recently given. Further evidence of the soundness and stability of our banking system is given by the fact that in the forty years since Confederation, banks have got into difficulties on only eighteen occasions, and in nine of these cases depositors were paid in full, in other cases there was trifling loss while in only isolated cases was there serious or total loss.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Port Hope is jubilant over the prospect it sees of becoming a great railway centre — the lake terminus of the C. P. R. and C. N. R. in addition to the Midland branch of the G. T. R. Yet we hear nothing of Port Hope offering to divide with Trenton, by conceding that town the southern terminus of the Trent Canal.

WEEK-NIGHT SERVICES DISCONTINUED

The week-night services have been so poorly attended that the rector has decided to discontinue them. Only a very few come to the services so that it is hardly worth while to prepare addresses. Instead of it the rector will hold cottage meetings throughout the parish wherever they are wanted, and he would be glad if the people would let him know where they will have these meetings at their homes.—St. Luke's Parish Magazine.

MR. THOS. POWER O'CONNOR, PARLIAMENTARIAN JOURNALIST

Mr. T. P. O'Connor, familiarly known as "Tay Pay" O'Connor, the eminent Irish journalist, who is on a visit to Canada, and expects that a Home Rule measure will be introduced into the Imperial Parliament at the next session—early in February—is thus described:

Mr. O'Connor is a stoutish man of good height. He carries himself well and has a somewhat commanding appearance. The sense of physical power is attached to him in his make-up, with big, broad square shoulders topped by a well formed head. He has a round, ruddy, kindly face, with a mass of dark hair and a moustache tinged with grey. It is a face of power, too, and of determination, though unmarked with the prominent nose that is sometimes coupled with the possession of those attributes.

His eyes tell that he is a man of penetration and observance, quick to fathom the fine points of matters that come before him. From an observance of his features it would not appear that he is given to worry, but rather that he has been accustomed to look at matters in a bright light. In speech he has a touch of Irish brogue, and this, in addition to a rather resonant, but not too deep voice, makes him decidedly pleasant to listen to. He has the acquirement of a remarkably extensive and expressive vocabulary, is fluent in speech, and never hesitates for a word to mark his meaning. A direct expression of words and a straight out and out manner of voicing his opinions mark his conversation and the gift, likewise, of a remarkable fund of general information gives him the ability to talk and express his views on practically any topic. For this, among other reasons, he closely holds the attention of his listeners, and in talking with him it does not take one long to learn that he has been a keen observer of men and things. In every way Mr. O'Connor strikes the observer as a big man.

BRITAINS' COLONIAL AND FOREIGN INVESTMENTS

The report of the British Inland Revenue Commissioners for the fiscal year 1905-6 shews the amount of income derived from foreign and colonial investments by people resident in the United Kingdom and declared as such for income tax to be £66,062,109 against £60,769,000 in 1899-1900 and £39,025,000 in 1895-6. In addition it is assumed that an uncertain proportion of the income declared under the head of "Business, Professions, etc., not otherwise detailed" amounting to £365,763,430 is also obtained from abroad and the "Economist" estimates the income derived from colonial and foreign investments at about £100,000,000 a year. Of the £66,062,109 the interest on foreign and colonial government securities amounts to £20,641,022, the payment of dividends and interest of foreign and colonial companies and corporations to £11,759,660, the income declared by bankers and coupon dealers in connection with the realization of foreign and colonial coupons is £10,465,377, the income received in respect of investments abroad without taxation at the hands of agents, bankers, or coupon dealers is £4,894,516, and the profits of railways abroad owned and worked by British companies, and managed in the United Kingdom £9,301,554.

Woman's Kidney Troubles

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is Especially Successful in Curing This Fatal Disease.

Mrs. J. W. Lang and Mrs. S. Frake

Of all the diseases known, with which women are afflicted, chronic kidney disease is the most fatal. In fact, unless early and correct treatment is applied, the weary patient seldom survives.

Being fully aware of this, Lydia E. Pinkham, early in her career, gave exhaustive study to the subject, and in producing her great remedy for a woman's ills—Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—was careful to see that it contained the correct combination of herbs which was sure to control that fatal disease, woman's kidney troubles. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the only one especially prepared for women, and thousands have been cured of serious kidney derangements by it. Derangements of the feminine organs quickly affect the kidneys, and when a woman has such symptoms as pain or weight in the loins, backache, bearing-down pains, scalding or burning sensations or deposits in the urine, unusual thirst, swelling of hands and feet, swelling under the eyes or sharp pains in the back running through the groin, she may infer that her kidneys are affected and should lose no time in combating the disease with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, the woman's remedy for woman's ills.

The following letters show how marvelously successful it is.

Mrs. Samuel Frake, of Prospect Plains, N. J., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"I cannot thank you enough for what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. When I first wrote to you I had suffered for years with what the doctor called kidney trouble and congestion of the female organs. My back ached dreadfully all the time, and I suffered so with that bearing-down feeling I could hardly walk across the room. I did not get any better, so decided to stop doctoring with my physician and take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I am thankful to say it has entirely cured me. I do all my own work, have no more backache and all bad symptoms have disappeared.

"I cannot praise your medicine enough, and would advise all women suffering with kidney trouble to try it."

Mrs. J. W. Lang, of 626 Third Avenue, New York, writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"I have been a great sufferer with kidney trouble. My back ached all the time and I was discouraged. I heard that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound would cure kidney disease, and I began to take it: and it has cured me when everything else had failed. I have recommended it to lots of people and they all praise it very highly."

Mrs. Pinkham's Standing Invitation.

Women suffering from kidney trouble, or any form of female weakness are invited to promptly communicate with Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. The present Mrs. Pinkham is the daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham, her assistant before her decease, and for twenty-five years since her advice has been freely given to sick women. Out of the great volume of experience which she has to draw from, it is more than likely she has the very knowledge that will help your case. Her advice is free and always helpful.

The Call of the Blood—Hichens.
The Saints—Fogazarro.
Jape Cable—McCutcheon.
The Healers—Maarten Maartens.
Winsome Womanhood—Sangster.

Sale of the Cubitt Stock of Wall Papers
—We have struck the right keynote in selling borders and wall papers at the same price. Cubbit's stock of wall paper is selling like "hot cakes" at Stratton's. Remember we have only 10,000 rolls of this paper at half price. Mostly all new patterns, purchased within the year from the leading Montreal wall paper makers. Remember the prices—papers per roll 3c., borders per roll 3c., papers per roll 5c., borders per roll 5c., papers per roll 10c., borders per roll 10c. and and 8c. Just think what this means—a room papered for less than half a dollar at one price, and less than one dollar at the other. Come early any day this week and bring the size of your room. A. H. Stratton & Co., 417 George street.

Mr. R. Steeby was a delighted hearer of the splendid address upon the Irish question, delivered in Massey Hall, Toronto, on Saturday evening, by Mr. T. P. O'Connor, the representative in the Imperial Parliament of a Liverpool division. Mr. Steeby occupied a seat on the platform, and is as enthusiastic over Mr. O'Connor's magnetic personality as over his magnetic oratory.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

The following, in reference to the splendid work of the Yorkshire Chorus, now singing in Germany, will be of additional interest to Peterborough music lovers from the fact that Miss Gertrude Lonsdale, the contralto, who sang with the Watkin-Mills Company on its last appearance here, is with the chorus as the representative contralto soloist of England:

The Yorkshire Chorus gave a concert at Dusseldorf on September 25 in the municipal concert hall, under the leadership of Dr. Henry Coward.

Handel's "Messiah" was received with extraordinary enthusiasm, especially the "Hallelujah Chorus." The opinion was expressed that no better choir had been heard in Germany.

Sir Edward Elgar's "The Dance" also evoked a storm of applause. Telegrams were despatched to the German Emperor and to King Edward announcing the complete success of the concert. All the seats in the house were sold out.

Sir Edward Elgar's "Dream of Gerontius" was given on the following day in the Gurzenich Hall, Cologne. Loud cheers greeted the first part of the work, but the enthusiasm displayed at the end of the second part was boundless. The audience, trained part-singers all of them, were in raptures over the wonderful light and shade of the performance, especially over the softness attained in the pianissimo passages. Two enormous laurel wreaths were presented to Dr. Coward.

AN OVERWHELMING VICTORY

Francis Byrne, recently with the Empire Stock Company, Boston, always has a barrel of Irish stories on tap. This is one of his latest, concerning an Irishman and a Hebrew:

During a controversy concerning the number of great men among their respective races, they decided to settle the argument in a novel way. The faces of both were equally adorned with a generous growth of whiskers, and the Irishman proposed that, at the naming, in turn, of a noted personage, each man should jerk a hair from the beard of the other. The man who in this manner should lose the most of his beard was to have the worst of the argument.

"Moses!" exclaimed the Jew, at the same instant quickly jerking out a fine, long, red hair from the beard of the other.

"Saint Peter!" returned the Irishman, winking the water from his blue eyes, and, following the example of the other, neatly possessed himself of a curly black whisker from the right side of the Hebrew's face.

"Disraeli!" cried the other, pursuing the same method of punctuation in the contest.

"Dan O'Connell, be jabers!" declared Pat, as he pulled another black hair from amidst its bunch. This hair-pulling contest proceeded with the mentioning, one by one, of a score of notable men of both nationalities, when the game began to be a bit too monotonous, even if painful and exciting. To hasten it, the Jew, deciding to bunch a few, called out:

"The twelve apostles!" at the same time grabbing a small bunch from Pat's chin. This was too much for the Irishman, who vigourously jerked several large bunches from the beard of the other, and, as he danced about with each handful, he excitedly yelled, "The Ancient Order of Hibernians, bedad!"

THE WOMAN IN THE CASE

Eugenie Blair is to be seen in "The Woman in the Case," the most talked-of play that has been produced in many years, at the Grand Opera House, next Wednesday evening, October 17, surrounded by a great cast and a production such as is always assured with the Wagenhals and Komper enterprises. The play is considered the greatest work of the famous dramatist, Clyde Fitch, who wrote "The Climbers," "Nathan Hale," "Beau Brummell," "Her Own Way," and numerous other popular successes. The plot of "The Woman in the Case" concerns society life in New York at the present time, with a thrilling dramatic story as a background to throw it into relief. Mr. Fitch has made all his characters very real and involved them in vital situations which appeal with equal force to the gallery patrons as they do to those of the orchestra seats. Although it has many sensational features, "The Woman in the Case" appeals to the heart and awakens the noblest and most wholesome of human emotions. Its record of six engagements in New York is an evidence of the hold it has on the popular taste.

Epworth Leaguers Will Hold Rally

Union Meeting To-night in George Street Church.

There will be a rally of all the Epworth Leagues of the city to-night at the George Street Methodist Church, and there will doubtless be a large representation of the league present. The rally promises to be decidedly interesting and young people should be out in large numbers.

Some Questions Which Young Men Have To Solve

Rev. Wm. Major Has Commenced a Series of Special Sermons for Young Men—General Reference to the Topics Was Made Last Night.

Last evening at All Saints' church the rector, Rev. W. Major, commenced a series of special sermons for young men, which will be continued on Sunday evenings. The topics taken up will be of special benefit and interest to young men, dealing with the dangers they encounter and the means by which these perils may be overcome.

Rev. Mr. Major last night made a general reference to the series he proposes to deliver. His text was Titus I, 6, "Young men, likewise exhort to be sound minded."

The speaker in beginning remarked that he did not expect approval of every point touched upon. His purpose was to present to young men such an ideal as would enable them to maintain a close relationship to the perfect man, Christ Jesus. All young men had certain questions to solve, and his series of sermons was given with the simple desire of helping to arrive at a satisfactory solution of these questions, so that they might be better men, better citizens and better Christians.

All young men do not have the same questions to settle, because their standards are so different. One man suffers torture in doing something which another would do easily. This difference arose from the different moral atmosphere in which they lived. A young man travelling with a fast set had difficulties to solve which another would never have to consider. It depended upon the environment in which they lived. Environment had a great influence on men's minds.

There were problems of prudence and honesty, and courtesy, to solve. Opposing courses presented themselves to young men, and they had to consider the ultimate result of these influences upon their character. Whatever questions, however, presented themselves young men should always bear in mind two things: freedom and courage.

Young men often had an improper conception of freedom. They would sneer at a high standard, thinking that it was slavish. They thought a man should be allowed to live as he pleased. The drinker was free to drink; so was the teetotaler; but the drinker was not free to stop, and hence the total abstainer was free in both ways. "The man with the highest standard, said the speaker, has the greatest freedom. He is not subject to habits which hold him in slavery."

Passing on, Rev. Mr. Major dealt with the subject of "rights," of which there were many divisions. Blackstone stated that rights were absolute and relative. A frequently overlooked division was, first, the rights people had no right to surrender; second, the rights which people had no right to forego.

The last class of rights was then discussed. These were rights which it was not compulsion to surrender. Jesus Christ had waived his rights to riches, to being equal to God and to His life. People should be actuated by the principle, "If it is going to cause my brother to offend, I will waive the right." A great many young men were a slave to their rights. He was not always the noblest man who "stood up for his rights."

A trouble that often came to a young man was cowardice. "He wants to follow the dictates of his conscience," said the speaker, "but the crowd will not let him. If the crowd says a thing is manly the crowd will do it; if the crowd says a thing is weak and goody-goody the crowd will sneer at it—and he follows the crowd. What we need are young men to think for themselves, throw off the influence of the crowd and assert the right to be men.

Rev. Mr. Major then dwelt upon the first subject of the series: "Why should not every young man be a Christian?" Some men stated that every man was a Christian who was not a heathen. This was not the case. Men lived in a Christian land, conditions of which were due to the influence of the Gospel of Jesus Jesus Christ, and in that sense were Christians. They accepted all the privileges, and refused to recognize their obligations; they took all they could get, and gave nothing in return.

The speaker gave several reasons why every young man should be a Christian: Because Christ could save and forgive them; because Christ was God, and they could not be astray in following Him; because Christ had given them an example; and because Christ gave them power to live up up to that standard.

He closed by urging his hearers to take the motto, given by St. Paul, "To me to live is Christ, and to die is gain."

The B. F. Ackerman Co. Add Collar Factory To Plant

Increased Business Demands Modern Improvements in Collar-Making Department--Work Begun This Morning.

That Peterborough is rapidly becoming a manufacturing centre is evidenced by the large number of new companies that have located here this summer, and also by the number of extensions that have been made to different establishments. One firm after another have found it necessary to add considerably to their plants to keep abreast with increasing business. The B. F. Ackerman, Son & Co., are the latest to decide that more room is necessary to accommodate their growing trade. To the west of their already large factory another will be constructed as quickly as possible. This new building will be devoted entirely to the manufacture of collars, which branch of the business is in a flourishing condition. Formerly the collars made in the Ackerman factory were done by hand, but the company, with commendable progressiveness, are going to install special machinery to do the work, and thus their output will be greatly increased, while the number of employees will remain unchanged. The machinery, which is made in St. Paul, Wis., has been ordered and will soon be here.

The dimensions of the new addition will be 40x50 feet and will be three stories high, including one underground. The building is to be separated on the ground floor to enable wagons to drive in, but will be united overhead. The ground was broken this morning, and the work will be pushed as rapidly as possible and may be completed in a month's time.

Fair Gate Receipts Are $600 Less Than Last Year

Fair Directors Had a Winding-Up Meeting Friday Night—Receipts so far are Less Than the Expenditure.

The directors of the Peterborough Industrial Fair met Friday night at the office of the president, Mr. D. Hughes Charles, for the purpose of winding up the affairs of the society for the year.

There were present, President Charles, Messrs. K. Eardley-Wilmot, H. C. Winch, R. J. Munro, E. M. Elliott, J. H. Garbutt, and J. M. Brooks, directors; and secretary-treasurer, F. J. A. Hall.

The financial statement was considered, but is not yet complete, as there are a number of accounts and others matters yet to be considered. At present the receipts will no equal the expenditure, falling about $100 short. However there is the subscription of $150 from the citizens yet to come in, which will place the exhibition on a good ooting.

The gate receipts this year were $600 short of last year's figures, although it must be remembered that last year's exhibition lasted three days. The amount paid out for prizes, etc., last year was $2200, while this year it amounted to $1700.

Club Members Honour A Departing Brother

And Welcome New Member -- An Interesting Gathering on Saturday Night of B. A. C. Club--Dr. Bagshaw Was Honoured.

The members of the B. A. C. Club experienced conflicting emotions on Saturday night, when they met for the dual purpose of initiating a new member and of bidding farewell to Dr. Bagshaw, who was leaving to-day for Toronto, where he will open an office and take up practice. Mr. Maurice Van der Water, vocal teacher at the Conservatory of Music, was initiated into club membership, after which an adjournment was made to Hooper's palm parlours, where a banquet was held in honour of the new and departing members. A toast list was carried out with Mr. E. M. Best, the president, acting in the capacity of toastmaster.

The toast to the B. A. C., after the King had been honoured, was proposed by Dr. Middleton, who gave a short review of the activities of the club during its three years' existence.

Mr. Van der Water then favoured the gathering with a vocal solo.

"Our New Member" was honoured in a toast proposed by Mr. M. J. Hutchinson, and responded to by Mr. Van der Water, after which Mr. R. N. Jolliffe, who came down from Toronto to attend the function, sang a solo.

The "Ex-Members'" health was proposed by Mr. J. W. Wood, and responded to by Mr. George Robertson, while the "Visitors" were looked after by Mr. W. G. Cochrane and acknowledgments were made by Mr. R. S. Merrell and Mr. Jolliffe, both of whom expressed their pleasure at again meeting the members of the Club.

The toast to the departing member, Dr. Bagshaw, was proposed by Mr. George Robertson, and on behalf of the Club, Mr. Best presented him with a gold ring, engraved with the club's emblem. The gift and toast were acknowledged by the recipient in a few words, in which he expressed his regret at severing the fraternal ties, which had bound him to the members of the club for which he had only the best wishes.

"The Stein Song," given by Mr. Jolliffe and Mr. Van der Water, brought the gathering to a close.

Relief Fund For Blaine Family

Another Tribute to the Heroism Of His Action.

"Mack," writing in Saturday Night, this week, speaks as follows:

"With credit to themselves, certain officers of the Commercila Travellers' Association have started a movement to raise a fund for the benefit of the family of Engineer Blaine, who so bravely rods to his death in the railway collision at Napanee, no doubt saving many lives by his fidelity to duty. Already small contributions, received from many sources, give the fund a start of $250, and once it gets fairly under way a large sum should be assured. Each passenger on board that train should contribute and become an active agent, seeking contributions for this fund, because they know better than others the the service that Blaine rendered. There were about one hundred Oddfellows on board, and no doubt that order will contribute a sum of money, while the Provincial and Dominion Governments might very properly do the same to a generous extent. Money is spent readily enough in ways less worthy than in recognition of a deed so courageous.

"He saw the other train on the track; he called to his fireman to jump; from his position he could have jumped first; he did not jump at all, but reversed his engine, used the emergency brake, rode into the collision, and his hand, severed from his body, was found clutching the brake. He alone died. Only two passengers were seriously hurt, and it was Blaine's work that prevented a serious disaster. He could have saved himself; instead, he saved others.

"It is one of those deeds that all men should honour, and his wife and family should receive substantial proof of the country's pride in this man's action."

Mark St. Church Held Anniversary

Fittingly Celsbrated—Rev. J. H. Lock, of Havelock, Occupied the Pulpit.

Yesterday at the Mark street Methodist church, East City, the anniversary of its institution was appropriately celebrated. Rev. J. H. Locke of Havelock, was the officiating clergyman for the day.

The services were well attended, and the special free-will offering was very encouraging. In the morning Rev. Mr. Locke preached an interesting and earnest sermon, choosing as his text that portion of the Acts of the Apostles beginning with the second verse. It deals with the descent of the Holy Ghost upon the apostles, according to the promise of the Redeemer. The speaker said that this great event, the coming of the Holy Ghost among those who were assembled in the Temple, was similar to all other great religious events. It was sudden, wonderful, it had far-reaching effects, it was productive of good results. Among the people there was a unity of accord—that is among the apostles and the others who were waiting in the temple—and thus the revival that followed Pentecost spread rapidly amongst the different nations, and against the obstinancy of paganism. When the people of to-day have that same unity of purpose, then, the speaker said there will follow another great revival. The coming of the Holy Ghost was accompanied by a mighty wind, thus symbolizing the power of the Holy Spirit upon man's mind, sometimes filling him with fear, sometimes with love. This wind was also suggestive of the widespread influence of the Holy Spirit. Like the wind it has reached all parts and is now felt throughout the whole world; and as the wind brooks no opposition, so the word of God has accomplished great results against the opposition of non-believing nations.

At the time of the descent of the Holy Ghost a tongue of fire was seen on the brow of everyone in the hall. This represented the human language as the chief medium of spreading the word of God. Books and the press assist to a large extent, but preaching will still endure. Christ himself wrote scarcely a line using the power of speech to spread His Gospel. These tongues of fire also showed that preaching should not be cold and passive, but should be warm, and should leave a deep impression upon the listener's mind.

The speaker urged all to receive the Holy Ghost. The great resultant, spiritual strength, was to be enjoyed to-day, as it was on the first Pentecost. Then every man and woman should be filled with the Holy Spirit, according to the words of St. Luke.

Will Complete The List Of Billets

For The Baptist Convention To-Night.

At the various Protestant churches yesterday notices were read in reference to the coming convention of the Ontario and Quebec Baptists, and a further request was made to the members of the various congregations to entertain the delegates, who will come. It was stated that the Baptist congregations of the city had found that they were unable to accommodate all the delegates, and 75 were yet to be provided for.

The General Committee will meet to-night, when an effort will be made to complete the list of billets.

Movement For Fewer Licenses

Y. M. C. A. of Lindsay, Taking the Matter Up.

We understand that a petition is being circulated among our citizens by a Y. M. C. A. young man to do away with a couple of hotel licenses in town. The matter will be brought before the town council at their next meeting. As it now stands there are eight licensed hotels in Lindsay, and for a population of about 8,000 the promoters think six hotels is ample to meet all requirements.—Post.

Thos. Guerin Goes On Stage

Joins the Sevengala Company This Week.

Thos. Guerin, a clever local buck and wing dancer has joined the staff of the Sevengala Company, which played here last week, and which will be in the Academy of Music at Lindsay, this week. Tommie was a good "subject" for Sevengala last week, and his actions, while under the hypnotic spell, caused the audience great amusement.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Former Baptist Pastor Pleased At City's Progress

Rev. Jonathan Bastow Preached at Murray Street Baptist Church Yesterday—The Growth of Peterborough is Revelation to Him.

The large congregations that gathered at both services at the Murray Street Church yesterday spoke volumes for the large and warm place which the late pastor and his esteemed wife still hold in the hearts of the people of Peterborough. To say that the welcome extended to the reverend gentleman yesterday was of the warmest character is but mildly to express the fact, while the presence of many representatives of other churches at both services, who were evidently anxious to share in the welcome after his two years' absence, abundantly testified to the regard in which he is held in the churches outside his own communion.

A word, too, must be said of the almost affectionate welcome extended to the late by the present pastor, the Rev. F. J. Scott, B.A., who, by the way, had never met Mr. Bastow before. Their united presence on the platform of the church was in itself in many respects a unique benediction, and while many will never forget some of the beautiful features of Christian brotherhood that marked Mr. Bastow's farewell services two years ago, it is also true that many will hold as a cherished memory the mingling of gray hairs and black as the old and young pastors blended their prayers for each other and the church, with which they are both so closely identified.

If anything was needed to convince Mr. Bastow of the love of his late people it was the immediate response made to his appeal for aid for the Parsonage Fund for the church at Renfrew, where he now labours. Notwithstanding the Lists connected with the disturbing financial news of the day before, and the heavy draft on the resources of the church incidental to the approaching visit of the Baptist convention, well on to $70 was promptly subscribed to help provide a church home in his new sphere of labour for the reverend gentleman.

Mr. Bastow preached in the morning from Gal., vi., 2,—"Bear ye one another's burdens," and in the evening from Ephes., iv., 30,—"Grieve not the Holy Spirit of God, whereby ye are sealed unto the day of redemption."

The crowded and attentive audiences at both services showed unmistakably their appreciation of the sermons.

Mr. and Mrs. Bastow will be here all the week and will doubtless be glad to renew many of the acquaintances that were so pleasant a feature of their residence in the city.

The reverend gentleman made reference to the evident progress and prosperity of the city, which were so noticeable after his two years' absence.

The Mission Band meets on Friday at 4.15.

Trespasser Was Heavily Fined

Cost Him $12.60 For an Indecent Proposal.

Only two cases occupied the attention of the Police Court officials this morning, but nevertheless, the city coffers were made the more opulent by $15.

Maurice Maher, a married man, was fined $10 and $2.60 costs for trespassing on the property of Mrs. Robert Steele, including indecent proposals. Maher did not appear in court, so that the only evidence heard was that of Mrs. Steele. She testified that the accused knocked at her door one day last week while she was alone with her two children. She sent her boy, a lad of about 15 years, to the door, whom Maher asked for Mrs. Steele. When asked his commission, he wanted to know where he could get a housekeeper. She told him she thought she could supply his wants, and went on with her work.

He followed her about the house, and into the back yard, where she dropped some wood. She ordered him off the premises, she stated, but Maher, in response, offered her $5 if she would come into the house. She then threatened to set the dog on him, and inform her husband when he came home from work. Maher then left in a hurry, with the dog after him.

He was fined $10 and costs, and in default of payment will be given 15 days in jail.

A Sunday Drunk

A young man pleaded guilty, to a charge of being drunk yesterday, in a public place.

"Five dollars or five days," was the Magistrate's terse remark. "That's the price of a Sunday drunk."

The fine was paid.

Lakefield Objects To City's Greed

In Claiming as Peterboro' Boys That Town's Athletes.

The Lakefield News asks: Hasn't Peterborough enough first-class athletes of its own to shed lustre on the city? It appears not, judging by the systematic policy pursued by the Peterborough papers in claiming every athlete in the county as a Peterborough boy, thus leading outsiders to infer that they are residents of the prosperous borough to the south of us. Reggie Blomfield and Bruce Ridpath have both been claimed in this way and have not felt overwhelmingly flattered by the attention. Peterborough has no claim on them whatever. Lakefield has been their home from the days of their birth.

Christian Scientists To Hold At Home

An Interesting Gathering Will Be Held To-morrow.

This will be a busy week at First Church of Christ Scientist. Tuesday evening the young people of the church give an at home. Wednesday evening is their usual testimony meeting and Thursday Thanksgiving Day at 7.30 p. m. they will have a Thanksgiving service. No money collections at any of these services.

Fire-Bug Successful After Several Attempts

Mr. John Curtis' Barn Totally Destroyed With Its Contents, Including Two Horses—Incendiary Was Seen Rushing Away From the Building—Police Have Good Description.

After several attempts to destroy the property of John Curtis, driver for Adamson & Dobbin, an incendiary last night succeeded in setting fire to the stable belonging to Mr. Curtis, and the structure and its contents, were totally destroyed.

Mr. Curtis lives in Douro, near the Nicholls Oval, and the brigade had thus a long run when the alarm was rung at 7.30 o'clock last night. It was impossible to save the structure as there was no hydrant or adequate water supply at hand and the only resources the firemen had were the Babcock engines. A bucket brigade was organized and saved the house. Mr. Wheeler's house, adjoining Mr. Curtis' stable, was also saved, but had a narrow escape.

The loss will be quite severe, as a valuable team was lost, as well as a winter's supply of hay and oats. One of the horses destroyed belonged to Adamson & Dobbin and the other to Mr. Curtis himself. Several calves were also burnt, and if the fire fiend had suspended operations for a few minutes several cows would have been in the stable.

The circumstances of the case show a determined desire on the part of some one to destroy Mr. Curtis' property, and the only punishment for the culprit is a long term in prison. Several times before a man has made attempts to set fire to Mr. Curtis' premises. On Friday night Mr. Curtis, while driving in neighbourhood of his own house, noticed smoke issuing from the parlour window. An investigation revealed an appalling state of affairs. An overcoat had been rolled up and drenched with coal oil, and the carpet was saturated with the same liquid. The overcoat had been set on fire, and the flames had reached the edge of the carpet when Mr. Curtis arrived on the scene. He was fortunately able to extinguish the blaze with several pails of water, and the danger for the time being was averted. If it had not been for the timely arrival of Mr. Curtis the the house would undoubtedly have been consumed. All the occupants were away at the time and the fire-fiend had plenty of time to make his preparations.

On another occasion recently a man has been seen around the premises but was scared away before he could attempt any damage.

Last night Mr. Curtis and his family were in the house, and heard a peculiar noise. Mr. Curtis rushed out of the house to find his barn in flames, and saw a man running across the field towards the fence. Mr. Curtis went back into the house for his revolver, but the man made his escape across the field. Mr. Curtis then remembered the horses in the stable, and made a heroic effort to save them. He succeeded in unloosening the halter straps, but the animals refused to move and he had to leave them to the mercy of the flames. His efforts to save the horses resulted in his hands being badly burned.

The police have been given a good description of the incendiary, and it is to be hoped that his arrest will speedily be brought about. Burglaries, such as the city has been troubled with for some time, are bad enough but arson is much worse, and the culprit should be severely punished.

Mr. Adamson of Adamson & Dobbin, when seen by the Examiner this morning, said that his loss would amount to $500. He had just filled the barn with a supply of hay and oats for the winter, and this, of course, was utterly destroyed. He prized very highly the horse which had been lost and recently refused an offer of $200 for it. There was insurance to the amount of $150.

Committee To Deal With Heating Co. Franchise

Manufacturer's Committee and Mr. A. H. Brintnell, of the Dominion District Steam Heating Co. Will Meet To-Night—Council Look Favourably Upon the Scheme.

To-night the Manufacturers' Committee will meet to confer with Mr. A. H. Brintnell, representative of the Dominion District Steam Heating Company, Limited, with reference to the proposal of that company to carry on operations in the city. The company is asking for a franchise to do business in Peterborough, and to supply business places and residences with heat by means of steam driven through pipes in the street from a central station. The system has been several times referred to in the Examiner and the council appears to regard it favourably providing that several points may be satisfactorily arranged. One of these is that the company style themselves the agents of an American firm, and the council wants to make sure that they do not give a franchise to a concern who will immediately hand it over to another company.

It is expected that arrangments may be come to to-night between the company and the Manufacturers' committee.

Mrs. McAmmond's Farewell To Corps

Her Last Sunday in Peterborough in Official Capacity.

Yesterday was Mrs. McAmmond's last Sunday at the local barracks when she officiated at the services held during the day. Large attendances marked her farewell and the kindest of feelings were expressed on all sides. At the evening meeting Mrs. Sergt.-Maj. Laing and Capt. Leader expressed on behalf of the local corps their appreciation of the good work done by the departing officers and hoped that they would be as successful in their new quarters. Mrs. McAmmond then addressed the members speaking from the 3rd verse of the Epistle of Jude, "Earnestly contend for the faith that was once delivered unto the Saints." The speaker urged those who were right with God to persevere in that state, and those who were seekers of the light to continue so and not become discouraged. True it is that many obstacles are in the straight and narrow path of duty but the glorious feeling of those who serve God as they should was sufficient reward. At the conclusion the band rendered "God be with you till we meet again". Staff Capt. McAmmond and his wife wish to express their gratitude to the general public of Peterborough for their kindness, good-will and generosity displayed on all occasions. Peterborough will always have a warm place in their hearts. Staff Capt. McAmmond returns from the congress to-night and with his wife will leave Peterborough to-morrow or on Wednesday.

Eyes Worth Having

Did you ever stop to think that with the exception of the heart, the eye is the hardest worked part of the body.

As long as you are awake and your eyes are open they are working in your service.

Three pairs of muscles control the movement of each eyeball.

The two eyeballs move exactly together. Would you know the effect of their not working together—press your finger against one, so that it's position does not exactly correspond with the other.

How important it is that if these muscles tire and you have headaches at once require Glasses, that your Glasses suit your eyes—our long experience makes us experts and able to fit you correctly.

Bank Of Montreal Officers In Charge At Ontario Bank

been trying times for depositors in the Ontario Bank, those giving evidence of the greatest anxiety being the small depositors, whose, all, perhaps, had been placed in that bank for safety. It took some time to convince them particularly the ladies, that there was no danger, and that they would lose absolutely nothing, the shareholders being the persons upon whom the blow would fall. Many of those who drew their money were still unsatisfied. They had the actual bank notes, but they did not know what to do with them. Their faith in banks was shaken, and they were almost as much at sea as they were before. They did not want to keep the money and they did not feel safe in depositing it in any other bank.

The majority, however, were not so skeptical, and, after getting their money, deposited it in some other bank. The Post Office Savings Bank department, too, reaped benefit from the withdrawal of money from the bank and on Saturday and to-day the clerks of that department were kept busy accepting deposits.

So far as the affairs of the Bank of Montreal and Ontario Bank are concerned, there is nothing new in the situation to-day. This was the statement made by Mr. K. Eardley-Wilmot, manager of the Bank of Montreal to-day. They were paying all marked cheques on demand, and so far as they were concerned everything was going smoothly.

Mr. Crane is on the staff of the bank of Montreal to-day, and is assisting Mr. Eardley-Wilmot in handling the business. To-morrow he goes over to the Dominion Bank, of which he will assume the management in this city.

A special telegraphic service also has the following from Toronto:"

Toronto, Oct. 15.—The total loss which the Ontario Bank has sustained in a way—criminally or merely unfortunate—yet to be determined, is said to be $1,294,000.

There will be a meeting of the board of directors of the Ontario Bank at 3 o'clock this afternoon, to formally sign, seal and deliver the contract with the Bank of Montreal. E. S. Clouston, president of the Bank of Montreal, and W. S. Clouston, will arrive this morning.

Stock Ventures Reckless.

President Cockburn says: "I honestly believe that General Manager McGill's speculations began in an effort on his part to enlarge the bank. One step led to another, and towards the last he became reckless."

Ex-Manager McGill says: "The losses were made in pursuance of the bank's business. Losses were made on securities. I deny that I have been engaged in speculation with the bank funds on my own account."

Some investments, made in McGill's own name, have been turned over to the bank.

The speculations were mainly in American stocks. Some of the last ventures were very wild.

Get $150,000 Bonus.

At 11.30 Saturday President Cockburn of the Ontario Bank announced that this notice had been sent to the various branch managers:

"Until further instructions regard all the assets and property of your bank as the property of the Bank of Montreal, and regard yourself as acting for that bank."

In an interview, Mr. Cockburn said: "We get a bonus of $150,000 and everything over at the end. The other banks are willing to back the Bank of Montreal to the extent of two and a half millions. Yes, and here's something else. The bankers' fund, you know, guarantees a five per cent. premium on our notes."

Criminal Action In Abeyance.

The Ontario Bank directors are not superseded by the transfer. The question of criminal action has not yet been discussed. Pecuniary, not moral, dividends are sought at present. Discussing the matter of instituting a prosecution, Attorney-General Foy said yesterday that his department had no information of any wrong-doing upon which the Crown could act. If President Cockburn or any shareholder knew that defalcations had been committed, he could lay an information with the magistrate and the law would be set in operation in the ordinary way.

President Cockburn intimates that the shareholders, when settlement is made, may not lose much. An expert accountant begins work to-day on the books, and as soon as his report is completed a general meeting of the stockholders of the Ontario Bank will be called.

Practically No "Run."

The "run" on the Ontario Bank locally on Saturday morning will go down in banking history as an affair somewhat lacking in the dramatic interest that usually belongs to an event of the kind. In the head office and in each of the several branches throughout the city placards appeared soon after the opening bearing the simple announcement: "This is the Bank of Montreal." The effect was marked in each case, a number of anxious depositors wavering and then deciding to allow their accounts to stand, while remarks freely passed from lip to lip highly complimentary to the soundness of the Bank of Montreal.

In Outside Places.

The branches in various cities and towns where the Ontario Bank has located were opened as usual and all displayed the sign, "This is now the Bank of Montreal." No very serious "run" is reported except at Montreal, where police were called in to maintain order. In some places where the news had not become really known there was no unusual excitement.

PORT ARTHUR BREAKWATER
NOTICE TO INTENDING CONTRACTORS

As it may be deemed advisable by the Department of Public Works to change the location of the proposed breakwater at Port Arthur, thereby entailing the non-removal of the inner 1,000 feet in length of the existing breakwater and a decrease or increase in the quantity of dredging to be performed for the foundation of the proposed work intending contractors are requested to omit from the bulk sum of their tender the removal of the inner existing portion of the breakwater and the dredging, and to quote a price per cubic yard for the dredging, and a bulk sum for the removal of the breakwater.

Mr. Jolliffe Sang At Charlotte Street

Interesting Musical Services There Yesterday.

The Music at the Charlotte street church yesterday was an especially interesting feature of the services.

Mr. R. Norman Jolliffe, the former soloist of the church, was in the city over Sunday, and sang at both services. The congregations both in the morning and at night, were more than ordinarily large. Mr. Jolliffe's solos were thoroughly appreciated, his many friends here being delighted at the opportunity of hearing him again.

The members of this congregation have a special interest in Mr. Jolliffe's progress in his musical career, and none will be great pleased than they to learn of his success.

At the morning service Miss Manning gave a good rendering of Johnston's "Rock of Ages. The work of the choir yesterday, too, was the subject of much favourably comment.

The musical numbers given yesterday were:

Morning.
Anthem, "Shepherd of Lords"...Jones
Solo, "Rock of Ages" ... ...Johnston
Miss Frances Manning.

Mr. Van der Water's Singing Enjoyed

Sang Solos at St. Luke's and at St. Paul's Yesterday

Mr. Maurice Van der Water of the Conservatory of Music Staff spent yesterday in the city and delighted the congregation of two of the churches with his singing. He was in especially splendid voice in the morning when he sang "Callest Thou Me Thus, O Master" at St. Luke's Church. Mr. Van der Water's interpretation of this number was quite artistic and displayed the fine qualities of his voice to excellent advantage. In the evening, he sang Cole's "Crossing the Bar" at St. Paul's Church in a most acceptable manner.

New Movement Class Officers

A New Organization at Park Street Baptist Church.

There was a very full day at the Park street Baptist church yesterday.

The evening subject, "The Opera, as a Christian, can I Consistently Attend," drew an immense crowd. The subject was treated from the text, 2 Tim. 3, 4,—"Lovers of pleasure more than lovers of God." The summing up of the subject being: "Where morals are the lowest, there theatres flourish the most," viz. Paris and Chicago.

The introduction of the New Movement Bible Class resulted in more than doubling the old class. It will be known as the Park street Baptist New Movement Bible Class. The pastor was appointed teacher and the other officers elected were:—

President—Mr. J. Lamb.
Vice-President—Mr. Geo. O. Hayward.
Secretary—Miss Nellie Hudson.
Treasurer—Miss Maggie Mann.

Ex-Chairmen were appointed for the following Committees — Class, Devotional, Visiting, Entertainment and Reception.

Members will be admitted between the ages of 18 and 90 years; to meet each Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

B.Y.P.U. will meet to-night after which the Reception Committee will meet to make final arrangements for meeting the delegates on Wednesday next, to receive badges, etc. All other meetings are given up during the week in favour of Convention.

MARRIED.

HAYWARD—BARRETT.—At the residence of the groom's brother, 86 Aberdeen street, Peterborough, on October 13th, 1906 by Rev. A. H. Brace, Mrs. James Hayward, Peterborough, to Miss Alice Jane Barrett, late of Small Bridge, Lancashire, Eng.

Yesterday In City's Churches

GEORGE STREET.

At the evening service at George Street Church last night the pastor, Rev. Dr. Crothers, preached a special sermon to young men.

The Epworth Leagues of the city will hold a rally meeting at George Street Church to-night.

To-morrow night there will be a meeting for the men of the congregation to form a men's association.

The weekly prayer meeting will be held on Wednesday night and on Thursday morning the Thanksgiving service will be held at 11 o'clock.

On Thursday night the annual Thanksgiving tea will be held.

The lesson study will be taken up on Friday night.

ST. ANDREW'S.

The Young People's Society of St. Andrew's will hold a prayer meeting to-night at 8 o'clock. The election of officers will take place.

To-morrow night the Young Men's Guild will meet.

There will be no prayer meeting on Wednesday night in view of the public opening of the Baptist convention.

A special meeting of St. Andrew's Ladies' Aid Society will be held to-night at the manse at 7.45 o'clock.

MURRAY STREET.

At the Murray Street Baptist Church yesterday Rev. J. Bastow, of Renfrew, a former pastor, occupied the pulpit at both services. Large congregations were present testifying to the esteem in which Mr. Bastow is held by the members of his former flock.

To-night the Young People's Society will meet and Rev. Mr. Bastow will give a short address. Rev. F. J. Scott will also speak.

All committees of arrangement in connection with the convention will meet to-night. The convention opens on Wednesday night at 8 o'clock and the public are cordially invited to be present.

On Sunday next there will be Sunday School from 2.30 to 3.00 o'clock.

ALL SAINTS

The Women's Auxiliary will meet on Tuesday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock.

The Chancel Guild will meet on Tuesday evening at 7.30 o'clock when reports will be received and officers elected.

The Men's Guild meets on Tuesday night at 8 o'clock.

On Thursday, Thanksgiving Day, there will be divine service at 11 a. m. The collections will be in aid of the Diocesan Mission Fund.

On Friday evening the confirmation class will meet.

Ommitted Name Of the Author

Of One of the Laymen Who Gave Interview on Church Relations.

An unfortunate omission occurred in The Examiner on Saturday. In the article giving the views of the laymen on the question of the relationship of the church to the community, an interview from Mr. M. W. Matchett, of the Mark Street Methodist Church, under the subhead, "Make Voting Compulsory; Abolish Canvassing, and Elevate the Community," was given, but the name of the author was inadvertently omitted. The Examiner regrets this exceedingly, as Mr. Matchett's contribution to the subject was a very valuable one.

Left To-day For Columbus, Ohio

Mr. Larmonth Will Attend Important Gathering There.

Mr. J. H. Larmontt, manager of the Peterborough Light and Power Company, and of the Peterborough Radial Railway Company, left to-day for Columbus, O. While there he will attend the convention of the managers of the Street Railway Association of America. He will be away about a week or ten days.

Over Twenty Entries For Thanksgiving Day Race

Examiner Trophy and Prizes are on Exhibition—Great Interest is Being Taken in the Race and There is Much Speculation as to the Result.

The Examiner trophy and prizes for the big road race on Thanksgiving day from Lakefield to Peterborough are displayed in the window of Sanderson's jewelry store and are attracting considerable attention. The trophy is a very handsome one of silver plate, standing thirteen inches high. It bears the inscription "Examiner Trophy, Annual Road Race, open to amateurs in the County of Peterborough; Presented by Hon. J. R. Stratton, 1906". On the pedestals are silver tablets upon which the names of the winners year by year will be inscribed. The winner of the race in addition to holding the Examiner trophy one year, will be given a heavy gold signet ring which is displayed with the cup. The second man to cross the line will receive a very handsome pearl stickpin.

The race is causing great excitement in local sporting circles. The time for entering closed Saturday night and there will be a field of over twenty starters. Eleven entries were received on Saturday. There is much speculation as to the result of the race and winners are already being picked although the fact that there have been no long distance races here for some time, makes it hard to dope the winners. In addition to the best local runners, entries have been received from Havelock, Lakefield, and Otonabee. W. J. McBurney, the Havelock entry, is looked upon as having a good chance.

Rae Best, one of the local entries, went over the course this morning, running in from Lakefield and made good time. With good weather and the road in shape, fast time should be made.

Rugby Reigned Supreme At Riverside On Saturday

Three Teams Practice the Game—Banker-Quaker Game Was Called Off—Seniors Have Fine Work-out.

The much talked of initial City League game between the Bankers and Quakers which was to have been played on Saturday was postponed. The coin handlers on account of the financial difficulties of the Ontario Bank were unable to congregate their forces so that the game was called off. However, the fans who wandered over to the Riverside grounds in the afternoon were not disappointed. They saw three teams at hard work—the Seniors, Quakers and C. G. E.—and footballers whose vocations bid them roll in the dirt, were very conspicuous "on the grounds."

The Seniors had the best practice of the season, first playing the Quakers and afterwards the C.G.E. With the exception of Mulhern and Easton they had their full line-up, these men being replaced by Lang and George McDonald. The Quakers played with their full team with the exception of Kelly and gave the Senior a lively run for a half hour or more. The score ended 6—2 with the Seniors on top. Both teams showed good form and played good combination. The Seniors have a number of new tricks which they will try next Thursday on the Hamilton field.

The Canadian General team next came on the grounds fifteen strong and at the end of time the score showed 10—3 in their favour. The C.G.E. have some good men and should make an excellent showing in the City League games. Saturday's practice easily demonstrated the fact the City League contains some fine material which will be heard from at no distant time.

The Quakers will practice to-morrow evening in Brock street rink at 9 o'clock after the seniors practice. A full attendance is requested.

Sees Improvement In Peterborough

Mr. H. H. Bradburn, of Winnipeg, is Visiting in the City.

Mr. H. H. Bradburn of Winnipeg, is spending a few days in the city, visiting his mother, Mrs. William Bradburn, and his father-in-law, Mr. R. J. Winch.

Mr. Bradburn is manager of McColl Bros., the well known oil firm, and covers the territory from Port Arthur to Dawson City. He has not been in Peterborough for three years and is greatly impressed with the advance the city has made in that time. Mr. Bradburn will leave in a few days on a business trip to Ottawa and Montreal.

The New York Stock Market

(Furnished by J. R. Heintz & Co.)

New York, Oct. 15.—Stocks were dull and irregular to-day. The activity was confined to scalping operations by floor traders, and prices were alternately weak and strong, the changes on the whole being confined to fractions. The tendency was downward early, but there was no pressure noticed anywhere. B. R. T. was an exception, showing considerable strength on the political outlook.

In the last hour a rally under the lead of the Hill stocks gave the market a firm tone and carried prices up about the best of the day. The close was quiet, but strong.

The Dramatic Club in connection with All Saints' Girls' Guild, intend giving a concert in the school room of the church about the end of the month. They have selected for their entertainment "The Ugliest of Seven," and no doubt the Guild will be successful in their entertainment.

During the first week in December they will hold their annual sale of work in the school room.

THE MICROSCOPE

Proves That Parasites Cause Hair Loss,

Nine-tenths of the diseases of the scalp and hair, are caused by parasitic germs. The importance of this discovery by Prof. Unna, of the Charity Hospital, Hamburg, Germany, cannot be overestimated. It explains why ordinary hair preparations, even of the most expensive character, fail to cure dandruff; because they do not, and they cannot kill the dandruff germs. The only hair preparation in the world that positively destroys the dandruff germs that burrow up the scalp into scales called scurf or dandruff, is Newbro's Herpicide. In addition to its destroying the dandruff germ, Herpicide is also a delightful hair dressing. Sold by leading druggists. Send ten cents in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co. Detroit, Mich. Harry Gilman Was Not Seriously Injured

Although He Fell 65 Feet Off Bridge With Hoisting Engine—His Brothers Return From Goderich Where They Went to Attend Him.

Messrs. Robert and Richard Gilman arrived home on Saturday night from their trip to Goderich, where they went to see their brother Harry, who was injured in the C.P.R. bridge accident on Friday morning. They found that he had not been as seriously injured as the reports would lead them to believe, and while he was in bed, he was suffering no pain, and hoped to be out again in a short time. That he was not more seriously injured, however, was only by the greatest streak of good luck. He fell with the hoisting engine, 65 feet into the water below the bridge, and it is little short of a miracle that all who fell were not killed. Mr. Gilman was the least injured of all those who were in the accident, and was able to wade ashore and send out for the other men, one of whom, the engineer, was killed almost instantly, his head being badly cut.

As to the cause of the accident no one seems to be able to give any definite information. There was a high wind blowing at the time, and it is thought that possibly this may have caused the engine to topple off the bridge.

An inquest is being held and Mr. Gilman will be one of the witnesses. In view of this fact he was unable to accompany his brothers home, as was their intention when they left here. He is an employee of the Canada Foundry Company, the contractors for the construction of the bridge, and has worked with them for some time. It is a singular coincidence that while working for the Hamilton Bridge Works Company in the construction of the Canada Foundry buildings in Toronto some years ago, Mr. Gilman met with an accident which was much more serious than that which he had last week. At that time both arms were broken.

Peterborough Men Had A Very Narrow Escape

Messrs. Geo. and W. B. Anderson, of This City, Plunged in River at Prince Albert—Were Almost Drowned—Some Interesting Information Concerning Two Peterborough Men.

"A very unpleasant accident and one which came near proving a fatality, occurred at Mitchell's crossing, South Branch, on Saturday afternoon, when Mr. G. W. Anderson, of this city, and his brother, W. B. Anderson, of Peterborough, Ont., were crossing the river on the ferry. Their horse suddenly became frightened at something and started towards the front of the ferry. He was seized by both but became unmanageable and plunged over the front, precipitating them into the river and drawing the buggy in after him.

"Mr. G. W. Anderdson, who happened to be on the up-stream side, was assisted as quickly as possible onto the ferry by Mr. Binden, the man in charge. Together they got the small boat unfastened and Mr. Anderson went to the assistance of his brother, but before he was able to reach him, the latter, being much crippled and being rapidly swept down stream by the strong current, was almost exhausted and ready to sink. He was about to go under for the last time when he was caught and assisted to the river bank in safety.

"The horse also finally reached the bank, and, after tearing himself loose from the buggy, ran into the woods, where he was captured the next day about noon. Two shotguns, a quantity of ammunition and other articles were lost in the river, but it is indeed fortunate that results were no worse, as they might easily have been under the circumstances."

Mr. W. G. Anderson is an old Peterborough boy, and was an enthusiastic member of the 57th regiment. He left here about seven years ago for North Dakota and after a few months there he settled in Cookston, Minn., where he earned for himself a good business education; and after several years of practical experience in both office and Business College work, he went to Prince Albert, Sask., and opened up a Business College in that enterprising city which has proved very successful.

Mr. Anderson has succeeded in placing graduates in several of the most responsible positions in Prince Albert, and adjacent towns is assured that they are giving good satisfaction.

The school opened for the fall and winter session on September 4th and is already well filled and in good running order.

Anniversary Of Sunday School

Y. M. C. A. Work In India Told Of By Prof. Farquhar

Foreign Secretary of the Association Who Addressed Meeting in Y. M. C. A. Yesterday—Best Audience He Has Had Since Coming to Canada—His Tribute to Men of Peterborough.

"This is the best and most interested body of men I have yet addressed since my arrival in Canada." This was Prof. J. N. Farquhar's comment on the large audience of men that yesterday afternoon crowded Association Hall to hear the speaker of the afternoon.

Peterborough was the only point between Toronto and Ottawa that Mr. Farquhar was able to visit, as his time in Canada is short and so many places are calling for him. He has been for fifteen years in India, having four years ago given up a splendid college position to enter association work among the thirty thousand students of Calcutta, where his work has been most successful. Mr. Farquhar is accompanied by his wife on his Canadian tour.

The city of Calcutta has several splendid Y.M.C.A. buildings, and they are manned by secretaries supported by the associations of North America. Mr. Farquhar is supported by those of Ontario and Quebec, in which support Peterborough has had a share for the past four years.

It is expected that, as the result of Mr. Farquhar's visit, a new interest will be kindled among the members here.

On Saturday evening Mr. Farquhar led the Bible Club in the study of the lesson, and at its close gave a short address on his work.

On Sunday morning Harold Payne, chairman of the Boys' Committee, presided at the boys' meeting, when Mr. Farquhar was present, speaking particularly of the Indian boys, their character and customs, and what the Y. M. C. A. was doing for them.

Mr. J. F. Thornton led the song service at the afternoon meeting, having splendid support from the orchestra. The George Street Male Quartette rendered good service, singing "The Cross Is Not Greater Than His Grace."

Mr. Farquhar first pointed out the fact that the East—India, China, Japan and Corea,—held half the human race. He spoke of political, social, educational and religious conditions, referring particularly to India, where a great national movement was in progress. The old religions were breaking up, and they sought to give them Christ in their place.

The Y. M. C. A. was particularly fitted to do this work for men because of its adaptation, elasticity of methods, and its varied equipment, methods, and its varied equipments and agencies, including athletics, educational classes, hostels or(dormitories), and its Bible classes and other religious work. The work was most difficult because of caste and prejudice, but many Indian young men had been won to Christian life and service.

Mr. Farquhar then referred to the work of the Y.M.C.A. in the army of Japan during the recent war, the work having received the highest commendation from the Emperor and his officers. He has recently requested that a permanent work be established at the army posts.

In closing, Mr. Farquhar pointed out five ways in which Y. M. C. A. members could help with this work, namely:

1. To study the needs of foreign lands.
2. To pray.
3. To stir up others.
4. To give of your money, and, if the call came, to give yourself.

At the close of the address a free-will offering was taken, amounting to $42, which, with the boys' contribution, will total over $50.

The Provincial Committee have asked Peterborough for $200 this year for foreign work, and a hearty response from the members will be necessary in order to secure this.

Never have more successful meetings been held in the work than yesterday afternoon.

AFTER TEN YEARS

Mr. G. L. Stephenson of Peterborough, says: "For over ten years I suffered constantly with Piles, first itching, then Bleeding; pain almost unbearable; life a burden. Tried everything in vain till I used Dr. Leonhardt's Hem-Roid.

"I had taken but a few boxes when I began to notice an improvement. I decided to keep on, and now after using three boxes I am completely cured. My general health has also greatly improved. It gives me great pleasure to recommend Hem-Roid to all sufferers with Piles, and I am convinced that what it has done for me it will surely do for them."

A $1000 guarantee goes with every box of Hem-Roid. Price $1, all druggists, or The Wilson-Fyle Co., Limited, Niagara Falls, Ont. 6

Objection To The Use Of Glasses

Sometimes people object to glasses, claiming that once put on they can not see without them. If after putting on glasses the wearer finds it difficult to go without them, this simply proves that before he wore glasses he was forcing his eyes beyond the limit of safety, a practice if continued, is sure to affect the health and sight. The person who lets pride, even excusable pride, stand in the way of glasses is doing his eyes and health in justice and is merely paving the way for future suffering and discomforts.

We will test your eyesight carefully and tell you just what condition your eyes are in.

McGill Tells Why He Began To Speculate

The Bank Was Practically Insolvent When He Took Charge, He Says, and He Got No Support From the Directors—A One-Man Fight to Save Institution.

"I don't want to drag anyone else into this," said Mr. Charles McGill, late of the Ontario Bank, to the Toronto Daily Star to-day. "I am under, and I assume responsibility, but I want to say that the directors for the first five years would or could give me no help, that they almost avoided me, in fact. That's the only accusation I wish to make. Of late I have not gone to the directors. What was the use? The impression appears to be that the Ontario Bank was solvent when I assumed the management eleven years ago. It wasn't. Its condition was desperate. I could have obtained outside aid, but the directors would not hear of it, so I had recourse to American securities. I made at first, and then lost. It has been said that all the losses occurred in the last year or so. Such a statement is not a fact."

Mr. McGill's Physical State

The events of the last few days had placed their imprint on Mr. McGill, though, judging from his own narrative, fully eleven years had contributed their share of strain. As he alternately stood and sat, nervously jingling his bedroom key and tags, the once prominent financier was not without the element of pathos. His voice was low, and there was no bitterness. "I have stood alone," his own words, described his personal feeling. He repeated frequently and he noticed it. "I am afraid I ramble," he said, and tried to smile.

His ramblings, however, were not contradictions. His white hair contrasted with his florid complexion, but excitement heightens colour. Before the conversation ended his sentences were slightly disconnected, and the exact words he wanted sometimes eluded him.

Refuses to Answer Charge

"I have declined to give a statement up to the present," he began, "because I wanted the assertion effected first."

"It is alleged, Mr. McGill, that you have been submitting false returns to the directors for several years, to cover up your speculations in this connection. It is added that the statement presented at the last annual meeting was prepared in such a way as to deceive not only the directors, but the auditors?"

Mr. McGill made no reply for a moment. Then he said: "I have nothing to say as to that. The books are being examined. The results of that examination will be known."

"What do you say to the allegation that the directors have known nothing of your investments or speculations?"

"If they have not known, they ought to have known."

From the Beginning

There was a pause. Mr. McGill was asked to begin at the beginning.

"When I took hold," he said, "the Ontario Bank was in a bad way. What has happened was threatened then. If anything, the situation was worse, as now the depositors will lose nothing. There were a few good accounts, but many were worthless. Certain accounts, of little value at the time, might improve. I saw that, but I did not foresee that such good times were coming. Had I been gifted with second sight, what did happen might not have happened. I expected things to improve, but I did not expect such progress as the country subsequently experienced. Had I done so, I might have been able to manage differently. What I did see was depressing in the extreme. The Ontario Bank stock was scarcely saleable, if at all.

Why He Went Into Stocks

"I determined to save the bank if I could. I got no help from my directors. I told them that something would have to be done. I struggled on for two or three years. Things were no better, and then I had recourse to stocks. I believed that American securities were bound to improve, so I bought and sold. I did pretty well at first so my judgment was not greatly at fault. Stocks that were forty then are now one hundred and fifty, but I couldn't hold. I had to go on buying and selling.

Nursed the Bank's Stocks

"I said that the Ontario Bank's assets were good; not because they were good, but because I did not want the institution to tumble. I watched and nursed Ontario Bank stock daily—now buying, now selling. I was building the bank outside, increasing and improving the branches. Well, the good times had not arrived. A lumber company failed. The company's account with us exceeded $500,000. Another firm went under, and we got practically nothing of the $100,000 we had advanced. Prospects looked blue. Still I hoped that by quietly nursing our accounts until they should return to par or near, and some did, and by investing in good American securities, I might win out after all. Times did improve, but a fifty-thousand-dollar loan on our books when I began had grown. Firms wanted more money. Industrial expansion had commenced, and we had increased the loans. Besides, as I have pointed out, I had been building up the branches.

When Reverses Came

"As I have told you, my stock investments yielded returns for a while. Then came reverses."

"Margins, I suppose."

"Yes, but it is not true that I lost anything like a million last year; the examination now going on will show that."

"Any of the present directors on the board when you became manager?"

"Yes; three, I think."

"They ought to have known about your speculations?"

"Now, I have stood alone. I stand alone now. I am not trying to shift the blame. It is true however that the Ontario Bank was certainly not solvent. Men in business eleven years ago will tell you that those days were dark.

One-man Fight to Save the Bank

"If I have told you that it was solvent eleven years ago, I spoke sarcastically. The directors did not help me. Something had to be done. I did what I thought was best, both for the directors and the depositors. If I have failed in my attempt, I must take the blame I suppose, though it has been a one-man fight."

Mr. McGill used no names in his story except when asked as to the personnel of the board when he was appointed manager. He made no charges. At all events he desired to make none.

"Be sure that I have not charged anyone with anything," he said, almost feverishly, "unless it be the early directors with negligence. That is all that I wish to say about them. They did not help me. They did not share my burdens. But do not report me as charging them with anything."

Mr. McGill seemed to live the troubled times over again. He spoke of the day of business depression, and one might almost imagine that he was revolving in his mind the question of ways and means. When brought back to the present he sighed.

"Unless you were in the fight yourself," he said, "you cannot understand how scarce money was. Why there's a million now for every hundred thousand then."

By way of summary, Mr. McGill said: "When I became manager very little could be realized. Nearly everything good had gone to the other banks. I was urged to try and pull the bank through. I hesitated at first but finally thought that with time and help I might pull things together. If didn't get the help, and so far as I could see, there was only one course to take. I took it."

All this would indicate as has been said on the street, that Mr. McGill had more latitude than the average bank manager.

Rev. Dr. Symonds Upon Church Co-operation

Importance of the Recent Gathering in St. John's Cannot Be Exaggerated.

Editor Examiner,—

Sir—You ask me for an expression of opinion respecting the recent discussion in St. John's school house, of the question, "How the church can best serve the community," and I very gladly accede to your request.

It would be impossible for me to exaggerate my sense of the importance and value of such a gathering as reported in your columns. Every citizen knows of it, and must approve of the design and of its execution. This approbation is what we mean by public opinion. Public opinion is thus raised to a higher level, a stream of moral influence flows into the life of the entire community, and the Kingdom of God, i.e., of righteousness, peace and joy in the Holy Ghost, is thereby advanced.

We often hear the expression "Distinctive church doctrine" and "Aggressive church work," and by church doctrined work in this connection is usually meant the advancement of some doctrine or practice which is peculiar to one or other denomination. But I have long been of the opinion that the things which separate Christian folk (although they may have an importance of their own) are too highly honoured by the titles "distinctive" or "aggressive" church work. For when we use the word church in its best sense we mean the society of those who are labouring for the accomplishment of the will of God revealed in Christ, amongst men. The "distinctive" work and the "aggressive" work of Christ were the salvation of souls and the establishment of the love of God and the love of men in the world. And so I think Canon Davidson never did more distinctive or aggressive church work than when he gathered round him the notable assembly of last Tuesday.

Whilst there is no doubt at all that the denominational societies of various kinds have done much good in the past, yet the day does seem to have come for a forward movement which shall fuse into one, all lesser movements for the study and consideration of the service which the church can best render to the community. Your Peterborough gathering is an experiment along this line, and one which might easily, and with advantage, be made in other similar centres of population.

I am, dear sir,
Yours sincerely,
HERBERT SYMONDS.

Deputation To Inspect Steam Heating System

Manufacturers' Committee Will Investigate the Matter—Representatives of the District Steam Heating Co. Were Heard Last Night.

Messrs. A. H. Brintnell and G. E. Bradshaw of the Dominion District Steam Heating Co., waited upon the Manufacturers' Committee of the City Council last night in reference to the request of the company to be given a franchise to do business in this City.

As a result of the conference a committee representing the city will visit Chatham, Lockport, Detroit or some other place where the heating system is in operation for the purpose of investigating and reporting upon the plant. The council looks with favourable eyes upon the system, if satisfactory arrangements can be made between the council and company.

Mr. Bradshaw, who is District Manager of the company, supplied the committee with much information about the working of the system. The idea is to form a local company which will be connected with the Dominion Company. A number of local men among whom is Mr. G. Walter Greene, have signified their intention of becoming interested in the company if it is granted a franchise in Peterborough.

The members of the committee present were Ald. McWilliams, chairman; Ald. Adams, Hicks, McIntyre and Duncan.

Mr. Bradshaw stated that his company were styled as agents of the American Company. They were practically the same company, but his company looked after the Canadian part of the business. They had a good system. During the past twenty-five years they had installed 365 systems. They proposed to form a subsidiary company connected with the Dominion District Steam Heating Company and always were represented upon the board. A great many improvements had been made in the system, which was a very expensive one. In Detroit they had installed the largest steam plant either in the United States or Canada, 36 inches in diameter.

The great difficulty they had met with was condensation and this they had managed to overcome to a great extent.

Ald. McWilliams said that the city wanted to give franchises to the people who would use them. He asked who held the patents in Canada, for their machinery.

Mr. Bradshaw in reply stated that the patents were held by the American Heating Company, but the Dominion Company had the exclusive use of them in Canada.

The cost of installing the plant would be thought, be $50,000 but the engineer would have to look over the ground.

Ald. Hicks asked if the company were in a position to give a tariff of their rates.

Mr. Bradshaw stated that they were not prepared to do so at present, but was sure that it would be of benefit to the people.

Ald. Hicks said that the city did not want to see the streets torn up for mains if these mains were not used.

Ald. McWilliams asked if they paid a high price for a franchise in other cities.

Mr. Bradshaw said that they had not and did not propose to do so in Peterborough. They were bringing what they were sure would be a benefit and advertisement to the city.

Some discussion took place as to how the company proposed to make connection. Mr. Bradshaw explained that his company would have to dig up the streets to make connections after the mains had been laid.

The committee did not approve of this expressing the opinion that they wanted the streets kept as intact as possible.

Ald. McWilliams wanted to know whether if they go to the franchise the company would have the financial strength to carry the thing through.

Mr. Bradshaw stated that the contracts would never be started until there was enough capital to carry it through. They were not living on hope at all.

After some further discussion along these lines, Ald. Hicks moved seconded by Ald. Adams, that the committee be authorized to appoint a deputation to visit places where the system is in operation and report.

The motion was carried.

Annual Meeting Held Last Night

St. John's Anglican Young Peoples' Association.

A most interesting and somewhat unique social function was that conducted last night by St. John's Anglican Young People's Association, in the Sunday School House. The occasion was the annual meeting of this society and invitations had been issued to the young people of the congregation, which responded to the number of about three hundred. If the interest and enthusiasm displayed at this, the third annual meeting, is evidence of anything conducive to the prosperity of the Association, then this body is most assuredly destined to have a most successful career.

The first part of the programme was of a business character, but owing to the lengthy programme and the large and expectant audience, this part was cut down to the reading of the report of some of the more important committees. The committee on nominations asked leave to defer the election of all officers, except that of president till the next regular meeting, explaining in this connection that there was but one nomination for the presidency—that of the former president—but the chair ruled that that also should be left over.

A most enjoyable musical programme was then rendered, and which was interspersed with a new and pleasing feature in the way of promenades. This part of the evening's entertainment was heartily appreciated, as was shown by the large numbers who joined in the procession.

Refreshments were served in the basement, where the refreshment committee, under the direction of Miss Jay Layfield, had prepared many dainties.

The musical part of the programme which was arranged by Mr. Devey, convenor of the musical committee, was as follows:—

Trio, "Ye Shepherds Tell Me" Mazzinghi
Mrs. R. J. Devey, Mr. Chandler, Mr. Allen
Song, ... "Mona" ... ...Adam
Mr. J. E. Firth
Song ... ..."Dear Heart" ... ...Matt
Mrs. R. J. Devey
Violin solo ... ... Miss Evelyn Dorr
Song ... "Eileen Alannah" ... ...
Mr. George Chandler
Promenade—Piano selections by Miss Shirley Wesley, Miss I. Hogarth
Duett, "Whisper and I Shall Hear"... Piccolomini
Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Firth
Song .... Mr. Richardson
Song ... . Miss Daisy Sawers
Duett ... ... "Down the Vale" ... Adam
Messrs. Chandler and Allan
Promenade—Piano selections by Miss Fair, Mr. Devey.
God Save the King.

At a meeting of the executive committee held on October 1st, the question of finance was discussed, and a means of building up the treasury. Mr. R. J. Devey was asked to make arrangements for an entertainment to be given by the society and as a consequence he has consented to present Gilbert and Sullivan's "Mikado", with full staging, costumes and orchestra at as early a date as can be made convenient. As Mr. Devey includes in his repertoire of personally conducted works "Utopia Limited", "A Greek Slave", "The Geisha", "San Toy" and others a good presentation is assured.

A meeting will be held in the near future for the purpose of selecting the singers for the different parts.

The next regular meeting of this Association will be held on Monday evening, October 29th.

China Has A Holocaust And Hundreds Die

Hundreds of Steamer's Passengers Burn to Death.

CALAMITY AT HONG KONG

British Steamer Hankow Had Just Arrived From Canton With 2,000 Passengers, Most of Whom Were Sound Asleep, When Alarm of Fire Was Given—Bodies Huddled Together In the Hull.

Hong Kong, Oct. 15.—Hundreds of passengers of the steamer Hankow of the China Navigation Co.'s fleet of London were burned to death yesterday in a fire, which completely destroyed the vessel while she was moored at her wharf. Many others jumped into the harbor and were drowned.

The Hankow carried 2,000 Chinese passengers, men, women and children, and seven Europeans and a cargo including 300 bales of matting, 560 bales of raw silk and 400 bales of waste silk. The vessel arrived from Canton at 3 o'clock yesterday morning and was shortly afterwards moored at the wharf.

Couldn't Turn on Water.

The chief officer reported to Capt. Branch that the ship was afire. The captain then directed the chief engineer to turn on the water through the fire hose. This was impossible, for the reason that within five minutes after the alarm was given the Hankow was ablaze fore and aft.

Capt. Branch then awakened the European passengers, who were rushed down the gangway, the ladies in their nightclothes.

A Veritable Furnace.

The crew was compelled to leave the ship, which, by this time, was a veritable furnace. The Chinese steerage passengers were thrown into a frightful panic. Horrifying shrieks and cries to save their lives were heard, but it was impossible, owing to the inflammable nature of the cargo.

Responding to signals from the British cruiser Flora, the naval dockyard dispatched contingents of engines and assistance. The land and floating brigades of firemen made herculean efforts to extinguish the flames, which leaped to a height of over 60 feet.

Couldn't Scuttle the Ship.

The British steamer Pow An, which was berthed at the same wharf, was towed out to save her from destruction. A neighboring pier 100 yards distant was burned to the water's edge. Governor Nathan, accompanied by his aide de camp, arrived at the scene at 4.15 a. m. Governor Nathan suggested scuttling the ship, but the suggestion was found to be impracticable.

The fire was brought under control at 6 a. m., at which time only the shell and hull of the Hankow remained. The gruesome work of recovering the dead was then begun.

Seventy-Five Corpses Recovered.

The fire-fighters have already recovered seventy-five corpses.

Many of them were huddled together and only singed, while others were incinerated beyond recognition. Of the cargo 200 bales of raw silk were saved, but badly damaged by water. The remainder was totally destroyed.

There are many theories as to the cause of the fire. The first is that the fire was caused by the overturning of the lantern of a Chinese boarding-house runner, who came aboard seeking customers. The second was that an opium smoker accidentally set fire to the matting; the third is that it was caused by the crossing of electric wires. A fourth theory, and one that is considered the most probable, is that the fire was incendiary, and was an outgrowth of the boycott against British river boats.

MRS. HENDERSON'S DEATH.

Was Boiling Turpentine and Beeswax When Clothing Ignited.

Owen Sound, Oct. 15.—A sad fatality occurred Friday at Shallow Lake, the victim being Mrs. W. A. Henderson, wife of the bookkeeper at the Owen Sound Portland Cement Co.'s works at that place.

Mrs. Henderson was boiling a mixture of turpentine and beeswax on the stove when it caught fire and in attempting to throw the dish out of a window the flames ignited her clothing.

She was badly burned and died after several hours of intense suffering.

Probably Fatally Burned.

Guelph, Oct. 15.—An Italian named Simenetti is at the hospital, seriously, if not fatally burned. He was employed on the night shift at the Page, Hersey Co., and while carrying some coal oil it caught fire, burning him badly about the upper part of the body.

One Killed In Collision.

Quebec, Oct. 15.—Through a collision between two locomotives at Hadlow Saturday morning Octave Veilleux aged 35 years, an I. C. R. fireman, was badly crushed and died shortly afterwards at the Hotel Dieu Hospital Levis. One of the locomotives was the property of the I. C. R. and the other the G. T. R., and both were badly wrecked.

Stick Driven Into Brain.

Fort William, Oct. 15.—Wilbur Williamson, 18 years of age, residing near Murillo, was holding the belt on a wood saw in place with a short stick when the stick caught in a wheel and was thrown against the boy's head with such force that it pierced his brain. He died six hours later.

Injuries Prove Fatal.

Toronto, Oct. 15.—Mrs. Margaret Boddy, 177 Bellwoods avenue, who was knocked down by a milk wagon at Bathurst and Queen streets a week ago died in the Western Hospital Saturday. She was 63 years old.

An Indian Drowns.

Sault Ste. Marie, Oct. 15.—Joseph McCoy, an Indian, whose home was at Groscap, on the north shore of Lake Superior, west of the Soo, was drowned Friday night. He was going up the lake in a sailboat, towed by a barge steamer, and fell overboard. McCoy was about 40 years of age, married, and leaves a family.

Killed In Steamer Collision.

Kingston, N. Y., Oct. 15.—The night passenger steamers Adirondack of the People's Line of Albany, and Saratoga of the Citizens' Line of Troy, collided near Glasco, 12 miles north of the city at 1.15 o'clock Saturday morning. Clarence Sherman of Melrose, N. Y., an oiler of the Saratoga, was killed and George Horton of New York City, clerk on the Adirondack, is missing. The collision occurred in a dense fog.

Ship's Boiler Explodes.

Pittsburg, Pa., Oct. 15.—A boiler of the Government boat Slackwater exploded late Saturday, wrecking the vessel, killing three men, injuring six others and creating havoc in the lock on the Ohio River, where the boat was lying. Two negro workmen are missing. The cause of the explosion is not known.

Sleep-Walker Frozen.

McKeesport, Pa., Oct. 15.—John Rezinski, eight years old, of Scott Haven, Pa., was found frozen to death Saturday near his home. The boy was clad only in his night clothes. He was a somnambulist, and sometime during the night left his bed and in his sleep wandered from the house.

MR. O'CONNOR'S MISSION.

Queen City Contributes $2,000 to the Irish Parliamentary Fund.

Toronto, Oct. 15.—"At this moment, in a room in Dublin Castle, an Irishman and a home ruler is drafting the scheme which will be proposed to Parliament next February," were the comforting words which T. P. O'Connor, M. P., for the Scotland division of Liverpool, addressed to an audience of 2,500 in Massey Hall last Saturday night. In Dublin Castle, he proceeded, was being laid the foundations of a Irish Parliament.

"I am not ashamed to beg for Ireland. I hope when my history is written that it may be said I was the last beggarman for Ireland since Dan O'Connell."

In this respect also the meeting was very successful, a collection of $1,600 being taken up, which the committee undertook to make up to $2,000 for the funds of the Irish Parliamentary party.

After briefly replying to the address of welcome, Mr. O'Connor delivered his speech on Ireland and home rule.

More Doukhobors For Canada.

Winnipeg, Oct. 15.—Peter Veregen, the Doukhobor leader, who has directed the progress of the Doukhobors in their several colonies since their coming to Western Canada, is in the city en route to Montreal, to sail in about a week's time for London, whence he goes direct to the land of his birth. If he succeeded in reaching Moscow he will confer with Count Tolstoi, who has watched the progress of the Doukhobors in Western Canada with great interest, and then he intends returning in the spring with a large party of immigrants. He reports that the Doukhobors have done well in Canada.

Fever Patient Commits Suicide.

Toronto, Oct. 15.—Despondent and with his mind affected from typhoid fever, Charles Gould, an Englishman, who was admitted to the General Hospital on Friday evening, committed suicide at that institution at 12.30 Sunday morning. Gould climbed out of the fanlight over the window and dropped to the ground, a distance of about 30 feet, sustaining fatal injuries. He had not been in Canada long and in Toronto only a few days. He was a teamster. A widow and child are left in the old country.

Why Wampole Suicided.

New York, Oct. 15.—A special to The Times from Philadelphia says:—By a remarkable system of deception Henry K. Wampole, the drug manufacturer, whose body was found recently in East River at New York, dragged his company to the verge of bankruptcy, realized nearly $750,000 on notes, and by other means robbed his business partners of at least $500,000. His partners got an inkling that he had defrauded them only a few days before his death.

Time Extended.

Ottawa, Oct. 15.—The Dominion Government has extended the time for the stamping of milk cans from Oct. 15 to Dec. 15. Legislation passed at the last session of the Dominion Parliament rendered compulsory the stamping of all cans used in the selling of milk with the capacity of the same. The cost of stamping is said to be 15 cents each.

Contractor Suicides.

Fredericton, Oct. 15.—Charles Moffat, a prominent and wealthy contractor of this city committed suicide yesterday by cutting his throat with a razor. He had been in ill-health for some time and it is supposed his mind was unbalanced. During the summer he suffered from sunstroke.

North Renfrew Official Returns.

Ottawa, Oct. 15.—The official returns of the North Renfrew bye-election show that Gerald White won by 1,061 votes over Thomas Murray and 708 over the combined votes of Murray and MacKay. The votes polled were: White 2,167, Murray 1,166, MacKay 233.

Railway In Iceland.

Copenhagen, Oct. 15.—The Icelandic Government has finally decided to build a railroad in Iceland. It will run from Reykjavik, about 45 miles, through a fertile part of the country where a similar railroad was planned many years ago by an American.

The Terms Have At Last Been Agreed Upon

Will Give Ontario An Increase of Nearly $800,000.

M'BRIDE IS DISGUSTED

Not Satisfied With British Columbia's Share Leaves Conference In Dudgeon, Although That Province Will Receive a Hundred Thousand Dollars In Addition to Per Capita Increase—New Liabilities.

Total sum payable by the Dominion to the provinces in the form of per capita and specific subsidies, $5,865,121.

New liabilities assumed by the Dominion under Saturday's arrangement, $2,372,000.

Sum to be paid to the provinces in per capita subsidies, $4,125,121; increase, $1,107,009.

Sum to be paid to the provinces in fixed subsidies for civil government and legislation, $1,740,000; increase, $1,265,000.

In estimating the above sums, the additional $130,000 which Alberta and Saskatchewan received, and the additional $100,000 to be paid to British Columbia over and above what the other provinces get, have been incorporated in the allowance for civil government and legislation.

Ontario's income under this arrangement if carried out will be $789,484 annually.

Ottawa, Oct. 15.—After a week's deliberation on the part of the Provincial Premiers and Ministers, varied by occasional joint meetings with Dominion representatives, Sir Wilfrid Laurier Saturday afternoon announced to the Interprovincial Conference that the Federal Government favored an increase in the specific and per capita subsidies to the provinces as provided for in the Quebec resolutions of 1887, not those of 1902. The claim of twenty cents per capita for the administration of provincial justice was not entertained. Sir Wilfrid said that next spring, when he and Mr. Fielding would be in London, they would endeavor to obtain those amendments to the B. N. A. act necessary to give effect to the Dominion Government's decision.

Premier McBride of British Columbia withdrew from the conference because the other Premiers wouldn't agree to an extra subsidy for the Pacific province. In addition to the regular grant he wanted a sliding scale, owing to the peculiar situation of the province. He wanted this to start at $1 a head and decrease as the population increased. Mathematically this means $1.05 for British Columbia as against 80 cents for the other provinces.

Mr. Whitney moved that British Columbia be given an extra $600,000 for ten years, but Mr. McBride would not consent.

Premier McBride Withdraws.

On the passage of this resolution Mr. McBride, as if disgusted by the smallness of the amount, said: "Gentlemen, I withdraw from the conference," and, turning on his heel, walked out.

Other Delegates Indignant.

This left every other delegate in a white heat of indignation, and one Conservative Premier said with considerable emphasis: "Mr. McBride has been neither frank nor candid."

It is impossible to avoid the conclusion that Mr. McBride did not want a settlement, but preferred an impossible request, knowing that it would not be granted. In other words, he wanted to pose as a man with a grievance.

The proceedings of the conference were handed out by Mr. Lanctot in the form of a series of resolutions, the subsidy demand being based on the Quebec resolutions with provision made for Alberta and Saskatchewan.

It was agreed to meet annually to discuss questions of common interest, the conferences to be convened by the Premiers of Ontario and Quebec.

THE FISHERIES' QUESTION.

Hon. Mr. Foy Says Will Be Considered by Ontario Cabinet.

Toronto, Oct. 15.—Hon. J. J. Foy was the only Minister who left Ottawa for Toronto on Saturday. Hon. Mr. Whitney went to Morrisburg and Hon. Mr. Matheson to Perth. Both are expected in the city this afternoon.

Mr. Foy said that the provincial subsidy question was the only one taken up by the Premiers. The power question was not taken up, and the boundary question will be discussed at a conference in the middle of November by the provinces interested.

Premier Whitney had presented a memorandum of additional reasons why a larger sum than was demanded in the memorial of 1902 should be given Ontario. This memorandum may be published as soon as the Premier returns. He did not get the assent of the other provinces to this proposal, and was not inclined to a hasty disposal of the matter in view of his comparatively recent knowledge of the whole situation.

Why McBride Withdrew.

Premier McBride withdrew from the conference on account of the refusal of the others to consent to his demand for more than $100,000 in addition to what the other provinces got, and in addition to the extra allowances for British Columbia in 1902. Nor was he satisfied with the grant for ten years, but claimed the $100,000 in perpetuity. The peculiar conditions of the Pacific province, its 7,000 miles of highways, the immense cost of administering justice, one trial costing as much as $10,000 on account of the great distances, were conceded by all the others as affording grounds for special treatment, but they were not sufficiently special for Premier McBride.

A committee of the Dominion House met the conference and seemed favorably disposed to the claims made by the provinces, and it was gathered that their opinion would weigh with the Government. The committee intimated that nothing would be done till the B. N. A. Act was amended, which can only be obtained by petition of the Governor-General and the two Houses of Parliament. The Government were urged to introduce the necessary resolutions at the earliest possible moment.

Fisheries Question.

On the fisheries question all admitted that the present arrangement was very inconvenient by which the Dominion makes the regulations while the proprietary rights are with the provinces. The Dominion authorities thought it would be better if they took charge altogether, not because they wish to make any money, but to avoid further friction and the double jurisdiction. Some of the provinces conceded this and will recommend legislation to that effect. Mr. Whitney wished to consult his colleagues first, as the question was new to him, and it had not been suggested that it would come up, while the Ontario Minister in charge of fisheries was not present.

Quebec, Prince Edward Island and British Columbia have a tax on commercial travelers, and they were willing to abolish the tax and would recommend legislation to that effect, except in the case of agents for the sale of liquor, who should pay the same tax as the local sellers.

Malta-Vita

Steamed, cooked, mixed, baked and packed in absolute cleanliness, Malta-Vita comes to you the most healthful, the most delicious food in the world, rich in all the nutrition of the best white wheat and finest malt extract, every flake baked brown and crisp. Don't let the verdict you have passed on some other flaked food keep you from trying Malta-Vita. It isn't at all like the tasteless variety. Old folks and young folks and little children, all have found that there's nothing quite so good for breakfast, or at any other meal, as a bowlful of Malta-Vita with cream or fruit. And Malta-Vita is always ready to eat—no cooking, no inconvenience, no delay.

GALT MINISTERS ANGRY.

Over Likely Sunday Football Game With Galt Players In Chicago.

Galt, Oct. 15.—Rev. Mr. Knowles of Knox Church and Rev. Dr. Dixon of Central Presbyterian Church made the proposed visit of the Galt football team to Chicago the subject of comment in the pulpit last night. The team came in for severe denunciation because of the story that they will play a Sunday game during their visit to the Windy City.

John Brady, new secretary of the club, says no Sunday game had been scheduled, but it was possible such a proposition would be made when the team reached Chicago. If so it would be for the individual members to say if they would play.

The information that a Sunday game is possible is said to have reached the ministers' ears from an ex-secretary of the club.

Quite a furore has been raised and it may result in the trip being called off.

ARE YOU A PRISONER?

THOUSANDS of men are prisoners of disease as securely as though they were confined behind the bars. Many have forged their own chains by the vices of early youth, exposure to contagious disease, or the excesses of manhood. They feel they are not the men they ought to be or used to be. The vim, vigor, and vitality of manhood are lacking. Are you nervous and despondent? tired in the morning? have you to force yourself through the day's work? have you little ambition and energy? are you irritable and excitable? eyes sunken, depressed and haggard looking? memory poor and brain fagged? have you weak back with dreams and losses at night? deposit in urine? weak sexually?—you have SARTORIAL NOTES.

The Edict Has Gone Forth That Shoes Must Match the Costume.

It would not take a Sherlock Holmes to predict that nine out of every ten girls will have their feet shod in white shoes this summer. Even if the edict "shoes to match" had not gone forth, the white kid, buckskin and embroidered linen pumps are so pretty and look so dainty with white frocks that none can resist them.

There are many gray pumps in the shops to match the spring gowns, and to wear with them are new stockings of shaded silk changing from black to white and from white to black at every turn of the ankle.

A new idea in hatpins is to twist a bit of pink ribbon on a common hatpin over the head like a rosebud and fasten around it a green leaf. This will look exactly like a pink rosebud slipped in among the trimming of the hat.

Evening shirt waists are made of flowered silk trimmed with valenciennes lace and tiny quillings and ruffles of the silk. They are dainty and effective.

Eyelet work holds its own in the parasol world, and insertions of lace are even more popular than ever, both cluny and Irish being used in profusion.

The prettiest linen parasol is plain except for a rather large motif embroidered in each panel, or perhaps in only one, with the initials cunningly interwoven so as not to be too conspicuously plain. They are rather on the order of a cabalistic sign.

The child's dress pictured is a linen creation. The deep collar is cut in squares and buttonholed. In each square is embroidered a tiny spray of flowers. The yoke is tucked and herringboned. JUDIC CHOLLET.

COOKERY COLUMN.

Some Attractive Ways of Using Left Over Vegetables.

The average cook has just begun to appreciate the possibilities for good contained in vegetables aside from the "plain boil." She has been accustomed to regard them solely as a kind of unimportant accompaniment to meat and scarcely in themselves worth the trouble of any separate pains in preparation. Then, too, the remains of delicate vegetables left over from dinner are frequently regarded as of no consideration, when, as a matter of fact, a little ingenuity transforms them into very appetizing hot or cold dishes.

A number of dainty little salads are made with a few odds and ends of vegetables in combination with a small quantity of poultry, fish or meat. Roast veal, for instance, may be cut in small pieces, without skin or gristle, mixed with a double quantity of cucumber, tossed in a dressing composed of lemon juice, oil, pepper and salt and served in the center of a bed of water cress or lettuce. Such dishes, if insufficient in quantity, may be eked out by the addition of hard boiled eggs cut in quarters, while mayonnaise lends to the attractiveness of vegetable salads.

Eggs in Baked Potatoes.

Eggs in baked potatoes are an attractive vegetarian dish suitable for luncheon or breakfast. Select fairly large potatoes of an equal size. Wash and bake them until soft. Allow one egg for each potato. Separate the whites from the yolks, keeping the yolks whole. Beat the whites to a stiff froth. When the potatoes are sufficiently cooked cut a round hole in the top of each and scoop out the inside. With this beat the stiff whites of the eggs and an ounce of melted butter to each four potatoes. Season with salt and pepper and return to the skin, leaving a hollow in the top of each potato. Into this drop the yolk of an egg, sprinkle the top with brown crumbs and one or two tiny bits of butter. Return to the oven long enough to set the egg. Serve very hot. If this is considered too much trouble, the baked potatoes are very nice simply scooped out a little and the whole egg dropped in and returned to the oven for a few minutes.

Chicken and Green Pea Salad.

Any kind of poultry lends itself to the concoction of dainty little salads with cold vegetables. For instance, cut the white meat of chicken into neat pieces and mix with an equal quantity of cold green peas. Heap it in little shells and serve with mayonnaise or with a dressing composed of oil, vinegar, pepper and salt.

CHICKEN AND GREEN PEA SALAD.

A Cushion For Brooches.

This novel little cushion should find a place on every dressing table and is of use for keeping brooches that for the time are not required in good condition. In the center is a round pincushion covered with wash leather, and about this, sewn on at the edges, are four flaps of material lined with chamois leather. The brooches are pinned on to this cushion in the ordinary way and then the flaps fold over, the last two tying together with ribbons and thus inclosing the jewelry entirely in a chamois leather covering which should keep it nice and bright. Any pretty material can be used for the exterior of the case, the dimensions of which must be determined by the number of brooches it is intended to contain.

CHIC STYLES.

Colors That Will Prevail in the Fall. Hat Crowns Are Higher.

In the fall black silk dresses promise to be very much worn. Indeed, judging from the autumn color silk cards issued by leading Paris firms, dark tones will predominate, with black as a special feature.

There is a new shade of old rose that is very attractive, known as "acajou." It resembles mahogany, but is really a dull old rose.

Gray will be a popular shade in the autumn in dark gun metal tones. And some of the striped silks soon to appear on shop counters show overplaids in contrasting colors, such as blue, red, olive and myrtle green.

Tan, beige and gray gloves are more in favor than white, and it is a great relief to the economical woman to know that she may appear in these colors without being considered out of the mode.

The crown of hats seems to be growing higher and higher. In direct contrast to these are the large, wide, coarse straw sailor hats for country wear trimmed with a band of gold or silver tissue round the crown. A cache-peigne gives the required tilt.

The hat illustrated is in black crin, with a white border. The crown is adorned with a ruche of black malines and La France roses.

TOILET HINTS.

Frequently Change the Way of Dressing the Hair.

Always dressing the hair in exactly the same way is apt to make it thin in places, and the constant wearing of a frame to raise the hair from the front and sides is also liable to thin it where the wire presses the head. It is wise, therefore, to change the style of dressing for a day or two now and then, dressing it low in the neck to give the hair at the top of the head a rest from constant pressure of pins or frame. Never, if you value your hair, sleep with it dressed as you wear it in the daytime. Always take it down and comb and brush it well, plait it in a loose plait, and let it hang down. Do not fix it by pins during the night.

Complexion Cure.

The latest cure for a thick or spotty complexion is to wash it with parsley water. Take half a pint of rain water and soak in it a large bunch of parsley, letting it remain in the water all night. In the morning when you dress rub the face well with a dry cloth, then dip a sponge in the parsley water, and pass the damp sponge over your face, leaving it on without drying it. Do this three times daily, and at the end of a fortnight you will be surprised to see that there are no more spots or roughness on your face.

Face Bath.

When the face is tanned by the sun, bathe it with water in which lemon juice in the quantity of a tablespoonful to half a pint of water has been added.

For finger nails that are tender and loose, do not use the nail file or orange stick. To clean them, soak the finger tips in warm olive or sweet oil, wash thoroughly in warm soapsuds, using the nailbrush lightly. If dirt still remains under the nails, remove with a piece of old linen.

Orris root powder dusted over the hair is a good substitute for frequent shampooing. Sprinkle the powder into the hair and rub it well into the scalp, then brush it out. Orris is one of the few powders which may be used for this purpose, as it will not stop the pores. It is cleansing, and will give a faint, sweet odor to the hair.

Hints For the Hair.

There is a right and wrong way of brushing the hair as there is of doing everything else. First, part down the center above the forehead and give it twenty brisk strokes on either side. Divide it down the back and repeat the same process. Next brush it back from the ears, giving it always the twenty strokes. Persevere with this treatment and your hair will soon become soft and glossy and repay the trouble taken with it.

A good shampoo for dry, falling hair is made as follows: Shave half a cake of white shaving soap and dissolve it in a pint and a half of hot water, add thirty grains of potassium carbonate, 120 grains of powdered borax and two ounces each of bay rum and best cologne. Wet the head well, then rub with this shampoo all over, cleaning the scalp with the tips of the fingers, rinse in several waters, the last cold, and dry thoroughly.

Few women look after the ends of the hair, which are bound to split in time. The longer the hair the greater the care, naturally. But split hairs mean a ragged head covering and look woefully untidy. It is not wise to allow the hair to grow too long. It is hard to care for and never does up to advantage. More than that, the weight is apt to weaken the roots. Abundant hair, long enough to arrange neatly in any of the sensible prevailing styles, is a joy in a right minded woman.

Eolienne an Attractive Autumn Material—Hints For School Frocks.

Eolienne makes the prettiest kind of a cool weather dress, and in wash materials the mercerized eolennes are very smart this summer.

Skeleton styles lend themselves wonderfully well to the making over of gowns, and for renovating last year's school frocks nothing is better as a model.

Notwithstanding the vogue of linen and canvas cloth for shirt waist suits, some very fashionable women, Mrs. Roosevelt among the number, cling to the old favorite silk suit in a becoming shade. The president's wife wears a dainty mauve shirt waist costume of checked violet and white silk made with a deep flounce of hand embroidered swiss muslin and a yoke of the same sheer material. The sleeves are bell shaped at the elbow, with the edging frilled in and falling almost to the wrist. A wide girdle of a darker shade of velvet adds to the effect.

Useful, comfortable taffeta paletots are always worn. Every woman numbers one or more of them in her wardrobe. A colored wrap of this kind as well as a black model is the best selection.

In the cut is seen a gown of striped blue and white glace silk made in the princess style. Irish lace trims the bodice in yoke fashion, while ruffles of valenciennes are inset into the sleeves. Pretty touches of coral velvet are added by way of trimming.

At the Tunnel's End

By Ray Stannard Baker

Copyright by S. S. McClure Co.

THERE was a curious diversity of opinion about tunnel No. 3. Barclay, the contractor, who had a little shanty of an office at the top of the shaft, with blue print plans on the walls and a stovepipe crooking out of one corner of the roof, said it was a beautiful tunnel. He said it with cheerful confidence to the committee of five who had come to investigate. The five had just dined expansively (with Barclay), and it was with good humored bravado that they now trusted themselves to the dinky elevator and descended the shaft. Sixty feet below daylight they stepped out on a slimy platform, and Gregson, the underground boss, showed them a moist red tube reaching outward under the river. A row of misty incandescent lights ribbed the tunnel at regular intervals with circlets of brightness, and at the far end they could see a black wall with a closed steel door. For the benefit of the chairman of the five, who thought that this wall was the end of the tunnel, Gregson explained that the steel door led into the air lock and that for 600 feet beyond stretched the pressure workings. Gregson confined himself strictly to information; he ventured no opinion at all, as became a wise boss in the presence of the contractor. The five walked down the plank roadway on the floor of the red tube, their heads almost touching the roof, the water dripping on their oil coats, their ears filled with the strange echoes of this underground place.

"You are now under the river," Barclay said; "the water is not twenty-five feet over your heads."

The five looked at one another.

"Is there any danger?" asked the chairman.

"Not the slightest," answered Barclay.

A small, cold rivulet dripped down inside the chairman's collar.

"Let us go up," he said.

Having now nearly reached the steel door of the air lock, Barclay invited them to enter the pressure workings, where twenty men and a mule were toiling, but the chairman remembered suddenly that he had a weak heart and couldn't take air pressure, and the others were certain that, having just dined heartily, it would be very dangerous for them to venture. Barclay looked relieved at this decision; Gregson's face was grim, and he said nothing.

So the five went up with the hazy impression that tunnels were generally moist and uncomfortable, if not dangerous, and that Mr. Barclay was a remarkably efficient contractor and an accomplished engineer, to say nothing of being a genial good fellow. They reported that the tunnel was a good and perfect tunnel and referred in complimentary terms to the contractor, thereby relieving the fears of a solicitous public.

It is a curious fact that the deeper into a tunnel one penetrates the poorer its reputation. The five had not been permitted to catch so much as a glimpse of Jernigan, the sub-boss, lord of the pressure workings. If Jernigan's opinion of the tunnel had been asked, he would have answered frankly, being an outspoken man:

"She's a thundering geeser."

In the cold ooze at the end of the tunnel, where the truth was, gaunt, half clad men, with picks and clay plugging balls, said things about the tunnel that would not look well in print, and, being men of experience in these things, they spoke with authority. So bad was the reputation of the tunnel among those who knew that no boss but Jernigan could have kept a crew at work where every pick thrust was a special invitation to death by drowning.

When tunnel No. 3 began to grumble it was beautiful to see Jernigan hold his men in hand. At the first sound of danger there were those who would have gone rushing for the air lock and safety, but Jernigan, standing there behind them in the roadway, was more terrible than the danger in front. Of all the sounds known to these underground places there is none quite like the grumbling of a tunnel's end.

And yet, sudden and startling as these sounds at a tunnel's end may be, they are nothing of themselves. Their terror lies in their significance. They are the outcries of danger. The tunnel grumbles when it reaches a spot where the earth between it and the water of the river bottom is thin, where there are pockets of quicksand or deeps of mick mud: its excuse for grumbling is the best. The heavily compressed air within the tunnel, thus compressed for the main purpose of keeping out water and mud from the tunnel's end, breaks out through the thin earth where the men are working with a ripping wail and goes boiling upward to the surface of the river. And when it escapes the water and thin mud bursts in, and if enough air goes out and enough water comes in, it is ninety-nine chances to one that the workers, racing for the air lock, will be overtaken and drowned with their noses to the roof of the tunnel like rats in a rain barrel.

For 590 feet from the air lock in Jernigan's working there never was a better behaved tunnel. All the way it ran as straight and shiny as a gun barrel, the men at the end driving their way comfortably through hard sand and clay, with here and there a bowlder, and not a thought of the vessels plying back and forth sixty feet over their heads. Behind came the brickers building the tunnel wall (for the brick tube was always kept complete within a few feet of the tunnel's end), the pipemen with their wrenches and the electricians adding light after light to the long row at the tunnel roof. Barclay rubbed his hands with glee, thinking of his profits, and Gregson lay by and let Jernigan do the work. It was tunnel building according to the books.

But one day the Swede, Swanson, driving his pick for a shovelful of sand, brought dow a cart load. Where the earth lay bare underneath it glistened with tiny rivulets of water, and presently the sand began to slough down noiselessly, loosening more and more, growing more fluid. All of the men sprang to the end of the plank roadway. An Italian who went by the name of Macaroni—for the sake of uniformity—yelled lustily for Jernigan.

"What you squailin' for?" demanded the sub-boss. "It's only a pocket of quicksand."

Up to that time the air lock had not been used, but now the men rushed from the deep workings, the inner steel door of the lock was clapped shut, and the compressed air was turned in. With a depth of sixty feet it was necessary to use a pressure of over thirty pounds to the square inch (two atmospheres) in order to make the pressure of air within the tunnel equal to the pressure of earth and water without, thereby tending to keep the soft earth at the tunnel's end from caving in.

"Now, byes," said Jernigan, "we'll swaller air."

Twenty men crowded into the lock, and the outer steel door was closed. Jernigan turned a valve, and the air came hissing in, the men held their noses, blew into their cheeks, swallowed lustily with nothing to swallow, that they might equalize the pressure inside their bodies with that without. Terrible sharp pains shot through their heads, and sometimes it seemed as though their eardrums must burst. But at last the limit of pressure was reached, and the pain gradually passed away. The door leading to the pressure workings was opened and in they went.

Jernigan's men were all young and sound. None other can bear the strain and fatigue of this most wearing of toil. The tunnel had grown misty, so that the lights shone through halos of haze, and the compression of the air had generated so much heat that the men began to strip. Jernigan's voice sounded thin and high in the thick air; it was an effort to speak aloud. Paddock, who was an inveterate whistler, could not blow a sound.

"She's stopped slobberin'," remarked Jernigan as they reached the tunnel's end. Most of the men began digging cautiously and shoveling the mud into the tram cars. Swanson, the Swede, sat at one side and industriously made small round balls of clay, a little larger than croquet balls. It seemed like child's work, and Jernigan kept up a steady stream of raillery at the expense of the big Swede.

Swanson could have put his big flat thumb on Jernigan and smashed him and done with it, for he was so tall he couldn't stand straight on the roadway of the tunnel without hitting his head—a huge hulk of a man, tow headed, blue eyed, slow of speech, faithful. He called the sub-boss always "Meester Yernigan;" Jernigan had at least twenty names for him and not one of them at all complimentary. And yet no dog ever served a master more faithfully than Swanson served the sub-boss.

And suddenly, as they worked, the tunnel began to grumble, and there was Jernigan barring the passageway to safety like a rock.

"Give it to her, byes," he shouted.

Swanson was already on his feet, with his arms full of the clay balls, and he and three of the other men began throwing them swiftly and vigorously at the spot where the air was escaping. Each flattened out near the tunnel rim like a thick corn cake, and when the rattling ceased Swanson sprang into the mud and pommeled the clay into the break. The heavy air in the tunnel helped to hold the patch in place. Then the work went on again, the Italians picking and shoveling; Billy, the tram mule, flapping his long ears; Swanson soberly patting mud pellets, and Jernigan directing everything with cheerful unconcern. Once more during the shift the tunnel grumbled, once more there was a battery of clay balls and once more the men won the victory against the water.

"Ye're a pretty pitcher, Monty," shouted Jernigan. "Why don't you throw over the home plate? Here, Swanson, you Swede, climb up there and paddle."

At the end of three hours of the heavy air and the heavier work the men returned to the air lock, suffered again the pain of reducing pressure and went into free air, wet and shivering with cold. They were taken instantly to a hot room, where they were given quantities of steaming black coffee, and after that they dropped down to sleep. Two shifts a day, three hours or less each, was all these men could stand.

Thus day after day Jernigan kept his crew burrowing, though the tunnel grumbled its displeasure almost constantly, and the earth came down half fluid silt. So much water came in that it ran in a stream under the plank roadway, and the great pumps at the shaft head worked to full capacity. Once they thought the whole tunnel end was coming in. The water gushed inward, rose rapidly above the roadway and swirled cold about their feet. Two Italians bolted suddenly from the earth working to escape. Even Paddock dropped his shovel. Jernigan stood like a post.

"Get back there!" he roared.

He caught one Italian with a blow on the chin that sent him sprawling into the water. The second paused, and Jernigan leaped at him and drove him headlong against the earth at the tunnel's end.

Meantime Swanson, in his slow way, was coolly pitching clay balls. Two other men, with Jernigan, joined him, and at last, with the water cold about their ankles, they succeeded in stopping the flow. It was after this incident that the committee of five came to look at the tunnel, for such things as these leak curiously out to the public, and the committee, as I have said, found it a good and perfect tunnel and Mr. Barclay an amiable man. Barclay was no longer congratulating himself. In two weeks the tunnel had not advanced three feet, and it was costing him a small fortune to keep the water down.

And then came the blue Monday. It was at the afternoon shift. The tunnel had been behaving itself with admirable decorum for a day or two, the earth had seemed much harder, and, though there was frequent rattling of escaping air, the sound of which had grown so familiar that it brought not a tremor to the men, the gaps were more easily closed. Swanson had accumulated a large stock of clay balls.

"Ye're getting fat and lazy, Swanson," Jernigan said. "The old lady ain't playin' her chunes any more."

But Jernigan spoke too soon. Not ten minutes later one of the Italians sprang back with a shout; he had opened a little pocket of silt near the top and at one side of the tunnel's end. For a moment the soft earth gushed out; then there was the wailing sound of escaping air. Instantly Swanson drove a clay ball into the hole, but instead of remaining there it disappeared at once, being driven upward by the escaping air. Other balls followed in like manner; the air was going fast. Half the crew were throwing the clay, but it either went out of sight or sloughed down with the incoming mud. Then, of a sudden, in gushed a torrent of water as big as a man's leg. Jernigan rang for more air pressure, and the men redoubled their efforts, but all to no avail. Suddenly, while Jernigan himself was working at the breach, the Italians bolted. Jernigan yelled at them, but they were too desperately frightened and ran at the top of their speed for the air lock. The other men paused undecided for an instant, and then they, too, followed. It seemed certain death to remain with that stream of water pouring into the tunnel. It would require only a moment to wear a larger hole, and then the whole river would be in on them, and there were nearly 600 feet of running to the air lock and safety.

Jernigan looked around. Only Swanson was left, calmly yet swiftly gathering up more clay balls.

For an instant the two men looked at each other. Jernigan had promised to see the work through, and see it through he would, water or no water. Swanson saw him spring suddenly upon the low earth bank which the men used when working around the upper rim of the tunnel. He turned swiftly and braced himself into the mud of the tunnel's end, driving his body into the pocket of quicksand.

"Here, Swanson, plug me in," he ordered.

Swanson brought clay balls and drove them into the mud around Jernigan's body. "She's comin' fast, Meester Yernigan," he observed. The water poured out everywhere around him, and when the clay began to stop its course the pressure was so great on Jernigan's back that Swanson was compelled to push against him and hold him in with one of his huge hands while with the other he plugged away with the clay.

"Give it to her, Swanson," said Jernigan cheerfully, although his face was twisted with the pain of his position. Swanson worked furiously, with the water rising about his legs. The other workmen were already safe in the air lock. The dim tunnel seemed like a long pathway of water, for the roadway was now completely covered. For a time it seemed an even chance against the incoming water. Then, with Swanson's clay and the increasing air pressure, the flow slowly lessened.

"We're beating her," observed the sub-boss.

Swanson removed his hand from Jernigan's body, for the air pressure now supported him firmly in place. More clay was brought and plugged in around Jernigan's body, and presently the tunnel no longer grumbled.

"Now, Swanson," said Jernigan, "you go up and get those men out here." He said other things about his crew not necessary to set down in this place.

Swanson started promptly, but he had not gone far when he heard Jernigan shout. He turned and saw the sub-boss spread out his arms and begin to struggle. The big Swede ran stooping through the water. He saw instantly what the matter was. The air pressure was driving Jernigan bodily into the soft mud. Already his body had nearly disappeared. His head rested against the rim of the tunnel, and he was grasping desperately to hold himself inside. His face was white, and he could not speak. Swanson seized him by the collar; his shirt tore away. Then the great Swede took hold of his arms and drew him from the engulfing mud by main force. He fell unconscious in Swanson's arms. Instantly there came the gurgling of escaping air, then a wild inrushing torrent of mud and water.

Swanson ran, at first with the sub-boss in his arms, the water surging about his legs, but he was soon so hampered that he drew Jernigan's shoulders under him arm and then rushed on again, dragging his burden. The heavy air roared in his ears, and he choked with the thumping of his heart. He had already been under pressure longer than the usual time. And still he waded, the water now up to his waist. He held Jernigan's head above the flood.

Thus he came to the air lock and pounded on the steel door. He knew that there was not one chance in a thousand that any one would dare to open it, for the water was already above the upper frame. There, too, had come Billy, the tunnel mule, dragging his empty car behind him. He had not hurried, though he realized that something was wrong, and he now stood with quiet patience, his nose close pressed to the steel door. It had always opened to him before. He had faith to believe it would open now.

Although sore pressed, Swanson stroked the mule's rough neck, then bent his shoulder into the water and unhooked the harness traces. He felt that there was no chance for any of them, but he wanted to give Billy an equal opportunity to fight for his life. There were presently just room and air between the top of the tunnel and the top of the water to accommodate Swanson's head and Jernigan's, which Swanson held up. Swanson could see the long row of electric lights gleaming on the muddy flood. They were at the highest point in the tunnel, and the water had not yet reached them.

Again he knocked on the wall, and some one knocked in reply. Swanson fancied there were voices, but he could not make out what was said for the buzzing in his ears, but the door did not open. A few feet away the soft gray nose of Billy, the mule, rose above the water. Swanson reached out and touched it with dripping fingers. There was a beseeching look in the dumb eyes, as if the mule knew that he could not last much longer. Swanson said nothing. There was a strange likeness between the man and the brute. Both were slow, dull, powerful of body, with the patience that outwears suffering

UXBRIDGE, Aug. 31st, 1904.

"It is with much pleasure that I send you this testimonial, regarding the wonderful benefit I have derived from the use of Bu-Ju Kidney Pills. Have been an invalid for nearly 3 years, with Inflammatory Rheumatism, and was bed-fast until about 6 months ago, when an old friend of the family called to see me, and left me some of your Pills. I began to feel the benefit of them after taking one box. I have continued using them and am now able to get out of bed and dress myself and can go without crutches. Before taking the Pills I was as helpless as an infant and had to be taken care of like one."

JOHN McCULLOUGH.

Sick, weak kidneys are responsible for Rheumatism, Sciatica and Neuralgia. When the kidneys are not well, they won't filter out uric acid from the blood. It is this poison, remaining in the blood and carried to joints, muscles, nerves, that causes the pain. The only way to permanently cure Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Sciatica—is to cure the CAUSE of the trouble—the Kidneys. The only safe, certain way to make sick kidneys well is to take

IVES BRASS AND ENAMELLED BEDS

A brass bed is always in keeping with any furniture for a cozy bedroom. It imparts an atmosphere of richness and luxury that can be equaled in a wooden bed only at great expense.

A brass bed is more easily kept clean than one made of wood, does not gather the dust, and, when necessary to sweep under, is so light that it rolls aside at almost a touch.

Rigidity, finish and the harmony of the lines in construction, have combined to make Ives Brass Beds famous.

At The Tunnel's End

and the dumb, uncomplaining faith that goes down to death without a quiver. Neither made an outcry. Having done all that was possible, they waited. Swanson's eyes presently began to fall him. The lights grew dim, but he still held Jernigan's head above the water.

All this time the great pumps above ground were drawing to their utmost on the flood, and the engines were driving compressed air into the deep workings, though those outside had little hope of rescuing the entombed men, and yet, what human hands were so weak in doing, blind circumstance had already accomplished, for the terrific inrush of water at the tunnel's end had brought in great quantities of sand, clay and bowlders, which soon filled the tunnel for many feet and finally choked the break, so that water could no longer enter.

The tunnel had overreached itself in its treachery, and now, slowly, the pumps and the compressors began to lower the flood within the pressure workings. Swanson was dimly conscious of the change. He felt the water, which was icy cold to his half naked body, leave his shoulders, then creep down his breast. He was leaning now against the wall, still holding Jernigan up. Presently, though he fought against it, he sank to his knees, and thus they found him, with the mule's gray nose resting on his shoulder. They dragged the two men into the air lock, followed by a rush of water. Both were unconscious. Billy tried to follow, but they pushed him back, and when the door was closed he still stood there patiently, waiting with faith the rough kindness of his masters. He had known all along that the door some way, some time, would open; had it not always opened before?

Jernigan came to himself first in the hot room. He was not able to get up, but he rolled over, and when Swanson opened his eyes he said, in strange contrast to his usual comments:

"You're a good man, Swanson."

And Swanson looked up at him like a dumb, wounded animal.

They forced Swanson to his feet, dosed him with black coffee and walked him up and down the room, though he groaned with pain and begged them to let him sleep.

Then Barclay came and swore about the water and, upon consideration, gave Jernigan $50 and Swanson $10, with the express condition that there should be no talking to reporters. And two weeks later Jernigan and Swanson again went into that black hole of death, for their calling was danger without expectation of reward for meeting it.

Madrid, Oct. 15.—The conflict between church and state is constantly growing more tense. Minister of Justice Romonoes proposes that the bishops, who by virtue of their position are Senators, interpellate the Government on the question of civil marriages at the reassembling of Parliament on Oct. 20.

The Government has declined to acknowledge the receipt of the communication from five bishops, who recently met at Burgos and sent a message to the Government, violently protesting against the "anti-Christian movement" and announcing that they will not obey laws which violate the rights of the church.

Wanted to Shoot His Wife.

Detroit, Oct. 15.—Harry Adler, a cigarmaker from Toronto, caused all kinds of excitement in a house on Champlain street and finally landed in the police station in company with his wife, whom he alleges he found in the place living under an assumed name. The enraged husband drew a revolver and threatened to kill the woman unless she returned to her family. The police found no charge upon which they could hold the two. Under protest the wife signed an order giving the custody of a five-year-old daughter, who was living in another part of the city, over to the husband.

Kaiser's Balloon Race.

Berlin, Oct. 15.—In a breeze blowing 15 miles an hour 17 balloons started yesterday in the international race for the cup offered by Emperor William. They were sent up from within an enclosure at Tegel, six miles northwest of Berlin. Fully 100,000 persons had assembled to see the race. The balloons were carried off by a southwest wind and probably will land in Silesia or beyond.

Persia's First Parliament.

London, Oct. 15.—Despatches from Teheran received in St. Petersburg give interesting particulars of the inauguration of Persia's first Parliament. MR. JARED BARTON leaned his gray head wearily on his hand.

"There they go again," he said aloud in a distressed tone. "And before she came here they were thicker than thieves. I wish I could find a way out of this mess."

The angry voices which had been the cause of this soliloquy became angrier and nearer:

"And if I ever see you looking at her again with that sick cat expression on your mug I'll injure it so you can't grin for a week."

"That's Dick," said the father, laughing in spite of himself at this threat.

"Bess says she's a bully nurse," said the other voice. "I'd have good care."

"Bert always gets ahead. He's just what I was when I was his age," chuckled the old man in the library. "Great Scott! They'll kill each other yet! Here, you young hounds!" he yelled, rushing out into the hall. "You pick yourself up and get out of this. If you've got to fight, you go out behind the barn and fight till one or the other of you gets killed. Look out there, Dick!"

Dick had his brother down and was sitting on him. He had just raised his arm to administer a good blow on the upturned face of Bert when his father caught his arm and dragged him off.

Bert did not take the trouble to get up, but lay flat on his back, looking up at his brother with a wicked one sided grin.

"Get up, Bert," ordered his father, and he shuffled to his feet. Very suddenly Mr. Barton's patience gave out. Catching Bert by the collar and retaining his grip on Dick's arm, he shook both boys until his face grew purple, and, letting them go, he leaned against the banisters gasping for breath. The boys made no attempt to resist; they merely grew utterly limp. They were twins, about seventeen, and small for their age, with fair hair and dreamy gray eyes. All of the mischief perpetrated in the particular suburb in which they lived was sooner or later tracked to their door or to the doors of their innocent accomplices. They had one redeeming feature; until a few months before this they had clung together through thick and thin. When one was punished the other was punished before the rest of the family could live with him. It seemed, sometimes, to their anguished parents as if the twins could read each other's mind.

While their mother was alive she had been able to control them to some extent, and her last words were, "Keep the twins together." At that time they were so thick "a knife blade couldn't be slid between them," as Mr. Barton remarked. But that was some time ago. Now—

"I'm ashamed of you," he said wearily and went back into his library, leaving the twins glaring at each other. Presently they began to look sheepish, and then they grinned and stuck out their hands at the same time. The argument was understood to be closed for the present.

Mr. Barton watched them go down the street together, arm in arm, and gave a sigh of relief. He knew he would have an hour or two of peace.

While he stood musing at the window his little daughter Bess and her governess came around the corner and in at the gate.

"There's the bone of contention now," he said. "What does she mean by encouraging those young whelps to fall in love with her?"

His daughter Bess bounced into the room waving an envelope in her hand. "Letter from Bob," she whooped. "Hurry up and read 'er!"

"Quietly, Bessie!" said Miss Gray, who had entered behind the little girl. "When you have finished visiting with your father, come upstairs and I will help you with your French for tomorrow."

Mr. Barton took Bess on his knee and opened his letter. It was characteristic. He was out in Colorado "seeing the world" and having the "time of his life;" was "well and happy and ready to come home at any time; love to Bess and the boys and his regards to the young lady who had succeeded in making individuals out of the Siamese twins."

Bess ran away presently, and Mr. Barton let his thoughts wander out to his eldest son. Bob had been graduated from Harvard the summer before and had come home a little more enthusiastic about Boston than he should have been, knowing his father's prejudice against the place. The very first thing he had done on his arrival home was to announce his engagement to a girl from Boston.

Now, it had never entered Mr. Barton's head that Bob could be such a fool as to fall in love at twenty-three, and the cool announcement took away his breath.

"Huh!" he snorted. "You precocious baby! Pretty husband you'd make, wouldn't you? Bessie's rag dolls could marry and be about as dignified as you'd be in such a fix."

Bob merely grinned and turned away the edge of the old man's wrath.

"It isn't because I think you would not make money enough. You're a stick of the same kind of a wood pile your father used to chop. You go out west for a year, and I'll pay the bills, and I'll bet you anything you like you'll come back cured."

Bob thought for awhile, and then he said slowly:

"Dad, I'll bet you currency to cookies that I can beat you at this game." And he departed cheerfully for the west.

Mr. Barton thought of all this rather complacently, and then he sat down and wrote a letter to Bob. It was even more characteristic than the letter from his son.

My Dear Bob—"The time has come," as the walrus said, "to speak of many things." I'm in the devil of a fix, and I guess it's your turn to help out your poor old dad. Besides, you got me into it. It was you, with your precious Boston ideas, that got me to engage a governess for my tomboy girl. I blessed you profusely at first, and, as far as Bess goes, I still do. She is getting quite tame. But the Siamese twins, as you call your brothers, have set up a three ring circus, and I have to go around watching the animals so they won't bite each other and die of hydrophobia. I'm getting a little too old to play the role of ringmaster with any success. "And it's all on account of Eliza," as we used to sing.

This governess whom I got on your advice is a very engaging young lady, and, in fact, she has engaged the affections of those two pups. I don't blame 'em very much, either. That's the worst of it. She says she's twenty-one, but she doesn't look a day over eighteen. A cunning little brown eyed trick you could hide up your sleeve. Has an A. B. from Wellesley and claims she was born and bred in Boston, which is really all I have against her.

The twins began by hating her, and I had to give 'em a couple of thrashings apiece to make 'em stop playing unheard of practical jokes. Now I have to thrash 'em to keep 'em from loving her too strenuously.

It's getting too much for me. If you expect to keep my gray hairs out of the grave, you come home and distract their attention. You always could manage them, because you did not have to live with them. This is both a prayer and a command. Come home and help your helpless DAD.

P. S.—If you still feel that you must marry, marry the governess. She's the best I ever saw—from Boston too. Privately, I think she was born in Chicago, and Wellesley is all that ails her. Perhaps she knows you. I haven't asked her.

He sent this letter and at dinner that evening looked around his table with a complacent and chuckling satisfaction. The twins looked thin and pathetic and tried not to eat much. Miss Gray was demure and smiling in a dainty dinner gown, and the boiden, Bess, had her hair ribbons properly tied and both stockings pulled up. Dinner was peaceful, but there was a tempest afterward, and Mr. Barton sent the twins to bed at 9 o'clock. He was unusually gentle and patient with them.

After they had made up for the night they talked about this. They did not like the look of it.

"Did you see how he grinned at her? Just like an old goat! If we don't settle who's to have her and get busy, he'll end things by getting her himself," said Bert.

"Make a pretty stepmother. Rather prettier than her stepsons, I should say," was the insinuating reply.

Two days later Mr. Barton came to lunch with a telegram in his hand.

"I've good news," he said. "Bob's coming Thursday."

Bess gave a whoop and a jump and grabbed the telegram, which Bert snatched from her hand before she had had a chance to read a word.

"Hurrah!" yelled Dick, doing a war dance specialty of his.

Miss Gray, with a very red face, tried to keep Bess from dancing a jig on the table, and Mr. Barton, seeing her evident annoyance, spoke apologetically. "When you become acquainted with Bob you'll not wonder quite so much at this fiendish joy. He's rather a good sort, if he is like his dad. Shouldn't wonder if you'd like him," he continued complacently. "He has a habit of being fond of Boston."

"I shall do my best to like him," she said prettily to the old man, and as she ran upstairs she said to herself, "I'll see that the Boston habit becomes settled."

Thursday came. All the family but the governess went to the train, and Bob was almost carried home on the family shoulders. Dinner had been postponed for his coming, and Miss Gray waited rather nervously in the dining room. She had donned her prettiest dinner gown, and her eyes were very bright and her cheeks very pink.

The twins came in first and stood to one side to see what Bob would say to their divinity. In a moment they leaned, weak and helpless, against each other, and then they feebly left the room. Bob, not waiting for the introduction Mr. Barton seemed trying to make, walked across the room and calmly kissed the governess.

Mr. Barton grew slowly, darkly purple. "So you're in this, too, you, you"—

"Go easy, dad!" said Bob. "I bet you currency to cookies I'd beat you at this game. You're skinned. The currency is mine. Buck up, dad, and salute your daughter. As for the twins, they can't say they don't like their sister."

A Cunning Baboon.

In South Africa some of the fruit gardens are much exposed to the ravages of large cyceophalic apes, and a good guard has to be kept or the results of long labor would be lost. In some of those gardens grow certain shrubs which are much affected by wasps, the insects liking to attach thereto their nests. These wasps, though small, have a very venomous sting. Baboons had often been noticed eying with envious glances the fast ripening fruit in one certain garden, but feared to gather for fear of attracting the assaults of the wasps. One morning the farmer heard terrible cries, and with the aid of a good fieldglass he witnessed the following tragedy: A large, venerable baboon, chief of the band, was catching the younger apes and pitching them into the shrubs whereon hung the wasps' nests. This he repeated again and again in spite of the most piteous cries from his victims. Of course the wasps assumed the defensive in swarms. During this part of the performance the old brute quietly fed on the fruit, deigning occasionally to throw fragmentary remains to some female and young baboons a little farther off."

Cowan Not Guilty.

Quebec, Oct. 15.—The jury in the Cowan manslaughter case returned a verdict of not guilty on Saturday. This leaves the tragedy of the Louise Basin of July 13 unsolved.

Fleetwing Damaged.

Belleville, Oct. 15.—While passing through the bay swing bridge the schooner Fleetwing collided with the piers and both bridge and vessel were badly damaged.

BISHOP SWEATMAN NAMED.

Primate of All Canada by Synod—The Funeral of the Late Archbishop.

Montreal, Oct. 13.—The Anglican synod yesterday appointed Coadjutor Bishop Carmichael Lord Bishop of Montreal, and decided to recommend Bishop Sweatman of Toronto to be primate of all Canada.

The funeral service for the late Archbishop Bond took place at Christ Church Cathedral at 2.30 yesterday afternoon and brought out an exceptionally large attendance of clergymen, many of whom represented other denominations than the Church of England.

There was also a representation from the City Council, headed by Mayor Ekers. Hon. Rodolphe Roy represented the Provincial Government.

The service was under the direction of Venerable Archdeacon Norton, rector of the cathedral, and Bishop Carmichael. The opening sentences were read by Venerable Archdeacon Naylor; psalm, selection by the Bishop of Quebec; the lesson by the Bishop of Ottawa, after which the hymn, "Now, the Laborer's Task Is O'er," was sung. The committal and prayers following were read by Bishop Carmichael, followed by the hymn, "Peace, Perfect Peace," after which the Bishop of Ontario pronounced the benediction.

The funeral procession then formed and proceeded to Mount Royal cemetery.

WAS IN RESIDENCE SECTION.

One Hundred and Fifty-Five Buildings Burned At Summerside.

Charlottetown, P.E.I., Oct. 13.—In the fire at Summerside Thursday, 155 buildings were destroyed, including the courthouse, the jail, the electric light station, seven hotels and three churches, the Baptist, Episcopal and Christian, with the Episcopal rectory and Willard Hall.

The total loss is estimated at $225,000, with about $90,000 insurance.

The path of the fire was mainly through the residential section; the principal business establishments escaped. The postoffice and the Presbyterian Church were saved with difficulty.

The fire was the worst ever experienced in Prince Edward Island. The town has no water supply, but wells and tanks, and only one steam and two hand fire engines.

Some prisoners in the jail were hastily liberated; chiefly drunks and prohibition violators.

Complaints From Farmers.

Toronto, Oct. 13.—At the meeting of the grain commission yesterday, Peter Sherk, a miller from Bridgeport, was asked regarding complaints from farmers that they were receiving poor mill feed, and gave the explanation that, if farmers had any cause for complaint the fault was their own for bringing in dirty, half-cleaned grain for grinding. He suggested that the Farmers' Institute and the Millers' Association define what should constitute the different mill feeds. He also supported inspection. The commission received some suggestions respecting noxious seeds from R. L. D. Taylor, grain merchant of Toronto. Government control of grain elevators was advocated in the morning by L. Goldie, a Guelph miller.

Spine Injured In Fall.

Guelph, Oct. 13.—Duncan Graham was seriously injured and two other workmen, Howard Clark and Maurice Weylie, were painfully bruised as the result of a scaffolding giving way at a new house on Green street Thursday evening.

$15,000,000 For Charity.

London, Oct. 15.—By the death Saturday of Mrs. Sam Lewis, widow of the well-known money lender, about $15,000,000 will be distributed in charitable bequests. King's Hospital comes in for between three and four millions.

Taft's Goodbye to Cuba.

Havana Oct. 15.—Secretary of War Taft and Assistant Secretary of State Bacon completed their labors here Saturday, and this afternoon departed for the United States on board the battleship Louisiana. They were followed to sea and acclaimed by many Liberal and ex-revolutionary leaders, but the former Government officials showed no disposition to join in the farewell.

The principal event of the day preceding the departure of Messrs. Taft and Bacon was the taking over of the Government by Charles Magoon.

Believed To Be Terrorists.

Copenhagen, Oct. 15.—A vessel which arrived here from Russia has on board five stowaways who were detained at the request of the Russian consulate. It is supposed that they are terrorists, who were contemplating the assassination of the Dowager Empress of Russia, who is now here. The police are enquiring into their identity.

$35,000 Fire In Brantford.

Brantford, Oct. 15.—Fire at the Brantford Starch Works Friday was subdued in the north wing. A fire wall between that and the south buildings and a good supply of water stayed further progress of the flames. The loss is estimated at $35,000, covered by insurance.

Out of Politics.

Amiens, France, Oct. 15.—The Trades Union Congress at its closing session Saturday defeated by 830 to 8 votes, a motion to enter into permanent relations with the Socialists, and adopted a resolution to hold aloof from politics.

The Sun Life Company Now On The Stand

Interests of Policyholders and Shareholders.

PRESIDENT ON THE STAND

Mr. Macaulay Declares That Profits In His Company Are Apportioned 95 Per Cent. to Policyholders and 5 Per Cent. to Shareholders—Commissioner Kent Says Putting Money In Sun Life Is No Risk.

Montreal, Oct. 16.—The Insurance Commission began its investigation in Montreal at noon yesterday, sitting in the Court of Appeals.

The first person to be examined yesterday was Mr. R. Macauley, president of the Sun Life. Mr. Shepley endeavored to ascertain the view of the directors of this company respecting division of profits, particularly as the statute of incorporation gives them discretionary powers. Mr. Macauley was non-committal in making distinction between policyholders and shareholders, but finally, speaking of his own past course, said that he had always stood for the best interests of the policyholders whenever a question involving their interests arose. The Sun's profit-distributing period is quinquennial, but 68 per cent. of its policies are on the deferred dividend plan.

Power of Investment.

At the opening of the afternoon session the question discussed was the powers given the Sun Life of investment under their charter and under the general insurance act. The disputed clause in the Sun Life charter reads: "Any of the public securities of the province or the stocks of any of the banks or other chartered companies."

The stand taken by the Sun Life is that the phrase, "of the province," is not understood.

Mr. Shepley pointed out that the question had been raised some time ago by the Department of Justice and an opinion rendered thereupon.

Its Charter Power.

"There is a clause in the general insurance act which says that nothing in that act will revoke the charter power of the company," said the witness.

"What are the points on which you have had differences of opinion with the Department as regards investments?" asked Mr. Shepley.

The witness said that the not excluded investment in electric power, but not electric light companies. Again a company could invest in the securities of companies incorporated in Canada. This the Sun Life applied to companies incorporated but not operating here.

Thirdly, the Government tried to include in the whole amount to be invested in foreign securities the Canadian securities deposited in foreign countries to allow of doing business there.

The company followed its own interpretation in these matters.

"You do not feel called upon to submit to the departmental ruling?"

"Not unless we agree with it."

Capital of the Company.

The subscribed capital stock of the company was $500,000 at first, on which 10 per cent. was paid. In 1876 12 1-2 per cent. was paid up, and in 1897 another call brought the paid-up capital to 15 per cent. In 1897 the company was thinking of entering the State of New York and required $100,000 additional capital to meet the law there. Two thousand shares of new stock were issued at 15 per cent. paid up, being sold at $95. The paid-up capital has thus remained at $105, or 15 per cent. paid up.

Holdings of Directors.

The holdings in Sun Life stock of the directors of that company were read as follows: Charles Cushing, 50; J. R. Dougall, 35; A. Kingman, 55; A. McKergow, 35; R. Macaulay, 517; T. B. Macaulay, 141; R. Macaulay (in trust, comprising some held as security for loans, and some in trust for his wife), 209; Mrs. T. B. Macaulay, 53; Mrs. A. J. Macaulay, 20; Dr. H. R. Macaulay 173.

"What others belong to the Macaulays?"

"I think you have exhausted the list."

"That makes 1,740 shares."

"Yes, out of 7,000."

Mr. Shepley asked what was the attitude of the Sun Life with regard to proxies. There hasn't been a proxy issued for 15 years, said the witness. He afterwards qualified this by saying that certain proxies remained unrevoked, but were not used at meetings. There has been no change in the directorate of the Sun Life since 1891, save those made by death.

The witness said that the board was active and attended meetings regularly.

Policyholders Profits.

The division of profits showed that the present proportion used by the Sun Life was 5 per cent. of actual realized profits to the shareholder, and 95 per cent. to the policyholder. The proportion formerly had been 6 2-3 and 93 1-3 per cent.

"What was the reason of this increase — Montreal generosity?" asked Mr. Shepley.

"No, it was a liberal disposition on the part of the board of directors. You will find no company in the country more generous."

T. B. Macaulay was sworn to explain the change of rate and other matters in the shareholders' account. He said the Sun Life had tried to be generous to its policyholders, although they did not need to, and it was only fair the shareholders should get a fair compensation for risking their money.

No Risk In Sun Life.

"Pardon me," broke in Commissioner Kent, "a man runs no risk in putting his money in the Sun Life."

There was a prolonged debate between Counsel Shepley and two witnesses on the division of profits, the three studying an account of the affair from year to year, prepared by the Sun Life. At the conclusion of it Commissioner Kent had an inspiration.

"In view of hard usage, which the shareholders have received, according to your account, and the risk in which their money stands, do you think it would be a good thing to return them their capital and get rid of them at once and for all, and give all the profits to the policyholders, and have everybody satisfied?"

T. B. Macaulay replied to this: "I would like to say emphatically that we have not done anything but give the shareholders the interest on what they paid in without taking a dollar from the policyholders. We have led all the companies in reducing the amount paid to shareholders."

Tries to Wreck Train.

Kingston, Oct. 16.—John Graham of Lake Clear refused to pay fare on a Kingston and Pembroke Railroad train, and was put off near Calabogie. Out of revenge, it is charged, he piled obstructions on the track, and was caught red-handed. He is in jail awaiting trial for the crime.

Awful Fate Of Miners In Old England

200 Miners Entombed and 25 Already Dead Are Brought Up.

AN EXPLOSION OF FIREDAMP

Heartrending Scenes Around Wingate Colliery Near Durham—Signals Tell of Men Thought Dead, But Are Alive In the Lower Seams—Food Sent Down—Eighty Men Are Brought to Surface Alive.

Durham, England, Oct. 16.—As a result of an explosion in the Wingate colliery, near here, at about midnight Sunday night, 25 miners have been killed and 200 are entombed temporarily. It is fortunate that only a small portion of the thousand men employed in the mine were down when the explosion occurred.

The cause is supposed to have been fire damp. The explosion was one of terrific force, and in Wingate Town many windows were broken.

Heartrending Scenes.

Immediately the news of the disaster became known crowds of half-clad persons were rushing towards the mine, and there was heartrending scenes at the mouth of the pit among those whose loved ones were below.

At daylight signals had been exchanged with the bottom seam, where a majority of the men were entombed, to the effect that they were safe, and with this message a sense of relief passed over the crowd of anxious relatives waiting at the mouth. As the morning advanced the bodies of dead men slowly were brought up. The first dead to appear were mostly old men who had been employed as shifters and stonemen. The work of rescue was continued throughout the day.

80 Brought Out Alive.

Eighty men were brought out alive. Many of these, however, were in a critical condition and unconscious.

Later, supplies of coffee and sandwiches were passed into those still entombed.

At a late hour last night, to the joy of their relatives, four men were brought up from the lower seam, where the deaths had occurred. These men had been reckoned among the dead. Although they were exhausted they probably will recover.

The shaft is still blocked with wreckage, but the ventilation is good, and it is hoped that all the entombed men are still alive and will be saved.

Killed In Mine.

Glace Bay, N. S., Oct. 16.—Meda Sloan, white, a driver in the Hub colliery, was killed yesterday in the mine. He whipped up his horse when a box of coal got off the track and, striking a prop, dislodged a boom, letting down a mass of stone upon him from the roof.

Killed by G. T. R. Flyer.

Kingston, Oct. 16.—John Swett, aged 20, was killed at Frederickburgh station by the G. T. R. International Flyer on Sunday. A wreck there had sent the flyer on the east track, and while Swett was carrying water to the wrecking crew he was struck and instantly killed.

Falls to His Death.

Toronto, Oct. 16.—Death came suddenly yesterday afternoon to Robert Bell, a painter in the employ of Barrett & Sons of 424 College street. Bell was working at the Palmerston avenue school and it was while engaged in painting the sash of a window, 30 feet from the ground, that the accident occurred. The sash gave way under his weight, and in trying to save the sash he lost his life. The neck was broken by the fall.

Nearly Over the Falls.

Niagara Falls, N. Y., Oct. 16.—A disabled launch containing a party of six men and women was swept into the rapids and within half a mile of the brink of the falls late last night. They were saved from a plunge over the cataract by Albert Greenwood of Chippewa, Ont., who brought them ashore in his launch. The party consisted of Capt. Charles E. Lentz and Mrs. Lentz, Mrs. Charles Clapham and daughter, Nellie; C. W. Clendenan and Engineer James Herschell.

Killed by Runaway.

Walkerton, Oct. 16—A party of young people drove from here to Teeswater Sunday to attend the Crossley and Hunter revival meetings. On the way back the horses ran away and a young girl named Pearl Greenlow was thrown out and injured so severely that she died yesterday morning.

Inspector Dismissed.

Ottawa, Oct. 16.—The aftermath of the collapse of the Gilmour Hotel walls, in which five people were injured, came last night when the City Council, by a vote of 15 to 8, dismissed A. Pratt as assessment commissioner and building inspector. The positions are worth $2,000. The city is being sued for heavy damages by all sufferers from the action.

Ptomaine Poisoning at Sea.

Queenstown, Oct. 16.—The British steamer Peruvian, Capt. Mason, from Penarth for Boston, put in here yesterday and reported having two men dead and four men sick on board. The deaths are alleged to be due to ptomaine poisoning, but the vessel will be detained here pending an investigation by the port authorities.

Vessels Ashore.

North Sydney, N.S., Oct. 16.—Steamer Polino is ashore forty miles below Quebec, and is a total loss. She struck during a thick snow squall.

The Norwegian barque Visias is reported a total loss at Port Aux Basque. No particulars were given.

Freights In Collision.

St. Thomas, Oct. 16.—Two M. C. R. through freight trains came together in a head-on collision at Farge at 4 o'clock this morning. The two engines were somewhat damaged and seven cars broken and derailed. No person was injured.

Grain Commission at Buffalo.

Buffalo, Oct. 16.—The Royal Commission, appointed by the Canadian Government to investigate matters concerning the Canadian grain trade, is now in Buffalo examining into the methods of handling the Canadian grain at this port.

Postoffice Robbed.

Brockville, Oct. 16.—Sometime during Saturday night the general store and postoffice at Rockspring, owned by P. J. Latimer, was broken into and between $50 and $60 worth of postal notes purloined, also $25 in stamps, and $20 in cash.

Schooner Hits Lighthouse.

Kingston, Oct. 16—The schooner Bertha Kalkins is in port for repairs. She ran into the lighthouse at Charlotte during a fog, and was somewhat shaken and broken. Capt. Shaw was injured about the face in the mishap.

Drove Horse to Death.

Brantford, Oct. 16.—Two men, Wannacot and Rowell, were arrested yesterday at Burford, one for robbing a man named Simpson, the other for driving a horse to death.

Twenty-one Entries For Examiner Road Race

Names of Those Who Will Start in This Event on Thursday next — A good contest is assured.

Havelock, Lakefield, Otonabee and Hiawatha are Represented By Fast Runners in This Race.

The Event Promises to be Most Interesting in Sporting Circles in Peterboroudh in Many Years.

The Examiner to-day announces the names of the runners who have entered for the road race, which will take place on Thanksgiving Day, from Lakefield to Peterborough, for the Examiner Cup and prizes, the former to be held for one year, and the latter to be the absolute property of the winners.

Twenty-three entries were received, thirteen of them coming in on Saturday. Last night the members of the committee met, and went over the names of the prospective contestants. Of the twenty-three entries received twenty-one were approved. The names of those who may start on Thursday morning from Lakefield, at 10.30 are:

A. Williams, Peterborough.
W. J. McBurney, Havelock.
A. Latimer, Peterborough.
Ernest Jarman, Peterborough.
A. W. Spenceley, Peterborough.
William J. Todd, Peterborough.
William Payne, Peterborough.
E. V. Morphett, Peterborough.
Wm. Stuart, Peterborough.
Gordon Fitzgerald, Peterborough.
E. A. Wilson, Peterborough.
Ray P. Best, Peterborough.
H. M. Yelland, Peterborough.
H. J. Staunton, Peterborough.
J. Ranger, Peterborough.
D. W. Elliott, Peterborough.
Stephen Rose, Otonabee.
Herbert Peters, Otonabee.
Samuel Cain, Peterborough.
Charles Benson, Peterborough.
Fred Simpson, Hiawatha.

Last night Ernest Wood, formerly of Hamilton, but who for the last seven months has resided in Peterborough, expressed his desire to enter the race. It was pointed out to him that it has been specifically stated many times that the entries closed on Saturday night, at 12 o'clock, and since Mr. Wood offered no good reason why he did not enter before the time limit had expired, the committee considered that his entry could not be considered. The other entry, that of George Gauthier, the committee decided, could not be entertained. It was explained that his amateur standing was not considered to be sufficiently established to permit him to enter. The committee was advised that he had been refused admission to amateur sporting events in the past, and for this reason his entry was not accepted.

The desire is to make the race purely amateur, open, as the regulations state, only to those who are admittedly amateur, because it recognizes that if professionals are allowed to compete it will destroy the idea the promoters had in view: that of the encouragement of amateur running in the city and county.

As the time for the race approaches the interest is increasing, and the prospects are that there will be a big crowd on hand to witness the finish, which will take place in front of the Examiner office. The start will be made at 10.30, and allowing for a possible few minutes' delay in getting the runners started, the finish should be made between 11.30 and 11.45 a.m.

Score cards, giving the names and number of each runner will be distributed to the spectators along the route, in order that they may be able to intelligently follow up the progress of the race.

Mr. R. M. Roy has recently secured an equipment which enables him to take photographs of rapidly moving objects, and he will photograph the finish of the race. His new apparatus has been purchased at a great cost and this will probably be the first practical use he will put it to. The local representative of the Dominion weather bureau informs the Examiner that the prospects for a fine day are good. It will probably be warm and clear, conditions which should be conducive to a successful race.

Opera House Manager Had Bear Experience In Woods At Buckhorn

A Partridge Hunting Party This Morning Met Bear on Burleigh Road.

A Charge of Partridge Shot, the Most Formidable Defence, however, had desired effect.

Bear stories are again in season, the first coming to hand this morning. About 7 o'clock to-day Mr. R. H. Bradburn and Mr. O. E. Bradburn, with a guide, Wm. Long, were going on a partridge hunt from Buckhorn. They were armed with shot guns loaded with partridge shot, and had a small dog. When about two miles from Buckhorn, on the Burleigh road, they ran against the biggest black bear that any of the trio had ever seen. He was pretty bold, too, and the feelings of the hunters, ill-prepared as they were to meet such a formidable foe, may be imagined. They put a brave front on, however, the guide discharging a double-barrelled gun charged with shot into Mr. Bruin's body at a distance of a few yards. It had the desired effect and the bear struck the trail at a hot gait. Mr. R. H. Bradburn stated that he had not believed a bear could make as good time over the rocks.

After this experience they proceeded on their hunting expedition, and the next time they go hunting in these woods they will probably take the precaution to prepare themselves more fully for an emergency case similar to that which they ran against this morning.

Mammoth Teeth Found On Shore Of Indian River

Mr. Robert Londerville, of Douro, Made the Discovery—Dug Them Up From the Thin Surface Soil—Rest of the Carcase Presumably Washed Away.

A curiosity in the shape of immense ivory teeth, found in the bank of the Indian River, was shown to an Examiner reporter yesterday by the discoverer, Mr. Robert Londerville.

Mr. Londerville was fishing in the Indian River on Saturday last, on the farm of Mr. Patrick Heffernan, about two miles north of the Indian River station, when his eyes fell upon the unique object.

The teeth were projecting a short distance above the surface of the ground just on the edge of the river. He began digging in the thin earth above the flat rock, and pulled out four of them, neatly fitted together, presumably in the same manner in which they were left when the carcass was buried there. Two of the teeth, which Mr. Londerville showed the Examiner, were about long, and an inch and a half in width. The others were larger, one of them being three inches in diameter. This he supposed was one of the molars of the animal, while the others grew nearer the front of the mouth. The whole four when found were in the shape of a semi-circle.

Mr. Londerville had no idea what kind of an animal carried the big grinders, but believed it was the giant mammoth which roamed in North America when the Mound Builders were here. At any rate no resident animal carries such immense ivory now. The finder stated that he was yesterday offered $5 each for the specimens, but would not accept it.

Mr. Londerville is well known in Peterborough county as a curiosity discoverer. He has spent a number of seasons with Mr. Thomas of the Toronto museum, and has his name attached to ancient arrow heads, copper knives, etc., in that institution. He has a wide knowledge of such curios, and has spent a great deal of time in the hunt for them.

Medical Company Formed By Peterborough Men

De Norvall Medical Co. Has Been Given An Ontario Charter—The Capital of the Company Is Placed At $10,000--Will Manufacture Medicines.

The last issue of the Ontario Gazette contains a notice of the granting of a charter to the Dr. Norvall Medical Company, Limited, among the names of the applicants for which are James Lynch, druggist; Alexander Elliott, wholesale merchant; Gordon Graham Fitzgerald, druggist clerk; George Newcombe Gordon, student at Law, and August Joseph Gauch, of Peterborough. The capital of the company is $10,000 and the provisional directors are Jas. Lynch, Gordon G. Fitzgerald and G. N. Gordon. The Company's charter gives them power to carry on the sale and manufacture of Dr. Norvall Medical Company's remedies, as well as to sell, manufacture, etc., other medical preparations, and carry on a general chemist business, etc.

It is not what you eat but what you assimilate that nourishes. Miller's Compound Iron Pills cure faulty assimilation. Sold by W. Madill.

Kirkfield Man Killed While Going Home

Was Conveying Box of Dynamite When he Fell From Buggy Near Trent Canal Bank.

Duncan McCollum Dead When Passed by a Passer-by This Morning --- A Mystery.

Examiner Special.

Kirkfield, October 16. — Duncan McCallum, a farmer who lived near here, was drowned yesterday afternoon a mile and a half east of this village, in the drowned lands near the Trent Canal. He was returning from Lindsay with a box of dynamite, and is supposed to have fallen asleep, when the horse turned off the road, and walked down the embankment. Mr. McCollum fell over the front of the buggy and is supposed to have struck his head. He was found shortly after by Mr. Tinney, who was coming to town, but life was then extinct. Coroner Dr. White of Lindsay, was notified.

Change Made At The Barracks

Present Officers Leave the City To-morrow.

Staff Capt. and Mrs. McAmmond leave on Wednesday morning for Montreal, where they will be installed in their new field at the citadel on University street by Brigadier Hargrave. Their successors here are Adjt. Wiggins and wife, of Halifax. Adjt. Wiggins is one of the oldest officers in Canada, being in the service over 21 years. Staff-Captain McAmmond had the pleasure some years ago of recommending Mrs. Wiggins, when she applied for a commission. A welcome meeting will be given here on Thursday evening. A large turnout is expected to welcome the new officers and make them feel at home.

Arranging For Rebekah Lodge

Committee Met Last Night to Complete Details.

The joint committee of Peterborough and Otonabee Lodges of Oddfellows will meet this evening at 8 o'clock in the I.O.O.F. Hall to complete arrangements for the institution of a Rebekah Lodge in Peterborough on Friday, October 26.

The lady degree team, numbering about 22 members of Kawartha Lodge, Lindsay, will come down on the noon train on that date, and have everything in readiness for the evening. They are trying to arrange for a special train for the return trip, for themselves, and for many other Rebekah Degree members, who will come to Peterborough on the evening train to be present at the opening of the new body. In addition to the large number expected from Lindsay, there will be a large attendance of candidates for the degree from Peterborough and vicinity. It is probable that Grand Master Johns on, some of the chief officers of the Rebekah Assembly, P. G. R. Bro. A. P. Bleckeby, of the Reid Association, and other distinguished members of the Order will be present. Refreshments will be served in the dining-room at the close of the ceremonies, and a very pleasant and profitable time is expected.

Ottawa Baptists Say Union Question Is Up

This Will be One of Important Matters to be Discussed at Baptist Convention in This City.

A General Convention for the Dominion Also Is Proposed --The Names of the Delegates.

Examiner Special

Ottawa, October 16 — "The most important matter likely to come up at the big Baptist conference at Peterborough," said an Ottawa delegate to the Examiner, "will be relative to suggestions about church union.

"Important Presbyterian and Methodist bodies have passed resolutions inviting Baptists to appoint a delegation to discuss this matter with them. This will probably come up at Peterborough, and even if no formal step is taken it marks the time when the various Protestant churches are drawing closer to a union that, ultimately, must come.

"Another important matter will probably be a suggestion from the British Columbian, Northwest, Maritime Provinces and other Baptist Unions, to have a huge general convention before long, at which Baptist interests from all parts of the Dominion will be represented.

"Should this step be decided on the church union matter may of course be laid over to be dealt with at that larger convention."

The Ottawa delegates leave for Peterborough to-night or early to-morrow. Fourth avenue church, Rev. R. B. McKay, and Messrs. A. Ardley, A. B. Foster, E. A. Zavitz, John Meldrum, and N. McLaren: First Baptist Church, Rev. A. A. Cameron, Messrs. J. C. Edwards, Edgar Reade, Mr. and Mrs. A. Matthews and Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Link. McPhail Memorial Church, Charles Bird.

THE CONVENTION

Dr. Halloway In Dental Rooms

Has Taken Office Vacated by Dr. Wightman.

The dental chambers in the Bank of Commerce block, vacated yesterday by Dr. Wightman, has a new tenant today in the person of Dr. W. F. Halloway, formerly of Wingham, Ont. The doctor has been in Peterborough for some weeks awaiting the business transfer which was to enable him to secure these eligible premises. Dr. Halloway, who has already taken up residence at 201 Reid street, publishes his card on to-day's Examiner. He received his degrees of D.D.S. and L.D.S. in Toronto, and has practiced his profession for six years in Wingham. Recently he took a post-graduate course in the North-western Dental School, Chicago.

Where Towns Spring Up Over Night and Everything Booms

Mr. S. T. Medd Arrived Home From Cobalt and New Liskard Last Night and Tells of the North.

Some Evidences of the Prosperity of New Ontario--40,000 to 50,000 Farmers North of New Liskard.

"When you go to Cobalt or New Liskeard, you have to make up your mind to eat canned goods — canned milk, canned meat, canned beans—in fact, everything is canned." Outside of the fact of the abounding prosperity and progress of this part of New Ontario this condition was the one which impressed Mr. S. T. Medd, who returned last night after a week's business trip to New Liskeard, and adjoining towns along the line of the T. and N. O. Railway. There is only one story to tell, when speaking of that section of the province—everything is going with a rush—towns are springing up practically in a night, and everyone seems to be prosperous. An evidence of this is found in the fact that the Methodists recently purchased a lot in New Liskard for $6,000 and intend to erect a $25,000 church on it at once. This town has a population of 3,000 souls at the present time, and this number is increasing daily. There are no industries to speak of in the town, and, the conditions upon which the people there claim greatness, seems to be largely prospective—a condition characteristic of all new places. In view of the fact, however, that it is in the centre of a rich agricultural section, the statement is made that there are, north of New Liskeard from 40,000 to 50,000 settlers engaged in farming. For these thousands New Liskeard is the distributing point, which, in itself constitutes a most important factor in the claims put forth by the inhabitants, who are naturally very optimistic.

Evidence of their faith is found in the fact that recently a syndicate paid $25,000 for a 160 acre farm, and will divide it into building lots.

New Liskeard is in the mining zone, too. Some 40 miles north-east of the town, on the shores of Lardeau lake, a find of gold is reported and the prospects are that there will be a rush there in the near future. All the silver mining is south and west of that town, and it reaps little or no benefit from it.

Cobalt, however, is booming still, and there are signs of activity on every hand. As one passes through on the train one may hear on every side dynamite charges being exploded indicating that mining is in progress. A word about the railway service—Mr. Medd was very agreeably surprised to find that travelling was made so easy. The T. and N. O. Railway gives a good service, everything being first-class from the engine to the parlour car and sleeper. A through train makes a round trip from North Bay to New Liskeard every day, while locals make other trips.

One instance of the growth of the country is furnished by the fact that at Latchford, last spring, the business places was represented by two stores in tents, while to-day there are nine frame stores, in addition to a large number of other buildings for dwellings, etc.

There seems to be no doubt as to the future of these towns or of the country contiguous to them, and Mr. Medd believes that with a small capital and an inclination to industry a man could make a good living in that country.

The scenery is described as beautiful and there are many splendid fishing streams while the woods are full of game.

Sister Chops Off Brother's Finger

A Peculiar Accident Which Occurred on Romaine Street.

While the two children of Mrs. Jas. McWilliams, Romaine street, were playing together yesterday the younger, a little girl, cut a finger off her somewhat elder brother, with an axe. The two were amusing themselves in the house, while their mother was attending to work outside and in some unexplained manner the unfortunate accident occurred unseen.

The little fellow was in great pain for some time until a doctor was called in to dress the wound, which other than the loss of the finger is not considered dangerous.

Music at St. John's

In St. John's Church on Sunday during the offertory, Mr. George Chandler, tenor, sang Field's setting of the old church hymn "Hail! Gladdening Light" assisted in alternate verses as a quartette by Mrs. R. J. Devey, Mrs. Seward and Mr. G. W. Allen. The piece was sung beautifully.

The Magnificat and Nunc Dimittis were sung to Winchester's chant, full justice being done to it by a full choir.

The choir meet for practice this week on Tuesday at 8.00 p. m., instead of Thursday.

Plumber Overcome By Fumes Of Gas

Alfred Jones had to be taken from Gas Main Trench Today by Fellow Workmen.

Overcome by gas, Alfred Jones, of Cedar street, a plumber employed by the Peterborough Light and Power Company in connecting gas pipes at the corner of Simcoe and George streets, had to be pulled to the surface of the ground with a rope this morning. Jones was working with a chisel and hammer attempting to plug a hole between two pipes where gas was escaping, when he became unconscious by inhaling the deadly gas.

When the fellow workers noticed him he was lying across the pipe unable to get to the fresh air. A rope was tied around his body and the almost asphyxiated man dragged out of the whole. Water and other restoratives were quickly brought, but it was some time before he recovered consciousness. When he did he was unable to walk and had to be assisted by two men.

Mr. Jones soon recovered from the effects and was at work again in a few minutes, but did not remain so long beneath the surface the third time before getting a breath of the pure atmosphere.

The gas at that corner this morning was leaking considerably, causing an unpleasant odour. Mr. Jones had earlier in the morning become weakened with its effect and could scarcely crawl out of the hole. Another laborer was also overcome, and had to be helped out. The men were engaged at digging a tunnel under the road, and had to work in water,

DIPLOMATIC

Premier McBride of British Columbia is showing himself a political Shylock—after his pound of flesh. He is to a certain extent blocking the negotiations for an addition to the provincial subsidies. It appears that all the other provinces have agreed that the increased subsidy shall consist of eighty cents per head of the present population instead of that sum per head on the population at Confederation. But Premier McBride wants more—he wants one dollar per head extra on the present population, which it is calculated will make the subsidy of British Columbia $1.80 per head as against 80 cents for all the other provinces. It would seem that his demand should not be met. If a precedent is established for holding up the Dominion in regard to subsidy, British Columbia will be tempted to extravagance, under the feeling that if it needs money it has only to kick and bid the Central Government to stand and deliver.

deliver. Mr. McBride is facing an election—an explanation of his attitude.

GROWING WINNIPEG

Winnipeg is an Indian word, meaning "muddy waters." The metropolis of the West can well afford to disregard the reproach of such a significant title. It is in good company. Toronto now one of the brightest and most progressive cities in the Confederate family, was in its nascent days known as "Muddy York." It has bravely outgrown that stigma and Winnipeg is doing the same. It is showing a phenomenal growth. Twenty-five years ago the population was 12,000, now the population is close upon 120,000, a ten-fold increase in a quarter of a century, and if this rate is only partially maintained in a few years Winnipeg will be one of the largest cities in Canada. The building permits in Winnipeg amount so far to 11 millions this year and the weekly bank clearances have been ten millions. Winnipeg can afford to smile at any fun-poking over the meaning of its name. Nile mud is a synonym of unapproached fertility and Manitoba mud has much the same meaning.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The Canadian Banking Association has well won its spurs, and very satisfactorily justified its existence. It has shown itself to be verily a friend in need.

If the Montreal journals could convert the gas they generate in the discussion of the gas question, into illumination, their pages would be a great source of public enlightment than city gas.

The Conservative Members of Parliament who got this bee, that was going from the C. N. R. and the C. P. R. in 1903, could not, the Kingston Whig thinks, be expected to favour the Grand Trunk Pacific. The secret of their hostility to the Government's plans is now revealed.

Dr. Weldon's friends don't have much hope of his success in his contest with Hon. Mr. Fielding in the Queen's and Shelburne by-election. They are giving a retreat — they promise him a safe —constituency in Ontario. If the province of Ontario is to find safe seats for defeated Conservative candidates it will not be long before the demand will exceed the supply. Ontario took pity on Mr. Borden, and sheltered him in unredeemable Carleton. Prof. Weldon might find a place in Toronto, which could not very consistently decline to accept a man of his calibre whom it takes Hon. Geo. E. Foster to its bosom.

A LESSON TO BE LEARNED

The Ottawa Free Press has the following, which seems a sort of plea for the substitution or adoption of government by commission for government by municipal councils. When we see the way municipal councils deal with their trust, there is a temptation to doubt the success of direct representative government.

At the meeting in St. John's school house, and in the Examiner's symposium on the subject, there was considerable special pleading in favour of restraint in the criticism of municipal representatives. This is all very good, in its way. If the members of a municipal council do the right thing by their constituency there will not be wanting due appreciation. But if they discharge their trust in a way to militate against the best interests of the municipality, it is not in their own interests, or in the interests of the city or town they represent, to withhold reasonable criticism. Every position of trust involves accountability — calls for praise for good actions, and condemnation for bad actions. Sometimes the attitude of the city council of Peterborough has not been in the public interests in regard to the encouragement of local capital and enterprise, in the establishment of manufacturing industries, and it would seem that other places suffer from the same cause. The following from the Ottawa Free Press shows that Fort William has suffered from the action of its council. At the same time, it is to be said to the credit of our city council, that prompt action in the same matter in which the Fort William council "fell down," has resulted in benefit to the city. The Free Press says:

An argument in favour of the agitation to do away with the system of municipal councils and to place control of municipal affairs in the hands of a commission of strong citizens, comes from the progressive little town of Fort William, at the head of lake navigation.

The Coates Manufacturing Company, the well-known British carpet manufacturers, were disposed to locate their new Canadian factories, to employ three hundred men, in Fort William. The only condition the company asked from the town was a free site. This the town people were willing to give and it seems this large industry was almost assured for Fort William. But the members of the town council disagreed over the site to be offered. The disagreement became more acute as the weeks passed and finally the company, tired of the dissensions among the aldermen, decided to locate elsewhere, Peterborough being selected.

The Fort William incident is not an unusual one among towns and cities which are served by the cumberous system of municipal councils. This is largely due to the fact that there is lacking in our system of municipal government, a directness and power to concentrate at a given point in the same way that an individual can put forth its efforts. Dissensions and delays in dealing with business men are bound to arise and are nearly always fatal. Seemingly the only way of remedying this weakness is to have municipal government by commission, but as yet public opinion hasn't been wakened up as it should be to this fact.

Fort William's misfortune at least points out that the town or city which is on the look-out for new industries cannot always trust the details of negotiations to municipal councils. What is most required to capture new industries is a strong publicity bureau endowed with reasonable authority, and composed of business men of standing in the community. Ottawa should profit by the Fort William incident, and perfect its publicity bureau, making it an organization empowered to deal officially with industries which may be diverted in this direction.

City Bodies Arrange To Secure New Bankers

Special Meeting Was Held for that Purpose Yesterday Afternoon—Committee Appointed to Make Arrangements.

A special meeting of the City Council, Board of Education, City Trust Commissioners and Water Commissioners was held yesterday afternoon for the purpose of making arrangements to secure new bankers. The Ontario Bank has hitherto carried on the city's banking business, but now, of course, it is necessary to transfer it to some other banking concern.

A committee composed of Mayor Best, Ald. McWilliams, W. G. Ferguson, chairman of the Board of Education; W. H. Moore, chairman of the City Trust Commissioners, and T. F. Matthews, chairman of the Water Commissioners, was appointed to procure from the different banks the terms upon which they will carry the accounts of the various city bodies.

Crowley And Ford Are Out Of Game For Season

Locals Will be Without Their Services in Hamilton on Thursday—Final Practices Will Be Held To-night And Wednesday Night.

The Peterborough rugby team will be without the services of Crowley and Ford in their game against the Tigers in Hamilton on Thursday. Crowley, one of the best players who ever donned a Peterborough uniform and who has for years figured on the team, is out of the game for the season. He was injured in the game in Toronto three weeks ago, and although it was not considered serious at the time he is now forced to quit the game, a fact which will be regretted by everyone. Ford will not be able to play in Hamilton either, as he has been called away for Thanksgiving Day.

City League To Meet To-night

Representatives of Teams Should Be Present.

A meeting of the City League will be held to-night at The Examiner office to make arrangements for Saturday's game. The Quaker-Banker game last week had to be postponed, and the Quakers would like to have it played the Saturday when the Bankers and C. G. E. teams will meet. The three teams should send representatives to to-night's meeting.

RUGBY.

Both the C. G. E. and Quakers have some good men on their line-up and neither will have a walk over in the City League.

• • • •

Watson, of the Bankers, turned out with the C. G. E. on Saturday and proved to be a good man. He kicked the line for the touch the C. G. E. obtained.

• • • •

The following players are asked to turn out to-night and also to-morrow night for signal practice:—Mulhern, Gillespie, McWilliams, Quinlan, Hurtubise, Meagher, Easton, Craig, Gilbert, McDonald, Dillon, Crough, Ledaire, Carmichael, O'Connor.

• • • •

The team for Hamilton will be selected to-night and all arrangements made for the game. Ford and Crowley, although unable to play, will be out to-night and will coach the team. It is likely that several of the spare men will be given a chance to earn their spurs on Thursday.

• • • •

A large number of local people will accompany the boys. The team will have a special car on the 5.10 C.P.R. train and those who go on this train will be in time for the famous Herald Road Race.

• • • •

The Quakers have arranged a game with Oshawa on Thanksgiving day. They leave the city on the G.T.R. train returning by way of Lindsay. Oshawa has been playing junior O.R.F.U. and have a strong team for the local City League bunch to buck up against. Dr. Ford, of Oshawa, will referee the game.

• • • •

Every player should be out to-night and Wednesday night if they desire to make any kind of a showing against Hamilton.

• • • •

The seniors and juniors of P. C. I. Club held their initial practises yesterday afternoon. The former played on Central Park and the latter on the grounds to the rear of the school.

• • • •

Quinlan should make good on the half back line against the Tigers on Thursday. He made a fine showing in last Saturday's practice game.

• • • •

O'Connor, the C. G. E. player, who showed up promptly on Saturday, will turn out with the seniors at practice to-night.

White Sox Are The World's Champions

Defeated Cubs on Saturday and Sunday Thus Cinching the Pennant.

The mighty Chicago Nationals are not as wonderful as was considered. After defeating all the best teams in the National League, they fell before the White Sox who at various times throughout the season were considered almost out of the running for the American League pennant. Chance and his famous Dutchmen were not equal to the "hitless wonders" of the American League. On Saturday the Sox won out by 8 to 6 while on Sunday they duplicated the trick by a score 2 to 1, thus winning 4 games out of 6. The Cubs were as strong at the bat as their opponents, but the latter bunched the hits making them count for runs. Mordecai Brown has been lauded all season, but scarcely a word said of Walsh or White, the best pitchers of the world's champions or of Sullivan their veteran catcher. The White Sox are in a sense a freaky team; their career this season has been a regular see-saw. None of their players are heavy batters, but they are famous for scoring all kinds of chances in the field and with the stick. Their play has been regular clockwork from the fielders' standpoint while their pitchers are brainy and the best in the business. Thus the season of 1906 ends with one of the greatest surprises that American baseball has ever sprung.

BASEBALL

"Is a Sox supporter really a garter?" is one of the gags now sprung around the Windy City.

The New York Stock Market

(Furnished by J. R. Heintz & Co.)

New York, Oct. 16.—Hardening tendencies developed to-day in the stock market instigated by the presence of buying orders under the market apparently from the insider, these buying orders making the shorts whose dimensions have perhaps been under estimated to become nervous and bid for a return of stocks. There was evidence to-day of a very conservative buying by pools of specialties and the resumption of speciality improvement would be entirely in accord with existing conditions even in the face of elections.

Dullness on declines, lack of liquidation, etc., are factors that make for betterment when the shorts cover. White Copper, Smelters, Reading, and C.P.R. made advances, the feature was Pressed Steel Car which became active at advancing prices. It is said this stock will be placed on a dividend basis October 15th and is good for a good advance.

Heavy buying of Amal. Copper in the late trading carried it up, causing the general market to rally and close strong.

New Dental Office For Dr. Wightman

In the Premises Formerly Occupied by Dr. Bagshaw.

Dr. Wightman, whose office for some time has been situated in the Bank of Commerce building, and who has been practicing in Peterborough for about eight years, has changed the location of this office. He has secured the fine, central and commodious premises recently occupied by Dr. Bagshaw, over MacDonald's drug store, corner of Hunter and George streets. For the past week the doctor has had workmen engaged in remodelling the interior and adapting it to meet the requirements of a large and increasing patronage. He is now in full possession, where his patrons will find him in future, better equipped to carry on his profession.

Felt Like One Paralysed

COULD NOT WORK OR SLEEP AND SUFFERED GREATLY WITH SCIATIC RHEUMATISM, BUT WAS CURED BY

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food

For six long years the writer of this letter endured all the suffering resulting from a broken-down nervous system. The best doctors did all they could for him without avail, and to-now gratefully attributes his complete restoration to the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

From the verge of paralysis to good health is a long and difficult way, but by the persistent use of this great nerve restorative this remarkable cure was brought about. You can read the particulars for yourself.

Mr. Alex. Ethier, jr., Clarence Creek, Russell County, Ont., writes: "I am happy to be able to give a recommendation for Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, for this preparation has done me a great amount of good. My nervous system was run down to such an extent that I suffered a great deal from weakness of the nerves and sciatic rheumatism, and at times was like one paralyzed. I could not work, was unable to sleep and had no appetite. This condition lasted for six years, and in the meantime I had treatment from the best physicians and tried all kinds of medicines.

"Nothing seemed to build up my nerves until I made use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. After having used about $12.00 worth of this medicine I feel like a new man. I can walk all right, do a great deal of work, have a good appetite, and, what is even better, I can sleep well every night.

"I consider that Dr. Chase's Nerve Food has been a great blessing to me, and no doubt it would be the same to anyone else under the same circumstances."

It is in extreme cases like this one that Dr. Chase's Nerve Food shows its extraordinary power of building up the nervous system, and overcoming disease. 50 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.—1.

Millbrook People Have Great Eyes

Sees a Detroit Advertising Scheme in Heavens Every Night.

The people of Millbrook are being nightly amused and mystified by the appearance of a large star in the south-west, which shines brightly for half an hour after its first appearance, at 7 o'clock, and then it comes down to the earth, to appear no more until the next night.

A gentleman from Millbrook, in the city to-day, announces the theory that it is the advertising design of a Detroit firm who every night, according to him, send a balloon with the light attached, nine miles into the heavens, and then it is pulled down again by means of a drum.

Evidently the people of Millbrook are blessed with great eyesight or vivid imagination.

The Twenty-Fourth Anniversary Congress

Held in Toronto, A Huge Success—Best In History Of Army—Large Crowds in Attendance—Material and Spiritual Results.

Staff-Capt. McAmmond returned last night from Toronto, where he has been since last Wednesday attending the Twenty-fourth Anniversary Congress. The Staff-Capt. like all the other officers in attendance, is delighted at the success which attended all their meetings. The general opinion is that this Congress was the best of the twenty-four that have been held and that the series of meetings in connection with it were the most successful ever held in Canada.

The Congress was formally opened on Wednesday evening, Oct. 10th, in the Salvation Army Temple on Albert street, by Acting-Mayor Shaw, in the absence of Mayor Coatsworth, who was confined to his home through illness. Acting-Mayor Shaw welcomed the delegates to the city of Toronto, and congratulated them for the good work they were doing. He commented on the Army's work in Canada and on its growth during the past 24 years. He then invited them to make the city their home. Several of the Aldermen of the city spoke along the same lines. A number of officers of the Army expressed their appreciation of the hearty welcome that had been extended to them and assured the city officials that they were grateful for it.

The meetings on Thursday, Friday and Saturday were participated in by the delegates under the leadership of Commissioner and Mrs. Coombes. General outlines of work for the Army were discussed and means of improvements considered. On Thursday evening a holiness campaign was inaugurated by the Commissioner. This campaign will be carried on throughout the whole Dominion by every corps and will continue for a month, until Nov. 11th. On Sunday afternoon a memorial service for all the departed comrades was held in the Massey Hall. Commissioner and Mrs. Coombes presided and a splendid service resulted. There were five bands en masse under the able leadership of Staff-Bandmaster Morris, which rendered excellent music. There were also a large number of children dressed in white, who sang hymns and altogether the meeting was very impressive.

On Sunday night, however, the grand climax was reached when Commissioner Coombes presented his great service "From Bethlehem to Calvary." Massey Hall was unable to accommodate the immense crowds that turned out and fully 3,000 were unable to obtain admittance. People weree at the doors as early as five o'clock and the hall was filled long before the beginning of the meeting at 8 o'clock. The Commissioner called for a volunteer band to hold an overflow meetoing at the Temple for those who were compelled to remain outside. The Dovercourt Band quickly responded and the Temple was likewise packed to the doors. Speaking of the presentation of "From Bethlehem to Calvary," Staff-Capt. McAmmond said he had never seen moving pictures so clear, life-like and realistic. They were awe-inspiring and grand and gave one a vivid idea of the life of Christ. The service was very impressive, and resulted in 52 converts to the Army. Monday was spent by the delegates with God, and to-day they had all departed to their respective homes in all parts of Canada.

Dominion Bank Offices Opened This Morning

Mr. Crane the New Manager—Land Office Business For the Opening Day—Mr. Harry Rush Will Assist Mr. Crane—Improvements Will Be Made To Bank Quarters.

The Dominion Bank opened this morning with the brightest of prospects, in their temporary offices, No. 132 Simcoe street, just west of the late Ontario Bank. Mr. John Crane, the new manager, was kept busy during the open hours of the bank to-day, and there were always a dozen or more awaiting their turn to do business with him.

Mr. Charles D. Gordon, manager of the Esther street branch, Toronto, is superintending the business at the office, and will remain here for a few days. When seen by a reporter this morning he remarked that for the opening day the bank was doing a land office business and showed a lengthy list of deposits. The stationery arrived in the city this morning from the Toronto branch shortly after ten o'clock.

Besides Mr. Crane the Dominion Bank has also secured the permanent services of Mr. Harry Rush, accountant of the late Ontario Bank, as Mr. Crane's assistant. Mr. Gordon Heron of Toronto, is acting as teller in the new bank, and a couple of others will also be here from Toronto in a few days.

The new quarters are only temporary, the bank having secured a six months lease of the building. The east portion of it has been partitioned off, stalls have been erected and a safe installed. The manager's office has been constructed at the southeast corner of the building, which is fitted up with desks, telephone, etc.

A large number of other improvements await Mr. Crane's directions as soon as he finds time to attend to them, and in a few days the new offices of the Dominion Bank will be looking bright and attractive.

Everything In Readiness For Great Baptist Convention

List of Delegates And Where They Will Stay While In The City—Reception Committee To Meet Visitors—Programme of The Meetings Which Open on Wednesday Night—Most Important Baptist Gathering Ever Held In This City.

The Committee on Billeting in connection with the Baptist Convention which opens to-morrow night in the Murray street Baptist Church, met last night and completed arrangements for the entertainment of the visiting delegates. Since the appeal was made to the other churches on Sunday a gratifying response has been received and arrangements are now practically complete for the entertainment of all the delegates who will be here.

The list of delegates, with their addresses while in the city, so far as arranged, is published to-day. In some cases no billets are given, but this is explained by the fact that some of the delegates will not be present, and those not at present located will be given their places, and also some will be staying with friends or relatives.

A Reception Committee was appointed last night to meet the trains, and conduct the visitors to the church where they will register and and receive their billets.

OBITUARY

LAURA HUERD

The death occurred at St. Joseph's Hospital at 10.30 o'clock this morning, of Laura Huerd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Huerd, Driscoll Terrace, East City. The deceased, who was sixteen years of age was operated on for appendicitis on Friday last. Her condition did not improve and yesterday she became unconscious. The deceased had many friends to whom the intelligence of her death will come as a shock.

Four sisters and a brother are left to mourn her death. They are Mrs. Fred. Stenson, Mrs. Harry Stenson, Mrs. John Phelan and Rose and Joseph all of this city.

The funeral will take place on Thursday morning at 9 o'clock to St. Peter's Cathedral and thence to the Roman Catholic Cemetery for interment.

Can City Stop This Whistling?

Locomotives Making More Noise Than Necessary.

Has the municipality any jurisdiction in the matter of locomotive whistles? This is the question which City Solicitor Hall is endeavouring to answer, and complaints have been made to the Council that locomotive whistles are blown within the city limits at all hours, often unnecessary, and causing considerable annoyance. The matter was turned over to the Manufacturers' Committee, at the meeting of which body last night the matter came up. The City Solicitor was instructed to look into the matter and report to the committee.

Adamson And Dobbin Owners

Both Horses Burned on Sunday Belonged To Them.

The two horses buried in the fire on the premises of John Curtis on Sunday night, both belonged to the firm of Adamson & Dobbin, and not merely one of them, as was stated last night. There was no insurance on the animals.

Popular Young Man's Success

Mr. J. Everett Oles Retires From Local Business Firm.

On Saturday night Mr. J. Everett Oles, who for the last ten years has been on the staff of A. W. Cressman, severed his connection with that store, and will make other arrangements, not yet decided upon, for the future. Mr. Oles has lived in this city for seven years, coming here from Norwich with Mr. Cressman, and upon the opening of that store's business here, took charge of the men's furnishings and clothing department. When the Semi-Ready wardrobe was added to the store, he took charge of it, and up to Saturday night was manager of that department, and its success and development are, to a certain extent, due to the energy and enterprise which he displayed in its management.

Mr. Oles is not only thoroughly conversant with the furnishings and clothing business, but he has a geniality, the possession of which has made him very popular with the men who patronized this store.

The many friends of Mr. Oles will extend him only best wishes for his future success, a wish coupled with the assurance that the same qualities which have so far contributed to his business success will continue to do so.

Constipation and Its Results

Why Bileans are so Highly Beneficial.

About eight women out of every ten suffer from constipation. Certain portions of the food we eat are useless as food, and the work of the bowels is to expel those portions. Their work is aided by a secretion of the liver—the bile. When this secretion fails or is secreted in insufficient quantities, the bowels become inactive and constipation results. Impurities which should be expelled gather, and then note what happens! The blood comes in contact with this foul accumulation, is filled with poison, and the circulation carries these poisons all over the body. That is why constipated persons have so much headache, that dull heavy feeling, bad breath, foul taste in the mouth, etc.

From this it is seen that if the liver be corrected the bile flow will be set right, that in turn will correct the intestines, and the constipation will be ended. This is exactly what Bileans do, and why they are so superior to ordinary medicine or purgatives. These flush the bowels but do not get to the cause of the evil (the liver.) Bileans do.

Mrs. Frances Greene of Earl street, Kingston, Ont., says: "My liver was sluggish and out of order and I had great trouble from constipation. Every movement of the bowels had to be forced. I doctored and tried all manner of remedies but nothing brought a permanent cure until I tried Bileans. They cured the constipation, ended the sluggish, tired out, "livery" feeling and made me feel bright and buoyant."

Similar evidence is forthcoming from all quarters of the globe. Bileans cure constipation, piles, headache, female ailments and irregularities, debility, indigestion, liver child, wind spasms, anaemia, and all disorders arising from liver and stomach derangements. All dealers and stores, at 50 cents a box, or post free from the Bilean Co., Toronto, on receipt of price. Six boxes for $2.50.

Rally of Epworth League To Talk Missionary Work

Profitable Evening Spent at George Street Last Night—Missionary Work Was Discussed at Length—Number of Vocal Solos Rendered

One of the largest gatherings that was ever in the George Street Methodist Sunday School was present last night at the joint meeting of the Charlotte Street, Mark Street and George Street Epworth Leagues. The Sunday School hall was filled with a representative gathering from the three churches, all of whom took a deep interest in the discussion on Missionary Work and enjoyed the musical entertainment which intervened.

The chair was occupied by Rev. D. Crothers, who opened the meeting by devotional exercises and in a brief introductory address expressed his pleasure at seeing so large a number take such an interest in the missionary work, as the presence evidenced.

A vocal solo by Mr. Barber was a very much enjoyed number and was followed by a talk on "The Duties of the Missionary Committee" by Mrs. Lewis, of George street.

A lengthy discussion took place including questions which showed the interest of the listeners.

Mr. M. W. Matchett, of Mark Street, was the next speaker and gave a fine address on the "Missionary Work in the Sunday School." His suggestions for the success of the work were very valable and appreciated.

Miss Olive Howell next gave a vocal solo which was a much enjoyed number on the programme.

Charlotte Street League was then heard from through Mr. H. Latimer, who spoke on "Systematic Giving". In his address he pointed out that although this district was one of the wealthiest it did not give in comparison to others what it should and he suggested plans and ideas which would tend to increase the donations for the missionary funds.

The profitable evening of the united Leagues was brought to a close by a well rendered solo by Mr. J. Miller.

Local Contractor In Great Demand

Wanted to Construct Theatre in Montreal.

Mr. Jas McPherson, the local contractor, who left some time ago to take charge of the brick work on the new Ottawa theatre, has completed his contract and will be home in a few days. Mr. McPherson is recognized as one of the leading theatre constructors in the county, and has been asked by a Montreal company to build a new theatre there. He has also been requested to figure on a large playhouse in Wisconsin, U. S. A.

Mr. McPherson completed his contract of the new House of Refuge two weeks before the time was up.

Lost Papers Of Much Value

Mr. John Brown Lost Purse and Money.

Mr. John Brown, a few days ago, lost a purse containing a $5 bill and a number of papers, belonging to his father, which, while they are of no value to anyone except Mr. Brown, were highly prized by him, and he would like to again secure possession of them. His name was in the purse, so that the finder must have known the owner. He hopes that it will be returned.

Will C.P.R. Short Line Pass Through City After All?

Latest Map Issued by the C. P. R. Indicates the New Route as Touching This City and Connecting With the Main Line Here.

It is a significant fact that, although it has been reported that the C.P.R. short line from Victoria Harbour would not touch Peterborough, but would connect with the main line between this city and Havelock, the latest map and time-table issued by the C.P.R. shows the new line passing through Peterborough. The map is dated September 26, and would seem to indicate that the short line will touch Peterborough, a fact which is of great importance to the city. It will be remembered that some weeks ago it was announced by Mr. Leonard, of the C. P. R., that the line would probably not come to Peterborough on account of the grade difficulty. It looks as if, however, he was wrong, and that the line may connect with the main line of the C.P.R. here.

ROBERTSON-HUNTER RAINBOW NUPTIALS

"Happy is the Bride the Sun Shines on"

"Ardyn," the spacious, tree-embowered home of Mrs. James Stratton, Gilmour street, was, this afternoon, the scene of an exceedingly pretty rainbow house wedding, the occasion being the marriage of her grand-daughter, Miss Frances Genevieve Hunter, only daughter of the late Dr. James Beverley Hunter, Detroit, to Mr. Harold Docks Robertson, B.A., eldest son of Mr. Henry Robertson, of Morriaburg. If there be any virtue in the old saying, "Happy is the bride the sun shines on," there was beautiful augury of happiness in the mellow, hazy, but bright sunshine that filled the golden air this afternoon. The ceremony was performed in the drawing-room of the residence, which had been elaborately and tastefully decorated for the occasion. The colour scheme was green and white, carnations and roses being the floral element. The northern wall of the ample apartment was artistically banked with palms, ferns and other greenery. At three o'clock the groom, and his supporter, Mr. Ernest Robertson, his brother, took their places, and to the melodious measures of Mendelssohn's wedding march, performed by Miss Mabel Harrison, the bridal party entered the drawing-room, in which about sixty guests had assembled. First came the two shepherdesses, Miss Mary Robertson, sister of the groom, and Miss Alberta Gooding, cousin of the bride, who were attired in white voile dresses—masses of insertion and lace. Their heads were crowned with wreaths of white flowers and they carried the conventional crooks, twined with white ribbons, and bosses of white flowers—carnations, relieved with smilax. Next came the pretty, petite, fairyesque flower girl, Jessie Matthews, daughter of Mr. T. F. Matthews, and cousin of the bride, who was dressed in pure white organdie, trimmed with Valenciennes lace over taffeta, and carried a basket of white carnations. She was followed by three of the four bridesmaids, Miss Alison Hamilton, Miss Helen Davidson, and Miss Marlie Hall. Next came the fourth bridesmaid—the maid of honour — Miss Muriel Hoodless, of Hamilton, cousin of the bride, followed by the fair bride, escorted by her uncle, Hon. J. R. Stratton, who gave her to be married. The ceremony was performed by Rev. F. J. Scott, B.A., pastor of the Murray Street Baptist Church. The wedding was what is called a rainbow bridal. The four bridesmaids were attired in toilettes of different hues. Miss Alison Hamilton wore pale yellow French voile over yellow taffeta, with wreath of yellow roses; Miss Marlie Hall, pale green French voile over green taffeta, and wreath of maiden hair fern; Miss Helen Davidson, pale pink over pink taffeta, and wreath of pink roses, and Miss Hoodless, maid of honour, pale blue French voile over blue taffeta, with wreath of forget-me-nots. All the bridesmaids wore short veils, and gloves, and slippers to harmonize with their costumes, and all carried shower bouquets of white carnations. The bride was charmingly gowned in white crepe de chine over white taffeta, daintily trimmed with baby Irish lace. She wore a veil and orange blossoms and carried a shower bouquet of bridal roses. Her only ornament was a sunburst of pearls clustered about a solitaire diamond. The gift of the bride to each of the bridesmaids, stephordesses, pianist and flower girl was a pearl crescent pin. The bridegroom's gift to the bride was a twelve-piece solid silver toilet set, and to the best man a pearl stick pin. In connection with the nuptial ceremonies, Miss Harrison sang "O Promise Me," and Miss Hoodless, "O Fair, O Sweet, O Holy." The ceremony was followed by a reception, and afterwards the wedding breakfast was served in a large marquee set on the wide lawns. The tables were beautifully ordered and profusely adorned with flowers — white carnations and pink and white roses, the ensemble effect being exquisite. The health of the bride was proposed and honoured with an enthusiasm of which no bride of many a long day in Peterborough has been more worthy.

The out-of-town guests included: Mr. and Mrs. Henry Robertson, parents of the bridegroom; Miss Mary Robertson, Mr. Ernest Robertson, Mr. Robertson, Morrisburg; Mr. and Mrs. John Hoodless, Miss Muriel Hoodless, Hamilton; Chancellor and Mrs. Burwash, Victoria University, Toronto; Dr. John Hunter, Miss Edith Hunter, Mr. and Mrs. F. D. MacKay, Mr. Stanley Mills, Miss Olive Mills, Mr. C. D. Henderson, Mr. E. W. Wallace, Mr. E. W. Morgan, Mr. Ernest Trueman, Mr. Jack Maclachlan, Mr. A. W. MacPherson, Toronto; Miss K. F. Bearman, Ottawa, Miss Florence Gibbard, Napanee; Mr. and Mrs. Ford Williamson, St. Thomas; Mr. Gordon Galley, Barrie; Dr. and Mrs. Harrison, Keene; Mr. Roy Taggart, Ottawa; Miss Margaret Keagey, Dundas; Miss Marion Miles, Chicago, and others.

The dresses of the lady guests were conspicuous for their elegance.

Mrs. James Stratton, wore a rich black brocaded silk.

Mrs. Hunter, mother of the bride, mauve chiffon broadcloth, handsomely trimmed with lace.

Miss Stratton, white oriental net over shell pink taffeta.

Mrs. J. R. Stratton, all-over guipure lace, over cream satin, and black picture hat.

Mrs. T. F. Matthews, white lace over pale blue taffeta, with blue picture hat.

Mrs. A. H. Stratton, cuivre brown crepe de chine handsomely trimmed with cream lace, and touches of pale blue.

Mrs. Robertson, mother of the groom, handsome black silk gown, Mrs. Hoodless, black Irish lace, over green taffeta.

The bride's robe de voyage was of navy blue ladies' cloth, with front embroidered in pale blue and black, with black hat to match. Mr. and Mrs. Robertson took the 5.15 Canadian Pacific express for Toronto. Their wedding tour will include Montreal and other points. They will return to Peterborough early in the month, and Mrs. Robertson will be at home at "Ardyn" on the first Tuesday in November, the 6th.

On November 26th, Mr. and Mrs. Robertson will embark at Vancouver on the Empress of India, on their long voyage to China, their future home for some years. Mr. Robertson goes out with a party of five or six others to establish a college at Shen-tu, under the auspices of the educational department of the Methodist Church in China.

The numerous array of beautiful and substantial bridal presents is eloquent testimony to the high esteem in which the bride is most deservedly held by a very large circle of friends in Peterborough, where her sunny disposition, her modest demeanour, her sterling qualities of mind and heart, have won for her a wide popularity, in social circles, and the deep respect and esteem of those who properly appreciate true worth of character. Many ardent wishes and fervent prayers for a happy stay and safe return will follow Mrs. Robertson to her home in far Cathay. She shares with her husband, who is a gentleman of excellent qualities of character, the spirit of missionary zeal, that leads them to sever the ties of home and friendship, and to temporarily expatriate themselves in the noble cause of carrying the light of the Gospel to them that sit in darkness.

WEDDING BELLS

DOIDGE–DETCHER

A pretty, but quiet, mid-October wedding was celebrated this afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Detcher, 865 Water street, when their only daughter, Miss Maude, was united in marriage to Mr. Ernest Herbert Doidge. The ceremony was performed at half past two o'clock by Rev. Dr. Crothers, in the presence of the immediate friends of the bride and groom. The bride wore a coat and groom. Mendelssohn's wedding march was played by Miss Edith McClennan. The bride wore a costume of cream eolienne over taffeta, and carried white roses and lilies of the valley. She was unattended, except by a little flower girl, Miss Alice Hill, niece of the groom, who was prettily dressed in white silk, carrying a basket filled with pink and white carnations. At the conclusion of the ceremony luncheon was served in the dining-room, which was decorated with palms and ferns.

The presents sent in to the bride were many and beautiful. An elegant silver and cut-glass epergne was the gift of the Examiner staff, with which the bride was formerly associated.

Mr. and Mrs. Doidge left on the 5.15 C.P.R. train for Brockport, N. Y., and before returning, will visit friends in Galt and Toronto. The bride's going-away dress was a tailored suit of black and white tweed with blouse of embroidered Brussels net and black hat. On their return to Peterborough they will reside at 865 Water street.

SEDGEWICK–PHILLIPS

A quiet wedding was solemnized at the Methodist parsonage, Pontypool, on Tuesday, October 2, by Rev. J. F. Chapman, when Mrs. Ernest J. Sedgwick, youngest son of Mr. John Sedgwick, of Gelert, was united in marriage to Miss Sadie Phillips, of Toronto Junction. The winsome bride wore a handsome gown of blue corded silk trimmed with white. Miss Vercal, of Toronto Junction, acted as bridesmaid, and was attired in blue crepe de chine with white trimming. The bridegroom was assisted by his brother, Mr. J. B. Sedgwick. The wedding march was played by Mrs. Chapman. The happy couple left on the evening train for a short visit to friends in Peterborough and other points. Mr. and Mrs. Sedgwick will take up their residence at "Riverside," Gelert, where the bride will be "at home" to her friends after the 10th of October. — Minden Echo.

MILLER–COLEMAN

"The Locusts," the handsome residence of Mr. Vincent Coleman, Port Hope, was the scene of a pretty wedding this afternoon, at 2.15 o'clock, when his sister, Miss S. Margaret Coleman, was united in marriage to Mr. David Miller, of Dummer Township. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mr. Abraham, paston of the Presbyterian Church of Port Hope, in the presence of about twenty guests, the immediate friends of the bride and groom. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Helen Coleman, and the groom by his brother, Mr. Robt. Miller, of Dummer. After the ceremony the usual wedding dejeuner was served on prettily decorated tables. The presents were numerous and beautiful. Mr. and Mrs. Miller left, this afternoon, for a wedding tour to Buffalo, Niagara Falls and Guelph, and on their return will reside in Dummer, about half a mile from the village of Warsaw. This wedding is of especial interest to Peterborough people, the bride having spent three years here in the capacity of superintendent of the Nicholls Hospital.

Eyes Worth Having

Did you ever stop to think that with the exception of the heart, the eye is the hardest worked part of the body.

As long as you are awake and your eyes are open they are working in your service.

Three pairs of muscles control the movement of each eyeball.

The two eyeballs move exactly together. Would you know the effect of their not working together—press your finger against one, so that it's position does not exactly correspond with the other.

How important it is that if these muscles tire and you have headaches and require Glasses, that your Glasses suit your eyes—our long experience makes us experts and able to fit you correctly.

Mr. B. Lastar's Store Threatened With Fire

Which Seems to Have Been the Work of an Incendiary—Occurred This Morning—Few Hundred Dollars Damage

Is there an incendiary at work in the city? From the two fires that occurred on Sunday and Monday nights, it certainly seems that some firebug is busy.

This morning at one o'clock, fire was discovered in the basement of Mr. B. Lastar's store by Mr. P. Conway, the night-watch, at the Peterborough Radial Company's barns. This store is on the corner of King and George streets, with cellar windows facing King street. Volumes of smoke pouring from the windows attracted Mr. Conway's attention, and in all probability the mere chance of his passing at that time prevented serious results, if not a fatality. As it was Mr. Lastar had great difficulty in getting his family from the house, so densely was it filled with smoke, and they had to dress on the street on account of their hurried exit. Mr. Lastar returned to get his business books but was unable to make his way back to the street by the usual stairs, and had to be taken from an up-stairs window. The fire brigade was quickly at the scene of the conflagration, and as the fire had confined itself to the basement there was not much difficulty in getting it under control. The articles burned were mostly toys and Christmas goods, with some ladies' hats, and a small stock of boots. The damage may amount to a few hundred dollars but is covered by insurance.

Mr. Lastar considers that the fire was the work of an incendiary. On looking around this morning he discovered a stick wrapped with flannel and it looked as if it had been soaked with oil and afterwards burned. It was found close to a window that had been boarded up, as the pane was broken, and it certainly has a very suspicious aspect. Mr. Lastar says that about a month ago he found a group of young men throwing lighted matches at the window, and had noted them afterwards placing a board against it. About a year ago a number of wooden boxes were set on fire at the rear of his place, and now, after every show at the opera house there is generally a number of boys hanging around that corner smoking until a late hour.

Mr. Lastar thinks the only way to defend himself and his property is to take out a license to carry a revolver, and use it, if provoked.

The store will be opened in a day or two and business carried on as before.

BANK SHAREHOLDERS AND THE DOUBLE LIABILITY

The Ontario Bank's three hundred shareholders will be relieved by the prediction that they will not be called upon to put up any money under the double liability clause of the Chartered Bank Act. It is hard enough to have lost the greater portion of the value of the stock itself. The worst estimate made at present is that nearly the whole of the bank's paid-up capital of $1,500,000 is wiped out, and that the shareholders may get $25 per share for their stock, which was recently selling in the open market at 143-7-8. So much uncertainty still surrounds the affairs of the bank that as yet it is impossible to say whether the shareholders will fare better or worse than these forecasts would indicate. The bank's depositors and other creditors are considered absolutely guaranteed against loss, and, of course, its notes on bills are all right.—Toronto News.

Music and Drama

THE WOMAN IN THE CASE

Eugenie Blair in "The Woman in the Case" is the very attractive announcement of the Grand Opera House management for to-morrow evening. Critics in the principle cities where Miss Blair has been seen, have been unanimous in the verdict that the character of Margaret Rolfe in "The Woman in the Case" is the crowning achievement of Miss Blair's career. This is remarkable considering her wonderful successes as "Raza", "Sapho" and "Iris" of the past few years. "The Woman in the Case" is conceded on all sides to be the best of the many many plays which Clyde Fitch has contributed to the American stage. It is, as are all of Mr. Fitch's plays, replete with pungent and witty dialogue, but in addition it has a vitally interesting story, and possesses more dramatic suspense than any of his previous efforts.

Managers Wagenhals and Kemper are said to have surrounded Miss Blair with a brilliant supporting company and have agreed to give the complete production just as it was seen in New York for more than 200 nights.

THE BELL BOY

A handsome little bunch of girls will be at the Grand Theatre on Thursday night, in that hilarious musical melenge "A Bell Boy". Sometimes they are garbed as soldier girls, other times as Japanese maidens, and again in diverse costumes of bright and brilliant hue. At all times they are bright eyed and roguish and all nearly measure the same height to an inch. The chief charm of "A Bell Boy" is the tuneful musical melodies and the jaunty methods of principals and chorus.

The funny antics of the "Bell Boy" are side-splitting and will send you home with a smile on your face that won't come off.

Johnny Calvin plays the title role of "Patsy" the Bell Boy, and this clever young comedian is hard to be excelled. His side partner, Kitty Doogan, is played by little Ella Galvin, and if you keep your eyes on both of them in their many pranks, it will keep you busy.

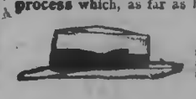
Mallory CRAVENETTE HATS

STYLE and SERVICE

Don't buy your Fall headwear until you have examined our new line of Mallory Cravenette Hats.

Cravenette is the name of a process, not a material. A Mallory Cravenette Hat simply means a hat of the finest felt, worked into refined and up-to-date styles and becoming shapes—the best hat qualities that you can buy anywhere, plus the added value that comes from the Priestley Cravenetting process which, as far as hats are concerned, is exclusive with the Mallory.



Come in to see them if for nothing else than to learn what are the latest and most fashionable Metropolitan hat styles.

Objection To The Use Of Glasses

Sometimes people object to glasses, claiming that once put on they can not see without them. If after putting on glasses the wearer finds it difficult to go without them, this simply proves that before he wore glasses he was forcing his eyes beyond the limit of safety, a practice if continued, is sure to affect the health and sight. The person who lets pride, even excusable pride, stand in the way of glasses is doing his eyes and health injustice and is merely paving the way for future suffering and discomforts.

We will test your eyesight carefully, and tell you just what condition your eyes are in.

Protest Against Poor Construction

Citizen Says Sidewalks in North End are Not Well Made.

A gentleman who lives in the north end of the city called on the Examiner to-day and drew attention to what he termed the disgraceful condition of the new sidewalks which have been laid in that part of the city this summer. He stated that on the east side of George street, north of Smith, one-half of the width of the walk was finished, the remainder being simply scraped over, leaving the surface rough and uneven. He also stated that frequently before the cement was dry persons had been observed to walk over it, the result being that in some places the walk is badly marked by footprints.

If too much salt has been added to soup, slice a raw potato and boil it in the soup for a few minutes. The potato will absorb much of the salt.

Want Horses For Railway Work

Good Demand at Kenora--Mr. Leary Shipping To-day.

Mr. R. H. Leary is leaving to-day for Kenora, where he is shipping a carload of horses, which he will sell for use on the G.T.R. and in lumbering operations. Mr. Leary has made other trips to this city during the past few weeks, and says there is a good demand for heavy horses suitable for lumbering and railway work.

In its line from Fort William to Winnipeg the Grand Trunk Pacific, Mr. Leary states, is following what is known as the old C. P. R. survey, and at Kenora it is but twelve miles from the present C. P. R. line.

He will be taking a carload of horses to this section about every two weeks for the next few months.

The "Rob Roy" Being Dismantled

Popular Pleasure Steamer Being Laid Up For Winter.

The steamer "Rob Roy," which has had a most successful season and has carried a number of very pleasant parties to various parts of the Kawartha Lakes this season, is being dismantled and laid up for the season. Mr. R. M. Roy, her genial master, will leave in a short time for his trip to Florida with the members of the Canadian Ticket Agents Association, of which he is the official photographer.

Philomatheans Elect Officers

Pupils Have Trusty Officers--Intend to Surpass Previous Years in All Branches.

The Philomathean Society of the Collegiate Institute was assembled at the Y.M.C.A. yesterday afternoon for the purpose of electing officers for the coming season. It is hoped that the work done in previous years will be furthered by the new officers and members and that the results will be even better than in the past.

The following are the new officers:—
Hon. President—Mr. C. Fessenden.
Hon. Vice Presidents—Mr. H. R. H. Kenner, Mr. Merrit.
President—Mr. Fred. Brown.
Vice-President—Miss M. Burnett.
Secretary—Miss E. Kells.
Treasurer—Miss G. Yenney.

The combative element seems to have died out of the scholars as all the officers but the President and Vice-President were elected by acclamation.

Model Store Says Dry Goods Review

Complimentary References to Richard Hall and Son.

The October issue of the Dry Goods Review, contains a very complimentary reference to the store of Richard Hall & Son. The editor of the Review has made a trip through many Canadian dry goods stores, and his description of the local establishment, which is styled "a model store," is as follows:

"Richard Hall & Son, Peterborough, have one of the finest stores of its size in Canada. From main entrance to rear, and from basement to top floor, the fixtures and department arrangements strongly reflect a spirit of progressiveness, and they certainly are in themselves the very embodiment of modernity. A merchant looking for ideas in regard to the remodeling of his premises on up-to-date lines, would find a visit to this store well repaid, by what he would see and learn.

The show window extends nearly three-quarter way across the whole store front, and the facilities that it offers for special times, are splendid. We have seldom noticed a better window anywhere. Its length is fully forty-seven feet, and depth seven feet. When the Review saw it early in September it contained some excellent dress goods displays, different shades being confined to separate sections. The subdued tones of the goods effectively arranged on fixtures, and forms, with a suitable background and set in a window of such merit combined to produce an exceedingly rich effect."

$100 Reward, $100

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Nature Freak In Swine Family

Hog Sold on the Market Which Never Had a Tail.

A freak of nature in the swine family was on exhibition in one of the hog pens at the market square to-day. It was a hog without a tail and according to the farmer, Mr. Webster, who raised and sold the animal, it never had the curly appendix. Mr. Lee, the market clerk, stated to the Examiner that it was the first of the kind he had ever witnessed and considered it quite a curiosity. The remainder of the litter, eight in number, all had their tails and attracted no more than a passing glance.

It was a case in which the familiar statement "as curly as a pig's tail" would not apply.

The hogs were purchased by Messrs. Thornton and Howden.

To Invoke The Bank Act In Bank Affairs

In the Work of the Liquidation of the Ontario Bank.

AN OFFICIAL STATEMENT

Curator and Advisory Committee to Take Charge of the Bank's Affairs—President Cockburn Says He Does Not Think They Are Called Upon to Spend Shareholders' Money In Any Criminal Prosecution.

Toronto, Oct. 16.—The formal agreement transferring the assets of the Ontario Bank to the Bank of Montreal was engrossed and signed at the head office of the bank, Scott and Wellington streets, at 9 o'clock last night.

To Invoke Banking Act.

The machinery provided by the banking act for the winding-up of banks which for any reason discontinue business will be set in motion to liquidate the Ontario Bank. The directors of the Ontario Bank and the representatives of the Bank of Montreal, including the General Manager of that institution, Mr. E. S. Clouston, sat until a late hour in the board room of the Ontario Bank last night, and after a conference lasting nearly six hours decided upon this course.

An Official Statement.

The board of directors of the Ontario Bank were in session yesterday afternoon with representatives of the Bank of Montreal, and it was decided that in the best interests of the shareholders, and as supplementing the agreement with the Bank of Montreal, a curator and an advisory board should be appointed by the Canadian Bankers' Association under the Bank Act of 1900 to co-operate with the directors of the Ontario Bank. W. E. Stavert of the Bank of Montreal, it is said, is to be curator, and Byron E. Walker, general manager of the Canadian Bank of Commerce; D. R. Wilkie, general manager of the Imperial Bank of Canada, and Duncan Coulson, general manager of the Bank of Toronto, the advisory board.

Insolvent When He Took Charge.

These, with ex-Manager McGill's statement, claiming that the Ontario Bank was virtually insolvent when he took charge, and that his speculations were permitted by the directors in an effort to pull it out; and President Cockburn's reply, claiming that McGill's statement lacks foundation, were the main events in yesterday's history of the bank.

E. S. Coulson, president of the Bank of Montreal, declined to make any statement, and returned to Montreal at 10.30 p.m.

President Cockburn, who was returning home after signing the formal transfer, said:

"I do not think that we are called upon to spend $1,000 or $2,000 of the shareholders' money in any criminal prosecution. Is not that the business of the authorities? That is what they are paid for."

He further stated that every effort would be made to save money for the shareholders.

To Nationalize Railways.

New York, Oct. 16.—The report current in America that Premier Campbell-Bannerman and his associates are considering a scheme of Government ownership of British railroads is true to some extent, says a London cable despatch to The Times. The Government has no idea whatever of bringing in a bill for the nationalization of any other railways than those of Ireland. The Irish roads, the Government is inclined to think, should be taken over by the nation in order to advance the welfare of Ireland.

Henderson Case Dismissed.

Walkerton, Oct. 16.—The case of Adam Sielings of Walkerton vs. R. I. Henderson of Toronto, charged with having obtained $1,400 by false pretences, and which was sent up for trial some time ago by Magistrates Robb and Tolton, was tried yesterday before Judge Barrett. The judge held no reliance could be placed in Mr. Sielings' evidence, as the story he told before the magistrates did not correspond with his story to-day, and he dismissed the case.

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 16.—The 10,000 ton steamship Havana of the Cuba Mail Steamship Co. was launched at Cramps' Shipyard yesterday.

Breaks Arm Pitching Ball.

Stratford, Oct. 16.—Michael Cahill broke his arm after pitching 15 innings in a baseball game.

The Largest Jack Manufacturer in the World Writes about

Zutoo

Regarding your Zutoo Tablets I beg to say: I have been a sufferer from headache since childhood and have used all, or nearly all, of the so-called "cures" on the market, till warned by my physician to discontinue their use on account of their bad effects on the heart. Some months since my attention was called to your Zutoo Tablets and I have been using them ever since with the most gratifying results. I find they cure a "sick" or "nervous" headache in a few minutes and leave no bad effect. My family use them whenever needed with equally good results. I have frequently given them to friends who were suffering from headache and they never fail to give quick relief. I find them a good remedy for "sour" stomach as well as headache. I always carry them in my grip on the road and would not be without them at any cost.

CRISIS OF GIRLHOOD

A TIME OF PAIN AND PERIL

Miss Emma Cole Says that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has Saved Her Life and Made Her Well.

How many lives of beautiful young girls have been sacrificed just as they were ripening into womanhood! How many irregularities or displacements have been developed at this important period, resulting in years of suffering!

A mother should come to her child's aid at his critical time and remember that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will prepare the system for the coming change and start this trying period in a young girl's life without pain or irregularities.

Miss Emma Cole of Tullahoma, Tenn. writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:

"I want to tell you that I am enjoying better health than I have for years, and I owe it all to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"When fourteen years of age I suffered almost constant pain, and for two or three years, I had soreness and pain in my side, headaches and was dizzy and nervous, and doctors all failed to help me.

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was recommended, and after taking it my health began to improve rapidly, and I think it saved my life. I sincerely hope my experience will be a help to other girls who are passing from girlhood to womanhood, for I know your Compound will do as much for them."

If you know of any young girl who is sick and needs motherly advice ask her to write Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., and she will receive free advice which will put her on the right road to a strong, healthy and happy womanhood. Mrs. Pinkham is daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham and for twenty-five years has been advising sick women free of charge.

THE PREMIER RETURNS.

His Opinion With Regard to the Fisheries Question — Thinks People Wouldn't Want to Surrender.

Toronto, Oct. 16.—Premier Whitney returned to Toronto yesterday afternoon and received press representatives at the Parliament Buildings.

The conference of Premiers, he said, was very interesting, and especially to him on account of the novelty of the occasion.

Plunging at once into the subject of the provincial subsidy claims, he said it would be observed that the latter part of the first resolution adopted contained a reservation:

"Of the right of any province now to submit to such Government (of the Dominion) memoranda in writing concerning any claims it may have to larger sums than those set out in the said resolutions, or to additional consideration or recognition."

"This reservation," said the Premier, "was added to the resolution on the request of Ontario and British Columbia, after considerable discussion.

"In pursuance of this a memoranda was filed on behalf of Ontario, and was considered along with the resolutions by the Dominion Government. This memoranda (which is quite lengthy) gives the exact position assumed by Ontario.

Boundary Situation.

"As to the boundary question, so-called," continued Premier Whitney, "I understand Manitoba has had a claim before the Dominion Government for an extension of boundary. In pursuance of Sir Wilfrid's intention, expressed a year ago, he desires that Ontario, Saskatchewan and, I think, Quebec, should be present when the matter is argued before him. All the parties interested are agreed upon Nov. 12 as the day on which they will appear.

"With reference to the fisheries, Sir Wilfrid drew our attention to the inconvenience resulting from dual jurisdiction—the province owning the fish and the Dominion controlling the methods of fishing. He suggested that some agreement should be come to with reference to this question, but I took the position that it would be necessary to consult my colleagues and hazarded the view that the people of Ontario would not look with friendly eye at the handing over of anything looked on as their property.

Charters to Railways.

"As to granting Dominion charters to railways and other corporations doing business within the provinces we had some discussion. The Dominion took the ground that in some cases the provinces had been granting charters to companies doing business outside their jurisdiction. It was agreed that in future more care should be taken on both sides."

Mr. Whitney said the power question was not broached. He found Sir Wilfrid Laurier in very good health and looking well.

Mr. Whitney desired to say that the facilities and accommodation extended at Ottawa to those attending the conference were in every way admirable and excellent.

Bowmanville, Oct. 16.—The coroner's jury in the Welsh inquest Saturday night brought in the following verdict: "That William Welsh met his death by coming in contact with a live wire which fell from a pole, through the defect of the cross-arm upon the pole, and through the neglect of the Trenton Electric Co. to make proper inspection."

Chilean Ministry Beaten.

Santiago, Chile, Oct. 15.—The Chamber of Deputies Saturday night voted against the Government over the nomination of a member of the Council of State. This throws out President Montt's first Ministry.

Don Pedro Montt was inaugurated President of Chile Sept. 18, in succession to Jermain Riesco.

SOURCE OF SOME MONEY.

Collins Drew a Large Sum From His Bank Account—Said He Was a "Sucker," and Wanted Job.

Toronto, Oct. 16.—The evidence given by Frank Kalkenbach in the London bribery case before Police Magistrate Denison yesterday was somewhat sensational, and tended to throw light upon the important question, "Where did the money come from?"

According to the story of this witness Collins admitted having, against the advice of his banker, drawn $800 of his own money from the bank and spent it in the election. Further, Collins informed him that he had been a "sucker," and that after spending his money they gave him the worst of it. Kalkenbach admitted that he signed a paper upon which there were two other names, at the request of Collins, who said it would materially help him to get something from the Government. Having known Collins for 24 or 25 years, he signed the paper to help him.

Mr. James White, formerly President of the Liberal Association at Ottawa, denied having contributed towards the election expenses beyond paying the hotel bill of four young men he sent up to work checking over the voters' lists.

A number of witnesses swore to receiving money at the election, the peculiar feature about their evidence being that in nearly every case they stated that they were Liberals and intended voting Hyman anyway. A number of them expressed surprise at money having been paid them, and several said that Collins intimated to them that there was money going, and they might as well have some.

ANOTHER STRIKE DEATH.

Detective Warner, Shot at Buckingham, Dies From Injuries.

Buckingham, Que., Oct. 16.—Detective Warner of Montreal died here yesterday morning. This is the third death from the fight which recently occurred at MacLaren's mills. Warner belonged to Thiel's Detective Agency.

Despite the superficial quiet, the resentment among the strikers is burning deeper and trouble is anticipated when the Dragoons leave.

At 1.30 o'clock yesterday a number of strikers, about a hundred in all, appealed to Mr. Alexander Cunningham for work. Many of the strikers are starving, and though Mr. Cunningham has now as many men as he wants, he engaged 75 of them. He is a lumber merchant of Buckingham. He said this afternoon he would rather take these men on their own terms than see them go hungry. This reduces the number of strikers who are out of work to 175.

The juries for the inquest of the two dead strikers met yesterday morning, but were dismissed by Coroner Rodrigue. Dr. Fontaine will empanel others.

The mills, though short-handed, are working.

Resigns the Governorship.

Colmar, Upper Alsace, Germany, Oct. 16.—Prince Alexander Von Hohenlohe, youngest son of the late Chancellor Von Hohenlohe, who recently caused the publication of the latter's "recollections," and was rebuked by Emperor William for his "tactlessness" in so doing, Sunday visited Chancellor Von Buelow at Hamburg, and yesterday sent his resignation as district governor to the governor-general of Alsace Loraine.

Protest Against Hindus.

Ottawa, Oct. 16.—The Department of Trade and Commerce received yesterday a complaint from the Colonial Office, which was forwarded to them from British Columbia, against the influx of East Indians. The collector of customs at Vancouver informs the Department that the arrivals up to date were 1,463.

C. P. R. Grain Receipts.

Winnipeg, Oct. 16.—The total receipts by the C. P. R. up to the close of business Saturday were: Wheat, 19,876,000 bushels; other grains, 1,225,000 bushels. This establishes a new record. In the corresponding period of last year the receipts were: Wheat, 18,899,000 bushels; other grains, 731,000 bushels.

Sir Mackenzie Is President.

Belleville, Oct. 16.—In response to the request of a deputation yesterday, Sir Mackenzie Bowell accepted the presidency of the Northumberland Durham Power Co. The Hydro-Electric Power Commission has asked the company to supply power for Belleville.

BOTH FOOD AND MEDICINE.

We like best to call Scott's Emulsion a food-medicine. It is a term that aptly describes the character and action of our Emulsion. More than a medicine—more than a food, yet combining the vital principles of both. It is for this reason that Scott's Emulsion has a distinct and special value in all wasting diseases. There is nothing better to remedy the troubles of imperfect growth and delicate health in children. The action of Scott's Emulsion is just as effective in treating weakness and wasting in adults.

FOR SCHOOL DAYS.

A Simple Little Gown For the Wee Girl.

Here is a charming little frock that is sure to please the young wearer herself at the same time that it is simple and well suited to its use. The model is made from one of the pretty clan plaids in lightweight wool and is trimmed with bands of the velvet ribbons that are so effective on the bright background. Cashmere, serge and all materials of a similar sort are, however, equally appropriate, while the design can be varied by the use of contrasting material for the yoke and by a frill outlining the same.

IN LIGHTWEIGHT PLAID.

It will surprise you to find how much less tired you will be when working in the kitchen if you have a tall stool to sit on when wiping dishes—even when washing them it can be used—ironing small articles, preparing vegetables and making cake, pies, and doing many other things. Get all your material together, then sit down on your high stool and do the work. It will keep you off your feet several hours in time.

SERVANT PROBLEM.

Italian Girls to Be Trained For American "Help."

At the head of the list of canonized saints of the future will surely stand the names of those who have tried with any measure of success to solve the domestic service problem for the American housewife. Charlotte Perkins Gilman's schemes for co-operation are a bit too advanced for the women of this generation, though these conservatives may be forced to try them yet before they surrender the pantry and storeroom keys to their daughters.

Now a man has buckled on his armor and entered the lists, and this in the person of no less a hero than Caesare Conti. Mr. Conti, a New York banker by profession, is interested in this subject from a double viewpoint. His concern for the welfare and advancement of his own countrymen is scarcely greater than the alarm which he feels for the fate of the old fashioned home in this land of his adoption.

His plan is to establish in Italy a school where girls of the servant class shall be trained in the ways of American housework. The teachers are to be sent from here for that purpose. These prospective maids are to learn a little of our language and a good deal of our cooking and ways of living. They are to be trained not for families which keep several servants, but for the housewife who has, or used to have, what is known as the general houseworker. These families it is that are the backbone of the American nation, and these it is that are being driven from their homes.

Before entering upon the proposed course the girls will undergo a rigid physical examination for the purpose of ascertaining whether they will be able to thrive in the climate of America. After the course the graduates will be brought over here and be taken in charge by some religious order until they go into a family. This same organization, which has not yet been chosen, will look after the girls if they are ill and send them back to Italy when it is necessary. It will also act as a protector to them in any case of need.

The plans for the starting of the school are well under way and after the details are arranged the first class will be formed, probably within a few months. Since the course is only to take six or eight months, another year will see the first installment landing on our shores.—Good Housekeeping.

Automobile Coats of Waterproof Silk

The newest automobile coats are of waterproof silk, and the rubber lined satin rain coats are also used a great deal. The silk coats are naturally absolutely dust proof as well as being most convenient in case of an unexpected downpour. Many of these coats are more attractive, for dark colors are no longer thought necessary. In one way, at least, the lighter shades are best, for they do not show dust so soon as deep blue, green and black. A black coat is perhaps worst of all, white and gray showing dust less readily. White automobile cloaks are rather the craze just now, and certainly they are most cheerful and effective, besides looking as trim at the end of a trip as at the beginning unless a muddy road is encountered.

A rubber silk wrap is made just as any other long, loose cloak. Some have the box back hanging full from the shoulder, while others are semifitted with the loose front. A few are quite loose, only belted in with wide straps at the waist. Rubber silk can be had in any shade. The dark colors with bright silk or cloth collar and cuffs are attractive, and the light trimming can easily be changed when soiled. Rubber silk, or gloria, is delightfully cool, lighter than the rubber lined satin, which is, however, frequently preferred because of having some little warmth. Perhaps the smartest satin coats are white, with colored cloth or silk collars and cuffs. Plain taffeta silk is also made use of. An unlined silk wrap affords practically no warmth, but helps considerably to keep off the dust and dirt.

Peculiar St. Louis.

The city of St. Louis is not in any county. Under the Missouri constitution of 1875 the city was separated from the county. In 1876 it was created a separate municipality. It seems to be the only city in the country that is not within the limits of a county.

WOMAN'S WORLD

MRS. ROBERT HUNTER.

A Noble Woman Who Is Engaged In a Noble Work.

As Caroline M. Phelps Stokes of New York, Mrs. Robert Hunter was reared in the lap of luxury. Her father, Anson Phelps Stokes, is many times a millionaire, and her grandfather, Anson Phelps, was numbered among the greatest of New York's many great financiers.

Her home on Fifth avenue was one of the most magnificent in that city of splendid mansions. Liveried servants were always at her call; her every wish was gratified. Nothing that money could buy was denied her when she desired it. She is said to have a fortune of $10,000,000 in her own right.

Blossoming into womanhood Miss Stokes followed the example of her two brothers, the Rev. Anson Phelps Stokes, Jr., and J. G. Phelps Stokes, and began work in the slums of New York's east side.

She turned her back upon the usual pleasures of the rich and the invitations of her social set, and, with remarkable devotion to the cause, set about alleviating the sufferings of those who were far less fortunate than herself.

It was while engaged in this work that she met Robert Hunter, a young man who had been brought from the west to take charge of a large university settlement work in the east side. He had nothing more to offer her than a clean heart, a clear head and a strong character that was all aflame with enthusiasm for the betterment of the lower strata of humanity, but Miss Stokes had not been impressed by the average young men in her social set. So the two were married.

Not long afterward their friends were astounded to learn that the Hunters had abandoned their palatial dwelling on Fifth avenue and had gone down into the lower west side of New York, a section that had been crying out for help for years, to make their home there.

They took a modest house in Grove street, and there they have since resided. Their days are spent receiving callers—not those from the fashionable set they had left uptown, but from the squalid regions about them—in extending the helping hand and studying what next to do in the campaign against poverty and its accompanying evils.

"All day long white faced misery throngs to the door of the humble little house." Financial assistance is given one, advice to another, a tangle in the thread of this life or that is straightened.

"We have taken this small house," said Mr. and Mrs. Hunter to an early caller, "in order to keep our lives simple. There isn't half as much interest in the life of fashionable New York as is to be found in the kindly, homely circles of humbler folk. We want to live the race life, the true American life. It is for the purpose of being next door to poverty that we have come here."—Philadelphia North American.

DEATH OF REV. SAM JONES.

Heart Failure Took Noted Evangelist In a Sleeping Car.

Little Rock, Ark., Oct. 16.—Rev. Sam Jones, the well-known evangelist of Cartersville, Ga., died early yesterday of heart failure in a sleeping car on a Rock Island train near Perry, Ark.

Mr. Jones had been conducting a most successful revival at Oklahoma City, and left there Sunday night for his home in Georgia. He desired to attend a family reunion to-day, it being the fifty-ninth anniversary of his birth.

Samuel Porter Jones was born in Chambers County, Alabama, on Oct. 16, 1847. In 1859 he removed to Cartersville, Ga., and studied under private tutors and at boarding schools, and in 1869 was admitted to the Georgia bar. He began his professional career with bright prospects of success, but after a short time broke down in health from nervous dyspepsia. He began drinking, and soon quit his legal career. In 1872 he was converted and began to take an active interest in church work, becoming a clergyman of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, in the same year. He undertook religious efforts with great zest, and during the eight years following was pastor of various charges under the North Georgia conference. Subsequent to this he became an agent of the North Georgia Orphanage, which position he filled for twelve years.

During his pastoral work he devoted a great deal of time to evangelistic endeavors and to the lecture platform, particularly in the last eight years. He was a partner with Sam Small in these religious tours. He had held revival meetings in almost all the cities of the United States and Canada.

STRIKE'S AFTERMATH.

Buckingham Strikers Wait on MacLarens Who Refuse Terms.

Ottawa, Oct. 15.—On Saturday the first steps towards a settlement of the Buckingham strike were taken when a deputation of citizens waited on the company and asked that the men be taken back and that none be dismissed without the company showing cause.

The Messrs. MacLaren refused such terms, saying it meant recognition of the union, and they proposed running their own business. They sent an answer to the men that they could return as individuals and take up work where they left off.

The men's answer is expected to-day.

Warner, one of the wounded detectives, was reported very low last night.

UNFOUNDED REPORT.

Nearly All Grapes Gathered and Tomatoes Are All In.

St. Catharines, Oct. 15.—The report of grape and tomato losses is unfounded. Nineteen-twentieths of the grape crop has been harvested. Only grapes near the lake are ungathered, and those are not injured, as only a slight frost occurred.

The tomato crop is all gathered. Vines are not all killed in late patches. The season on the whole has been the most prosperous the growers ever experienced.

Brockville, Oct. 16.—The body of a young man named Stewart was found floating in the river yesterday morning. It is thought he stumbled off the dock on Saturday, Oct. 6.

Bottle Nursing.

It is commonly supposed that nursing infants with the bottle is a modern custom, but some time ago Dr. Gottstein pointed out that that custom was widely prevalent in German cities 200 years ago, and more recently Dr. Grotjahn discovered pictorial evidence of such nursing 1,500 years ago.

Around the Earth.

The time required for a journey around the earth by a man walking day and night, without resting, would be 428 days; an express train, forty days; sound at medium temperature, thirty-two and one-half hours; light, a little over one-tenth of a second, and electricity, passing through a copper wire, a little under one-tenth of a second.

The Knife in France.

The knife is a historic weapon in France. Henry III. and Henry IV. were killed with one, Louis XV. was wounded by a knife in the hands of Damiens in 1757, and it was with the knife that the Duke of Berri, an heir presumptive to the French throne, was murdered by Louvel in 1820.

FOUND RELIEF BY TAKING PE-RU-NA

MRS. ANNA MUNDEN

There can be no doubt about it that the tendency to resort to surgical operations has been too great in the past and that this harmful tendency is growing less every day.

Experience has demonstrated that many ailments which seemed to require surgical operations in the past are now being cured by the use of harmless remedies. Peruna has done as much as any other remedy to establish this very important fact.

SURGICAL OPERATIONS AVOIDED.

Thousands of people have been condemned to undergo surgical operations. Their physicians have told them that they must either submit to such operations or lose their lives.

After this they have resorted to Peruna and found relief.

Other good remedies have accomplished the same result, but it is safe to assume that no other remedy has equaled Peruna in its beneficent work.

Many of the alleged incurable derangements of the pelvis are dependent upon catarrh.

There is no cure for these except the removal of the catarrh.

Peruna seemingly works miracles in some of these cases. The explanation, however, is very simple. Peruna removes the catarrh and Nature does the rest.

Suffered Thirteen Years With Pelvic Troubles. Unable to Find Relief.

AN OPERATION ADVOCATED.

Pe-ru-na, Taken as a Last Resort, Brings Health and Strength.

ANNA MUNDEN, Brinkley, Ark., writes:

"I suffered with female troubles for thirteen years, and tried the best doctors in Louisville, Ky., without relief.

"I spent thousands of dollars at the Springs.

"The doctors desired that I have an operation performed to remove my ovaries, which I would not consent to.

"I saw an advertisement of your Peruna and bought one bottle and before I had taken it all I could get out of bed and walk about.

"After taking three bottles I was as well and hearty as ever.

"I gained in flesh. From 118 I increased to 186 pounds.

"If it had not been for your great and wonderful medicine, I would now be in my grave.

"I would advise all women sufferers to try it.

"I would not be without it for the world."

A WOMAN'S LETTER TO WOMEN.

Mrs. Caroline Kramer, Fort Collins, Col., writes:

"The majority of women who are suffering from disordered periods and other troubles, have such strong faith in doctors that they allow them to experiment on them for kidney, liver, or stomach troubles, until they become discouraged and their money is gone.

"This was my unfortunate experience for nearly two years, when my attention was called to Peruna.

"I hardly dared believe that at last I had found the right medicine, but as I kept on using it and was finally cured I could only thank God and take courage.

"I have had most satisfying results from the use of your medicine and have advised dozens of women who were suffering with woman's ills to use Peruna and let the doctors alone, and those who have followed my advice are better to-day and many are fully restored to health."

Synopsis Of Canadian North-West HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

Any even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the North-west Provinces, excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry may be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land is situate.

Homestead Duties.—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:—

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased) of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act, as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

Application for patent should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa of his intention to do so.

Bowel Troubles of Childhood

It is impossible to exaggerate the value of FRUIT-A-TIVES as a medicine for children. They contain no alcohol — no morphine or cocaine—no dangerous drugs of any kind.

Fruit-a-tives are fruit juices—concentrated and combined with the most valuable tonics and internal antiseptics known to medicine.

Fruit-a-tives are free of calomel, cascara, senna and the host of violent purgatives that simply act by irritating the bowels. Fruit-a-tives are made from fruit and tonics and are pleasant to take, and so mild in their action that they never gripe or pain.

During the summer, when children are so apt to eat improperly, mothers should have a box of Fruit-a-tives always handy.

At the first sign of Diarrhoea, Indigestion, Headaches, Biliousness, Peevishness, Vomiting — give Fruit-a-tives according to directions. These splendid fruit liver tablets will instantly correct faulty digestion—clean and sweeten the stomach—regulate the bowels, kidneys and skin — and so invigorate and strengthen the whole system, that the little ones can quickly throw off the temporary illness.

Get a box now—to-day. 50c. a box or 6 for $2.50 Sent on receipt of price, if your druggist does not handle them.

KING FOR A DAY

By W. A. FRASER

COPYRIGHT by S. S. McCLURE CO.

SIR LEMUEL JONES, C. I. E., was chief commissioner of Burma. Lawrence Jones, captain of the tramp steamer Newcastle Maid, was his brother. More than that, they were twins, as like as two drops of water. It was kismet that Sir Lemuel should rise to be chief commissioner, while it was Larry's own fault that he was only captain of a freighter, but they both enjoyed themselves, each after his kind.

One morning in November the Newcastle Maid glided up the Irawadi and swung to moorings just off the main wharf at Rangun. Larry had not seen his brother for years, and, for the matter of that, did not care if many more years passed before he saw him. Their paths ran at right angles. He was there for a cargo of rice, not to renew family ties.

It was because the chief engineer of the Newcastle Maid was a man after his own heart that he said before going ashore: "I don't want to get into a gale here, for I've had a letter from the owners over that last break I made in Calcutta. If I come off seas over just lock me in the cabin and don't let me out. No matter what I say, keep me there until I'm braced up."

Then the captain went ashore.

He took a drive out through the cantonments. As he bowled along in the old gharry a new experience came to him. Gentlemen lifted their hats and ladies driving in their carriages smiled and bowed in the most gracious manner.

"I wonder if there's anything sticking to my face," thought Larry, and he passed his hand carefully over its rounded surface. It seemed all right.

But still they kept it up—everybody he met, and one officer, galloping by on his pony, took a pull at the animal's head and shouted, "Are you coming to the club tonight, sir?"

"No!" roared the captain, for he hadn't the faintest idea of going to a club without an invitation.

"They'll be awfully disappointed," came the echo of the officer's voice as the gharry opened up a gap between them.

"Very kind," muttered Larry, "but I fancy they'll get over it. Must have taken me for somebody else."

The next minute Larry was busy staring open mouthed at the image of himself sitting in a carriage just in front. The carriage was turning out of a compound and blocked the road so that his own driver was forced to stop. He recognized the other man. It was Sir Lemuel, his twin brother.

The recognition was mutual. The commissioner bowed quite coldly as the captain called out, "How are you, Lemuel?"

Then the big Waler horses whipped the carriage down the road at a slashing gait, and Larry was left alone.

"So that's why they've been taking off their hats to me," he mused. "They take me for Sir Lemuel. Great time he must have ruling these yellow niggers out here. I'd like to be in his shoes just for a day to see how it feels to be king of Burma."

All the way back to the hotel he was thinking about it. Arrived there, he wrote a note addressed to the chief commissioner and sent it off by a native. "That will bring him," he muttered. "He always was a bit afraid of me."

It was 6 o'clock when Sir Lemuel arrived in his carriage. There was a great scurrying about of servants and no end of salaaming the "Lat Sahib," for it was not often the chief commissioner honored the hotel with his presence. He was shown to Captain Jones' room.

"Take a seat, Lem," said Captain Larry cheerfully. "I wanted to see you and thought you'd rather come here than receive me at Government house."

"Please be brief, then," said Sir Lemuel in his most dignified manner. "I have to attend a dinner at the club tonight in honor of the return of our judicial commissioner."

"Oh, Sir Lemuel will be there in time for that," chuckled the captain. "But first, Lem, for the sake of old times, I want you to drink a glass of wine with me. You know, we took a drink together pretty often the first year of our existence." Then he broke into a loud sailor laugh that irritated the commissioner.

"While I don't approve of drinking to the extent you have carried it," said Sir Lemuel, with judicial severity, "still I can't refuse a glass proffered by my brother."

"Your twin brother," broke in Larry, "of whom you've always been so fond, you know."

"I really must be going, so please tell me why you've sent for me." But when he had drunk the glass of wine he gave up all idea of going anywhere but to sleep, for it was drugged.

Then Captain Larry stripped this brother, peeled the august body of the commissioner as one would strip a willow, and draped him in his own sailor outfit. "You're a groggy looking captain," he said as he tried to brace the figure up in a big chair. "You're a disgrace to the service. You'll have your papers taken away first thing you know."

When he had arrayed himself in the purple and fine linen of the commissioner he emptied the contents of the bottle of wine through the window. Then he went below and spoke to the proprietor. "The captain upstairs, who had an important communication to make to me, has become suddenly most completely intoxicated. Never saw a man get drunk so quickly in my life. Can you have him sent off to his ship so that he won't get in disgrace? It's my express wish that this should be done, as he has been of service to me."

"All right, sir," exclaimed the hotel keeper, touching his forehead with his forefinger in salute, "I will get Captain Davin, who is a great friend of his, to take him off right away."

"Most considerate man, the chief commissioner," remarked the boniface as the carriage rolled away.

The carriage swung in under a shed-like portico at the front of a big straggling bungalow. The driver pulled up his horses. The two yaktail bearing footmen, who had jumped down from their places behind as the carriage turned in off the road, ran hastily up, opening the door and lowering the steps for The Presence, the Lat Sahib, the Father of all Burmans.

"Hello! There's the ship's log!" exclaimed the captain, looking at the big visitors' book in the entrance. "Wonder where I've got to sign that? The ship musters a big crew," as he ran his eye down the long list of names.

"When does The Presence want the carriage?" asked a ponderous, much liveried native servant, making a deep salaam.

The captain pulled out his watch—Sir Lemuel's watch. "It's a beauty," he mused as his eyes fell on its rich yellow sides. "Right away, mate—I mean bas'n—that is, tell him not to go away. Wonder what that fellow's proper title is on the muster?"

"Ah, you're to dine at the club tonight, Sir Lemuel," a cheery English voice said as a young man came out of a room on the right.

"I know that," angrily answered Larry. "I don't have to be told my business."

"Certainly, Sir Lemuel;' but you asked me to jog your memory, as you are so apt to forget these things, you know."

"Quite right, quite right," answered the captain. "If you catch me forgetting anything else just hold out a signal—that is, tip me the wink, will you?"

"We've had a telegram from Lady Jones, Sir Lemuel."

The cold perspiration stood out on the captain's forehead. This was something he had forgotten all about. A bachelor himself, it had never occurred to him that Sir Lemuel was probably married and that he would have to face the wife.

He draped him in his own sailor outfit.

"Where is she? When is she coming back?" he gasped.

"Oh, Sir Lemuel, it was only to say that she had arrived safely in Prome."

"Thank God for that!" exclaimed the captain, with a rare burst of reverence.

The private secretary looked rather astonished. Sir Lemuel had always been a very devoted husband, but not the sort of man to give way to an expression of strong feeling simply because his wife had arrived at the end of her journey.

"Do you happen to remember what she said about coming back?" he asked of the wondering secretary.

"No, Sir Lemuel; but she'll probably remain till her sister is out of danger—a couple of weeks, perhaps."

"Of course, of course," said the captain. "Thank the Lord!—I mean I'm so glad that she's had a safe voyage," he corrected himself, heaving a great sigh of relief. "That's one rock out of the channel," he muttered.

A bearer was waiting patiently for him to go and change his dress. The captain whistled softly to himself when he saw the dress suit all laid out and everything in perfect order for a "quick change," as he called it. As he finished dressing the "bos'n"—he of the gorgeous livery—appeared, announcing, "Johnson Sahib, sir."

"Who?" queried Captain Larry.

"Sec'tary Sahib, sir."

"Oh, that's my private secretary," he thought.

"I've brought the speech, Sir Lemuel," said the young man as he entered. "You'll hardly have time to go through it before we start."

"Look here, Johnson," he said, "I think fever or something's working on me. I can't remember men's faces, and I get their names all mixed up. I wouldn't go to this dinner tonight if I hadn't promised to. I ought to stay aboard the ship—I mean I ought to stay at home. Now I want you to help me through, and if it goes off all right I'll double your salary next month. Safe to promise that," he muttered to himself. "Let Lem attend to it."

At the club as the captain entered the band struck up "God Save the Queen."

"By jingo, we're late!" he said. "The show is over."

"He has got fever or sun, sure," thought his companion. "Oh, no, Sir Lemuel, they're waiting for you to sit down to dinner. There's Mr. Barnes, the judicial commissioner, talking to Colonel Short, sir," added the secretary, pointing to a tall, clerical looking gentleman. "He's looking very much cut up over the loss of his wife."

"Wife dead; must remember that," thought Larry.

Just then the judicial commissioner caught sight of the captain and hastened forward to greet him. "How do you do, dear Sir Lemuel? I called this afternoon. So sorry to find that Lady Jones was away. You must find it very lonely, Sir Lemuel. I understand this is the first time you have been separated during the many years of your married life."

"Yes, I shall miss the little woman. That great barracks is not the same without her sweet little face about."

"That's a pretty tall order," ejaculated a young officer to a friend. And it was, considering that Lady Jones was an Amazonian type of woman, five feet ten, much given to running the whole state and known as the "Ironclad." But Larry didn't know that and had to say something.

"Dear Lady Jones," sighed the judicial commissioner pathetically. "I suppose she returns almost immediately."

"The Lord forbid—at least not for a few days. I want her to enjoy herself while she's away. You will feel the loss of your wife, Mr. Barnes, even more than I, for of course she will never come back to you."

To say that general consternation followed this venture of the captain is drawing it very mild indeed, for the J. C.'s wife was not dead at all, but had wandered far away with a lieutenant in a Madras regiment.

"It's the Ironclad put him up to that. She was always down on the J. C. for marrying a girl half his age," said an assistant deputy commissioner to a man standing beside him.

The secretary was tugging energetically at the captain's coat tails. "What is it, Johnson?" he asked, suddenly realizing the tug.

"Dinner is on, sir."

Owing to the indisposition of the chief commissioner, by special arrangement the secretary sat at his left, which was rather fortunate, for, by the time dinner was over, the captain had looked upon the wine and seen that it was good—had looked several times.

"Shall we have the honor of your presence at the races tomorrow?" pleasantly asked a small, withy man, four seats down the table.

The captain was caught unawares and blurted out, "Where are they?"

"On the race course, sir."

The answer was a simple, straightforward one, but nevertheless it made everybody laugh.

"I thought they were on the moon," said the captain in a nettled tone.

A man doesn't laugh at a chief commissioner's joke, as a rule, because it's funny, but the mirth that followed this was genuine enough.

"Sir Lemuel is coming out," said Captain Lushton. "Pity the Ironclad wouldn't go away every week."

In the natural order of things Sir Lemuel had to respond to the toast of "The Queen." Now the secretary had very carefully and elaborately prepared the chief commissioner's speech for this occasion. Sir Lemuel had conscientiously "mugged" it up, and if he had not at that moment been a prisoner on board the Newcastle Maid would have delivered it with a pompous sincerity which would have added to his laurels as a deep thinker and brilliant speaker. But the captain of a tramp steamer, with a mixed cargo of sherry, hock and dry monopole in his stomach, is not exactly the proper person to deliver a statistical, semiofficial after dinner speech.

When the captain rose to his feet the secretary whispered in his ear: "For heaven's sake, don't say anything about the judicial's wife. Talk about dacoits." But the speech, so beautifully written, so lucid in its meaning and so complicated in its detail, became a waving sea of foam. From out the billowy waste of this indefinite mass there loomed only the tall figure of the cadaverous J. C., and attached to it, as a tangible something, the fact that he had lost his wife and settled the dacoits.

It was glorious, this getting up before two strings of more or less baldheaded officials to tell them how the state ought to be run—the ship steered, as it were. "Gentlemen," he began, starting off bravely enough, "we are pleased to have among us once more our fellow skipper, the judicial commissioner."

"The old buck's got a rare streak of humor on tonight," whispered Lushton.

"His jovial face adds to the harmony of the occasion. I will not allude to his late loss, as we all know how deeply he feels it."

"Gad! But he's rubbing it in," said Lushton.

"I repeat, we are glad to have him among us again. My secretary assures me that there's not a single dacoit left alive in the province. There's nothing like putting these rebellious chaps down. I had a mutiny myself once on board the Kangaroo. I shot the ringleaders and made every mother's son of the rest of them walk the plank. So I'm proud of the good work the judicial has done in this respect."

Now, it had been a source of irritating regret to every deputy commissioner in the service that when he had caught a dacoit red handed, convicted and sentenced him to be hanged and sent the ruling up to the judicial for confirmation he had been promptly sat on officially and the prisoner either pardoned or let off with a light sentence; consequently these little pleasantries of the captain were looked upon as satire.

The secretary sighed as he shoved in his pocket the written speech, which the captain had allowed to slip to the floor. "It'll do for another time, I suppose," he said wearily, "when he gets over this infernal touch of sun or Burma head."

The other speeches did not appeal to Captain Larry much nor, for the matter of that, to the others either. He had certainly made the hit of the evening.

"It's great, this," he said bucolically to the secretary as they drove home.

"What, sir?"

"Why, making speeches and driving home in your own carriage. I hate going aboard ship in a jiggledy sampan at night. I'll have a string of wharfs put all along the front there so that ships won't have to load at their moorings. Just put me in mind of that tomorrow."

Next day there was considerable diversion on the Newcastle Maid. "The old man's got the d. t.'s," the chief engineer told the first officer. "I locked him in his cabin last night when they brought him off, and he's banging things around there in great shape; swears he's the ruler of Burma and Sir Gimmel Somebody. I won't let him out till he gets all right again, for he'd go up to the agents with this cock and bull story. They'd cable home to the owners, and he'd be taken out of the ship sure."

That's why Sir Lemuel tarried for a day on the Newcastle Maid. Nobody would go near him but the chief engineer, who handed him meat and drink through a porthole and laughed soothingly at his fancy tales.

After chota hazri next morning the secretary brought to Captain Larry a large basket of official papers for his perusal and signature. That was Sir

A Grand Medicine for the Kidneys.

Don't suffer—don't experiment—don't waste money on unknown, untried remedies. There is one quick cure—one certain cure—one cure that everybody knows does cure Kidney Trouble. That's Gin Pills.

"I have been a sufferer with Kidney Trouble for years. Have tried medicines and doctors' prescriptions, but could get no permanent relief, my case being pronounced chronic. As it is generally known that the properties of gin without the alcohol is good for the kidneys, I decided to try Gin Pills, but must admit with very little faith. From the very first pill I got relief, and have since taken nearly four boxes and am COMPLETELY CURED, but am going to continue them a while longer. No dull, sickening pains in the back—no low spirits—am increasing in weight—and more vim and vigor than I have had for years—is what Gin Pills have done for me.

"H. P. HERBERT, Ottawa."

Be well and strong. Be free of pain. Be able to enjoy all the good things of life, with all your old-time vigor and enthusiasm. Gin Pills will cure those sick kidneys. Start now—to-day—and see how much better you feel to-morrow. 50c box—6 boxes for $2.50—and your money back if they don't cure.

Special offer: If you send us your name and address and tell us the name of the paper in which you read this we will send you a trial box absolutely free and post prepaid. Write today and get the medicine that cures.

IF EVERYBODY knew how much cheaper good soap really is, there would n't be another pound of poor quality soap sold anywhere.

"SURPRISE" Soap not only does better work and does it easier and quicker than poor quality soap, but it lasts longer and it costs less in the end.

Then "SURPRISE" never hurts the hands nor injures anything you use it on. It is a pure, hard soap, and those who try it never go back to ordinary soaps.

Sometimes people think they ought to use good soap for fine work and cheap soap for common laundry, but after trying "SURPRISE" they realize that it pays to use the best all the time. Same price you pay for other kinds.

Lemuel's time for work. His motto was business first and afterwurd more business. Each paper was carefully contained in a cardboard holder secured by red tape.

"The log, eh, mate?" said Larry when the secretary brought them into his room. "It looks shipshape too."

"This file, sir, is the case of Deputy Commissioner Grant, first grade, of Bungaloo. He has memorialized the government that Coatsworth, second grade, has been appointed over his head to the commissionership of Bhang. He's senior to Coatsworth, you know, sir, in the service."

"Well, why has Coatsworth been made first mate, then?"

"Grant's afraid it's because he offended you, sir, when you went to Bungaloo. He received you in a jahran coat, you remember, and you were awfully angry about it."

"Oh, I was, was I? Just shows what an ass Sir Lemuel can be sometimes. Make Grant a commissioner at once and I'll sign the papers."

"But there's no commissionership open, sir, unless you set back Coatsworth."

"Well, I'll set him back. I'll discharge him from the service. What else have you got there? What's that bundle on the deck?"

"They're native petitions, sir."

Larry took up one. It began with an oriental profusion of gracious titles bestowed upon the commissioner and went into business by stating that the writer, Baboo Sen's wife, had got two children by "the grace of God and the kind favor of Sir Lemuel, the Father of all Burmans," and the long petition was all to the end that Baboo Sen might have a month's leave of absence.

Larry chuckled, for he did not understand the complex nature of a Baboo's English. The next petition gave him much food for thought. It made his head ache. The English was like logarithms. "Here," he said to the secretary, "you fix these petitions up later. I'm not used to them."

He straightened out the rest of the official business in short order. Judgments that would have taken the wind out of Solomon's sails he delivered with a rapidity that made the secretary's head swim. They were not all according to the code and would probably not stand if sent up to the privy council. At any rate, they would give Sir Lemuel much patient undoing when he came into his own again. The secretary unlocked the official seal and worked it, while the captain limited his signature to "L. Jones."

"That's not forgery," he mused; "it means 'Larry Jones.'"

"The chief's hand is pretty shaky this morning," thought the secretary, for the signature was not much like the careful, clerkly hand that he was accustomed to see.

Sir Lemuel's wine had been a standing reproach to Government House. A dinner there either turned a man into a teetotaler or a dyspeptic, and at tiffin when the captain broached a bottle of it he set his glass down with a roar. "He's brought me the vinegar," he exclaimed, "or the cod oil. Is there no better wine in the house than this?" he asked the butler, and when told there wasn't he insisted upon the secretary writing out an order at once for fifty dozen Pommery. "Have it back in time for dinner, sure! I'll leave some for Lem too. This stuff isn't good for his blood," he said to himself grimly.

"I'm glad this race meet is on while I'm king," he thought as he drove down after tiffin, taking his secretary with him. "They say the Prince of Wales always gets the straight tip, and I'll be sure to be put on to something good."

And he was. Captain Lushton told him that his mare Nettie was sure to win the Rangun Plate, forgetting to mention that he himself had backed Tomboy for the same race.

"Must have wrenched a leg," Lushton assured Larry when Nettie came in absolutely last, but as the secretary wrote "I O U's" for all the bets he made and as Sir Lemuel would be into his own again before settling day and would have to pay up it did not really matter to the captain.

The regiment was so pleased with Sir Lemuel's contributions that the best they had in their marquee was none too good for him. The ladies found him an equally ready mark. Mrs. Leyburn was pretty and had fish to fry. "I must do a little missionary work while the Ironclad's away," she thought. Her mission was to install her husband in the position of port officer. That came out later—came out at the ball that night. The captain assured her that he would attend.

There is always a sort of Donny brook Derby at the end of a race day in Rangun. Ponies are gently sequestered from their more or less willing owners and handed over, minus their saddles, to sailors, who pilot them erratically around the course for a contributed prize. When the captain saw the hat going around for the prize money he ordered the secretary to write out a "chit" for 200 rupees. "Give them something worth while, poor chaps!" he said.

"And to think that the Ironclad has kept this bottled up so long!" muttered Lushton.

"I always said you had a good heart," Mrs. Leyburn whispered to the captain. "If people would only let you show it," she added maliciously, meaning, of course, Lady Jones.

The chief commissioner was easily the most popular man in Burma that night. It was with difficulty the bluejackets could be kept from carrying him home on their shoulders. "I hope Lem is looking after the cargo all right," murmured the captain as he drove home to dinner. "I seem to be getting along nicely. Lucky the old cat's away."

The captain danced the opening quadrille at the ball with the wife of the financial commissioner, and, bar a little enthusiastic rolling, engendered of his sea life, and a couple of torn trains as they swept a little too close, he managed it pretty well. The secretary had piloted him that far. Then Mrs. Leyburn swooped down upon him.

There is an adornment indigenous to every ballroom in the east, known as the kala jagah. It may be a conservatory or a bay window. A quiet seat among the crotons, with the drowsy drone of the waltz jitting in and out among the leaves, is just the place to work a man.

I'm telling you this now, but Mrs. Leyburn knew it long ago, moons before Captain Larry opened the ball with the financial commissioner's wife. Not that Mrs. Leyburn was the only woman with a mission—official life in India is full of them—only she had the start; that was all.

"It's scandalous," another missionary said to Captain Lushton. "They've been in there an hour; they've sat out three dances. I'm sorry for poor dear Lady Jones."

Among the crotons the missionary in the field was saying: "I'm sure Jack ordered the launch to meet you at the steamer that time, Sir Lemuel. He knows you were frightfully angry about it and has felt it terribly. He's simply afraid to ask you for the billet of port officer, and that horrible man who is acting officer now will get it, and poor Jack won't be able to send me up to Darjeeling next hot weather. And you'll be going for a month again next season, Sir Lemuel, won't you?"

Now, as it happened, the captain had had a row with the acting port officer coming up the river, so it was just in his mitt, as he expressed it. "I'll arrange it for Jack tomorrow," he said. "Never fear, little woman." ("He spoke of you as Jack," she told Leyburn later on, "and it's all right, love. Lucky the Ironclad was away.")

A lady approaching from the ballroom heard a little rustle among the plants, pushed eagerly forward and stood before them. Another missionary had entered the field. "I beg pardon, Sir Lemuel," and she disappeared.

"Perfectly scandalous!" she said as she met Lushton. "Some one ought to advise dear Lady Jones of that designing creature's behavior."

"For Cupid's sake, don't," ejaculated Lushton fervently. "Let the old boy have his fling. He doesn't get out often."

"I've no intention of doing so myself," said his companion with asperity.

But all the same a telegram went that night to Lady Jones at Prome, which bore good fruit next day and much of it.

When they emerged from the crotons Mrs. Leyburn was triumphant. The captain was also more or less pleased with things as they were. "Jack will probably crack Lem's head when he doesn't get his appointment," he thought.

The captain slipped away early from the ball. It seemed somehow as though the fun had gone out of the thing. He began to have misgivings as to the likelihood of the chief engineer keeping his brother shut up much longer. "I'll get out of this in the morning," he said as he turned into bed. "I've had enough of it. I'll scuttle the ship and clear out."

"Stop!" she cried excitedly. "Where are you going, Sir Lemuel?"

This virtuous intention would have been easy of accomplishment, comparatively, if he had not slept until 10 o'clock. When he arose the secretary came to him with a troubled face. "There's a telegram from Lady Jones, Sir Lemuel, asking for the carriage to meet her at the station, and I've sent it. She's chartered a special train, and we expect her any moment."

"Great Scott, I'm lost!" moaned the captain. "I must get out of this. Help me dress quickly, that's a good fellow."

An official accosted him as he came out of his room. "I want to see you, Sir Lemuel."

"Is that your tomtom at the door?" answered the captain quite irrelevantly.

"Yes, Sir Lemuel."

"Well, just wait here for a few minutes. I've got to meet Lady Jones, and I'm late."

Jumping into the cart he drove off at a furious clip. Fate, in the shape of the Ironclad, swooped down upon him at the very gate. He met Lady Jones face to face.

"Stop!" she cried excitedly. "Where are you going, Sir Lemuel?"

"I'm not Sir Lemuel!" roared back the disappointed captain.

"Nice exhibition you're making of yourself—chief commissoner of Burma!"

"I'm not the commissioner of Burma. I'm not your Sir Lemuel," he answered, anxious to get away at any cost.

"The man is mad. The next thing you'll deny that I'm your wife."

"Neither are you!" roared the enraged captain, and away he sped.

Lady Jones followed. It was a procession, the red spokes of the tomtom twinkling in and out the bright patches of sunlight as it whirled along between the big banyan trees, and behind the carriage Lady Jones sitting bolt upright with set lips. The captain reached the wharf first. He was down the steps and into a sampan like a shot.

It was the only sampan there. The carriage dashed up at that instant. There was no other boat. There was nothing for it but to wait.

"Come, Lem; get into these duds and clear out!" cried the captain as he burst into his cabin.

"You villain, I'll have you sent to the Andamans for this!" exclaimed the prisoner.

"Quick! Your wife's waiting on the dock," said Larry.

That had the desired effect. Sir Lemuel became as a child that had played truant.

"What have you done, Larry?" he cried pathetically. "You've ruined me!"

"No; I've done you good. And I've left you some decent wine at the house. Get ashore before she comes off."

"There's no help for it," said Sir Lemuel. "There are your orders to proceed to Calcutta to load. Your beastly chief engineer insisted on shoving them in to me."

ALL RUN DOWN

Weak---Nervous---Unstrung.

Thousands get run down and become invalids before they realize anything is wrong. By permitting low vitality to develop, the way is paved for fevers, pneumonia and diphtheria. To put off makes it all the harder to get well. The time to repair the system is right now, before the damage gets any worse. The remedy is Ferrozone; it revitalizes, renews, builds up vitality that outlasts old age.

FERROZONE is a genuine invigorator that banishes weakness, and instils surplus force and vigor into every organ of the body. Ferrozone sharpens the appetite, produces rich nutritious blood, and thereby contributes that sense of buoyancy that adds so enormously to one's pleasure and usefulness in life.

For all forms of debility, weakness, lack of blood or nerve tone, sleeplessness, tiredness and exhaustion, there is no medicine so vitalizing and potent as Ferrozone. Even one trial demonstrates its rapidly and certainty of action.

To restore the energy of youth, to get back your vital stamina and reserve force, there is positively no treatment so certain as Ferrozone. You have only to try Ferrozone to know the enormous benefit it invariably brings to all in poor health.

FERROZONE

Miss Dorothy E. Leduc of Chester gives the following convincing evidence of Ferrozone's power:—"My work compels me to rise early in the morning and work ten hours daily as a saleslady. Last Spring I was run down, lost my color, and fell off in weight. I seemed to lack ambition and the life was out of me. A friend recommended Ferrozone, and I took one tablet after meals with wonderful results. Ferrozone brought back my complexion, and has given me new strength and abundance of energy and spirits. I would advise all young ladies to use Ferrozone."

Mrs. H. G. Wilder of Dexter says:—"My daughter was not very well last Winter, and lost her strength completely when the Spring came. I gave her Ferrozone, and am glad to say it did wonders. After six boxes were used my daughter was strong, and looked the picture of health."

Gave New Strength

FERROZONE

It makes the weak strong, the sick well, and assures lasting good health.

WARNING—Beware of any substitute for Ferrozone; it alone can cure you. Sold by all druggists and dealers in medicine, only in 50c boxes containing 50 chocolate-coated tablets. By mail to any address if price is forwarded to N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont., or Hartford, Conn., U.S.A.

The Spencer Seedless Apple

Means a Revolution in the Orchards of America.

There is now much said about the seedless apples, which, if they prove in every way successful, will work so great a revolution in the apple business. The fruit is a good deal like the Baldwin; it has a good, red colour, covered with yellow dots. The great merit of it is that it has no seeds and no core. The advantage of having an apple that is all meat, and which, for cooking purposes, will only have to be pealed, will be apparent to all. If it can be grown as successfully as the old apple, the seedless variety owns the future.

Of course, the new apple has yet to prove itself. Hon. John Dryden was engaged by the Canadians who have secured this apple for Canada, to go over to Grand Junction, Colorado and examine Mr. Spencer's orchard there, where he found twenty-seven trees in full bearing. He learned that the oldest trees were twelve years of age, and the youngest six years. Judging the orchard as he found it, and taking the evidence of other disinterested authorities as to points that he could not judge of so early in the season, Mr. Dryden concludes that the seedless apple will be a success.

Ontario must have a deep interest in this question. We grow about 17,000,000 barrels of apples a year, and if the seedless variety is going to become the favourite on the export market, this Province must early get into line for this trade. A Toronto company has been formed to import and sell young trees, and the Department of Agriculture should look into the whole subject and post our fruit-growers early in the possibilities of the new fruit. The new apple seems to be all right, and if so, it means a revolution in the orchards of America.

Former Property Man Exposes "Fay" Methods

In an Affidavit He Exposes the Means by Which She Answered Questions Written by Members of the Audience.

Leslie's Weekly, in a recent issue, has the following, which will be read with interest by many who saw Mrs. Fay's performance in the Opera House here:

In the course of an action brought by Mrs. Eva Fay, a professional mind-reader, who attracted much attention last season by her performance in a New York variety theatre, to restrain two playwrights from using the name, "The Fays," in a theatrical production, affidavits were made by one of the defendants that Mrs. Fay accomplished her seemingly wonderful feats by ingenious mechanical means. When the "act" is performed persons in the audience are asked to write questions on paper pads, from which the questioner tears off the sheet on which he has written and puts it in his pocket. Mrs. Fay, from her place on the stage, repeats the question and gives an answer. The affidavits change that the pads are so treated that an impression of the writing remains on the sheet next to the one torn off, so that the question may be read by a confederate and telephoned by a concealed wire running under the stage to Mrs. Fay, whose heavy veil, the affidavit says, conceals her end of the telephone. As the deponent was at one time property man for Mr. and Mrs. Fay, special interest attches to his changes.

New Normal School A Fine Structure

Department Of Education Sends Out Brief Description Of The New Building Which Will Be Erected In This City For Higher Education—Will Be Modern In Its Approvements.

The Department of Education of Ontario, has issued the following description of the Normal School buildings to be erected at Peterborough, Stratford and North Bay, by the Ontario Government.

The building will be four stories in height, including the basement. The design is in the style of the Italian Renaissance, with a central tower in the front facade, surmounted by a cupola, being 108 feet in height from the ground to the top of the cupola; the main entrance being at the side of the tower, with an imposing portico of stone.

The basement to the top of the plinth will be faced with stone. From this line to the main cornice will be of brickwork, with stone string courses, capitals, etc., with sufficient enrichments to give relief to the architectural ideas, and when completed the composition will give an ornate and substantial appearance.

The plans have been prepared by the Public Works Department, from the designs of Mr. F. R. Heakes, the Provincial Government architect.

The outside dimensions on the ground line are 78 feet frontage by 108 feet in depth. In the basement are located the heating and ventilating apparatus; three rooms for manual training; a gymnasium; a janitor's room; and men's toilet room.

The ground floor is approached by the main entrance in front for the public and teachers, and an entrance at each side for the students, leading to a wide hall extending through the middle of the building, with two spacious stair-cases leading to the upper floors. There will be upon this floor three class rooms, a library and a reading room; a room for the principal, an office for the secretary and two cloak rooms.

On the first floor are located two class rooms, a lecture room, chemical laboratory, apparatus room, teachers' rooms, ladies' toilet rooms, and two cloak rooms.

The third floor consists of an assembly hall, with a seating capacity for five hundred persons, with ample exits at each end; an art room, and two rooms for the instruction of domestic science.

The building will be equipped with the most approved heating and ventilating appuratus and sanitary appliances, and will be modern in all its appointments.

"1000" Type Engines Taken Off The Run

And Smaller Locomotives Substituted for the Big Engines Used Recently by C. P. R.

The C. P. R. which for some months has been running the big "1100" class locomotives on the Havelock-Toronto run on the passenger service, has taken them off, and the smaller type of engines have been used for the last few days again. These, too, are new engines, but are considerably smaller than those used for some months, and which are understood to have given good satisfaction on this run, which is one of the hardest to make on time of any on the whole C. P. R. system.

The trains are invariably heavily loaded, and the question of getting an engine which would make scheduled time on the grades, was a difficult problem. It was thought that with the introduction of the big "1100" type the trouble was at at end, and as a matter of fact, the trains have been able to run well on schedule time. During the last few days the morning and afternoon trains have been late.

Rural Deanery Will Meet Here

The Next Meeting to be Held in January.

The Rural Deanery of Northumberland held its meeting in Havelock on Monday and Tuesday, and was attended by a large number of clergy. Rev. Canon Davidson, as rural dean, presided. A telegram expressive of sympathy and warm affection was sent to Rev. W. R. Landy in Kingston, who is in a very critical condition. Besides attending to the business of the deanery a very profitable time was spent with the people of Havelock, who most hospitably entertained the clergy. The next meeting will be held in January in Peterborough, at the invitation of Rev. W. Major.

Regular Meeting Young Men's Guild

Enjoyable Evening Spent at St. Paul's Last Night.

A delightful evening was spent in the Sunday school room of St. Paul's church last night, it being the occasion of the regular monthly meeting of St. Paul's Young Men's Guild. The chair was occupied by the efficient president, Mr. E. S. Clarry. The proceedings opened with prayer by Rev. Dr. Torrance, after which the members present discussed business of importance in connection with the work of the Guild.

Mr. G. B. VanBlaricom next gave an address on "The Newspaper's Influence in the Community." In the course of his remarks he referred to the many difficulties experienced in gathering news, the adverse criticisms newspapers are too often subject to and the tact which newspaper men must use in the discrimination of news which will satisfy the many readers. At the conclusion of his address Rev. Dr. Torrance added a few words of congratulations for Mr. VanBlaricom's address. Rev. A. Bright and Mr. R. F. McWilliams also made a few remarks along the same line.

A vocal solo by Mr. Coleman was the next number and was a very much appreciated one.

At the conclusion of the programme refreshments were served, which brought to a close a most enjoyable evening.

A Reception To Rev. Dr. Symonds

Will be Tendered by St. Luke's Church on Oct. 29th.

At a congregational meeting held last night at St. Luke's, it was decided to hold an entertainment and harvest supper on Monday, evening, Oct. 29. Rev. Dr. Symonds will be here on Sunday, Oct. 28, and preach at St. Luke's, and remain over for Monday. Preparations are being made for making this event very successful. Many of the innumerable friends of Dr. Symonds will be glad to welcome him. A committee, consisting of the rector, Mrs. D. J. Scott, Mrs. F. J. Jamesom and Mrs. Browning, with power to add to their number, has been appointed to make arrangements.

PETERBOROUGH WEDNESDAY OCTOBER 17 1906

HALF A THOUSAND BAPTISTS HERE

Expected That Delegates to Convention Which Opens To-night Will Reach That Number.

At Opening Session To-night Civic Address of Welcome and Retiring President's Address to be Given.

Interesting Feature Will be McMaster Alumni Association Banquet on Friday Night in Basement.

Last night saw the arrival of the first contingent of the delegates to the Baptist convention, which opens officially to-night, and during today each in-coming train brought its quota of visitors. From present indications the number of delegates will exceed considerably that estimated. Of those who came last night very few had sent in their names previously, and if this condition is continued there will be a much larger attendance than was anticipated.

The reception committee was on hand bright and early this morning to welcome the delegates, and to conduct them to their temporary homes while in the city, and to give them any desired information.

At the church all the necessary arrangements are in progress, and so far as possible, the convention will open with no detail unattended to. A telephone has been installed in the basement, and members of the committee are in constant attendance to answer any questions of the delegates. The general committee met last night and completed, so far as possible, all the details.

To-night the official opening of the convention will be held, when the visitors will be welcomed to the city by the civic officials. The address of the retiring president will be presented at the session to-night and the other preliminary details to the real work of the convention, will be disposed of.

The programme for the meeting for to-night has been arranged as follows:

8.00 p.m.—Devotional, Rev. A. N. Frith.
Appointment of Nominating Committee, scrutineers, etc.
Address of retiring President, Rev. D. Laing.
Report of Nominating Committee.
Report of Committee on Obituaries, Rev. G. R. Welch, B.A.
Offering.

One of the interesting features of the gathering will be the McMaster College Alumni banquet, which will be held on Friday night in the basement of the church. For this banquet the price of the tickets has been set at fifty cents each, and a general invitation is extended to the public to attend. Some addresses of more than ordinary interest will be given at this banquet by graduates of McMaster University, who will be here in large numbers.

No little difficulty is being experienced in providing accommodation for the very large number of delegates who are in attendance at the convention. It is recognized that at this particular time it is specially difficult to arrange for accommodation, one of the reasons being that the majority of the householders in the city either have visitors for the holiday, or had arranged to go out of the city themselves. This has made it extremely difficult to secure accommodation, though it should be explained that on Friday a number of additional homes will be open for delegates, which, by reason of domestic conditions, will not be available until that day.

On Sunday the pulpits of a majority of the churches in the city will be occupied by visiting clergymen of the Baptist denomination, the arrangements for which will be announced later.

Some very important questions will be up for consideration at this convention, among them being that of the proposal to hold a Dominion convention, at which representatives from Baptist churches from all parts of the Dominion will be present, and deal with matters which affect the welfare of the church as a whole.

For the next six days the city will be in the hands of the visiting Baptists, and judging by the record of the citizens in the past, the visitors will carry away with them a good impression of the hospitality as well as the progressiveness and enterprise of the citizens of Peterborough.

Local Option Case At Osgoode Hall To-day

W. J. Leahy, of Lakefield, Brings Action to Quash the Local Option By-law.

Examiner Special.

Lakefield, October 17. — In Toronto to-day at Osgoode Hall, a case of much interest to Lakefield citizens will be heard. It is the suit brought by Mr. Wm. J Leahy, proprietor of the Tremont House, to quash the local option bylaw, passed by the village council after the ratepayers had voted in its favour.

In this action Mr. Leahy is being represented by Mr. D. O. Cameron, of Toronto, who has won considerable distinction as an opponent of local options in other municipalities.

The outcome of the action will be watched with considerable interest in the village.

Thanksgiving Night Supper

And Entertainment in the George Street Church.

All will be heartily welcomed to this supper, which will be served from 5 to 7 o'clock, with a good programme after tea. Admission 25 cents.

Another Trip Over Lift Lock

Visiting Baptists Will See the Great Lock on Saturday.

The local Baptists are arranging for a trip over the Lift Lock on Saturday afternoon so that the visitors in the city who wish to see the mechanism of the big lock, will have an opportunity. Final details have not yet been completed but it is expected the boat will leave the Wolfe street wharf at 1 o'clock, will go as far as Nassau and return about four o'clock. The steamer Water Lily will carry the excursionists.

NO PAPER TO-MORROW
THANKSGIVING DAY

Thanksgiving Day is one of the seven week days in the year that the Examiner does not issue a paper. To-morrow is Thanksgiving Day, and as a consequence there will be no issue of this paper.

Committee Is Making Progress

For Institution of Rebekah Lodge Next Friday.

Good progress was made last night at the joint committee meeting to further arrangements for the institution of the Rebekah Lodge here on Friday evening, October 26th. A large number of applications for membership have already been received, and the new lodge will, no doubt, start under most favourable auspices.

Application for a charter has been made to Grand Lodge, and subcommittees were appointed to deal with some of the details.

The lady degree team from Kawartha Lodge, Lindsay, will arrive in Peterborough on the noon train on Friday, October 26, and will be met at the station by some of the Peterborough Oddfellows. The afternoon will be spent in getting every detail in readiness for the formal institution in the evening.

Any others who wish to join may hand their name to any member of the committee, all of whom are supplied with blank forms for applications. From present appearances every Oddfellow in Peterborough seems determined to do his share to make the new lodge a success. Refreshments will be served after the institution of the new lodge. The committee will meet again Tuesday evening, October 23.

It's an old saying that contentment is better than wealth. Very limited amount of wealth is necessary to purchase a packet of tea contentment, as "SALADA" Ceylon Tea is put up in quarter, half and one pound lead packages and sold at popular prices so as to be within the reach of everybody.

Were Cigarettes The Cause Of This Fire?

Barn of W. H. Cuthberton, Destroyed by Fire Last Evening — Children Believed to Have Caused It.

Examiner Special.

Norwood, Oct., 17.—Cigarettes are reported to have been the cause of the distruction by fire of the barns of W. H. Cuthbertson, a farmer who lives on the outskirts of this village yesterday afternoon about 5 o'clock. Some children were playing around the buildings about this hour, and it is reported that some of them had lighted cigarettes. Whether this was the actual cause of the dire, or not, cannot be stated positively, but there is a suspicion that this was the case,

The building, which contained the season's crop, threshed, and a quantity of implements, was destroyed. The stock was saved, but a number of hens were burned. The loss is estimated at about $1,500, with insurance of $550 in the London Mutual Fire Insurance Company.

Mr. Cuthbertson will rebuild.

Stone Thrown Through Window

Lech's Show Window Damaged By Someone Unknown.

A small white fox terrier was responsible for the breaking of one of the large plate glass show windows in Lech's, the George street fur store, this morning. Some one, whose identity cannot be learned, but whose careless disregard for the property of others, should be severely punished, threw a stone from the corner of Hunter and George streets at the dog as he was passing the store. The animal escaped, but the stone smashed a hole in the northern plate glass window.

Won Harrison Piano Scholarship

Miss Katie Graham's Success at Toronto Conservatory Test Examination.

The many friends of Miss Katie Graham will be happy to congratulate her upon having won the J. W. Harrison scholarship, entitling her to a year's free tuition in the Toronto Conservatory of Music. The examination test took place on Monday and Miss Graham was successful in scoring the highest marks in a keen competition. She profited by the instruction of the best local teaching, concluding with that of Mr. H. M. Field, and her success is a credit and subject of congratulation to both Miss Graham's natural musical talent and intelligent industry, and to her successive instructors. Miss Graham goes to the city on Monday to enter upon at least one year's study of the piano at the Toronto Conservatory of Music, followed by the best wishes of a wide circle of friends and fellow musicians.

Young Lady Assaulted Near Boundary Road

Correspondent Scores Council For Neglecting to Place Lights on Charlotte and Gilmour Streets.

A correspondent writes to the Examiner to complain of the scarcity of electric lights at the west ends of Charlotte and Gilmour streets.

He recalls the fact that some time ago a petition was presented to the council asking for additional lights in this vicinity, which the correspondent characterizes as "a rendezvous of iniquity and a source of annoyance to the residents of that locality."

"Having no police protection here, we petitioned for an electric light to reflect on the dismal spot, thereby frustrating the design of the frequenters of that dangerous corner, and be a protection for respectable ladies who travel that street. If any member of the council having a mother or sister or daughter, witnessed a scene, as I did last night, at that corner — a ruffian tried to assault an innocent girl; when she objected he threw her down; after a struggle she got away. That is only one of similar cases that occur at that dark corner, they would stop and reconsider their apathy and their responsibility to the ratepayers."

MEN'S INTEREST IN CHURCH WORK GROWS

An Evidence is Found in Four Well Attended Men's Meetings Held Last Night.

A result of the recent movement in connection with the revival of interest on the part of the laymen of the various churches in the work of the church is found in the fact that last night no less than four meetings of men and young men were held in the city, and the majority of them were well attended, the men evidencing a deep interest in the objects for which the meetings were called. One interesting and gratifying feature is that the churches are all working in harmony in this movement, and that there is no rivalry.

FINE WEATHER PROMISED

The weather forecast for to-day and to-morrow is:—Fresh easterly winds fine to-day and on Thursday, not much change in temperature.

No sporting event in recent years in Peterborough has created the interest that has been aroused by the Examiner Road Race which will be run to-morrow, and which, in future, will be an annual feature of Thanksgiving Day. From all parts of the county come reports of the interest awakened, while it is gratifying to learn that this interest is not confined to the county, even, inquiries having been received from a number of persons from a distance in reference to the event, indicating the widespread publicity which has been given to it.

The fact that for the first year no less than 21 entries were received and approved is an indication that the race will be popular. The Hamilton Herald Race, which has been run for years, and which has been the means of developing the great majority of runners in Canada—men who have won not only national distinction, but have defeated the best runners of the world—this year has but 22 entries, one more than have entered the Examiner race. The condition is emphasized when it is known that the Hamilton Herald road race is open to the world for entries, while that of the Examiner permits entries for city and county only.

The 21 men who have entered for this event have been allotted numbers on their backs as indicated below, in order that the spectators, who do not know the contestants personally may, with the help of the score card, copies of which will be circulated to-morrow, be in a position to keep track of the progress of the race. The entries, with their numbers are as follows:—

1. A. Williams, Peterborough.
2. W. J. McBurney, Havelock.
3. A. Latimer, Peterborough.
4. Ernest Jarman, Peterborough.
5. A. W. Spenceley, Peterborough.
6. William J. Todd, Peterborough.
7. William Payne, Peterborough.
8. E. V. Morphett, Peterborough.
9. Wm. Stuart, Peterborough.
10. Gordon Fitzgerald, Peterborough.
11. E. A. Wilson, Peterborough.
12. Ray P. Best, Peterborough.
13. H. M. Yelland, Peterborough.
14. H. J. Staunton, Peterborough.
15. J. Ranger, Peterborough.
16. D. W. Elliott, Peterborough.
17. Stephen Rose, Otonabee.
18. Herbert Peters, Otonabee.
19. Samuel Cain, Peterborough.
20. Charles Benson, Lakefield.
21. Fred Simpson, Hiawatha.

Reports come from Havelock to the effect that a large contingent from that village will be in the city to-morrow, prepared to back the runner entered from there, W. J. McBurney. The Havelock people cannot see anything but the cup for him, and there seems good reason to believe that he will not be far behind the winner. There are others, however, who figure that the Y.M.C.A. here will produce the winner. A number of members of the Harriers Club, from the Association have entered and it would not occasion much surprise if one of them should be the winner. Ray Best is, in many quarters, a favourite. In any event it promises to be an event of much more than usual interest, and the one who carries off the honours will have to do the 10 miles in less than 60 minutes—how much less, remains to be seen.

A meeting of the officials of the race will be held in the Examiner office to-night at 7.30, to make final arrangements, and to decide on some matters as to running off the event.

For the benefit of the runners it may be stated again that they are supposed to leave the city on the G.T.R. 8.30 train, for Lakefield, unless they have arranged to drive to that village. The race will start at 10.30 from the Tremont House, and, crossing the Canal and Otonabee River the runners will turn Phelan's corner and take the Smith road to the city, passing Nassau, and coming down Water street to Smith, west on Smith to George and down George to the Examiner office, where the finishing tape will be. The starter will be Mr. J. D. Craig, the timekeeper Mr. W. E. Watson, and the judge at the finish Mr. R. M. Roy. Mr. R. P. Davidson, of Lakefield, will assist Mr. Craig at Lakefield in starting the runners and an official will follow them to the city to watch for fouls, etc.

The finish will probably be between 11.30 and 11.45, and a cordial invitation is extended to all who are interested to be on hand to witness it. The order in which the runners pass Nassau will be bulletined at this office, and a photograph of the finish will be made by the Roy Studio, Mr. Roy having recently procured an equipment especially for this class of work.

If the weather is fine to-morrow the greatest event of its kind in years will be witnessed here. Do not fail to be one of the spectators.

Warrant Issued For Late Manager's Arrest

Chas. McGill Must Answer Charge of Falsifying Returns --- President Cockburn Also Summoned---New Developments in Ontario Bank Affairs

Examiner Special.

TORONTO, Oct. 17—As the result of a conference held this morning between Attorney General Foy, Crown Attorney Drayton and James Bicknell, K.C., representing the Bankers Association, a warrant has been issued for the arrest of Charles McGill, former manager of the wrecked Ontario Bank, on the charge of falsifying the Government returns regarding current loans in 1905 and 1906. A summons has also been issued for Mr. G. R. R. Cockburn, president of the Bank, on the charge of having as president of the Bank wilfully signed false returns to the Minister of Finance and the Receiver General. It is now stated that the notes under discount at the Bank are really over $200,000 less than stated in the returns, while the assets of the Bank were padded. The total shortage is believed to be $1,000,000.

Frazer Mission Band's Officers

Elected Last Night For the Coming Season—Will Have a Sale in December.

Last evening a meeting of the Fraser Mission Band of the Presbyterian Church was held, when the annual election of officers took place. There was a fairly large attendance showing the interest the young ladies have in this society. The following officers were elected:

President—Mrs. Dr. Torrance.
1st Vice-President — Miss Kate Drummond.
2nd Vice-President—Mrs. R. F. McWilliams.
Secretary—Miss M. Cook.
Treasurer—Miss Florence Cameron.

Matters of general interest were discussed and it was also decided to conduct a sale in the early part of December.

Reeve Of Halton At Convention

Mr. R. D. Warren is Also Business Manager Canadian Baptist.

Mr. R. D. Warren, business manager of the Standard Publishing Company, Toronto, publishers of the Canadian Baptist, arrived in the city to-day to attend the Baptist Convention. Mr. Warren is reeve of Halton County, and one of the solid men in the Baptist convention.

Eczema for 20 Years

"I was troubled with eczema for twenty years, and was treated by three doctors to no avail. Dr. Chase's Ointment has cured me completely and I have not had the slightest return of this disease." — John. Pratt, Blyth, Huron Co., Ont.

Baptist Delegate An Old Peterborough Boy

Rev. E. J. Stobo, of Mount Forest, Was a Former Resident of this City—His Impressions.

Among the delegates to the Baptist Convention, which opens tonight, there is one gentleman to whom this gathering has a special interest. This gentleman is Rev. E. J. Stobo, B.A., B.D., of Mount Forest. Mr. Stobo is a native of Peterborough, and a son of Mr. E. J. Stobo, who lived here for a number of years. His son was educated at the public schools and Collegiate Institute here, and, for a number of years was employed with Mr. Johnston Carey. Afterwards Mr. Stobo went into the newspaper business and later felt a call to the ministry, which he obeyed, and has been labouring with much success at that calling ever since.

He is the dean of the reporters at the annual convention, and helps the local news-gatherers in their work, which, by reason of his assistance is made much lighter.

Peterborough, in Mr. Stobo's estimation, has made great progress and is one of the most promising of all the Ontario cities.

DECLARED AGAINST THE BONUS PRINCIPLE

St. Andrew's Young Men's Guild Discussed the Question at Last Night's Meeting

At the meeting of St. Andrew's Young Men's Guild last night the question of the advisability or otherwise, of bonusing manufacturing concerns was discussed, the majority of those present taking part in the consideration of the subject, which proved to be an interesting one. A resolution was passed, declaring that it was not in the best interests of the community to give bonuses, the principle being considered a wrong one.

The installation of officers took place and a decidedly interesting and profitable evening was held.

THANKSGIVING

To-morrow is Canada's national day of Thanksgiving, so fixed by royal proclamation, to which all loyal citizens are supposed to give diligent heed. Whether thanksgiving, by order, will be an acceptable form of gratitude, or whether it will be generally practically recognized, may be doubted. The chief merit in thus setting apart a day of thanksgiving may be held to consist in the recognition of the duty of gratitude, and though perfunctory attention may be accorded it by the people at large, yet by almost universal abstention from the ordinary occupations of life, the day of thanksgiving is recognized. A man may say his prayers in a perfunctory manner, and his life may be in accord with his way of performing his devotions, but it cannot be said that such a man is not better than one who does not pray at all. The former, at least, recognizes his religious obligations, and there is hope that his life may, in time, conform to his implied profession.

There are many things for which Canada, as a country, can be, and is, grateful. We have peace, and the blessings that wait on peace; we have abounding prosperity, and bounding progress; we have been blessed with a bountiful harvest — the hand of Heaven has been opened upon our land from sea to sea, over a thousand leagues of fruitful country. Our commercial and industrial interests have had a year of unprecedented prosperity, and in every avenue of national activity, there have been prosperity and thrift. Then we have negative blessings. No great calamities have fallen upon us; war, nor pestilence, nor famine, have struck our borders, and nothing that could not be regarded only as misfortune of a comparatively trifling and local nature, has come to us.

The city of Peterborough has also had its causes for gratitude. We have greatly thriven in material things. Our population has increased; our commercial and industrial interests have advanced in an important and gratifying degree, and we can look back with pride and gratitude upon the year that closes on Thanksgiving Day, in the year of grace, 1906, as one of the most satisfactory and progressive in our history. Individually, too, though the year may not have been smooth sailing for all of us, yet we all have some cause for gratitude, apart entirely from the matters of meat and drink, raiment and shelter. Thousands have not been assailed with the temptations which have beset others, and under which they may have fallen. We have had honest desires and impulses implanted in our hearts, and have not fallen into crooked ways and acts. Without being pharisaical, we can "thank God that we are not as other men are," especially if we recognize that that condition is not due to our inherent righteousness, but to divine impulses that have come to us, and the strength that has been given us to resist the warring influences of the evil impulses which have gencircled on every side, and assume protean forms and legionary numbers. If we are good, in a human way — honest and virtuous, above our fellows — we have reason to thank God, not because we are intrinsically better than others — we have merely not been beset by the especial temptations that could find the false joint in our armour.

PROMISES AND PERFORMANCES

Hamilton Times.

Down with rottenness, Conservative or Liberal! Mr. Whitney presents that as one plank in his programme. His record shows that he means what he says.—Ottawa Journal.

Does it? Mr. Whitney was pledged to resist the spoilsman. He has made almost a clean sweep of Liberal officials, and he has created numerous offices to satisfy the spoils hungry. He pledged efficient enforcement of the liquor laws. He has made the department a partisan stamping ground, and even "Tory" papers complain of the laxity of enforcement. He denounced the railway construction policy of the Ross Government. He continues that policy, and even boasts of its success. He declaimed against the succession tax. He increases the imposts under it, and excuses what he denounced as the "robbery." He ranted against competition of prison labour with free labour, and he contracts to sell prison labour at three cents an hour.

And so on along the line. If there is anything Mr. Whitney has done that would warrant confidence in his declarations of policy it would be news to the honest electors. And it will take some evidence to make them believe Mr. Whitney would be severe on a "Tory" corruptionist—that is, if he was not a bungler and a failure.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Speaking of the greater relative increase of Canadian imports of British goods over United States goods, the Oswego Times says: "The fact that the Canadian preference to British products is at last bearing fruit appears in the classes of the respective imports. Those from Britain are almost wholly manufactures, those from the United States are mostly raw materials of manufacture." The preference is working out as it was intended to do.

Peterborough is paying $47.50 per year each for street lights, may be considered fortunate, especially in comparison with other large cities. Mayor Weaver, of Philadelphia, has a plan for the construction of a city electric lighting plant that will furnish lamps at $85 a year. A private company proposes that the city advance the funds to build a plant and it agrees that cost of supervision, salaries of officers, etc., will not exceed $50,000 a year, and that the cost to the city shall not exceed $80 per lamp. The cost of materials, labour, etc., must be greatly in excess of what they are in Peterborough where our street light costs nearly half less than is proposed, and doubtless as a special figure, to be paid in Philadelphia. One would think that in a city like Pennsylvania, so close to mines that the coal can almost be shovelled into a furnace from the pit mouth, would be able to generate electricity at a very low figure.

Peterborough Team Play In Hamilton To-morrow

Line-up Has Been Selected—Players Must Be Out for Signal Practice at Rink To-night.

The Peterborough seniors will leave on the 5.10 a.m. C.P.R. train for Hamilton to-morrow to meet the Tigers. A special car will be attached for the benefit of the players and will be brought here on the 7.33 train to-night and left on the siding so that uniforms etc., may be left in the car to-night. All players are requested to have their baggage at the rink no latter than 8.30, this evening and they will be taken down to the station. Every player is requested to be out to-night for final signal practice.

Following is the team for Hamilton:—
MULHERN,
GILLESPIE,
McWILLIAMS,
QUINLAN,
EASTON, HURTUBISE,
DILLON,
CRAIG,
MEAGHER,
LECLAIRE,
GILBERT,
McDONALD,
CROUGH,
CARMICHAEL.

Tigers Minus Some Of Best Men To-morrow

Murray, DuMoulin and Craig Will Not be on the Line-up—This Fact Will Help the Petes Some,

Examiner Special.

Hamilton, Oct. 17.—The Tigers will likely have to present a very much changed team for the game on the holiday with Peterborough owing to the effects on some of the players of the Argonaut game. Hugh Murray has a very sore face, and it is feared a bone is broken. He had a tooth knocked out and both eyes discoloured. He played the game under difficulties, for he was little more than able to stand on Saturday, but he was plucky enough to go through it. DuMoulin also has a bad leg and will not likely be in the game, although it is more in the way of a rest so as to be ready for future struggles. Husky Craig has a very bad knee, and the doctor is afraid of water on the knee. He will not be able to take his place either, and his absence, like that of the other two, will be much missed. However, an effort is being made to get some of the old standbys out, and it is possible a couple of welcome faces will be in Thursday's line up.

The Peterboroughs will have a very much improved team over what they played at Peterborough a week ago Saturday, and with the disorganized condition of the locals should give the Tigers a hard game. Isbister will likely be moved back to half, and some of his long punts will materially help to tire the Peterborough wings in following up.

Quaker-C. G. E. Game Saturday

First Game of City League Will be an Exciting One.

A meeting of representatives of the City League was held last night at the Examiner office to arrange for the game on Saturday. On account of the Banker-Quaker game being called off last week it was thought that this match might be played next Saturday, but owing to the former not being able to get off the games will go on according to schedule. That means that the Quakers and C. G. E. will play the first City League game and as these teams are very evenly matched, an exciting contest is in store. Mr. Chris. Graham will referee the game and Mr. Watson of the Bankers will act as umpire.

Groupings For Curling Games

Ontario Association Met in Toronto on Tuesday.

A meeting of the Ontario Curling Association was held yesterday in Toronto, when the final grouping for the Tankard and District Cup series were arranged. The two districts in which the local club was placed are as follows:—

Oshawa	Brampton
Colborne	Peterborough
Bobcaygeon	East Toronto Aber
Toronto Caledonians	deans
Toronto Parkdales	Toronto Queen City

Play at Toronto, Umpire, Mr. David Carlyle.

District Cup, district No. 2:—

Oshawa	Peterborough
Keene	Colborne
Lindsay	Fenelon Falls
Bobcaygeon	Port Hope
Lakefield

Play at Peterborough, Umpire, Dr. Boucher.

RUGBY.

The Quaker rugby team leave for Whitby to-morrow morning for their game with the Junior O.R.F.U. team of that town. They will go by G.T.R. via Lindsay to Whitby from where they drive over to Oshawa and will return the same way.

• • • •

The Quakers will have a work out at the Brock street rink to-night at 8.15, sharp. All members of the team are requested to turn out for practice.

• • • •

The members of the Crescent rugby club are requested to be at the Oval to-morrow afternoon at 2.30. A full turnout is expected. After the practice a team will be chosen for any future games.

Fishermen Left For Eagle Lake

Forerunners of the Eagle Lake Hunt Club Go A-Fishing.

Mr. W. G. Fisher, of Toronto, with Mr. Chas. Butcher, went up to Eagle Lake this morning for a week's fishing. They will make their headquarters at the Eagle Lake Hunting Club's cottage, and if there are any fist up there they are determined to have their share of them. It is reported that salmon trout are found in the upper lakes this year and that is the objective game. After their fishing exploits they will return to join the Eagle Lake Hunt Club that will then be departing for the annual hunt.

Men's Club Will Be Organized

Men of George Srteet Congregation Will Form Association.

A well attended and representative meeting of the men of the George Street Methodist Church congregation was held last night to discuss the advisability of organizing a men's club or association in connection with the church. Rev. Dr. Crothers occupied the chair and the matter was talked over thoroughly. Steps will be taken in the near future to go ahead with the organization of the club, which will, in a measure, take the place of the Young Men's Guild, which has been disbanded.

The New York Stock Market

(Furnished by J. R. Heintz & Co.)

New York, Oct. 17.—The stock market was subjected to considerable realizing for speculative account this morning on the bulge on the good election news. The professional element promptly offered prices down freely all around the room, selecting several leaders. On the decline but little stock appeared to come out and it is the opinion of high grade institutions that the floating supply of good stocks has been heavily reduced. Dullness set in and when the short interest tried to cover later it found practically no offerings and no bidding.

Stagnation prevailed until after 2.15 when a fierce bear drive carried prices off sharply to the low. Shorts tried to cover right at the close, and gave the closing figures.

WEDDING BELLS

ALLEN—WOOD

Examiner Special.

Millbrook, Oct. 17. — A quiet, but pretty church wedding was solemnized this morning at 11.15 in St. Thomas' church, here, when Miss Annie Wood, B.A., daughter of the late Archibald Wood, and graduate of Trinity University and St. Hilda's College, was united in marriage to Rev. Alexander Allen, M.A., son of the late Ven Archdeacon Allen, and rector of St. Paul's church, Oaklands, California. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Wm. Allen, brother of the groom, in the presence of a large number of the friends of the bride and groom. The church was beautifully decorated for the occasion with flowers and autumn leaves. The bride, who is a popular young lady of Millbrook, was given away by her brother Mr. W. T. Wood, but was unattended. The gift of the groom to the bride was a pearl brooch, of crown design. Many gifts to the bride and groom testified to the high esteem with which they are held by their numerous friends. They left on the 12.25 train for Toronto and will return to Millbrook on Saturday where they will remain for a few days previous to their departure for California.

Peterborough Cheese Board Turns Down Turnips

Practice of Feeding Them to Cows Condemned—Dairy Commissioner Ruddick Will Give An Address Upon Cool Curing Rooms.

At this morning's meeting of the Peterborough Cheese Board, the secretary, Mr. Riddell, referred to the feeding of turnips, a practice which he strongly condemned and which was injurious in its effect upon the sale of cheese. He urged the salesmen to see that turnips were not fed to cows whose milk was sent to the cheese factories.

President Young also requested the salesmen to do all in their power to prevent turnips being fed.

Many of the factories in Peterborough district do not allow turnips to be fed, but it is said that this is not the case with all, although it should be if the interests of the factories are considered.

Mr. Riddell also referred to cool-curing rooms, which he is desirous of seeing established in the factories of this district for use next season. He spoke of the desirability of keeping up the standard of the Peterborough cheese as high as possible.

Mr. Riddell moved, seconded by Mr. A. Fairbairn, that Mr. Ruddick, dairy commissioner, be invited to address the Board at the next meeting, on the subject of cool-curing rooms. This motion was unanimously carried.

LOOSE PLANK RESULTED IN SERIOUS ACCIDENT

Mr. Condon Injured on Dickson Street—Sidewalk There is in a Terrible Condition—Council Was Notified But Nothing Aas Been Done to Repair the Walk.

Mrs. Condon, an aged lady, living on Union street, met with a very painful accident on Dickson street this morning by which she sustained a fracture of her right arm and was badly shaken up. Mrs. Condon was walking north on Dickson street. Near Mr. Robt. Fair's residence there is a flight of three steps, the planks leading up to which are insecure. Mrs. Condon stepped on the loose end of one of these and was thrown forward down the steps, breaking her arm and striking her head heavily against a tree. She was carried into Mr. Fair's residence and cared for until the arrival of Dr. McNulty, who attended to her injuries.

An Examiner reporter visited the scene this afternoon and it was not hard to see how an accident occurred. In fact the scribe came nearly falling down the steps himself, when he stepped upon a loose plank. It is doubtful if there is a section of sidewalk in Peterborough in more dilapidated or dangerous condition, than the west side of Dickson street. The stringers are rotten, and the planks are in some places broken, leaving gaping holes in the walk and in others they are loose making it extremely dangerous for passers-by.

Mr. Robt. Fair has repeatedly complained of the condition of the sidewalk to the council but no attention has apparently been paid; at least there has been nothing done to the walk, which will if a short time cease to exist if the ravages of time are allowed to go on unchecked. Following is a part copy of a letter sent by Mr. Fair to the Board of Works on July 27th, of this year:—

Mr. Robt. Hicks, Esq.,
Chairman Board of Works,
Dear Sir,—May I draw your attention and that of the members of your Board to the known dangerous condition of the sidewalk, on the west side of Dickson street, between Murray and McDonel streets.

The stringers of this sidewalk are rotten, the planks are rotten, broken and defective, loose and insecure. The steps owing to the absence of light at night, are a menace to those using the walk.

As the question of the lowering of the grade and replacing the walk with concrete has been before your Board for some time it is not asking too much that something be done at once. Those with property on the street, not unreasonably, look for some positive result. The municipality is certainly liable and responsible should accident occur and I propose to use this communication as evidence of a warning having been given should the occasion unfortunately arise."

Wholesale Grocer Has Retired From Business

Mr. M. Carton Has Disposed of His Business to Mr. Chas. Rishor—Has Been Connected With Wholesale Establishment For Twelve Years—A Long and Successful Career.

Another important business change has taken place in the city which will probably come as a surprise to many. On Monday last the business and good will of Mr. Matthew Carton, wholesale grocer, passed into the hands of Mr. Chas. Rishor, who will in the future be the new proprietor of the well known wholesale house on Simcoe street.

Mr. Carton has carried on a successful business in Peterborough for 26 years, but it was only during the past 12 years that he has conducted the wholesale grocery establishment on Simcoe street, the management of which he has just relinquished. His career as a business man has been one continued success and although he began with small means, as he himself states, yet he has carried on his work to a most satisfactory climax.

Mr. Carton first began business in 1880 in a small store next to where Mr. W. H. Wrighton's store is at present. After staying there a short time he moved down George street to a store near the City Hotel. He also began a confectionary store about the same time where the Coleman Bros. are now located. He disposed of both these to his brother, Mr. Geo. Carton intending then to leave the city for a time, but soon after bought the stock of the late Isaac Robinson.

After a period of five weeks Mr. Carton purchased the general stock of the "Bon Marche," which store was situated where the clothiers, Merrell & Meredith are now located. He then bought out the bankrupt stock in a store below the market arcade to which he moved the balance on hand of the other stocks. His business was then purchased by the late John Giles, who located where Mr. Hill, the grocer now is.

Mr. Carton's next move was to the store now occupied by Drummond & Duffus, on Simcoe street, in which he retailed groceries and tin ware. He remained there until 1894 when he undertook the wholesale grocery business which through his diligence has been so successful.

Although Mr. Carton has given up the grocery business he will not be idle. He has many private interests to look after both in the city and in New Ontario. He will leave shortly for New Liskeard and Cobalt where he is carrying considerable stock in merchandise which has not yet been disposed of. Mr. Carton has also some property to look after in the city which will necessitate a good deal of his attention.

Mr. Charles Rishor who will henceforth conduct the business is a man well and favourably known in the city. For the past 17 years he has been connected with Mr. Carton's and the T. Kinnear & Co's establishments, so that his capability to conduct a good business is unquestionable. He has a thorough knowledge of the city, county and the people also, and no doubt will prove a capable successor to Mr. Carton. He will retain as chief clerk, Mr. Oscar Matchett, who has been with his predecessor a number of years, and who is well acquainted with the wholesale business and the groceryman of the city.

Mr. Rishor intends making a few changes and improvements in the wholesale house which Mr. Carton had contemplated had he remained in business any longer and in future the house will be known as Chas. Rishor's wholesale establishment.

Many Farmers Are Retiring This Fall

Never So Many Farm Sales as There Are This Season Says Veteran Auctioneer

Mr. John Haggart, the well known local auctioneer stated to the Examiner to-day that he had more farm sales booked for this fall than in any previos fall since he has been in the business. Asked as to the future plans of those who were leaving their farms, he said that while some particularly in Cavan township, were going to the west the majority of those living in this county were retiring from farming and were coming to the city to live, while some, of course, were simply moving from one farm to another.

It is a gratifying fact to learn that the farmers are so prosperous, and that they are in a position to retire and live on the money made as a result of their years of work on the farm.

12 13/16 Was Highest Price Paid For Cheese To-day

3,385 Boxes Were Boarded at This Morning's Meeting—Three Buyers Divided the Sales Between Them—Last Meeting Will be Held in Three Weeks.

Twelve and thirteen-sixteenths cents per pound was the highest price paid for cheese at this morning's meeting of the Peterborough Board, when 3385 boxes were boarded. Three buyers cleared the Board, Messrs. Gillespie, Brenton and Kerr dividing the sales between them, the first named securing his cheese at 12 3-4c, while the others had to pay the higher price.

The buyers present were Messrs. Cook, Kerr, Gillespie, Wrighton, Brenton, Warrington and Rollins.

The factories boarded as follows:

Cavanville	165
Crown	80
Mount Pleasant	86
Fleetwood	160
Buckhorn	110
Hope	30
Brickley	80
Shamrock	70
South Burleigh	24

Mr. Brenton opened the bidding at 12 1-2c.; Mr. Cook raised to 12 19-16c.; Mr. Gillespie to 12 5-8c; Mr. Cook to 12 11-16c., and Mr. Gillespie to 12 3-4c., getting the call.

At that price Mr. Gillespie took Buckhorn, East Emily, Benfort, Cavanville, Fleetwood, Keene, Central Smith, Villiers, Westwood, Warminster, Shearer, Selwyn, Warsaw, Lakefield.

At 11 13-16 Brenton took Oakdale, Peterborough, Young's Point, Myrtle, North Dummer, Trewern, Cedardale, South Burleigh.

Mr. Kerr at 12 13-16 secured Indian River, Mount Pleasant, Brickley, Shamrock, Ormonde, clearing the Board.

The Board then adjourned to meet again for the last time this season, three weeks from to-day.

Amputation Is Avoided

Zam-Buk Cures Extraordinary Case of Chronic Ulcer.

Kingston Lady Cured After Having Bad Leg for Five Years.

A powerful example of the healing virtue of Zam-buk is provided by the case of Miss Lizzie Gilmour, who resides with Mrs. Wathen, in Princess street, Kingston, Ont. "Five years ago," she says, "I bruised my left leg just above the ankle, causing an ulcer which developed into a very serious wound. There was soon an ulcerated sore around my limb like a bracelet. The foot and ankle were swollen to nearly three times the normal size and I had to give up wearing a shoe. The pain was terrible. I had medical attendance and was also treated by a New York doctor, but I got no ease." Then I went into an hospital and was there for nine long months. While there it was at one time thought advisable to amputate the limb, but this was not done and at the end of 9 months I left the hospital. Soon afterwards the ulcer was as bad as ever, and as I thought of the pain and suffering I had gone through I felt absolutely discouraged.

At this stage I read in the newspaper about Zam-Buk. I determined to make one more attempt to get a cure. The first few applications brought me the only relief from agony I had had for a long time. The swelling went down as I persevered with the Zam-Buk treatment, and the ulcer took on a cleaner and more healthy appearance. All the poisonous matter was cleaned out by the balm and the ulcer then began to heal. New pink flesh has now grown where before was a raw and inflamed sore. Eight boxes of Zam-Buk have done the work! I can now walk about and go up and downstairs, and I cannot feel too grateful for what Zam-Buk has done for me. I deem it my duty to let others who suffer as I have suffered, know of this excellent preparation."

Zam-Buk cures eczema, abscesses, ring-worm, scalp sores, and all skin diseases by a process of cleaning out the poisonous secretions and building up a new healthy tissue. It is also a cure for cuts, burns, bruises, sore feet, chafing sores, chapped hands, etc. It stops bleeding, eases the itching and smarting of piles, and in a hundred ways is the handiest and best household balm. All druggists sell at 50 cents a box, or direct from the Zam-Buk Company, Toronto, on receipt of price—six boxes for $2.50. Send one-cent stamp and full name and address and a free sample box will be mailed to you.

The "At Home" Much Enjoyed

Pleasant Function at First Church of Christ Scientist.

The First Church of Christ on Aylmer street was the scene of a delightful "At Home" last night when the members and friends of the church were pleasantly entertained. A splendid programme had been arranged and was greatly enjoyed by the large audience present as was evidenced by the hearty applause with which each number was greeted. Those who contributed to the programme rendered their diffeent numbers in splendid fashion.

Mr. Robt. Todd made a very efficient chairman. Following was the programme:—

Duet "Keepsake" Miss G. Todd and Miss M. Young
Solo. ... Three for Jack, Mr. W. Todd
Reading ..... Miss McClennan
Solo ..... Miss M. Young
Instrumental ..... Miss G. Todd

Intermission.
Instrumental ..... Miss G. Seward
Solo ..... Miss G. Todd
Reading ..... Miss T. McClennan
Solo ..... Mr. W. Todd
Piano duet ... Miss G. and Mr. R. Todd

At the conclusion of the programme refreshments were served and a pleasant social hour spent before the gathering dispersed.

Chancel Guild Of All Saints'

Elected Officers Last Evening For the Coming Year's Work.

The Chancel Guild of All Saint's Church met last evening to elect officers for the coming year. The members are very enthusiastic about their work and have everything in good condition. The officers of last year were re-elected by acclamation, the members of the Guild being more than satisfied with the manner in which they discharged their duties. The officers are:

President—Mrs. J. H. McClellan.
Secretary—Mrs. Gilbert.

The prospects for the coming year are very bright, in fact they have never been as promising as at present. The finances are in a flourishing condition, and the chancel equipment is most complete. Two new members were enrolled last evening and the season's work auspiciously begun.

25c will admit you to-morrow to one of the finest programmes and swellest hot suppers of the season.

Add borax to the water in which the dish towels are washed, and it will aid in making them white and soft.

WEDDING BELLS

FAUX—WILLS

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at St. Luke's church at 4.15 this afternoon when Miss Ethel Maud Wills, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wills, formerly of Peterborough, but now of Alberta, was united in marriage to Mr. William John Faux, of Cleveland, Ohio, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Faux, city. Rev. E. A. Langfeldt performed the ceremony in the presence of a number of friends. The church was artistically decorated with palms and flowers. The bride was given away by her father, while Mendelssohn's wedding march was played by Mr. J. L. Armstrong.

The bride was prettily gowned in a travelling suit of blue Venetian broadcloth with smart Eton jacket trimmed with Perdsian braid and buttons, and bodice of white lace over silk. She wore a blue hat to match and carried a bouquet of white roses. The bridesmaid, Miss Beatrice Faux, wore a pretty gown of green eolienne trimmed with ribbons and silk, with hat to match. She carried a bouquet of pink roses.

Mr. Samuel Caldwell, of Hamilton, was best man, and little Lawrence Madill, nephew of the groom, in a white sailor suit, acted as page and preceeded the bride as she entered the church.

The groom's gift to the bride was a diamond ring; to the bridesmaid, a gold bracelet; to the groomsman, a gold pin with ruby and sapphire stones, and to the page, a gold opal ring. The bride received from her father a handsome cheque and from the Peterborough Fuel and Cartage Company, in whose employ she was, a magnificent clock. Mr. Faux, Sr., made the present of a cheque to his son and many other beautiful presents were received.

The guests included Mr. and Mrs. H. Wills, Alberta, Messrs. George and John Wills, Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. Sam. Fee, Omemee; Mr. T. Caldwell, Hamilton; Mr. and Mrs. R. Pratley, Miss Mary Pratley, Mr. H. Pitter, Mr. Fred Mills, Miss Bella McConkey, Mr. and Mrs. F. Forsyth, Mr. and Mrs. W. Madill, Mr. G. G. Pratley, and many others.

Mr. and Mrs. Faux left on the 5.10 train for Niagara Falls and Buffalo, for their honeymoon trip. They will reside in Cleveland.

At St. Andrew's high tea tomorrow the ladies have arranged to seat 250 at a time so that no delay will occur 25c.

From Bethlehem To Calvary

Entertaining and Instructive Views That Would be Appreciated in Peterboro'.

Regarding the moving pictures presented in Massey Hall at the Salvation Army Congress, Staff-Captain McAmmond mentioned that "From Calvary to Bethlehem" should prove to be popular in this city. The pictures are larger than life size, are natural and realistic; they do not fail to impress everyone with an indelible idea of Christ's life. They are entertaining and above all instructive. There seems to be no reason why the people of this city should not appreciate them. The effect of these views is greater than that of many sermons and those who like to witness sacred scenes would be given a treat such as has never been before attempted.

Mrs. Morrow Won Unique Honours

Is Made Professor Of National College Of Music.

The Toronto Globe, in the issue of yesterday, in its column "A Woman of To-day," says: Mrs. W. J. Morrow, of Peterborough, Ontario, Canada, who has been in London for the last three months attending the National College of Music, has been successful in passing the fellowship examination with distinction, says M. A. P. In addition, she is a professor of the National College—a position her great abilities will enable her to well fulfill. It is rarely that a lady succeeds in passing the Fellowship examination, for the tests are very severe, but Mrs. Morrow displayed knowledge and ability seldom met with. Her many friends and admirers in Peterborough and elsewhere in Canada and the States have received the news of her success with much pleasure, and a hearty reception awaits this lady on her return. She has long held a high position in the musical world both in Canada and in the United States, and is a Gold Medalist.

Arrange to hear the Alys Bateman-Parlovitz Concert. Grand Opera House, Monday, Night Oct 22nd. Batemen, the great English Soprano, one of the greatert living; Parlovitz the phenomenal pianist.

Music and Drama

MUSICAL TREAT OF THE SEASON

Miss Alys Bateman, the great English soprano, the new star in the firmament of music, the successor of Patti, Albani and Melba, with Mr. Edward Parlovitz, whom Parkhurst of the Globe describes as "one of the strongest piano virtuosos who has ever visited the city, and Miss Grace Merry, a Canadian reader of premier rank, will be heard in concert in the Grand Opera House on Monday evening, October 22. No doubt Miss Bateman is one of the greatest sopranos that ever visited Peterborough. She is a tremendous favourite in England, as the press speak of her work in the highest terms of praise. For instance the Kent Examiner says, Jan. 27th, 1905:" • • • whose voice is of wonderful compass and of equal quality throughout, sang" • • • and responded to the encore which burst from her delighted hearers at its close. • • • Miss Bateman was down for two apances, and the audience did their best to make at four. • • • The audience showed their appreciation of a splendid piece of work in the only way open to them."

Crewe Guardian, January 28th, 1905 —" • • • Sang like a true artist. Nothing was wanting in pathos or delicacy of expression. • • • Her rich voice is beautifully pure and instinct with gentleness and tenderness: her's is a compass is as remarkable as its purity."

Miss Bateman made an introductory tour in Canada last spring and made a brilliant success wherever she appeared and a musical treat of the highest order awaits the public at the Grand Opera House, Oct. 22.

AN ATTRACTIVE RECITAL

The recital to be given in Association Hall, on Monday evening, Oct. 22nd, for the benefit of the funds of the Y.M.C.A. Ladies' Auxiliary, by three members of the staff of the Conservatory of Music, has a double significance. It will be a decided musical treat and a help to a very worthy object. Miss Laura A. Brodigan, the pianist, who will contribute two numbers, is a finished pianiste, and was a pupil of Field and the great Krauser. Mr. George Collen, baritone, who has won great success as a concert vocalist, will sing two groups of songs, and a solo by Moir. Miss Lena Adamson, the violinist, is an exceedingly capable artist of excellent musical temperament, and surprising technical equipment. She spent five years in Germany studying with the celebrated Hans Sitt, and is recognized not only as a successful teacher, but as one of the foremost of Canada's violin virtuosi. She will contribute a double number and a Sitt Tarantelle. With such a trio of artists the musical results should be most satisfying.

Arrange to hear the Alys Bateman-Parlovitz Concert, Grand Opera House, Monday Night, Oct. 22nd. Bateman, the great English Soprano one of the greatest living; Parlovitz the phenomenal pianist.

Plenty Of Fowl For Thanksgiving

The Chief Feature at the Market This Morning.

The market this morning was the largest for many a day in the middle of the week. To-morrow being Thanksgiving foul, of course, was the important feature. Chickens took the lead in number, selling rapidly from 70c to 90c per pair. Ducks were offered for $1.25 per pair and geese at from $1.20 to $1.25 each. Eggs were scarce and quickly changed hands at 21c per dozen. Butter is dropping in price, selling to-day at 26 and 27c per lb.

On the market square garden products formed the chif articles for sale. Hay sold at $12.50 to $13 per ton and it appears that the demand is still greater than the supply.

Illegal Deer Shooting Reported From North

Game Warden Fitzgerald Secures Information Which Will Mean Trouble for the Guilty Persons—No General Law-breaking However.

The desires of the nimrods of the north for hunting deer before the open season begins cannot, according to the reports of Deputy Game Warder Percy Fitzgerald, be gratified. A number of complaints from the northern part of Hastings County in the vicinity of Bancroft, reached the game warden a short time ago, and on Monday morning he left Peterborough for that region.

Going by way of Kinmount, Mr. Fitzgerald reached Bancroft on Monday night. He found that the gun had been used rather freely there and as a result of his visit five informations were laid. The alleged breakers of the game laws will come up before the magistrate at Bancroft on Saturday next and will be treated according to their deserts.

All reported infractions of the laws will be thoroughly investigated by the Warden and more arrests will probably be made before November 1st. is here.

Mr. Fitzgerald on his return trip came south through Hastings County and by way of the C.P.R. arrived home last evening on the five o'clock train from the east, thus making a complete circle in his investigation trip.

In no other place but Bancroft along his itinerary did he find any trouble over infractions of the laws. Generally speaking, he says, there have been comparatively few reports of law breaking by hunters, but nevertheless he intends prosecuting all offenders brought under his notice.

The Sisterhood Of St. Joseph To Hold "Kirmess"

An Interesting Event Arranged From Dec. 17th to 21st in Market Hall—To Charitable Purposes the Funds Will be Devoted.

A "Yuletide Kermiss," under the auspices of the Sisters of St. Joseph, will be held in the Market Hall, which has been engaged for this purpose, on December 17th, 18th, 19th, 20th and 21st of this year.

The proceeds of this bazaar will be devoted to the charitable objects of the Sisterhood of St. Joseph, of the practical charity of which the people of Peterborough have had many evidences.

The ladies of St. Peter's Parish are assisting the Sisters in their preparations for this event, and it is hoped, and confidently expected, that it will be a gratifying success. A list of eighteen valuable articles which will be drawn for, has been prepared, and includes, a bicycle, coal stove, ton of coal, Ireland in Picture, lady's silver watch, china tea set, art embroidered sofa pillow, handsome rug, five o'clock tea tray, upholstered rocking chair, oil painting, inlaid with pearls, silver water pitcher, parlour screen, silver sugar bowl, portieres, curtains, landscape painting in oil, white iron bed, eiderdown quilt, etc.

There is little doubt that this event, under these auspices, will be successful. Everything undertaken by the Sisters of St. Joseph is always carried to a successful issue, and with the worthiness of the object, the citizens will, no doubt, make a liberal response.

SOME DONATIONS MADE TO CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY

Four Children Are Now at the Shelter—Eagerly Await the Thanksgiving Dinner—Institution Doing a Good Work.

Thanksgiving will be spent happily by at least four children in the city, who are looking forward with delight to to-morrow's mid-day meal. These are the four little children at the Children's Shelter, who to-day were happy as larks in the anticipation of their Thanksgiving dinner.

An Examiner reporter called at the Shelter this afternoon and from the custodian, Mr. Wm. Henry, learned that a few donations have been made during the past couple of weeks from friends of the Society, which are most acceptable in view of the approach of winter. Donations were received from the following:—

Ladies of Mark street church, East City—A quilt.

Mrs. J. T. Hazlitt—40 yards flannelette and 20 yards print.

M. J. Hutchinson—20 yards flannelette.

Mrs. G. R. Browning, (St. Luke's, East City)—Children's clothing.

Of the four children in the institution three of them are boys and two of them attend school regularly. Mr. Henry states they are all getting along nicely. He told the reporter of the successes of many of the former inmates of the Shelter, during the six years he and Mrs. Henry have had charge of the Shelter.

One boy who was there just a few years ago is now making his $2.50 per day at the C.G.E. This gentleman attributes his success to the training he received while there. A young lady, an inmate some four or five years ago has married well in Toronto and numerous other references were made of the advancement of children who, if it had not been for the Shelter, would undoubtedly to-day have been living reckless and wayward lives. This was a circumstance which, Mr. Henry considered, the Society should be thankful for.

The Children's Aid Society, as everybody knows, is one of the most worthy in existence and the local branch has not been given the support by the public, which it unquestionably deserves.

The officers of the Society, too, have reason to be grateful for the services of Mr. and Mrs. Henry, the custodians of the Shelter. They have done everything possible to make the building bright and attractive and to make the children, who come under their guardianship, feel as much at home as possible. This year Mr. Henry has whitened the outside walls of the Shelter, painted the verandah and other wood work, and cleaned up the superfluous trees and brush surrounding the building.

The Children's Shelter is now quite an attractive building and with its present means of support is doing remarkably well.

OBITUARY

JOHN HALDEN SANDERSON

The death occurred early this morning at 218 London street, of John Halden Sanderson, formerly of Smith Township, but who had been a resident of Peterborough for the past three weeks. The deceased, who was forty-one years of age, was born in Smith Township and lived there all his life until his removal to Peterborough three weeks ago. Eyes Worth Having

Did you ever stop to think that with the exception of the heart, the eye is the hardest worked part of the body.

As long as you are awake and your eyes are open they are working in your service.

Three pairs of muscles control the movement of each eyeball.

The two eyeballs move exactly together. Would you know the effect of their not working together—press your finger against one, so that it's position does not exactly correspond with the other.

How important it is that if these muscles tire and you have headaches and require Glasses, that your Glasses suit your eyes—our long experience makes us experts and able to fit you correctly.

Assets of Sun Life Company Were Discussed

Value of Securities Is Written Up and Down.

LARGE CONTINGENT FUND

Is Its Rapid Increase Fair to Policyholders?—Mr. Robertson Macaulay, President, and Mr. T. B. Macaulay, Actuary and Secretary, Give Evidence—Warm Discussion on Undeclared Assets—No Votes.

Montreal, Oct. 17.—When the investigation was resumed in the morning, President Robertson Macaulay told the Commissioners that prior to 1901 the company was in the habit of charging in a lump 50 per-cent. for expenses, but it was found that the expenses did not amount to so much and this was rectified.

Commissioner Kent severely criticised the bookkeeping methods of the Sun Life. The company keeps no cash-book, but a sort of journal in which items of accounts are entered.

Writing Up Profits.

Mr. Shepley continued with the profit and loss on investment account. T. B. Macaulay was on the stand. In 1903 a sum of $10.000 had been taken from profits on securities to lessen the apparent cost of some real estate investments, and large sums had also in that year been written off Detroit Telephone and Michigan Telephone when their properties were taken over by the Michigan State Telephone Co.

In 1904 a similar state of affairs existed. There was another $10,000 on real estate profit and loss. Another item of debit was $20,000 on interest on Ohio Street Railway bonds. The bonds had become worthless and the interest on them, which was never paid, was taken off profit on securities.

Agents' Advances Figures.

An item of $17,000 for agents' advances, which were non-collectable, also figured, and witness defended entering this because American companies did, and Commissioner Kent insisted that if agents were solvent advances should be repaid. Witness said that $30,000 profit on Illinois traction bonds had been supplied to wiping out these advances to agents.

In 1904 a share of the profits on investments was paid to shareholders, although arrangement had been altered previously. They were paid 5 per cent. of profits for the last four years. The company thought that 6 per cent. on their investments was not enough for the shareholders.

Writing Down Bonds.

In the year 1905 the writing down of bonds had been largely practiced. and there were items of $3,500 for special expenses re securities, and $1,000 traveling expenses for selling them.

About $558,000 had been wiped off for losses in securities. Mr. Shepley remarked this, but witness said these were not necessarily losses. The company was doubtful about them and had money enough to put these securities out of assets in the meantime. He gave as an instance the case of Ohio bonds, which are now worth $675,000, although wiped off in 1904.

Undeclared Assets.

There was a warm discussion between witness and Mr. Shepley as to the advisability of the company keeping such large amounts of their assets undeclared and without profit to policyholders. Witness said that the Sun Life had now $3,000,000 of contingent account, and it was each year accumulating.

Mr. Shepley noted that the growth of the contingent account was outstripping that of divisable profits, but Mr. Macaulay contended that there had never been complain. on this score from policyholders.

No Votes For Policyholders.

Commissioner Kent sprung a surprise on the witness by asking one of his usual question: "Would you be in favor of giving policyholders votes in the company?"

Mr. Macaulay: "No, the shareholder is liable for more money, and it would not be fair to put policyholders on equal terms."

When policyholders vote by proxy their votes are controlled by agents, and in that case the management cannot be ousted. If they vote by franchise all but those who live in the vicinity are deprived of the right by their distance from the place of meeting.

Ideal Management.

The ideal management is when those in charge of the affairs of a company control enough of the stock that they cannot be easily ousted and yet not enough to make them infallible.

Mr. Shepley asked whether it was the intention of the Sun Life to have the growth of contingent account outstrip that of divisible assets.

Mr. Macaulay said that the company wanted the contingent fund to be as large as possible, as it was the strength to the company, but they wanted the increase of divisible assets to go hand in hand with it.

An Heroic Encounter.

London, Oct. 17.—News has just reached England from Lake Chad of a case of almost unparalleled bravery on the part of British native troops, who, under the leadership of a black corporal, held at bay for over two hours, and subsequently drove off with considerable loss, a force of Tuareg outlaws, who outnumbered the defenders by nearly 80 to 1.

Law Kind to Lehmann.

Halifax, N. S., Oct. 17.—James B. Lehmann, who was arrested here last week, charged with being connected with the recent smuggling of Chinese from Newfoundland into the United States, on the schooner yacht Frolic, has been released. There were no grounds on which to take Lehmann to Boston, owing to the conflicting international laws.

Steps Are Now Being Taken For The Inquiry

County Crown Attorney Drayton to Act re Ontario Bank.

TO BE NO HURRY MEASURES

Ontario Cabinet Met, But None of the Ministers Will Discuss Ontario Bank Affairs—Shareholders Who Consider $150,000 a Ridiculous Sum For the Assets and Good-Will—Shareholders Will Sue.

Toronto, Oct. 17.—The Attorney-General's Department have asked County Crown Attorney Drayton to take steps toward an enquiry into the affairs of the Ontario Bank.

There will be no hurried measures, but when sufficient facts are known the law will be invoked in whatever directions may seem warranted.

Ministers Won't Talk.

A meeting of the Ontario Cabinet was held yesterday afternoon, at which were present the Premier and the Hon. Messrs. Foy, Pyne, Matheson, Reaume, Cochrane, Monteith and Hendrie. Besides routine business the only topic which came up appeared to be the Ontario Bank disaster, but none of the Ministers would discuss the point.

The Provincial Treasurer, Hon. Mr. Matheson, said that the Government deposit, amounting to about $79,000, had been formally removed to the Bank of Montreal.

Ex-Manager Charles McGill is assisting the officials in their investigation of the affairs of the bank. It is understood that he has turned over all his property to the bank, including his life insurance policies. The latter will enure to the benefit of the shareholders, and are not included in the transfer to the Bank of Montreal.

Shareholders Want to Know.

There is a general feeling among officials that the wreck may after all not be so complete as supposed. One of the directors has expressed a belief that the shareholders may, in the end, receive 70 cents on the dollar.

This has led some of the shareholders to ask why they were not given the opportunity to save their interests by reorganizing and strengthening the bank and carrying it on as a going concern. They consider $150.000 for the business and good-will to be ridiculous.

A meeting of the shareholders was called for yesterday to ratify the transfer to the Bank of Montreal, but it was postponed until the board of directors can submit some more definite statement.

To Institute Recovery Proceedings.

A very considerable number of shareholders have already instructed their solicitors to institute proceedings against the directors to recover any loss that they may sustain by reason of their performance of duties as may be provided by the act.

Manager Braithwaite left for New York last evening. It is said that he will be appointed receiver of the assets of the Ontario Bank in that state. These consist of money on deposit with the Fourth National Bank of New York, and certain securities also deposited with that bank as collateral.

HINDUS STOPPED.

Vancouver Police Guard Government Immigration Sheds.

Vancouver, B.C., Oct. 17.—Acting under instructions from Mayor Buscombe, the Vancouver police are guarding the Dominion Government immigration detention shed on the waterfront to prevent the landing of the Hindus now held there.

The local objection to the Hindus immigration has reached an acute stage here, and trouble similar to that which marked the Chinese exclusion several years ago is anticipated. The steamer Empress of Japan brought in over 100 Hindus Monday, none being allowed to land.

Negro Artist Wins Harris Prize.

Chicago, Oct. 17.—Henry Tanner, a negro artist, has been awarded the N. W. Harris prize of $500 for the best painting at the 19th annual exhibition of American paintings, which will open at the Art Institute to-day. The decision on Mr. Tanner's "Two Disciples at the Tomb" was unanimous. The picture shows the faces of Peter and John before the Saviour with a fine light playing across their features, which are strained with expectancy while awaiting the fulfilment of the promise that had been made them.

Will Co-operate With Canada.

Ottawa, Oct. 17.—Dr. Rutherford, veterinary director-general and live stock commissioner for Canada, has returned from Washington, where he spent some days in consulting with veterinary experts in regard to the enforcement of quarantine regulations on the international boundary and other matters. He found the United States officials quite willing to co-operate with Canada in preventing the spread of disease.

Aldrich Wiped Out By Fire.

Brockville, Oct. 17.—The little hamlet of Aldrich, on the line of the Carthage and Adirondack Railway, was wiped off the map a few days ago. The fire started in the dry kiln of the Aldrich Lumber Co. and, fanned by a heavy wind, spread rapidly, taking in turn the general store, postoffice and several houses. Several cars backed into the lumber yards were reduced to ruins.

G.T.P. Can't Get Labor.

Ottawa, Oct. 17.—The Transcontinental Railway Commissioners left yesterday for the west.

They learn that great difficulty has been experienced in securing labor for the construction of the transcontinental line eastward from Winnipeg to Superior Junction, and will look into the complaint.

DUNCAN McCALLUM'S DEATH.

Horse Wanders, Man Falls and Is Drowned In Boggy Land.

Kirkfield, Oct. 17—Duncan McCallum, a farmer living near here, was drowned about 4 p. m. Monday, a mile and a half east of the village, on the flooded land near the Trent Valley Canal.

He was returning from Lindsay with a box of dynamite, and is supposed to have fallen asleep. The horse turned off the road and walked down the embankment, and he fell over the front of the buggy and is supposed to have hit his head.

He was found shortly after, but life was extinct.

Woman Killed on C. P. R.

Toronto, Oct. 17.—Mrs. Gregory, Macdonnell avenue, aged about 50, was struck by an incoming C. P. R. train at Brock avenue crossing at 9 o'clock last night. She was taken to the Western Hospital, where she died shortly after midnight. Her principal injuries were on the head.

Daniel Griffin, East Toronto, employed as a switchman by the G. T. R., was badly mangled by a car at Mimico last night. His foot caught in a "frog." Before he could extricate it a car backed down on him. His recove: .s doubtful. He is 22 years of age and unmarried.

One Dead; Two Blind For Life.

Brookville, Oct. 17.—One man was killed and two badly injured at Lyon Mountain. The accident occurred in a mine and was caused by a drill striking an old charge of powder that had failed to explode. The victims are as follows: Frank Vistura was killed, and the injured men are Joe Secord and Anton Borato. The two latter are seriously, but not fatally hurt, but will be blind for life.

Smothered by Gas.

Barrie, Oct. 17.—John Armstrong, foreman of the Barrie Gas Co., was suffocated yesterday afternoon while at work. Armstrong had been with the company for about 30 years, and leaves a widow and a number of children.

Collision of Trolley Cars.

Toronto, Oct. 17.—A Belt Line car crashed into a Carlton and College, at Sherbourne and Carlton streets, last night, seriously injuring G. F. Watson of 52 West Gerrard street, who was standing on the rear platform of the car which was struck. Another man sustained slight injuries to his back. Watson is a married man, of about 44 years of age. He will probably recover

U. S. LAKE FISHERS.

Capt. Chayter of U. S. Revenue Cutter Reports Them In the Wrong.

Washington, Oct. 17.—The controversy which has been waged between the American and Canadian lake fishermen for the past twenty years has been placed in a different light by a report made to the State Department by Capt. E. C. Chayter, commanding the United States revenue cutter Morrill on the great lakes.

The report shows that the American fishermen have been the transgressors, and that they have been treated with the greatest consideration by the Canadian fishing patrol.

C. P. R. STEAMER ASHORE.

Princess Victoria on Fiddler's Reef—Will Be Total Loss.

Victoria, B. C., Oct. 17.—The steamer Princess Victoria is on Fiddler's reef and will be a total loss.

Her passengers are being landed at Oak Bay.

Gen. Lyttleton Exonerated.

London, Oct. 17.—The War Office issued Monday night its decisions in the cases of officers involved in the South African war stores scandals.

Gen. Sir Neville Gerald Lyttleton, chief of the general staff and first military member of the army council, is completely exonerated, Secretary of War Haldane and the army council concluding that it was impossible for Gen. Lyttleton to supervise the system of supply while commanding the troops.

Several officers are censured and others retired without pay allowed retired officers. Many others are exonerated and restored to service.

Double Suicide In Hamilton.

Hamilton, Oct. 17.—Monday evening Andros Enewoldses, a Dane, and his wife, who came here a short time ago from Palmerston, drank carbolic acid, and their dead bodies, lying side by side on their bed at 11 Keith street, were not found till yesterday morning. They were about 63 years of age. The wife was an invalid, and at all places where the husband applied for work he was told that he was too old. Completely discouraged, they decided to end their lives.

Baby Found In Shoe Box.

Montreal, Oct. 17.—Yesterday the mangled remains of a little girl were found packed in a large-sized McGill store shoe box, lying in a ditch on Emery street, not far from Place Viger station. The gruesome discovery was made by a young lady, who gave the baby of the little tot to Mrs. Joseph Derome, 13 Emery street.

Scotchman Drinks Poison.

Port Arthur, Oct. 17.—George Ham, engaged as switchman on the Canadian Northern, is in the hospital suffering from carbolic acid poisoning. He was engaged on a train Monday night and was suddenly missed by the train crew, who found him lying by the track in great agony.

No Evidence Offered.

St. Catharines, Oct. 17.—Charles A. Henderson of New York, arrested at Hamilton on Saturday on a charge of obtaining $3,000 from Thomas Nihan by fraud, appeared before the magistrate yesterday. No evidence was offered and Henderson was dismissed.

8,000,000 Britishers Lost.

London, Oct. 17.—(C. A. P.)—Sir Howard Vincent, referring to the statement of agents from the Southern States coming to Britain to attempt to divert emigration, says English people are not suited for employment there, and adds: "Moreover, we ought to do all we can to turn the stream of emigration to the colonies. In the last 40 years eight millions of emigrants were allowed to discard British allegiance."

Perjury Is Now The Charge Laid Against Him

Lewis Ordered Under Arrest At Bribery Investigation.

COMMENT FROM THE BENCH

"Worst Case of Perjury I Have Heard of In Many a Day"—Transition of Witness to Prisoner Was Startlingly Sudden — Magistrate Refuses Bail Unless Under Instructions From Crown—The Day's List.

Toronto, Oct. 17.—"Tom" Lewis, erstwhile proprietor of the Normandy Hotel, London, and by the statements of a number of witnesses, an active participator in the wholesale bribery of voters, was placed under arrest on a charge of perjury at the conclusion of evidence given by him in the witness box yesterday afternoon. Mr. Robinette used vigorous arguments in an attempt to induce Magistrate Denison to allow the prisoner to be released on bail, but the magistrate declined to do so, pending instructions from the crown to this effect. Mr. DuVernet was unable to get into communication with Hon. Mr. Foy last night, and Lewis remains in custody for the present.

Transition Was Sudden.

The transition in the role played by Lewis from that of witness to the one of a prisoner charged with a serious offence, was startlingly sudden. For the space of one and a half hours during which Lewis was in the box he did little else than deny the truth of the depositions of other witnesses indicating bribery on his part in the London bye-election, and in previous elections in other ridings. The cumulative effect of all this testimony was staggering, but the witness held his ground against it and gave the court the assurance that never at any time in his life had he bribed a voter. So puny appeared Lewis' attempt at controversion that Magistrate Denison later in refusing bail declared that it was "the worst case of perjury I have heard of in many a day."

Take Him Into Custody.

It was as Lewis turned to leave the box that the crisis came. Magistrate Denison in a low voice directed Constable Macdonald to take him in custody. Lewis' features were impassive as he made his way to where he had been sitting on the east side of the court room, picked up his hat and was received at the entrance of the prisoner's dock by two constables.

The information sworn out against Lewis charges that he

"Unlawfully did, being a witness, in a judicial proceeding, namely, a charge of conspiracy against John O'Gorman and others, being investigated before the said George Taylor Denison in open court make assertions as to matters of fact and knowledge as part of his evidence upon oath, such assertions being known to such witness to be false and being intended by him to mislead the said magistrate holding the said proceeding."

More Voters Get Cash.

The remainder of the day was taken up with listening to the individual experiences of a fresh batch of London voters, several of whom connected Lewis with the arrangements for payment.

These testified yesterday that they had received the amounts opposite their names to vote for Mr. Hyman in the bye-election of June, 1903:

Samuel Baumback	$10.00
George Stevenson	10.00
Henry Taylor	10.00
Henry Gregory	10.00
William Gregory	10.00
Patrick Meehan	10.00
Thomas Taylor	9.50
Joseph Reidy	9.50
John Smelser	5.00

William Hea	10.00
Mike O'Brien	9.50

SHOWS HER TEETH.

Newfoundland Refuses Free Entry to U. S. Naval Tug.

St. John's, Nfld., Oct. 17.—The colonial ministry has refused the United States naval tug Potomac, which is now at Bay of Islands, free entry for stores, in spite of the fact that this concession is accorded French warships in these waters.

The Potomac has on board A. B. Alexander, chief of division of statistics and methods of the bureau of fisheries for the Department of Commerce and Labor, who is studying the Newfoundland fisheries dispute.

Canada Must Be Blind.

Toronto, Oct. 17.—"When I think of the great portion of Canadian commerce which is not going through your own ports, I marvel at your blindness or perhaps apathy is the better word, for I am sure you know that the ports of Boston, Philadelphia and Baltimore are getting the bulk of Anglo-Canadian traffic that should be handled by your ports alone."

This was a statement made by F. B. Girdlestone, general manager of the Bristol docks, England, before the members of the Board of Trade yesterday

Avalanche of Vesuvius Mud.

Naples, Oct. 17.—A terrific storm has caused an inundation of mud from Mount Vesuvius and the country roundabout is flooded. Two women have been killed and twenty-six persons injured.

Travel on the railroad up Mount Vesuvius has been interrupted, and the line partially destroyed. Many houses have been surrounded by the waves of mud. An avalanche of mud has invaded Bosco Trecase.

Mrs. Jeff Davis Dead.

New York, Oct. 17.—Mrs. Jefferson Davis, widow of the President of the Confederacy, who had been ill for a week at the Hotel Majestic in this city, died at 10.25 o'clock last night. Death was due to pneumonia.

Miners Rescued.

Durham, Eng., Oct. 17.—All the miners who were entombed as the result of an explosion Monday in the Wingate colliery near here have been rescued.

SECRECY OBSERVED BY WOMEN.

Toronto Chosen for Quinquennial Session of International Council.

Hamilton, Oct. 17.—Yesterday was the last and most strenuous day of the thirteenth annual convention of the National Council of Women. Reporters were barred. Toronto was chosen as the place for the quinquennial meeting of the International Council of Women in 1909.

On the question of political equality for the sexes, the ladies changed their minds, and instead of appointing a committee on that subject, as proposed by Dr. Augusta Stowe-Gullen, Toronto, a good citizen's committee was appointed.

The matter of agitating for an amendment to the divorce laws, introduced by the Victoria, B. C., Council, was left over for discussion at the next meeting.

These are the officers chosen: Lady Edgar, Toronto, president; Mrs. John Thompson, St. Louis; Lady Laurier, Lady Taylor and Mrs. Sanford, Hamilton, vice-presidents; Miss Detrick, Montreal, recording secretary; Mrs. Frost, Smith's Falls, treasurer; Mrs Willoughby Cummings, Toronto, corresponding secretary.

TO EXHUME BODIES.

Dead Strikers' Remains to Be Seen by the New Jury.

Buckingham, Que., Oct. 17.—A post-mortem examination yesterday on the body of Detective Warner of Montreal, who died from a wound received in the recent strike battle, revealed that the detective was hit by an explosive bullet.

The strikers' defence will be that he was shot by one of his own men, the bullet being the same kind that killed Union Leader Belanger.

The town is quiet. The bodies of the two dead strikers, Belanger and Theriault, will be exhumed by order of the Attorney-General, so that the new jury may view them.

W. H. Kelly and Alexander Cunningham, the other lumbermen here, have engaged fifteen of the strikers on the point of starvation and sent them to their camps about eight miles up the Lievre River.

The deadlock continues. A citizens' committee has failed to bring about a settlement.

MLLE. SEMENOVA'S MURDERER.

Rewarded With $5 and a Eulogy From His Commander.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 17.—After investigating the killing of Mlle. Semenova, the young medical student confined in the Central Prison of St. Petersburg, who was shot dead by a sentry Sept. 10, when she showed herself at the window of her cell overlooking the courtyard, the commander of the St. Petersburg garrison has thanked the soldier who killed the girl, and has given him a reward of $5. In addition the soldier is upheld in the order of the day as an example to his comrades of the faithful performance of duty.

Capture 49 Terrorists.

Warsaw, Russian Poland, Oct. 17.—The police yesterday discovered the headquarters of an elaborately organized band of terrorists and captured 49 members of the band, who are charged with having committed many murders and robberies.

Galt's Homage to Kentucky Todd.

Galt, Oct. 17.—Kentucky Todd, Miss Wilkes' famous 2-year-old which distinguished himself at Lexington, Ky., by winning the Futurity Stakes, 2.14 3-4, arrived yesterday. The mayor and citizens turned out last night in a big procession, led by the Kiltie Band, and held a reception to the colt at the curling rink, which was packed. A beautiful wreath was presented to the horse. Speeches were delivered by the mayor, President Martin Todd of the Horse Show Association, and several other representative citizens.

Two In Quebec County.

Quebec, Oct. 17.—The nominations in the County of Quebec took place yesterday at St. Ambroise Indian Loretto, and at 2 o'clock there were only two candidates in the field, George E. Amyot and Lorenzo Robitaille. Dr. Neilson and Martineau have withdrawn from the fight.

Joseph Devlin spoke for Dr. Amyot and Henri Bourassa for Robitaille. Hon. R. Lemieux and Senator Choquette replied to Bourassa.

Makes Laval Beneficiary.

Montreal, Oct. 17.—It is announced that Sir Wilfrid Laurier has recently made the University of Laval the beneficiary of an insurance policy for $5,000 on his own life. It is furthermore stated that his example has been followed by a number of distinguished French-Canadians, who are friends of the university, and that the amount of these policies in favor of the institution already reaches quite a figure.

Hamar Greenwood Dined.

Toronto, Oct. 17.—Rousing and hearty was the greeting tendered to Hamar Greenwood M.P. for York, by the Whitby Old Boys' Association last night in the St. Charles on the eve of his departure for England. Well on to 200 of his old school mates and fellow townsmen sat down, and in reply Mr. Greenwood sought the depths of many happy memories.

Judge Stevens Dead.

St. Stephen, N. B., Oct. 17.—Judge Stevens, one of the most prominent men in the province, died yesterday after a lengthy illness. He was an enthusiastic Presbyterian, taking great interest in the work of the general assembly. He was a grandson of Sir Colin Campbell of Argyle.

Body Found In Orchard.

Hamilton, Oct. 17.—The dead body of James Findlay, father of Ald. Findlay, was found under an apple tree in his orchard yesterday morning. It is thought he died from heart failure Monday night. He was 71 years of age.

Shipwreck In Philippines.

Manila, Oct. 17.—The Italian ship Principessa Mafalda, Capt. Serra, from Philadelphia, April 17, for Nagasaki, has been wrecked near Laog, Philippine Islands. Her crew succeeded in reaching Samar.

St. Johns, Que., Oct. 17.—Nominations in the Counties of St. Johns-Iberville, for a representative to replace the Hon. Philippe Demers, who has been elevated to the bench, resulted in the election by acclamation of Joseph Demers.

AN EARLY FALL MODEL.

Pongee Coats the Smart Wraps For Cool Days.

Here it is—the very first model that seeks favor as an advance autumn hint. Certainly it is smart enough to be unmindful of all that come after. The coat is built up of heavy Burlingham silk in a soft shade of chestnut brown, having the front tailored in original effect and glorified by revers of golden brown silk with touches of white embroidery. Below the revers are large buttons of the coat material. The sleeves are plaited and finished with flat cuffs of Burlingham washed with taffeta.

THREE-QUARTER PONGEE COAT.

Although it is extremely smart as a trimming, it is said that taffeta will figure less prominently as a coat material this fall than it did last. First place will be given to the pongees which are taking on all the touches it is possible to give to a material adapted to all round use. We are assured that the new modes are to be very practical, and the first example gives hope of a promise fulfilled. Gray and blue will be much in evidence, but brown stands first in the hearts of the arbiters of fashion; hence their followers.

Memory Bells.

Memory bells are toys peculiar to Japan and are given by Japanese youths to their sweethearts. They are constructed of slips of glass so delicately poised that the least vibration sets them jingling. The memory bells are hung in a window, where the draft will set them in motion. The delicate tinkling serves to remind their owner of the giver; hence the pretty, fanciful name.

Colored Glass.

Colored glass came from Egypt. The Egyptians carried the art to great perfection apparently before history begins to tell of it.

Peterborough Lady Died In Chicago

Miss Eva Scobell, M.D., Was Well Known Here.

Miss Eva Scobell, M. D., passed away in Chicago recently. The late Miss Scobell was born in Peterborough, 34 years ago and was the eldest daughter of Fred. H. Scobell, who left Peterborough with his family 26 years ago for Winnipeg and some years afterward moved to Chicago.

Miss Scobell graduated as an M.D. about nine years ago and since then has practised medicine in Chicago, in Ohmaha, Neb. She had only arrived in Chicago from Omaha to take charge of a hospital in that city. She had been ill for some time and thought she had fully recovered, but got a relapse and died very suddenly.

Miss Scobell leaves to mourn her besides her father, two sisters, Mrs. Walahan and Miss Vivian Scobell, of Chicago, and one brother, Mr. Harry Scobell, of Appleton, Mo. Count H. Scobell, of Fraserville, and W. R. of Moosomin are uncles of deceased.

Objection To The Use Of Glasses

Sometimes people object to glasses, claiming that once put on they can not see without them. If after putting on glasses the wearer finds it difficult to go without them, this simply proves that before he wore glasses he was forcing his eyes beyond the limit of safety, a practice if continued, is sure to affect the health and sight. The person who lets pride, even excusable pride, stand in the way of glasses is doing his eyes and health injustice and is merely paving the way for future suffering and discomforts.

We will test your eyesight carefully, and tell you just what condition your eyes are in.

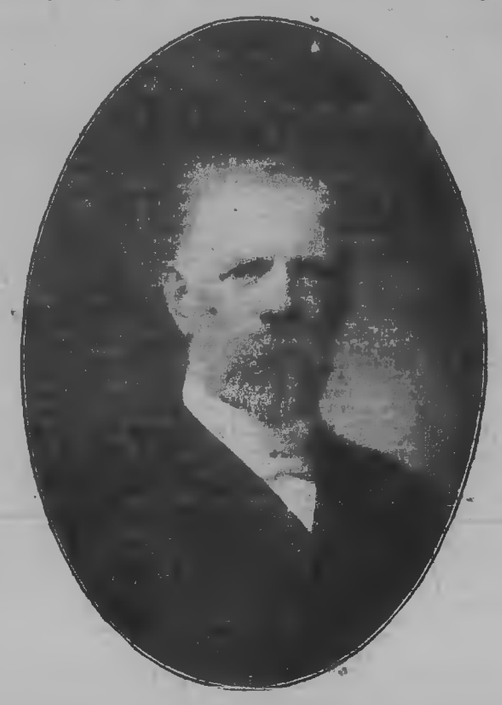
Home Missions Important Factor In Baptist Churches

Report of This Branch of Work Presented Yesterday Afternoon by Rev. W. E. Norton ---Some Encouraging Features in the Review of Work of the Past Year—Baptist Church Has Been Alive to Needs of Missions.

The consideration of the report of Rev. W. E. Norton on Home Mission occupied practically all the afternoon session at the Baptist Convention yesterday. Rev. J. Bastow seconded the motion to adopt the report.

The report of the Home Mission Board was read by Superintendent Norton. Among the many items of interest one was stating that Evangelist Rev. M. Van Sickle has been constantly employed among Home Mission churches. The constantly increasing demand for expert evangelists has led to the appointment of Rev. A. W. Torrie, of Midland, as second evangelist. He will begin his work sometime in November. The Board has been endeavouring to develop the idea of Christian stewardship among our members.



REV. W. E. NORTON,
Superintendent of Home Missions, who presented his annual report to the Convention Thursday Afternoon.

This has been done by personal letters, the circulation of the bulletins, the circulation of 10,000 copies of last year's Home Mission report, and the sending out of Rev. P. A. McEwen, B.D., on a five months' deputation tour among the churches. The Board feels also to urge the necessity of cultivating a genuine Christian patriotism. The H. M. work which is being done in the older provinces is, to a large extent, determining the quality of citizenship we are to have in the west.

The work in old Ontario, in such towns as Godelich, Huntsville, Thornbury, Preston, Welland, and Picton is full of promise. In New Ontario we have begun work in Cobalt, Haileybury, Keewatin, Slate River Valley, O'Connor and Dryden. There is an open door for work in many other places. The board feels that if $1,000 to $1,500 could be placed at its disposal every year, to be used as gifts to help weak churches to erect buildings in our older towns, its hands would be greatly strengthened.

The year's work is most encouraging. A wave of revival has been passing over our churches. 76 of our H. M. churches have received at least five members by Baptism, and some churches more than that number.

During the year the Board has assisted in the support of 136 pastors, representing 249 churches and preaching stations and 41 students, representing 76 churches and preaching stations or a total of 177 pastors and students, representing 325 churches and preaching stations.

Our forward movement may be summed up in the following statement:—Six new churches organized, eighteen church buildings have been erected; two churches have declared themselves self-supporting. Total baptisms in H. M. churches is 936, as compared with 832 last year. This membership in the H. M. churches is about 9,000 and the total additions during the year are 1,570.

The report made mention of the co-operation afforded by McMaster University and the Women's Boards. Financially the Board is in a much better position than they had hoped to be possible only a few weeks ago. However, 89 churches have contributed nothing.

Home Mission finances. The Guelph and Walkerton association alone have no delinquent churches. The future of our work demands even larger expenditures than we have made in the past. Confidence was expressed in the future of the work and hanksgiving for the rich blessing granted during the year.

The Treasurer's Statement

The treasurer's statement, read by Rev. Mr. Fox, Toronto, shows a total receipts of $31,970.98 with a total expenditure of $29,011.54, leaving a deficit of $3,040.56, compared with $8,460.75 last year, a most satisfactory state of affairs as the board has had several heavy burdens to bear the past year.

In seconding the report of the Home Mission Board, Rev. J. Bastow, M. A., a former pastor in Peterborough, congratulated the Board upon the very excellent report it had presented, and gave all praise to God Almighty for enabling his people to do such great work for Home Missions. This work he said was a Christly work. Christ spent 9-10ths of his life at home and only 1-10th at Palestine. He commanded his disciples to go into all the world and preach the Gospel, evidently believing that they were to begin first at home, making Home Mission work [illegible]

The work is also called for by our [illegible] Dominion [illegible] Foreign Missions [illegible] Home Missions must be strengthened. Foreign Missions have been started. Their success depended upon the Home. We must organize in order that we may fight for Christ. The Home Mission society is not merely [illegible] but is the [illegible] for the care [illegible] capable to [illegible]

The Board recommended to the church's [illegible] counsel which the Home Mission Board gives to the [illegible] Many of the new churches know practically nothing of the Baptist policy. The Mission Board is abundantly supplied with this information.

He prized the work of the Home Mission Board because it opened the way for a wide Christian civilization. The light that burns brightest at home shines farther into the foreign field. One must be a Home Missionary before one can succeed as a Foreign Missionary.

As a matter of fact the Missionary churches are doing an immense amount of home mission work. Everybody must be taught to work. In the Mission churches that spirit of Christianity is rapidly growing. In churches of from 300 to 700 members, it is very difficult to get them to work. The pastors mostly come from the Mission churches, so do most of the foreign Missionaries. Mr. Bastow closed by again heartily congratulating the Mission Board and expressed his pleasure in seconding the adoption of the report.

Rev. R. G. Roberts, of Toronto, stated that he was surprised at the successful result of the Board's work during the year, and he was delighted to see the wonderful growth in the receipts from the Home Mission churches. He also spoke of the great growth in the membership of Home Mission churches in In Baptisms or a total of 1520 members altogether.

Deacon Wm. Graham, of Peterborough, referred to the uphill work the Home Mission Board has had in years past and he was more than glad to hear such a splendid report read. He considered Home Mission work the most important work of all.

The Canadian Baptist Alumni sent a telegram of greeting through G. S. Wittel. The convention responded by sending a message to those brethren.

Rev. L. H. Hughson, B.D., Windsor on speaking of the report referred to the evangelistic work.

Rev. J. H. Kennedy, M.A., of Toronto in referring to evangelistic work, said that in his opinion all the college professors and ministers of our large churches who take a month or two months vacation, should go into the wilds of Canada and preach and fish and build churches, thus carrying out the idea of evangelization.

Rev. C. W. King, of Toronto, also referred to evangelistic and missionary spirit in Home Mission churches.

Rev. T. S. Johnston, D.D., Rev. J. C. Saranace, M.A., Hamilton, Rev. E. T. Fox, Toronto, Mr. A. A. Ayr Montreal, and several others spoke in high praise of Dr. Norton and the members of the Home Mission Board for their excellent work during the past year.

Moved by Bro. A. A. Ayr, Montreal, seconded by Bro. B. A. Ziemann, Preston, that Secretary of the Home Mission Board be asked to prepare a leaflet setting out the aims and teachings of the Baptist church and distribute it among the people.—Carried.

The report was then adopted unanimously.

Nominating Committee

The Nominating Committee made a report on the Sunday School work. The report was read by Rev. J. H. Webb of Montreal, and it recommended that if there be no legal obstruction, the Sunday School Committee be converted into a Board. Left over until Monday afternoon.

The committee also reported in connection with Temperance and Moral Reformation, and the committee is composed of Rev. D. Lattaw, Rev. R. Garside, B.D., Bro. H. Moyle, Rev. S. E. Greig, B. A., Rev. A. P. McDonald, M.A., Rev. A. W. Torrie, the newly appointed evangelist, was introduced to the convention and delivered an excellent address in which he thanked the Board of Home Missions for selecting him for that important position.

New Members

Three new members were elected to the Board of Home Missions. Eight candidates were nominated, viz:—Thos. Urquhart, Rev. Dr. Tracey, Rev. S. S. Weaver, Dr. Gates, Rev. Dr. Kierstead, Rev. H. F. Perry, Dr. Johnston, Rev. Geo. McLagan. Those elected were:—Rev. H. F. Perry, D.D., Toronto.
Rev. Dr. Tracey, Toronto.
Thos. Urquhart, Toronto.

Photographs Of The Winners

R. M. Roy Took Pictures of Ray Best and Ernest Wilson.

After the Examiner road race yesterday, Mr. R. M. Roy took photos of the two winners, Ray Best and Ernest Wilson, in their racing costumes, and before five o'clock had enlargements finished, and in the new windows at the door, a stroke of business enterprise which has seldom if ever, been equalled in this city.

These two pictures will be framed, and hung on the walls of the Y.M.C.A., of which association both men are members.

HOW VALUE IS EARNED.

Years of Work and Worth Behind Every Success in Life.

Years is the trade mark worth millions exclaimed the representatives of the worsted mills owned by Campbell Bannerman, Premier of Great Britain. The fine Scotch worsted from the Campbell mills at Glasgow are in the premier suits tailored by the "Semi-ready" Company.

Like many of the best known trade names in the world the value of the "Semi-ready" mark has been won by years of meritorious worth. A. W. Tressmann, agent for Peterborough.

A Combination of Game and Advertisement Which May be Received at His Store.

Mr. Fred A. Clarke, the George street hatter and furrier, with his usual progressiveness, has a very nobby advertisement to give to his customers. It is in fact a new game called Skidoo Checkers, and the board and checkers are all furnished. Directions are given for play which is like ordinary checkers except that if a checker gets on one of a number of blocks numbered "23" it is "skidooed" i.e. given to the opponent. This is not only a good "ad" but is a useful one which young and old can appreciate. Call at Mr. Clarke's store, No. 374 George street, and he will be pleased to present you with one.

FROM TORONTO TO PETERBOROUGH

To alleviate the heavy traffic on its lines between Toronto and Peterborough, the Bell Telephone Company has constructed two additional lines between these points and opened up offices at Burketon and Pontypool connected on one of these. A line has also been built to Emsimore. Points further north calling Peterborough or Toronto may look for a decidedly prompt handling of business.

An engineer declares that 50,000 people now do with machinery the work of 16,000,000 persons a few years ago.

Too Much Exercise.

Unfortunately a good many men have the conviction that they must keep exerting themselves all the time. They call every moment wasted which is not spent in activity of some kind, either physical or mental. Such men are taking the quickest means to burn themselves out. You cannot live well and keep happy under a constant and tyrannical sense of effort. There must be times of play, times to let up the tension and to do easy and natural things which don't require conscience and exact attention. Horace Bushnell, the great Connecticut minister, recognized this when he said, "Let's go sin awhile." Sinning has the advantage of being easy, and there are times when the easy thing is the right thing. A man who takes no time off for one kind of play or another, but who keeps the anxious, conscientious look on his face day in and day out, may be on the road to heaven, but he will find that the sanitarium is a way station.—Dr. Luther H. Gulick in Good Housekeeping.

A Few Corrections.

A few things picked up from a child's schoolbook: Never say, "I don't think it will rain." What you mean is, "I do think it will not rain." "All over the world" is bad; say "Over all the world." "The reason why" is not only incorrect, but doesn't sound as well as "The reason that." In the King James version of the Bible, quoted by some authorities as a standard of pure English, one may find the following, which occurs in Isaiah xxxvii, 36: "Then the angel of the Lord went forth and smote in the camp of the Assyrians a hundred and fourscore and five thousand, and when they arose early in the morning, behold they were all dead corpses." In other words, the corpses arose early in the morning and found themselves dead. Don't say "A man fell off the dock." A man might fall into a dock, but to say that he fell off a dock is no better than to say he fell off a hole.

The Crested Rat.

The crested rat of East Africa is remarkable, first because of the great length of the black and white hairs down the ridge of the back, which are rendered the more conspicuous because the hairs along the sides of the body are so short and so differently colored, being brownish gray and looking for all the world as if some one had taken a pair of scissors and maliciously shorn off the decorative hair, leaving only a dull underfur. Secondly, it is remarkable because the skull has a roofing of bones exactly resembling that of some turtles, while, furthermore, this roof has a granulated appearance recalling that presented by the skulls of certain fishes. In its habits it appears to be arboreal while from the structure of its teeth it would appear to be at least partly insectivorous.

A Curious Tomb.

The most curious tomb in England is that of Lady Anne Grimston, daughter of the Earl of Thanet, who died nearly two centuries ago and was buried in Tewin churchyard. Upon her deathbed she disregarded the efforts of those who sought to administer spiritual comfort. An atheist she had lived, an atheist she would die. "It is as likely that I should rise again from the dead," she said, "as that a tree should grow out of the middle of my coffin." A tree has grown out of the middle of her coffin—an oak—and by its side a sycamore. The vault is square, of brick and granite. The two trees first filled the interior before they could find a way out. When they did burst through the masonry they so spread as completely to envelop the grave.

When Everything Is Poisonous.

All substances, even eggs, are poisonous when they are injected in certain quantities into the circulatory system of an animal. A French investigator has taken the powdered yolk of a duck's egg, treated it with a 20 per cent solution of salt and injected it into the veins of an animal until it died. In order to kill a rabbit fifty-five grains of the substance were required for each pound of the rabbit's weight. The yolk of a hen's egg is less poisonous, but that of a turtle more so than that of a duck. The albumen of eggs is also poisonous.

Far Enough.

One day when William M. Evarts, secretary of state under President Hayes, was a college student he was called on to read Virgil in class.

He started out bravely, "Three times I strove to cast my arms around her neck, and—and"—adding lamely—"that's as far as I got, professor."

"Well, Mr. Evarts," said the professor, "I think that was quite far enough."

Grumbling.

Grumbling is a potent cause of ill health. It keeps the sensitive nerves constantly vibrating with discordant emotions and not only hurts the grumbler, but every one who hears it. It really prepares the system of the grumbler for an attack of any malady that happens to be prevalent.

Slight Mistake.

"Waiter, what does this mean? Twenty-five francs for two hard boiled eggs?"

"Very sorry, sir. Slight mistake, sir. I've given you the bill intended for the American at the next table."—Pele Mele.

A well known authority on dreams and dream books says: "To dream you see snakes or serpents shows that you will be imprisoned and encounter many dangers. If you are in love, your sweetheart will be false. To dream you kill a snake shows you will overcome difficulties and enemies and be successful in love, trade or farming, but unsuccessful at sea."

Odd French Custom.

In the south of France the handing of a sweet pea by a young lady to a young gentleman is a polite way of stating that she is tired of his company.

COMIN' HOME AT NIGHT.

Dominion Day Sketch of Passengers Thrown Together—Tolerant Good-Nature Uppermost—Ideas of Fun.

All the incoming trains Dominion Day were crowded. In one particular coach, passengers were packed like crackers in a biscuit box. But they were good-natured. Holiday crowds usually are full of enthusiasm of the day and other ingredients, says The Toronto Telegram. Three young women and a dozen or more young men appropriated the centre seats and flowered hats, sailors, Panamas and Derbys, with coats and vests, were promptly tossed to the racks above.

Bass-Voiced Beauty.

"Break away, there," shouted one of the crowd as a curly-headed lad found a pillow on his fair companion's shoulder.

"Break nothin'," responded the lady with the made-gold hair, slipping a protecting arm around the weary one's neck. "Yer just jealous."

"G'wan," laughed the bass-voiced beauty across the aisle, who displayed several inches of butterfly embroidered hosiery as she sat balancing her heels on the suit case before her. "Get into the game an' pass the grub."

"Everybody that wants sandwiches plie in," called the third girl, who looked like a front row chorus fairy, opening a valise from which eatables and numerous bottles of lager were produced, whereupon the chunkiest lad of the lot squeezed in and instituted himself bar-tender.

Somebody, in fact several somebodies, brought out mouth organs and played "Yankee Doodle Dandy," "Listen to the Mocking Bird," and various other selections with energy and simultaneousness that would have done credit to a calithumpian band. The vocal artists of the assemblage, disdaining accompaniment, "Rambled Till the Butcher Cut Him Down," implored "Bright Eyes Not to Cry," and, vociferously stating that they had "Done Nothin' to Nobody," asked "Who Took the Engine Off My Neck?" Though at variance as to time and tune, they were unanimous in their decision of "Nobody."

Roses and Tobacco.

All this time people at every station had been coming and going—principally coming. Tired athletes, glorious in monogrammed sweater and a fresh championship or two won that day in the glare of the July sun, gave to old ladies, or mothers with babies in their arms, the seats they had only offered to "share" with younger ladies standing in the aisles.

The finest roses from many a country garden, culled for the city sons or daughters going back to toil, nodded gaily from the hat racks and mingled their fragrance with that of choice cheroots, cheap cigars and the soft coal smoke that left sooty souvenirs on many a lingerie hat and blouse.

"Talk about daisies! The woods are full of 'em," bellowed the bass-voiced beauty, pinning a bunch in her hair. "Skidoo, you!" she yelled through the window to one of her attendants. "Go on pickin' flowers."

Fashion might be ashamed to unpack such an ark at home, but would be glad to own it in a crowded car, for an inverted telescope makes a seat a foot square, while, as every traveler knows, after a mile or two a suit case, be it ever so labelled, makes a poor prop.

"How're you doin', Percy?" shouted the interlocutor to the owner of the curley head on the white blouse shoulder-rest, and being told "Pretty good," vouchsafed the information that he was "Doin' a little better." If sitting on the knees of two girls could be called an improvement, the statement was correct. His lady friends soon tired, however, and insisted that they be allowed to promenade at the next station platform.

Made Way For Them.

"We're comin'. Don't overlook us," they admonished on their return, with a gust of soft coal smoke and much noise—a superfluous warning as every suit-case seat had to be vacated and the standers in the aisle squeezed back almost to the laps of the more fortunate travelers, to allow them to pass.

In the meantime their seats had been taken by weary holidayers of their own party, and:

"Any pretty girl that won't stand has to sit on my knee," was the ultimatum of the manly occupants.

"I'm in on that" was the instant rejoinder of the front row chorus girl, who flopped down promptly, her companion following suit amid applause from the crowd of men.

Brown-Eyes' Disapproval.

The quiet little girl with the big pearl beads you could see through, was so ashamed she kept her brown eyes lowered for fully a quarter of an hour, refusing to look at her companion and answering his observations in monosyllabies.

The old lady who, with umbrella between her knees, had sat in grim silence all the way, grasped her rainstick tighter, made, if possible, a thinner line of her tightly closed lips, but said nothing.

The young wife, more impulsive, who had insisted that her sleeping husband take his head from her knee in fear lest people might not know they were married, exclaimed indignantly:

"You oughtn't to be allowed away from home," but nobody paid any attention to her.

Obeyed and Skidooed.

The mouth organs played on, the singers "rambled," the whistlers warbled, and the lover of the pretty girl who an hour before had buried herself in a novel so that she might be blind to the public demonstrations of affection around her, sat in silent adoration on a suit cost at her feet, and the standers laughed and apologized to each other while the train made up time, and reached the city at the scheduled hour. Then came a scurry for hats, coats and bags, and fears lest some of them had been left behind. "Fergit it!" rang out the bass beauty's voice over all the din. "There's yer blue coat. Now, skidoo!" and as her adherents fell in line to obey, she pushed her way vigorously through the crowded aisle, followed by the affectionate fair girl and the front-row chorus fairy whose daisy decorations showed coquettishly under the brim of the panama hat she wore instead of her own creation of lace and flowers.

As You Please.

In the ancient times there lived a wonderfully wise man, of whom it was said that he could answer correctly any question put to him. There was one, however, who thought himself clever enough to outwit the sage. This man took a poor, captive bird and clasped it so closely in his hand that only the head and tail were visible.

"Tell me," said he to the renowned guesser of riddles, "is the bird which I hold in my hand alive or dead?"

If the answer were "Dead," thought this artful plotter, he would just open his hand and let the bird fly. If the answer were "Alive," he would with one little squeeze crush the poor bird to death.

But the wise man proved himself equal to the occasion and replied, "It is as you please."

Each one holds within his or her grasp the fair bird of life. Which is it to be? A blessing or a bane? It is "as you please."

Pressed to Death.

An English court has sentenced a woman to imprisonment because she refused to speak during a trial. The old penalty for remaining mute under similar conditions was being pressed to death. The form of sentence set forth "the prisoner shall be laid in some low, dark house, where he shall lie naked on the earth and one arm shall be drawn to one quarter of the house with a cord and the other arm to another quarter, and in the same manner let it be done with his legs, and let there be laid upon his body iron and stone, as much as he can bear—or more." There the man had to lie. On the following day he was given three morsels of bread without water, on the following water, but no bread. And this was his diet until he died.

Great Discovery.

The editor of a Kansas paper states that he once borrowed a Winchester rifle and started up the street a few days after to deliver the weapon to its owner. The delinquent subscribers got it into their heads that he was on the warpath, and every one he met insisted on paying what he owed him. One man wiped out a debt of ten years' standing. On his return to his office he found a load of hay, fifteen bushels of corn, ten bushels of potatoes, a load of wood and a barrel of turnips that had been brought in. We would like to borrow a Winchester for a day or two.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

A Disadvantage of Health.

A visitor among the poor of the east end of London found unexpected testimony to the disadvantages of health in one of his calls. Mrs. B. had a family of a dozen children, and, like most of her class, she had her tale of woe to tell. "How are the children, Mrs. B.?" inquired the caller. "All very well, indeed, sir; very well, indeed," was the answer. "You ought to be thankful, I'm sure, with so much sickness about." "Yes, sir; I suppose I ought to be thankful; but, I tell you, when they're well they eat an awful lot."

Java's Population.

Java is very thickly populated, and cultivation is pushed to an extraordinary distance up the steep slopes of the hills. The plain of Leles in the month of July "is one sea of ripe golden rice, with here and there a village of brown thatch roofs nestling in a group of green cocoanut trees." In the middle of the island white chimneys of sugar mills peep above miles and miles of sugarcane fields.

Fire and Water.

Why does water put out fire? Water reduces the temperature of the flame below the point of ignition; therefore it cannot burn. Water does not smother the flames even when the burning brand is completely immersed in a tank of water, because the first contact puts out the fire—that is, reduces the temperature of the flame below the point of ignition.

Considerate.

Mrs. Dove—Henry, I think you are positively cruel. Here I've tried so hard to cook you a nice dinner and you haven't had a word to say to me about it. Mr. Dove—Darling, I love you too much for that. If I said what I thought, you'd never speak to me again.

Painfully Economical.

Husband—You are not economical, Wife—Well, if you don't call a woman economical who saves her wedding dress for a possible second marriage, I'd like to know what you think economy is?

The Red Sea.

The southern entrance of the Red sea is commanded by the fortress of Aden and the fort on the little island of Perim, in the strait of Babel-Mandeb, the guns of the latter completely covering the narrow channel and the fortress dominating the entrance to the sea.

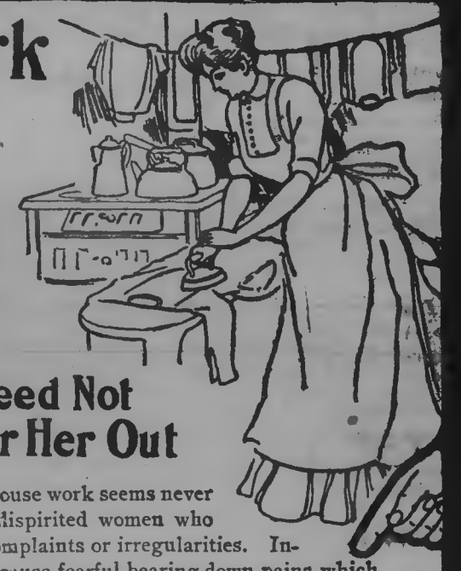
Thunder and Lightning.

The sound of thunder may be heard for twenty or twenty-five miles; with the ear to the ground, much farther. Lightning is reflected for 150 to 200 miles.

The Datura.

The datura, varieties of which are commonly known as the Jamestown weed, or, more familiarly, the jimson weed, the thorn apple (an allusion to the shape of the seed case and its spines) and the devil's trumpet, recalling its shape and villainous odor, retains its name almost unchanged from the [illegible]

House Work



Need Not Wear Her Out

The drudgery of house work seems never ending to tired-out, dispirited women who suffer from female complaints or irregularities. Inflammation and ulceration cause fearful bearing-down pains which are aggravated by much standing on the feet, and lifting necessary in house work.

But let no woman despair of relief from this torture. That famous tonic reconstructor of diseased or disordered female organism.

has cured more than one million American women, and it will cure you. When troubled with painful irregularities, when backaches and headaches drive out all ambition, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will bring back health, strength, and happiness.

It Made Me a Well Woman

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done more for me than doctors or medicines. I suffered for four months with suppression of monthly periods. Headaches were a daily occurrence. Pains in my back and limbs made it hard for me to attend to my domestic duties.

The medicines I had taken did not help me, and I was in misery and despair until one day I read an account of your Vegetable Compound, and decided to try it, and I thank God that I did so, for it not only regulated my monthly periods, but made me a well woman.

Synopsis Of Canadian North-West HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

Any even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the North-west Provinces, excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry may be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land is situate.

Homestead Duties.—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:—

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased) of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act, as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

Application for patent should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa of his intention to do so.

PORT ARTHUR BREAKWATER

NOTICE TO INTENDING CONTRACTORS

As it may be deemed advisable by the Department of Public Works to change the location of the proposed breakwater at Port Arthur, thereby entailing the non-removal of the inner 1,000 feet in length of the existing breakwater and a decrease or increase in the quantity of dredging to be performed for the foundation of the proposed work, intending contractors are requested to omit from the bulk sum of their tender the removal of the inner existing portion of the breakwater and the dredging, and to quote a price per cubic yard for the dredging, and a bulk sum for the removal of the breakwater.

By order,
FRED. GELINAS,
Secretary.

MODES OF THE MOMENT.

A New Shirt Waist Model—Odd Jewels at a Premium.

A mighty swagger lingerie shirt waist is made of alternate strips of rather wide valenciennes insertion and slightly gathered two inch puffs of handkerchief linen arranged horizontally. The sleeves are fashioned in the same way and finish just below the elbow with three tiny lace edged ruffles.

Garnets are very fashionable. Odd necklaces and pins of this becoming red stone are searched for in antique shops. A particularly original necklace was run to cover the other day consisting of small blocks of uncut garnets fastened together with invisible links.

Bracelets of all sorts are worn in extravagant numbers. Several narrow ones on the left arm are usually of "semi" as well as precious stones, set in all kinds of clever designs.

The pointed bodice is the newest thing in styles so far. Occasionally a girdle effect is the form it takes, but more often it is the waist itself, carefully shaped to fit without a wrinkle and slanting into a deep, graceful point directly in front. These waists are close fitting and well boned. There are few figures to which this bodice is not becoming, for anything that makes the waist look smaller is bound to look well on the stout and slim woman alike.

Shades running between brown and gray promise to be the leading colors of the season—such, for instance, as "smoked glass," "elephant's tail," etc.

The dress illustrated is a serviceable little frock for school wear. It is made of navy blue panama cloth trimmed with black braid. The gimp of all over embroidery softens the effect about the face, and, as it is detachable, a fresh one is easily substituted.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

HERE AND THERE.

A "Suit Yourself" Hat Season—Simplicity In Tailored Costumes.

All sorts of hats are fashionable, and one may wear what is most becoming or what appeals to one's fancy. Large and small hats have an equal following for precedence. Among the latter class is a delightful little toque formed entirely of pink roses with a splendid black aigret placed directly in front.

Cream tints are apt to make the complexion look yellow, while dead white has much to commend it. Rose and all shades of pink continue popular, but there is no color that can be called a predominant fashion. It is quite a question of pleasing oneself, though it is observable that empire green is trying hard for a place in millinery.

Chiffon broadcloth continues to be the smart material for fall and winter costumes. It is rumored that tailored suits are to be less elaborate than they were last winter, but there is every possibility that charming trimmings will be seen on the tailored gown.

There is a new color- raven's wing blue—which is in realty nothing more than a very blue black.

Gray hats are to be all the rage for theater and restaurant wear. They are kept all in one tone.

Very simple and smart is the blouse seen in the illustration. It may be successfully developed in any of the soft woolen materials or in silk. Braid trimmed bands overlaid with motifs of the same braid is the only adornment. JUDIC CHOLLET.

The Wasp's Waist.

The waist of a wasp is synonymous both in natural history and fashion for slightness. No insect has so slim a connection between the thorax and the abdomen.

Grecian Maidens and Zam-Buk!

ANCIENT AND MODERN HEALING BALMS.

NOT only did the maidens of ancient Greece and Rome anoint their skin with healing balms to preserve its youthful freshness and softness, but their warriors and gladiators also used secret balms for the healing of their wounds. These fine races fully appreciated the great influence which the condition of the skin has on general health. You don't neglect your teeth! Why neglect your skin? Roughness, redness, scaling sores, pimples, blackheads—all these, apart from cuts, bruises and skin disease, such as eczema, etc., yield to the modern herbal balm, Zam-Buk. Think how the condition of your skin affects your general health! According to Sir Erasmus Wilson, the pores by which perspiration is carried on average 3,528 to the square inch of skin surface. On your body you have a total of over two millions! These glands, placed together, would make an orifice twice the size of the human mouth. Little wonder, therefore, that a diseased skin has a bad effect on the general health. Little wonder, too, that Zam-Buk, the well-known skin cure, by cleansing the pores and dispelling disease, improves bodily health. It is, as a healer of cuts, burns, bruises, ulcers, wounds in general, and all skin diseases, however, that Zam-Buk is seen at its best. Whoever watches the healing of a wound or sore with Zam-Buk is face to face with one of Nature's greatest wonders. The healing process thus set in motion is nothing but a phenomenon of regeneration—a natural process of replacing destroyed tissues by new ones. The antiseptic substances contained in Zam-Buk first attack and kill off the microbes or germs that are the cause of inflammation or disease, and then the healing ingredients proceed to build up new tissue to replace that which has been damaged or lost. New cells appear like a builder extending a new row of houses; the whole of the wounded area is gradually over-lapped, and soon it is difficult to tell where the injury has been, so perfect and complete is the growth of the new skin. For the cure of all skin injuries and diseases stick to nature: use Zam-Buk—the natural herbal balm.

ZAM-BUK PROVED IN CANADIAN HOMES.

PROOF OF ITS MANY VARIED USES.

CURED BABY'S ECZEMA.

"My baby had a rash on its skin something like eczema," says Mrs. J. Reesor, of Aurora, in telling of what Zam-Buk had done in her family. "I decided to try Zam-Buk and obtained a supply. This I used as directed, and after a few applications an improvement was observable. I persevered and in a short time the child was quite cured. This cure by Zam-Buk was worked after I had tried many other salves and ointments without any benefit whatever. I also tried Zam-Buk for a burn and it took the fire out of it at once. Altogether I believe Zam-Buk to be an excellent balm, capable of doing all that is claimed for it."

CURED A DEEP CUT.

Mrs. H. T. Parks of Washago, Ont., writes:—"My husband had a nasty fall in which he sustained a deep gash in his chin. I applied some Zam-Buk and it was healing nicely when our supply was finished. I sent for a fresh supply and continued the treatment. I never saw anything heal quicker in my life than this wound did when Zam-Buk was applied. As a healing ointment I think it has no equal. I also proved Zam-Buk excellent for chapped and sore hands."

Zam-Buk is a cure for:—Eczema, ulcers, ringworm, abscesses, boils, pimples, eruptions, scalding sores, cuts, burns, bruises, insect stings, inflamed patches, bad legs, running sores, piles, scalp sores, chafings, sore feet, and for all injured or diseased conditions of the skin. It is also an excellent embrocation, and cures rheumatism, stiffness, sciatica, etc.

Of all druggists at 50 cents a box, or post free upon receipt of price from the Zam-Buk Co., 58 Colborne St., Toronto.

THE GREAT SKIN-CURE.

VOGUE POINTS.

An Ideal Costume For the Practical Housekeeper.

There are many women who do their own housework either as a general rule or during one of those domestic upheavals which sometimes attack the bliss of the most careful housewife. There is, however, a vast difference in the way in which different women regard the question of housework. Some really enjoy it, some consider it menial and something to be ashamed of while others moan because they find it so hard and toilsome. Yet there are many women striving to make ends meet on a tiny income who will not look the question of housework squarely in the face. There are many small houses which would be far better kept and happier places if the mistress did not content herself with "a little light dusting" and leave everything else to an ill trained general servant. If she boldly and gladly undertook the housemaid's place and trained the girl as cook, her house would be a very different place and herself a much healthier and happier woman. But there must be no pretense about it. There must be a special dress, and one neat, practical and pretty enough to glory in should it be necessary to see people during working hours.

DRESS FOR HOUSEWORK.

The working gown must be washable and experience suggests a pretty colored linen as the fabric. Green is a cool and beautiful color, it washes well and is somehow restful to wear. The gown must be simply made. A blouse and skirt is unsatisfactory because it is never tidy behind. The illustration shows an ideal costume for the practical housekeeper. The tucked bodice is set into a band into which is sewn the slightly gored full skirt. The sleeves have two sets of buttons at the wrist. One holds the cuff loosely and the next quite tight. The sleeve can be undone altogether if bare arms feel more energetic. An apron is necessary, and white linen is nicest for this, and the simpler the better.

No lady would think of sweeping and dusting with unprotected hair; the process is too unpleasant. For this purpose a mob cap is the best. It is made of spotted muslin and is but a circular piece of material with a frill attached. A slot for the string or ribbon may be used to gather it up after washing, but a beading of insertion through which the ribbon is run is perhaps daintier.

Linen Hints.

When hanging your linen to dry use two lines comparatively close and parallel for your tablecloths and sheets.

Throw one selvage side of your tablecloth over one line towards the other, allowing it to hang down about a quarter of a yard and being careful to pin it a short distance from the ends. Take the opposite of your cloth and throw it over the other line, facing the first line, and pin it in the same manner.

This will form a sort of bag and will prevent to a considerable extent the wild blowing of the tablecloth in windy weather.

After the table linen is thoroughly dried remove it from the line and prepare to dampen it. A whisk broom is excellent for the purpose.

Sprinkle the tablecloths freely, being sure that the selvage ends or hemstitched borders are thoroughly damp. Roll up tightly, patting the roll frequently to spread the dampness.

No More Convicts For Canada.

It is gratifying to be able to report that Canada's official protest against the habit of some English magistrates giving criminals the option of going to jail or "going to Canada," has at last had some effect. The other day the Recorder of London was asked to allow a young man, who pleaded guilty to stealing a watch from his mother, to be "sent to Canada." "I shall certainly not be a party to any arrangement of that kind," replied the Recorder. "Recently I consented to a boy convicted before me being sent to Canada, and this was the subject of a strong protest from the Canadian Government to the Foreign Office. Canada, naturally, very strongly objected to having sent there such emigrants. The Salvation Army, or other emigration agency, may deal with the matter; but I will not sanction any such arrangement. I shall sentence him to six months' imprisonment, without hard labor." The plea that the accused should be "sent to Canada" was emphasized by the statement that there were traces of insanity in the family!

When the Husband Laughs.

The woman who can make her lover laugh is clever, but the wife who can keep her husband laughing is one of the seven wonders of the world.

Depression, ill health, worries, quarrels—all these cease to be when one can laugh. Learn to charm the heaviness from your husband's brow, the moodiness from his mien, and you will reign in his heart for all time. Does it seem a little thing to provoke laughter, a thing hardly within the scope or dignity of a wife? That is where so many women make a great mistake. There are many times in a man's life when he longs for the gayety of a sweetheart. There is, you see, so much of the frolicsome schoolboy left in a man even when he has put away boyish things. The mischievous spirit is eager to show itself, could it but obtain opportunity; don't check it; never mind if your dignity is a wee bit ruffled or you have perforce to join in a laugh against yourself.

An Early Bird.

"Procrastination is a dangerous thing in business, isn't it?" said the young man who is anxious to learn.

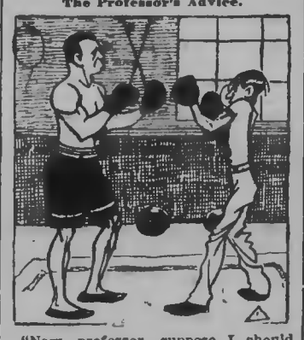
"I should say so," answered Dustin Stax. "You don't know how thankful I am that I made my pile before all that furore for investigation started in."—Washington Star.

Her Attractions.

"I can't understand what there is so attractive about Emily. She hasn't any accomplishments. All she does is to talk a little and sm a great deal."

"That's enough, isn't it?"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The Professor's Advice.



"Now, professor, suppose I should be attacked some night by a big, ruffianly fellow. What would you advise me to do?"

"Holler fur der perleece and run like the dooce."—Pick-Me-Up.

Burton and the "Arabian Nights."

Sir Richard Burton's translation of the "Arabian Nights" was sold out in ten days and brought $80,000, upon which he and his wife lived royally for five years. At his death but $2 remained of the sum, and Lady Burton deposited it in the poor box of her church.

MOTHER AND CHILD.

Let the mother take Scott's Emulsion for the two; it never fails to benefit them both. One can eat for two, but nourishing two is a different thing. It calls for a degree of internal strength that the average woman lacks. People of luxury are not very strong by habit; overworked people are weak in some functions from exhaustion or their surroundings. Scott's Emulsion can be depended upon to overcome such conditions. It is a wonderful food for a mother and child.

Roman Valets Want Mustaches.

Rome is to have the distinction of being the starting place for a unique movement directed against the tyranny of professional etiquette. Hitherto by some unwritten law the valet de chambre has been forbidden to wear a mustache, but at last he has turned. The question has been debated at a grand meeting in Rome of valets, and after considerable discussion it has been decided that henceforth they will refuse to remain clean shaven. No less than 2,000 valets voted in favor of the resolution expressing this determination and definitely engaged that in future they would allow their mustaches to grow in defiance of an outworn and tyrannous convention.—Pall Mall Gazette.

"Tippecanoe" Harrison.

General Harrison cultivated the friendliest spirit with all of his frontier soldiers, wore a buckskin jacket, was the keenest of woodsmen and in moments of leisure made real companions of his men. He could swing an ax, hunt the deer or coon, and he shot with the best. His homely, hardy ways won their love as his daring stimulated their courage. For half a century he was the archetype of pioneers, as Lincoln came to be to the generation that came after. Even yet the magic word of "Tippecanoe" will stir the reminiscences of many octogenarians in the middle west.—Lyun Tew Sprague in Outing Magazine.

A Horse and a Cow.

When in my teens, milking seven cows morning and evening and toiling on the farm all day, I made favorites of a bay mare and a Durham cow—Molly and Bess. Talk about your physical sympathy! Why, it was pathetic. Molly was my saddle horse, a single footer of rare excellence. I could ride her with one finger on the reins into the most forbidding places. Old Bess—oh, she used to kick a tooth out once in awhile and put her foot in the pail of milk, but the dear girl would follow me about with the affection of a child! Well, I was absent from the old home five years and returning found that of all the animals only Molly and Bess remained. Imagine my distress when Molly refused to notice me at all! While wondering at this loss of friendship I felt a warm, rasplike thing going over my hand, which was behind my back. Turning, I saw dear old Bess. Without notice she had come to lick me. If ever animal spoke with eyes and manner she did. Her happiness at seeing me again after so long a period was apparent to all observers, and during my brief stay at home it was all I could do to keep her from following me into the house.

No "Deadhead" Trip.

One of the most famous of American shipping lines in the palmy days of our marine was the Cope line, which ran between Philadelphia and Liverpool, says the author of "Memoirs of Charles H. Cramp." By this line John Randolph of Roanoke determined to go to Russia when he had been appointed minister to that country by President Jackson. Entering the office of the company in Philadelphia, he said to a clerk in his usual grandiloquent manner:

"Sir, I wish to see Thomas P. Cope."

He was shown to Mr. Cope's office.

"I am John Randolph of Roanoke," he said. "I wish to take passage to Liverpool in one of your ships."

If he expected to be tendered a pass he was grievously disappointed.

"I am Thomas Cope," replied the head of the line. "If thee goes aboard the ship and selects thy stateroom and will pay $150 thee may go."

A Timely Shake.

Some years ago the Duke of Connaught visited Japan and was taken by Sir Edwin Arnold round the bazars of Tokyo, where he bought many curious toys and specimens of Japanese art. In the evening he remarked to Sir Edwin that he had seen most of the sights, but had not experienced any of the earthquakes which are so common in Japan.

"I suppose you cannot show me one?" said the duke jestingly.

Immediately the house shook, the chandelier swayed backward and forward, the china and glass on the table rattled, and the door burst open.

"Why, Sir Edwin, you are a magician!" remarked the duke as the shock, which had happened at so curious a moment, subsided.

A Remarkable Epitaph.

A remarkable epitaph is on a tombstone in Brighton churchyard in England. It reads: "In memory of Phoebe Hessel, who was born at Stepney in the year 1713. She served for many years as a private soldier in the Fifth regiment of foot in different parts of Europe, and in the year 1745 fought under the command of the Duke of Cumberland at the battle of Fontenoy, where she received a bayonet wound in her arm. Her long life, which commenced in the time of Queen Anne, extended to the reign of George IV., by whose munificence she received comfort and support in her latter years. She died at Brighton, where she had long resided, Dec. 12, 1821, aged 108 years."

Atlantic Billows.

The authorities of the United States hydrographic bureau have endeavored to ascertain the size of the Atlantic waves. From careful observations they learn that in height the waves usually average about thirty feet, but in rough weather they attain from forty to forty-eight feet. In storms they are often from 500 to 600 feet long and continue to move about ten or eleven seconds, while the longest yet known measured half a mile and did not exhaust itself for twenty-three seconds.

Women as Travelers.

As a matter of genuine fact women, in nine cases out of ten, are better travelers than men are. To begin with, if not so stodgily accurate, although that by no manner of means follows, they are more fluent in modern languages. They chatter in them, say the male things. Ergo, they are the more colloquial, the readier to circumvent the wiles and extortions of kellner or of garcon.—London Gentlewoman.

A Good Dog.

"What kind of a dog is that?" asked the inquisitive man.

"I dunno jes' what kind of a dog he is," answered Mr. Erastus Pinkley, "but he's got good stock in 'im. Dat dog is so many kinds of dog dat dar's got to be good dog somewhere."

The Truth.

A teacher in explaining the different kinds of sentences to her class, asked what it would be if she said, "I am looking for a man."

"I don't know," said the boy at the foot of the class, "but I think it would be the truth."

Worse Still.

She—My! What a wicked parrot! Did it belong to a sailor before you got it?

He—No, it belonged to a man who had an alarm clock, I believe.—Yonkers Statesman.

How to Do It.

Rox—It's easy to win a woman's love. Just give her all the money she wants.

Blox—You don't call that easy, do you?

HUMOR

TEACHING HER A LESSON.

Sauntering Sim's Lecture to a Woman on the English Language.

"I think," said the kind lady, "that you will find work right around the corner there."

"Madam," said Sauntering Sim, "I was born and bred in Boston. I am sorry that you used those words. Carelessness in the use of our sacred language is to me far more distressing than hunger."

"What do you mean?" she demanded with considerable spirit, for she had once been a schoolteacher and prided herself on her parts of speech.

"That little word 'will,'" he replied. "Ah, how often it is misused! Have you ever heard of the lady who fell from the steamboat and called 'Help, help?'"

"I don't remember it," she answered.

"Well," he went on, "this poor woman fell into the water, having neglected to inform herself concerning the proper use of the words 'will' and 'shall.' It happened that no heroes were on deck when she went overboard; therefore her appeals for help were made in vain. 'Help, help, help!' she shouted, but no one went to her assistance, and in despair she cried: 'Nobody shall help me! I will drown!' What she meant, of course, was: 'Nobody will help me! I shall drown!' You see what a difference the transposition of those two small words makes."

"But I don't know what that has to do with me," the lady said.

"Alas," he almost sobbed, "alas, alas! Why will people who are otherwise fairly intelligent make such woeful assaults upon our beloved English? You said, 'I think you will find work around the corner.' Mark the misuse of the word 'will.' If you had said, 'I think you may or might find work around'"—

But she let the dog out just then, and the lecture was off.—Chicago Record-Herald.

He Dodged.

It is said of a noted Virginia judge that in a pinch he always came out ahead. An incident of his childhood might go to prove this.

"Well, Benny," said his father when the lad had been going to school about a month, "what did you learn today?"

"About the mouse, father."

"Spell mouse," his father said.

After a pause Benny answered.

"Father, I don't believe it was a mouse after all; it was a rat."—Lippincott's Magazine.

In For the Stuff.

"Your honor," said the prisoner, "I have always been out for the stuff."

"Have you any money to pay your fine?" asked the judge.

"No, sir."

"Then," said the judge, with a grim smile, "you will go in for want of the stuff this time."—Baltimore American.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Not Particular.

"These are hard lines," said the tourist wearily, as he paused to look at the landscape. "Here I've climbed to the top of this mountain and forgot to bring my glasses with me."

Her Little Mouth.

"Still dreaming of Miss Pechis, eh?" inquired Miss Knox.

Measured the Time.

An old sailor was being examined in an assault case by a cute young lawyer, who questioned his veracity regarding a matter of time.

"You had no watch, and yet you are positive that the defendant was only ten minutes absent. I doubt if you are able to estimate ten minutes of time correctly," he said.

"Try me," said the old tar.

The lawyer drew his watch from his pocket and said, "When I call out 'Now' you allow ten minutes to pass, and when it is up call out 'Time's up.'"

The old salt nodded, and the lawyer called out "Now." Slowly the time passed, and the lawyer, with watch in hand, tried to wheedle him into an admission that time was up. The sailor paid no heed and exactly at the end of the ten minutes shouted, "Time's up." The bewildered lawyer turned round confused at the court's loud laughter, and his eye lighted on the courtroom clock behind him, which had assisted the oil sailor in his task.

Rossini's Laziness.

Rossini was one of the most indolent of men and in his younger days used to do most of his composing in bed. Once he had almost completed a trio, when the sheet fell out of his hand and went under the bed. He could not reach it, and, rather than get up, he wrote another. The lazy man, if he works at all, does so by spurts, and Rossini, working against time, wrote "The Barber of Seville" in thirteen days. When Donizetti was told of this he remarked, "It is very possible. He is so lazy!" The overture to the "Gazza Ladra" was written under curious circumstances. On the very day of the first performance of the opera not a note of the overture was written, and the manager, getting hold of Rossini, confined him in the upper left of La Scala, setting four scene shifters on guard over him. These took the sheets as they were filled and threw them out of the windows to copyists beneath.

Subjective Drowning.

The dentist's chair was tipped so far back that escape for the village seamstress, a lady of remarkable conversational ability, was impossible. Wads of absorbent cotton were tucked beneath her tongue, some patent appliance held her jaws apart, and all the lower half of her countenance except one back tooth was concealed under a decidedly damp rubber dam. The patient's mouth was full of water, speech was impossible, and the poor, naturally talkative lady was suffering agonies of discomfort.

The engrossed dentist paid no heed to her squirmings or to the appeal in her eyes. Fortunately, however, the patient's hands were free. Groping in the reticule that hung from her belt, she brought forth paper and pencil and wrote:

"Help! Help! I'm drowning."—Youth's Companion.

A Poet's Curious Compliment.

It was the habit of Richard Henry Stoddard, the poet, to always speak well of every one. No matter how bad the character of a person, the good gray poet invariably found some trait to praise. One day in his office on Park row some friend entered and asked him whether he knew so and so and, if so, what was the man's reputation. It happened that the man had a shady reputation and was well known as a "gold brick" operator. The aged poet lighted his pipe and answered:

"Yes, I know him. He is the most energetic, progressive, irrepressible, good natured, artistic kind of an unmitigated rascal that I ever met."—Leslie's Weekly.

Cold Storage In Irish Bogs.

For long it puzzled me to know what the poachers did with the birds they shot in July. There is no cold storage in the north of Ireland, but they have discovered an excellent substitute. The birds are buried four or five feet deep in dry peat, and, I am told, come out perfectly fresh at the end of two or three weeks. When one remembers the bog butter dug out of the peat bogs in a comparatively fresh state after being buried for probably 200 or 300 years, it is not difficult to believe that grouse might keep, under the same circumstances, for two or three weeks.—Letter in Country Life.

The Tact Market.

Chancellor James R. Day was once advising a young undergraduate of Syracuse university to cultivate tact. "But, alas," he said, "I fear that advice on such a subject must always be wasted. On tact the last word was spoken by Barbey d'Aureville when he said:

"'If tact could be bought, only those already possessed of it would want to buy it.'"

Making New Rubber Plants.

From a rubber plant which is growing in a living room, the best way to get plants is by scoring the bark of the limb where you want the roots to grow and covering the injury with sphagnum moss, which must always be kept damp. Roots will soon permeate the moss, when the limb should be cut off and potted.—Garden Magazine.

Kept Her Word.

"This," said the school friend who had not seen her for a year, "this is the girl who vowed to me that she never would belong to any man, eh?"

"I don't," said she who had been married the matter of some few months or so. "He belongs to me."

"After all," said the moralist, "the almighty dollar is man's greatest enemy. It"—

"If that's so," interrupted old Roxley, "I guess that young wife of mine merely loves me for the enemies I've made."

Not Intended.

Hundreds of men and women are asking themselves that question. They are not well—and yet not exactly ill. Doctors say—"all run down—need a tonic." But tonics fail to bring back health and strength. It may be that your kidneys are affected. Here's a simple test to prove it:—

Collect the urine passed in the morning, in a glass vessel or bottle, and let stand 12 hours. If there is a reddish deposit—if the urine is cloudy or milky—or if there are floating particles or shreds—then assuredly there is some serious derangement of the kidneys.

Healthy urine stays perfectly clear.

HIGH RENT FOR GOOD LIGHT

Diamond Dealers Spare No Expense to Show Their Gems.

Diamond cutting is probably the only manufacturing industry in New York that can afford a location in the heart of the financial district.

The workshop here is said to be superior to that of the Amsterdam and Antwerp factories in the mathematical accuracy with which the facets of large stones are cut. New York, consequently, sends cut stones to Europe, besides supplying the United States.

The bulk of the New York diamond trade, including a considerable amount of the cutting, is done in Maiden lane, between Broadway and Nassau street, a single block. Most of the dealers occupy offices in modern skyscrapers.

To show their gems they need a clear, steady light, which in the case of natural light is afforded only by a northern exposure; hence, offices on the lower side of Maiden lane cost 20 to 25 per cent more than offices on the upper side.

The difference in rent would be still greater but for the fact that courts admitting northern light are provided in the buildings that face the south. Artificial light may also be used.

One house shows gems in a room draped with black velvet and lighted by electricity. Its natural light was ruined by the erection of a yellow brick building on the opposite side of the street, the reflection from which gives an inferior color to the purest stones.

Maiden lane rents are higher even than Broadway rents, reaching $4.75 a square foot per annum for offices just above the ground floor.—Washington Post.

Homemade Grape Juice.

A pleasant water drink is grape juice, which can be easily made at home for very much less than is charged in the shops. To make a drink that will keep for two years in a dark place add one quart of water to three quarts of picked grapes and cook until the grapes are broken up. Strain twice, once through cheesecloth and once through flannel. Add sufficient sugar and boil, being careful not to make too sweet a sirup. One or two cupfuls of sugar to two gallons of juice should suffice, according to the flavor of the fruit. Bottle it hot and seal securely. A mixture of two or more kinds of grapes gives the best result, Delaware and Niagara, and Catawba, Niagara and Concord being excellent combinations. A quart can be made for as low as 10 cents if the fruit is bought when it is at bottom price and preserved quickly.—New York Post.

Mountain Guns.

The French war department is testing a new quick firing mountain gun for use by the Alpine regiments and in the colonies. The gun hitherto in use has many drawbacks. Among others, the recoil has to be controlled by ropes held by men, and even with these there are frequent mishaps that are only rectified by much labor. The new gun is free from these disadvantages. There is an automatic check action controlling the recoil, and the gun is able to discharge twenty-three shots a minute without its position being at all affected. Its range is 5,000 yards against 3,000 yards for the present gun. The batteries, however, will have to be of four or five guns only, as four mules are needed for transport instead of three. In addition to this, the increased rapidity of fire will necessitate a larger supply of munitions.

In Justice to "Henry Hudson."

Hugh Hastings, New York state historian, has in Harper's Weekly an article in defense of the spelling of the name of the discoverer of the Hudson river as "Henry" instead of "Hendrick" or any of its variations, such as "Hendrik" or "Hendryck." Mr. Hastings says that "the blazing fact that Hudson was an Englishman is not only ignored or overlooked but is often complacently repudiated by persons who ought to know better. He adds that documents of The Hague bear ample evidence of the clumsy Dutch scrivener's hand in dealing with the pronunciation of Hudson's name. One Dutch document spells the explorer's name "Heyndrick Holtsen." A Latin tract published at Amsterdam characterizes him, "M. Henrico Hudsono, Anglo."

Horses in Argentina.

Traveling on the Argentine pampas is interesting if not entirely comfortable. Men there are scarce, but horses are plentiful. Often sixty horses are driven in the same team. The driver is perched thirty feet from the ground. The wagons are sometimes fifty feet long and fifteen wide, while the back wheels are fourteen feet or so high.

Finger Language.

A deaf and dumb person who is fairly expert at finger language can speak about forty-three words a minute. In the same space of time a person in possession of his speech will probably speak one hundred and fifty words.

Loretto Litanies.

Loretto litanies cannot be traced beyond the fifteenth century and did not originate at the shrine, but were carried there by pilgrims.

WOMAN'S WORLD

MISS JANE MORGAN.

A Master Mariner Qualified to Command Any Vessel Afloat.

Miss Jane Morgan of Philadelphia holds a commission as a master mariner from the United States board of engineers and has full legal authority to command any vessel afloat that happens to be in need of a pilot or captain. Miss Morgan, or "Captain Jane," is a daughter of Randal Morgan of Philadelphia, owner of the steam yacht Warturus, which is rated one of the finest vessels of its class afloat.

About a year ago Miss Morgan was granted a second class pilot's certificate for the Delaware river and bay. As this did not allow her to sail the Warturus, which is a ship of 610 tons burden, she decided to secure a master mariner's license. In order to get this she took a special course in astronomy, studied ship construction, the mechanism of all nautical instruments and made herself thoroughly familiar with all the peculiarities of the Atlantic seaboard. She mastered the signal system in use on the high seas and proved her ability to perform all the offices of a master mariner in fair as well as in foul weather. Only five women in the world have been commissioned as master mariners. Miss Morgan commands the Warturus on its long cruises to the Mediterranean and other foreign waters.—Chicago Tribune.

The Ideal Kitchen.

The ideal kitchen, no matter how modest, must meet several absolute requirements. The sanitary conditions must be perfect in regard to both cleanliness and ventilation, and the greatest possible convenience and economy of time, labor and patience must be attained for the cook.

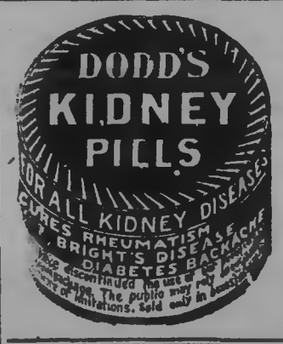
Cleanliness is the first consideration. Walls, floor, furniture and utensils must be nonabsorbent, scrubable with soap and water, free from threatening cracks and crevices and all open to the daylight, without dark, inaccessible corners. The strength and patience of the person doing the scrubbing must also be considered and the surfaces made as easy to clean and polish as possible. Tiles upon floor and walls reduce this labor to a minimum and are a joy to look upon, but they are not a joy to tread and stand upon, because they are too hard and jar and tire a person on this account. Cement floors have this same objection. It is well to have rubber or fiber mats in front of the sink and work tables at least, if the floor is of tile or cement. For most of us tiles are too expensive. The locked rubber tiles, which are much easier for the feet, are also expensive. Hard wood comes next on the list, but that spots and stains so easily that it is a continual source of trouble. Soft wood floors absorb spots and dirt even more than the hard wood and are continually splintering. Paint wears off very rapidly with constant scrubbing. The one that has proved the most practical and the best up to the present time is the soft pine floor made of narrow boards carefully and closely laid and covered with heavy imported linoleum. The linoleum is expensive at first, but will wear for years.—Harper's Bazar.

Wives as Chums.

A certain amount of reading and study of current events is equally important in the work of the day as the dusting of the rooms in order that a wife may be able to discuss events intelligently with her husband or her husband's friends. Another way, also, of becoming a husband's chum as well as his housekeeper is to endeavor to assist him, at any rate in sympathy and interest, in the work which occupies him during the day. Few women realize what assistance they could render their husbands, nor do they see that the overtures of such assistance must come from themselves. This hint also applies to the older daughters, if there be such in the household, as well as to the house mother, whose time may be already occupied, says Woman's Life. It is rare that a man will make any suggestion of this kind, but let him once see such a desire on the part of his daughter or his wife and he will be more than ready to encourage her.

Brown Hair.

Brown hair is usually much prettier when there is a little glimmer of auburn among the darker shades. This red glow may be obtained by the use of henna stain. You can purchase a few ounces of the dried leaves by applying at any drug store. Take these leaves and of them make a strong brew, steeping for twenty minutes and adding a few tablespoonfuls of alcohol to the liquid. Shampoo the hair and dry it, then apply the henna stain, leaves and all, allowing it to dry on to the hair, after which mud bath process the hair must be shampooed again with hot water and six or seven eggs. When your topknot is almost dry, sit down in a sunshiny window and let Mr. Sun do a little tinting for you. The change will not be very decided the first time. There is not the slightest need of having any anxiety that the henna will make the hair too red. It is a harmless application.



Shortening Baby's Dresses.

If the baby's slips and dresses are very long, shortening time should be turned into an advantageous one to the mother. Cutting the skirt of the little dress in half will probably result in a long left over piece big enough to do duty as another little dress if it is mounted upon a yoke and furnished with sleeves. What is cut off the long flannel petticoats will make a new petticoat if put on the little "body" of muslin. And, by the way, make his petticoats button on the shoulders. The petticoats are more easily done up and the baby a lot more comfortable.

Cold Roast Meats.

What to do with cold roast meats is often a problem. Cold lamb is excellent when served in aspic jelly. Make the jelly, or buy it, which is easier and nearly as good every way, and pour a little in the bottom of a mold. Cut the lamb in thin slices of uniform size and trim them neatly. When the layer of jelly is hard, arrange the slices with layers of jelly and pour jelly in last of all. When the dish is quite firm, unmold and decorate with small olives, truffles, capers or pimentoes and garnish with water cresses.

The Gushing Girl.

Who doesn't know the girl who gushes and gurgles? She thinks herself desperately fascinating, while other people think she is—well, they soon get tired of her. At first they think it rather refreshing to come across a girl always so pleasant, and she flatters so much. But, then, when every one is flattered in the same way and it is overdone all round it gets tiring. The gushing girl spoils herself by overdoing the gushing business, and those who would like to be her friends are obliged to drop her.

Care of the Cellar.

The cellar should be kept as clean and dry as possible. Damp cellars in which are allowed to collect numberless articles, clean and dirty, of practically no value, are frequently the cause of serious illness. After ridding the cellar of all dilapidated furniture, etc., brush down the cobwebs and sweep out the dust. Give it a good airing on a sunny day and then go over the walls, shelves and cupboards with a coat of whitewash.

Don't Neglect the Mattress.

Save the expense of having your mattress made over every year by having a darning needle at hand with some small upholstery twine which may be bought for a few cents. Whenever one of the original tackings breaks fix it immediately, putting back the leather button and fastening it securely. You will be surprised to see how much longer mattresses will last with such treatment.

Soap.

Never leave soap standing in water, because it wastes it. Never throw your shells of soap away. Put them in a jar, fill up with water, put it in an oven and let it boil well, with a lid over the top, and when the soap is all dissolved take it out and put it to cool and you will be able to cut it out; therefore you can use it again. It is useful for washing flannels.

Thick Lips.

Thick lips can be overcome to a certain extent by acquiring the habit of holding the lips close to the teeth and keeping the muscles about the mouth firm and tight. The woman who stands about with her mouth open permits the muscles to become large and relaxed, and the result is anything but conducive to fair looks.

A Lined Bodice.

In making a bodice with a lining remember that while the lining itself should be well fitted to the figure the material should be a little looser. If it is stretched tightly over the lining the bodice will probably lose its shape, and if the material is at all loosely woven it will give at the seams.

The Worried Woman.

The worried woman is not the one who has trouble, but the one who is looking for trouble. She meets trouble more than halfway. As a rule the woman who has real troubles is too busy making the best of things that have happened to worry about things that may happen.

Our First Chemical Factory.

The first chemical factory opened in this country was in Salem, Mass., in 1811. At first great objection was made to the establishment of the factory, the persons living near claiming that the fumes of the chemicals poisoned the air and made life intolerable.

AN ODD BIRD SPECIES.

She Does the Courting and He Most of the Nursery Work.

Wilson's phalarope is very common in nearly all parts of the northwestern prairies wherever there are grassy pools or sloughs. It is a quiet, beautiful little bird, with no immodest outcries, feeding prettily along the moist margins of the sloughs and not distressing itself over our presence. From nearly every standpoint this phalarope, like all other species of its class, is an anomaly among the birds. Apparently a land bird, it has partially webbed or scalloped feet and is a good and graceful swimmer. The female is the larger and handsomer of the pair. She does the courting and he most of the subsequent incubation and nursery work. He is duly meek and obedient, as becomes the husband of an amazon, for so worthy and strenuous a young female as she will not tolerate a buck hanging around idle when there is plenty of useful work to be done. For her part, to lay eggs so big that the chicks are clothed and able to run at birth is all that should reasonably be expected of her. Their marital relations are otherwise scandalous from our point of view. Two or three idle, vainglorious females are often seen devoting themselves to one little male at the height of the nesting season, and no one seems to be sure whether or not he is the husband of any one or all of them. Anyhow, they are all head over ears in love with him.—Herbert K. Job in Outing Magazine.

INDIAN REMEDIES.

Peculiar Medical Methods Used In the Far East.

Great virtues are ascribed to the claws and horns of certain animals. Tigers' claws are in great demand with the common people. One or two claws may be worn near the loins, but should one possess a larger number the fortunate owner makes a garland of them and wears them around his neck. Deer's horn ground into the paste is an excellent balm for pain and swellings. A more curious use is found for the same substance; it is sometimes made into a powder which is supposed to aid the growth of stunted women. The joints taken from the long and slender tail of the black scorpion are supposed to keep illness at arm's distance when children wear them on their waist thread.

A red or swollen eye is cured by having it touched with the bolt or chain of a door. A remedy which I have seen applied with considerable effect in more than one epileptic fit is to place a bunch of keys in the palm of the sufferer. I have heard it said that the fit passes away as readily if the keys are placed on the head. A rather quaint remedy in the case of a sprained neck is to use an iron measure for a pillow.

Sore throat is cured by spitting on redhot iron, quite the simplest and least expensive cure known to the native doctor. Peacock's flesh and pig's ghee are the best medicines for acute rheumatism.

Making Knives.

In the manufacture of knives the division of labor has been carried to such an extent that one knife is handled by seventy different artisans from the moment the blade is forged until the instrument is finished and ready for the market.

NOT MUCH EXCITEMENT AT WARSAW OVER BANK TROUBLE

Mr. R. T. Kilwert, of Bank of Montreal, Takes Charge of the Branch—First Meeting of the Warsaw Choral Society—Other News Notes.

Examiner Special

Warsaw, October 17.—The report on Saturday morning that the Ontario Bank was in trouble, followed immediately as it was, by a second to the effect that it had been taken over by the Bank of Montreal, did not cause much confusion to the depositors of the local branch.

A number of wild rumors which floated about were the means of bringing a few bill holders and depositors in early Monday morning, yet they were easily convinced that their money was in safe hands and that they did not stand to loose.

Mr. R. T. Kilvert, of the Bank of Montreal, arrived yesterday to formally take over the local branch which will be continued for the present in charge of Mr. G. L. McClennan.

A large number were present on Saturday evening at the initial meeting of the "Warsaw Choral Society."

The class will meet every Friday evening and it is expected several concerts will be given later.

Ven. Archdeacon Warren, Lakefield, and Rev. H. F. Battersby, of Young's Point, were in town on Monday.

Miss Clokey, of Toronto, was a guest of Miss Clara Madill Saturday.

Mrs. N. E. Bell, of Peterborough, who has been spending a week with her parents here, returned to the city on Monday.

Ennismore People Appreciate Service

Given by New Telephone Line—Forty Hours Devotion at St. Martin's Church—Diptheria Has Disappeared—Real Estate Changes—Two Marriages.

Examiner Special

Ennismore, Oct. 19.—On Monday evening last the forty hours' devotion began at St. Martin's, Ennismore, and concluded on Thursday morning at 11 o'clock. There were present to assist the pastor, Ven. Archdeacon Casey, Lindsay, Rev. Father Collins, Bracebridge; Rev. P. J. McGuire, Downeyville; Rev. C. S. Brettorton, Hastings; Rev. P. J. O'Leary, Galway; Rev. Jos. O'Sullivan, Victoria Road, and Dr. O'Brien, of the cathedral staff. The different exercises were loyally attended, especially at High Mass in the morning, and Benediction each evening, when instructions were given by the visiting clergy.

The telephone service to Ennismore is most satisfactory, and the people fully appreciate the advantages it affords. The new cable used in the line is the first of its kind in this part of the country.

During the past two weeks the following purchases of real estate have been made in the township: Mr. Jno. Geary bought Mr. Jas. Chandley's farm; Mr. Nat. Carew the property of Mr. F. Crough, situated at the Cross; Mr. Dan. Hickson, the former homestead of Nat. Carew; Mr. Leonard Clancy, the Crowley farm in Otonabee.

The many friends of Miss Katie Gannon will be pleased to learn that she has almost entirely recovered from her recent attack of typhoid fever.

No traces of diptheria are noticed in the township, and the school in Section No. 1 will be open again on Monday Next.

Last Monday, Mr. John Crough, of Alberta, and Miss Mary O'Brien, of Ennismore, were united in the holy bonds of wedlock by Rev. Dr. O'Brien. On the same morning the reverend gentleman made John Carr and Elizabeth McDonnel man and wife.

Conservatives Hold Smoker

Pleasant Evening Spent In Club Rooms Last Night.

The Young Conservatives held a very successful smoker in their club rooms last evening. Under the influence of Sweet Nicotine an enjoyable time was spent. Many amused themselves at cards, while other games, with music, served to make the evening a most enjoyable one. On Saturday night the members are requested to be present to discuss the advisability of changing the date of the beginning of the year from January to Thanksgiving Day.

Delightful Event At George Street

Thanksgiving Night Was Pleasantly Spent There.

The social evening given by the Ladies' Aid of the George street Methodist church, last night, proved to be a delightful event.

The lecture room of the church was spread with numerous tables, and an excellent supper was provided. Every table was filled several times and at least 350 dined with the ladies there last night.

An interesting programme of a musical and literary nature, including a number of addresses, followed the supper. Every number was well received, and delighted the large audience.

The following was the programme: Introducing members, Mr. McCann.
Address, Dr. Crothers.
Recitation, Miss Eva Stevenson.
Solo, Miss Manning.
Recitation, Miss Hazel Pentland.
Address, Rev. Mr. Manning.
Solo Mr. Barber.
Recitation, Miss Katie Leary.
Address, Mr. Wilson, M.P.
Recitation, Miss Maud Oliver.
Quartette, from choir.
Recitation, Miss Eva Stevenson.

The delightful evening was brought to a close by the singing of the National Anthem.

NO EXORBITANT PROFITS.

Slater Shoes Made and Marketed to Protect the Buyer.

"We want shoes upon which we can place our own profit," said a shoe dealer, who was discontented with the stamped price and fixed profit on the Slater Shoe.

The Slater Shoe system protects the shoe wearer from exacting exorbitant profits; it further enables the maker to make a first-class shoe, and allows the dealer a fair profit. Both price and trade mark are stamped on the real Slater Shoe, and the buyer who is careful to see these cannot be deceived. Slater Shoes at $4, $5 and $6 for men, and at $3.50, $4 and $5 for women are all Goodyear welted and warranted. R. Neill, exclusive agent, Peterborough.

PETERBOROUGH FRIDAY OCTOBER 19 1906

Thanksgiving Day was spent quietly in Peterborough; the only incident creating any excitement here during the day being the Examiner Road Race. A number of persons left the city for the day to visit friends, and many visitors came to the city. A fire occurred at Nassau, where the Orange Hall was burned.

Yesterday was devoted to the consideration of the question of Home Missions at the Ontario and Quebec Baptist Convention, the sessions of which are being held in the Murray Street Baptist Church. Reports were presented from the different branches of Home Missions and addresses given. To-day is devoted to educational subjects.

The first annual Road Race, under the auspices of the Examiner for a silver cup, presented by Hon. J. R. Stratton, was run yesterday from Lakefield to Peterborough and won by Ray P. Best, whose time for the ten miles was 59.50 minutes. Ernest A. Wilson finished second, seven seconds behing the winner.

RAY BEST WINS EXAMINER CUP

Ernie Wilson a Close Second in First Annual Examiner Road Race Held Yesterday Morning.

Greatest Sporting Event of its Kind in History of Peterboroudh—4,000 Spectators Along Route of Race.

Time Against Head Wind Was 59.50—Both Winners Y. M. C. A. Men—Seventeen Runners Started.

No sporting event in the history of Peterborough has awakened the general interest in the city and county the first annual road race run under the auspices of the Examiner did yesterday. For weeks past the race has been, in many quarters, almost the sole topic of conversation, and, as the day for the running off of, the event approached, speculation on the winner was rife. Many of those who entered were comparative strangers to the majority of the citizens, which only increased the latters' interest and curiosity.

The weather conditions were simply perfect—no one could possibly have looked for better, and to this fact may, perhaps, be attributed the good time made by the winner, though, but for a head wind, there is little doubt that three or four minutes would have been lopped off the record.

Of the twnty-one who entered for the race, seventeen started from the Lakefield House, when starter Craig lined up the contestants for the the starting word. This fact, in itself is a matter worthy of note. Those who started, with their numbers were:—

1. A. Williams, Peterborough.
2. W. J. McBurney, Havelock.
3. A. Latimer, Peterborough.
4. Ernest Jarman, Peterborough.
5. A. W. Spenceley, Peterborough.
6. William J. Todd, Peterborough.
8. E. V. Morphet, Peterborough.
10. Gordon Fitzgerald, Peterborough.
11. E. A. Wilson, Peterborough.
12. Ray P. Best, Peterborough.
13. H. M. Yelland, Peterborough.
15. J. Ranger, Peterborough.
16. D. W. Elliott, Peterborough.
17. Stephen Rose, Otonabee.
18. Herbert Peters, Otonabee.
20. Charles Benton, Lakefield.
21. Fred Simpson, Hiawatha.

The men who entered and who did not start were:—

7. Wm. Layne,
9. Wm. Stuart,
14. H. J. Staunton,
19. Samuel Cain.

A Popular Event

Never in the recollection of that much-quoted individual, "the oldest resident have the streets of Peterborough contained such a crowd on a Thanksgiving Day, as that which gathered on them yesterday, for the purpose of witnessing the finish of the greatest running event in the city's history. From Smith street to Hunter both sides were lined several deep, while from Brock to Hunter traffi was entirely suspended. It is estimated that fully three thousand persons were gathered on George street at the hour of the finsh, while over the whole route of the race spectators were scattered, fully one thousand having congregated in addition to those who were close to the finishing line.

Evidence of the popularity of the event was not lacking, citizens both young and old expressing their pleasure and complimenting the Examiner on its effort to encourage amateur runners by means of this race, which is undoubtedly destined to become one of the most important sporting events in Ontario, and many believe, will result in the development in Peterborough of runners who will bring credit and fame to it, as Hamilton runners have brought to the "Ambitious City."

The Winner

The winner of the race, Ray P. Best is one of the best athletes in the city, and no one will begrudge him his victory, which he well earned. His time, 59.50, is also a matter for congratulation, and is an evidence of the fact that there is among the athletes in Peterborough the making of some splendid runners. Ernest A Wilson, who finished second also deserves great credit for the game race he ran. He finished just seven seconds behind Best, and considering the fact that he ran from Nassau with a sore foot, and had to be carried to the Y.M.C.A. after the race his work is remarkable.

A fact, which should not go unrecorded is that the two men who finished first, and to whom the prizes go are members of the Y.M.C.A., and ran under the colours of that institution. A number of other contestants were also members of the Association, and the majority of them

THE WINNERS.

Ray P. Best, Peterboro', 59.50
E. A. Wilson, " 59.57

Best wins the Examiner Cup which he holds for a year, and a gold ring, and Wilson, as second prize winner, will be given a gold and pearl tie pin.

The other three men who finished—Simpson, McBurney and Spenceley—will be given bronze medals in consideration of their good performance.

Nassau Orange Hall Was Destroyed By Fire

While Men Were Shingling Roof Building Took Fire and Was Totally Destroyed.

The Orange Hall at Nassau in which many notable Orange gatherings have been held in the past, and which a number of the members of that order were yesterday engaged in repairing and improving, was destroyed by fire, while the men were working on it.

It appears that a number of members of Nassau Lodge decided to make a bee yesterday and reshingle the roof. They had been at work half a day when the roof of the hall took fire, and despite the heroic efforts of those who were much discouraged at seeing their beloved hall going up in smoke, the structure was totally destroyed with the sheds adjoining.

As to the origin of the fire there is a deep mystery, no one apparently knowing how it started. A train passed a few minutes before the fire was first noticed, at 12.50, and there is a supposition that a spark from the engine was the cause, while another theory is that a lighted match was dropped, but in view of the fact that the fire was first seen in the roof this explanationi s not considered a satisfactory one.

Within a few minutes after the fire broke out the whole building was in flames, and, while the greater part of the contents were saved, the building itself, with the sheds adjoining was totally destroyed.

Veteran Newspaper Man At Convention

Mr. A. McNee, of Windsor, One of Baptist Delegates.

Sunday School Anniversary

Rev. S. S. Bates and Rev. W. B. Merrill to Speak at Charlotte Street.

Rev. S. S. Bates, D. D., and Rev. W. B. Merrill, B.A., have been appointed by the Baptist convention to preach Sunday school anniversary sermons in the Charlotte street church, the former in the morning, and the latter in the evening.

Both of these men have been closely identified with the Sunday school work of the church. They will address the open meeting of the school in the afternoon.

Bank System Was The Subject

Of the Discussion at the Debating Club.

There was a good attendance at the Debating Club at the Y.M.C.A. on Wednesday evening, despite its nearness to the holiday. Mr. Williamson presiedd.

Mr. Fred Ray gave an able review of current events, and the impromptu speeches were of a high order, including the following subjects: "Banking System of Canada," "Thanksgiving Day," "Woman's Suffrage," and other interesting topics.

Four new members signed the roll.

C. P. R. Short Line To Touch Peterborough

Radial Railway Co. Have Received Blue Prints Showing Route Through Jackson Park.

The C. P. R short line from Victoria Harbour, according to indications, will touch Peterborough after all, and not connect with the C. P. R. main line between here and Havelock, as has been stated.

The Peterborough Radial Railway Company a few days ago received from the C. P. R. a blue print showing the points at which their line would intersect the Radial Railway Company's tracks. No information was given save that application had been made to the Railway Commission for permission to cross the street car tracks.

The line will follow that laid out by the first survey of the C. P. R., and will run through the eastern portion of Jackson Park, paralleling the G.T.R. at that point. Passing to the east of the skating rink it will pass through the line of the toboggan slide, and across the street railway tracks on McDonel street, a few hundred feet from the boundary. The line will then pass near Mr. Hugh Waddell's residence, in North Monaghan and connect with the main line of the C. P. R. at Alfred street.

The intimation that the C.P.R. line is to run through Peterborough, will be welcome news to everyone who has the interests of Peterborough at heart. It means big things for the city, and everyone will feel relieved that the first report in regard to the line seems to have been premature.

NEW PRESIDENT.

Mr. R. D. Warren, who was yesterday elected to the presidency of the Baptist Convention, is a newspaper man, whose services and devotion to the church were recognized in his election to the highest office in the Convention. Mr. Warren is business manager of the Standard Publishing Company, the publishers of the "Canadian Baptist," and is also warden of the county of Halton. His many friends in the journalistic profession will warmly congratulate him on his election.

Convention Of Christians Opens

Annual Gathering Taking Place in This City--About 200 Delegates in Attendance.

Last night the annual Thanksgiving Convention of Christians opened in the Gospel Hall, George street, with a large representation of the two hundred delegates in attendance. They had not all arrived in the city last night, but each train bore a large number of delegates, with Bibles. The meeting last night partook of the nature of a prayer and praise service, and was well attended.

This morning, at 9 o'clock, the sessions resumed, with a Bible reading, and at 10.30 the ministry of the Word was held. A session opened again at 2.30 this afternoon, and at 7.30 to-night there will be a gospel meeting, to which all are invited. A feature of the meetings is the fact that there is no presiding officer. The meetings are conducted according to the inclinations of those who are present. Someone suggests a hymn, and it is sung; another reads a passage of Scripture, and a discussion on it follows.

The meetings will be continued to-morrow and on Sunday.

Pleasant At Home By St. Peter's T.A.S.

Enjoyable Evening Spent in the Society's Rooms Last Night.

Those present at the "At Home" in St. Peter's T. A. S. rooms last night were unanimous in declaring it a most enjoyable event. There were a large number in attendance, as there always are, and in every respect the social was a decided success. Progressive euchre formed the first part of the evening's entertainment, there being twenty-eight tables in use. The gentleman's prize was won by Mr. R. Desmond, while Miss L. Pope was the winner of the lady's prize.

The next feature was the repast served by the ladies, which, like those of the past, was very appetizing. Two long tables were set in the ladies' reading-room, to accommodate fifty-eight persons. They were prettily decorated with flowers, etc., but especially with the good things with which they were laden. A beautiful Thanksgiving cake, which occupied a prominent position on one of the tables, was auctioned off to Mr. Croedon, of the Rapid Tool Co. Mr. T. Hooper did the catering, which is saying sufficient, while Messrs. Coleman were the makers of the Thanksgiving cake.

The party broke up about 1 o'clock, this morning after one of the most successful entertainments in the history of the T. A. S.

"Buster Brown" Getting Educated

Some More of His Adventures Will be Seen To-morrow.

"Buster Brown" is still "Getting an Education," and his fresh exploits with another new teacher are told in the cartoons, which will be published in The Examiner to-morrow. The advance sheets of to-morrow's cartoons substantiate proof of the statement that each one is more funny than its predecessor. Get a copy of The Examiner to-morrow.

Mr. McGill Neither Pleaded Or Elected

Was Arraigned at Police Court To-day—Remanded For One Week—Mr. Cockburn Pleaded Not Guilty.

Examiner Special.

Toronto, Oct. 19—Charles McGill, former manager of the Ontario Bank, charged with making false returns to the Government and G. R. R. Cockburn, president, charged with signing these false statements appeared before the police magistrate this morning. The proceedings were very brief. Mr. McGill, through his counsel E. F. B. Johnston, did not either plead or elect, and was remanded for a week, his bail being renewed. Mr. Cockburn was represented by Frank Arnoldi who pleaded not guilty for his client. A remand was granted in Mr. Cockburn's case also for a week.

FACTS ABOUT THE WINNERS

Ray P. Best, the winner of the cup, has lived in Peterborough only a year and a half, and this was his first big race. He is a son of Mr. E. E. Best, of Winnipeg, Public School Inspector for the Northeastern District of Manitoba. He was born in Gladstone, Man., and is 21 years of age. He has lived the greater part of his life in Winnipeg, where he ran his only foot-race before his triumph of yesterday, a quarter of a mile race, which he won against 13 competitors.

He weighs about 145 pounds and is always in good condition. He is a member of the Y.M.C.A. Harriers' Club.

Ernest A. Wilson is a son of Mr. Alva Wilson, and lives at 67 Wescott street. He is 19 years of age, and is a native of the city, where he attended the South Ward school, until he passed the Entrance Examinations, after taking a course in the Peterborough Business College, and later entered the employ of J. C. Turnbull & Co., with which firm he has been identified for five years. This was his first long race, but in 1904 he won the junior championship of the Y.M.C.A., being first in the 100 yard, and 1-4 mile, and second in 220 yard races. The same year he won the Y.M.C.A. championship at camp. He is of course a member of the association, running under its colours. He is a very modest boy, and asked the Examiner to state that in his opinion the "best" man won.

Educational Work Important Factor In The Baptist Church

Reports of This Branch Were Presented at This Morning's Session of the Baptist Convention--Good Year's Work of Baptist Publications--Grande Ligne Missions Report a Prosperous Year.

To-day was Educational Day at the Convention and after devotional exercises, conducted by Rev. G. C. Rock, this morning, the report of the Board of Publication was read by the Chairman, Rev. J. C. Sycamore, M.A., of Hamilton. It showed that in the Canadian Baptist department the total amount received on subscriptions was $8,880.35, an increase over last year of $243.28 and over two years ago of $1,302.76. In advertising the amount earned was $2,871.69, an increase of $178.57 over last year $1,019.79 over two years ago. For job printing the amount received was $1,294.71, an increase of $539.79 over last year and $989.78 over two years ago. The present number of paying subscribers is 6,130, the net gain during the year being 84.

In the book room department the purchases for the year amounted to $18,700 as against $16,525.99 last year. The cash sales aggregated $10,958.71. The total increase of sales over last year was $2,776.29 and $3,923.50 over two years ago.

The Board expressed its hearty satisfaction with the amount of business being done in both departments. Such a volume of business shows that the pastors have co-operated with the brethren at the head of the publication work, and that the people generally have been loyal to the publication interests. A large quantity of old stock had been disposed of at reduced prices, the quality of the Book Room stock had been much improved for the present valuation is on a fair and correct basis.

About 100 churches large and small are using the new Hymn Book, and it is proving a book of the highest merit.

The net result of the year's business of the Standard Publishing Company is a profit of $2,366.04. During the year bonuses amounting to $435.00 have been paid from the above and $1,000 returned to the investment fund.

The report also spoke of the lease secured on new premises and again the necessity of a permanent building of our own for general headquarters was urged.

The publication of a Sunday School paper had been carefully considered and the Board was convinced that for success the constituency of such a paper must be extended to include the whole of the Dominion. The matter was still under advisement.

The report spoke in terms of hearty praise of the work of the editor, business manager and staff.

With the combined and increasing support of our whole constituency the Board feels that the future of this department of our denominational work is bright with promise.

G. B. Roberts, of Toronto, criticized the report. He would have liked to know how there could have been a balance in the bookroom of some $2,000 when about the same amount of business was done in that department, and he thought that some mistake must have been made.

Mr. A. A. Ayr, of Montreal was confident that the business men who looked after the book room knew what they were doing. He suggested that Mr. Roberts with a couple of the best accountants procurable visit the book room and look over the accounts and he was certain Mr. Roberts would then publicly announce that the report was correct.

Mr. Warren the President and manager of the book room and a number of others spoke on the same question.

The report which was seconded by Rev. L. S. Hughson was adopted.

Bronze Medals For Three Contestants

Simpson, McBurney and Spenceley, Who Finished 3rd, 4th and 5th in Examiner Road Race to be Recognized.

The Examiner is able to make an announcement to-day which will no doubt be learned with pleasure by those interested. While the intention at the outset was to present two prizes, in addition to the cup, to the winners in the Examiner Road Race on Thanksgiving Day, Hon. Mr. Stratton, in consideration of the fact that the five men who finished were all deserving of some recognition, has authorized the Examiner to announce that in addition to the two prizes to be given to the men who finished first and second, bronze medals will be given to the other three men, Fred Simpson, W. J. McBurney and A. W. Spenceley. The work of these men was most commendable, and it was felt that while no prizes had been announced for them, they were deserving of some recognition.

In addition to the prizes to Best and Wilson, the three other men will be given medals as soon as they can be procured from the manufacturers. The date of the presentations of these prizes has not yet been decided on but it will be announced in the near future.

Whooping Cough

"My three youngest boys had whooping cough this winter and we could get nothing to help them until I sent for Dr Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine. It arrested the coughs at once and they kept right on improving until they were all cured at the cost of one dollar. That was not a large bill for so dangerous and distressing an ailment." — Mrs. Wm. Ball, Bracebridge, Ont.

THE ROAD RACE

The Examiner has every reason to be gratified with the great success of the first road race, under under its auspices. The Examiner has always been anxious to encourage every manly sport. The people must be amused, and when that form of amusement which develops the highest physical culture — meaning a sound mind in a sound body — is in question, it is so much more commendable. The road race has high sanction. St. Paul, in order to impress a lesson dealing with the most momentous interests of humanity, did not hesitate to use the road race as an example of persistence and energy in running the religious race. The road race has in it, at least, a negative religious element. It very strongly teaches contestants to refrain from doing what they should not do. It teaches the necessity of good living, of good habits, in a physical sense, and these bear no small relation to inducing, incidentally, perhaps, good living and good habits morally. We are told not to look the gift horse in the mouth, and we should not criticize too closely the media that have to do with making young men better. Yesterday's road race developed in respect of the winner, taken as a type, many important lessons. It taught the value of pluck, persistence, stay — qualities which, applied to the ordinary affairs of life, are sure to bring success. It emphasized the value of abstemious living, correct habits of life, and the wisdom, and duty, of keeping the divine temple, in good condition. Ray Best, who had the stamina to last the terrible pace, required to first breast the winning wire, did not prepare himself in a day or two of frenzied training. He is always in training, in the sense that by good habits of living, abstention from strong drink and narcotics, he has no lost ground to recover. By habits that make him in every way a good citizen he remains always fit. Another young man, with, perhaps superior physical powers, but failing to take proper care, and make proper use of them, will come out behind. A young man, though he have the physique of a Hercules, cannot have the wind, the stamina, the staying power, cannot succeed, unless he lives a good life, and wisely husbands and develops his powers. Though he may be as fleet as an Atlanta, he cannot "hit the can," smoke cigarettes, keep late hours, and generally indulge in riotous living, for 11 fly-one weeks in the year, and do effective training in the other remaining week. Given the same fleetness of foot, the same chest capacity, the same natural physical powers, he cannot compete successfully with an opponent who lives a correct life physically, and necessarily, to a degree, morally. He may trust to his strength, but in the spirit of the Cromwellian injunction, he must keep his powder dry. He must always, to be at his best, be at his best in the way of habits of living, and proper husbanding of his physical powers.

DIRECTORS MUST DIRECT.

Toronto Star.

The director who does not direct is looming up before the public as a standing menace to the safety of banks, and other financial institutions. To whom are the shareholders to look, if not to the Board of Directors? The shareholders do not appoint the manager or any of the officials, and they cannot exercise any close supervision over the affairs of the bank or company. To whom are they to look if not to the directors?

A director who does not direct is not only useless, he is dangerous and dangerous, that is more true for the confiding shareholder. The confiding shareholder swallows a lot of gammon about "strong boards," and when the trouble comes he finds that the strong men have done nothing to protect his interests.

No man should be allowed to take a seat upon a board who is not prepared to give the attention a reasonable share of his time, and to watch its affairs constantly. To ensure that care and watchfulness the directors should be made both civilly and criminally responsible for losses to shareholders and creditors.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The irony of fate is unrelenting. The very men, remarks the Brockville Recorder, who shouted so loudly at Ottawa last session about graft, are the ones whose names have become familiar in every Canadian household since the Insurance Commission got busy.

Canada's banking system, has stood one of the severest tests that could be imposed, and the public have not suffered any loss or interruption of business. The strong feature of the system is, the Globe submits, that it encourages men of the highest character and financial standing to engage in and direct our banking business.

Local option campaigns are in progress in more or less active form, in eighty-three municipalities of the province. Of these eighteen are incorporated towns or villages, including one city, Brantford. The condition, requiring a three-fifths vote to carry, imposed by the Whitney Government, is stated to be a very discouraging factor to temperance workers. This fact, it is stated, creates discouragement, and listless action in places where the campaign has begun, and prevents the opening of campaigns in other places. A local option law, however, adopted under such conditions, stands to have a public sentiment behind it, which will insure a much more effective enforcement than could be expected in cases where a bare majority is recorded in favour of the law.

Hamilton Team Won By Another Large Score

Peterborough Defeated Yesterday by 42-1—"Kid" Back Division Showed Up Well Against the Big Tigers.

The Peterborough rugby team were defeated in the return game at Hamilton yesterday by 42-1. The score looks big, but the team really made a better showing than they did here. In the first half they held the Tigers down to 7-0, and were playing great football. Gilbert was hurt and could not stop Moore's runs, which seemed to demoralize the team. The "kid" back division played a plucky game behind the line. Four of the team who played against Hamilton here were off, namely, Crowley, Ford, McWilliams and Regan, and the team's showing was most creditable. A despatch says:—

Hamilton, Oct. 18. — (Special.) — Peterborough went down to defeat before the senior Tigers this afternoon at the Cricket Grounds. The score was 42 to 1. Hamilton's big score does not mean that the Tigers played a brilliant game. During the first half Peterborough held them down to seven points, but did not score themselves. The Tigers were weakened through the absence of CCaptain DaMoulin, George Bullard, quarter, and Murray and Craig, wings. Simpson captained the team and Isbester played in DaMoulin's place. Ecclestone played quarter for Billard, and Mitchell, Dave McKeand and Kirkpatrick filled the vacancies on the wings. The Peterborough team was quite different from that it intended to play, and was badly handicapped by that. Its game was poor, the only thing commendable about it being its tackling. The Tigers played a poor first half, but in the second half did good work. Ecclestone, at quarter, played a fine game all through, and in the last half Moore made several of those long runs for which he is noted. Simpson and Burkholder also played well, the latter making two tries. When the whistle blew for the first half Peterborough had the ball near the goal with a chance to score. The teams were as follows:

Tigers—Back, Tope; half-backs, Simpson, Isbester and Moore; quarter, Ecclestone; snap, Barron; wings, Burkholder, Mitchell, Lyon, McKeand, Kirkpatrick, Marriott.

Peterborough — Back, Carmichael; half-backs, Gillespie, Quinlan and Mulhern; quarter, Easton; snap, burnabise; wings, Craig, LeClair, Gilbert, Dillon, Meagher, Crough.

High Hayes was referee, and Fred Robbins umpire.

Great Day's Sport At Bowling Lawn Yesterday

Closing the Season for Bowling-on-the-Green—Some Interesting Games Were Played—Improvements to the Lawn.

The bowling for this season closed yesterday with the finals in the Scotch Doubles, between the skips and vices, when E. Runnells and L. Potvin played G. Martin and R. Cottrell, the latter pair winning by a handsome score. Great interest centred on this game and the beautiful weather of the day brought out a large number of spectators and several who also joined in a final game for this season. The results of the morning games were not handed in but games between skips Robinson versus Moore and skips Waddell vs. McKinnon, were played when skips Moore and McKinnon were victorious in their respective games.

The past season has certainly been the most successful of the club; notwithstanding the heavy expenditure incident to installing new lights and practically resodding the lawn and placing a bank and boulevard around it and the cost of entertaining the British Bowlers, the finances of the club are in a very satisfactory condition.

The reasons for this condition are doubtless due largely to the interest aroused by the visit of the Britishers and the fact that several handsome prizes were offered for inter-rink and individual competitions.

First, Mr. Chas. Frost, gave a beautiful cup for competition between the several rinks in the club. This was won this year by Mr. J. McIntyre's rink and the runners-up were Mr. W. F. Johnston's rink.

Next, Doctors Boucher and Greer gave two pairs of bowls for competition in Scotch Doubles. In this competition the draw was so made that one pair must go to a first or second man and the winners in the contest were Mr. W. S. Robinson and Robt. Davidson and the runners-up were Mr. Mark and Mr. Switzer, and notwithstanding the fact that these two were both first men and one of them never played more than a dozen games in his life, they gave their opponents such a hot game, that it was not settled until the last end when the winners were only two up. The winners of the second pair were also skilled above Messrs. Martin and Cottrell.

Besides these, Mr. John Crane, Manage of the Dominion Bank, offered a pair of bowls for competition in singles, the winner of this pair being Mr. J. E. A. Fitzgerald, his runner-up being Mr. Medd.

The competition in all these events was most keen and aroused great enthusiasm and interest. There were some very unexpected results, which proves that in bowling, as in every thing else, the race is not always to the swift —nor the battle to the strong.

There is still a consolation prize offered by Mr. Huff, the Hunter street merchant tailor, but owing to the lateness of the season it could not be pulled off. It is filed for early competition next year.

It is expected that the lawn will be top-dressed to-morrow, if the weather is suitable.

It is quite likely a smoker will be held before long at which the several prizes will be presented to the victors.

Quakers Beat Oshawa Juniors

Won Exhibition Game Yesterday by 13-0.

The Quakers journeyed to Oshawa yesterday and defeated the junior O. R.F.U. team of that place in a good exhibition of rugby by 13-0. The Quakers led at half time by 6-0 and had the game well in hand all through. Although Quinlan's absence caused a shifting of the back division, the team in all departments were strong. Kelly played centre half and put up a fine game scoring both of the Quakers two on bucks. The Quakers scored a try and a rouge in the first half and a try, a rouge and a touch-in-goal in the second period. Dr. Ford, of Oshawa, was referee, and W. Hatton of Peterborough, was umpire, both giving satisfaction.

The Quakers lined-up as follows:—Back, Bolin; halves, Kelly, Moore, Canniff (Capt.); Sisson; Quarter, Latimer; Centre, Clarke, Hamilton; inside wings, Giroux, Sullivan; middle wing, Walker Collins.

The team report very hospitable treatment on the part of the Oshawa people.

Initial City League Game

Between Quakers and C. G. E. To-morrow at 2:30.

The Quakers-C.G.E. rugby game to-morrow afternoon at Riverside Park promises to arouse considerable interest. The latter have been getting down to work this week and are confident of walking over the Quaker twelve who won so easily at Oshawa yesterday. At any rate both teams are in good shape and will contest their rights for superiority. Some electric stunts are promised from the team of the C.G.E. This is one fine City League game and no one should miss seeing it.

RUGBY.

The first game in the City League will be played to-morrow afternoon at 2.30 at Riverside Park, when the Quakers and C.G.E. teams meet. Both organizations made a good showing against the Peterborough team last Saturday and a good game may be looked for when the two clash to-morrow. The Quakers, by their showing at Oshawa, yesterday, appear very dangerous and they will be in good shape for to-morrow. The officials will be Chris. Graham, referee and L. M. Watson, of the Bankers, umpire. There will no doubt, be a big crowd on hand when the game is called.

The game between the Quakers and C.G.E. will begin to-morrow at 2.30.

Local Golfers Play at Rosedale

An Enjoyable Time Spent at the Latter's Links in Toronto.

The members of the Peterborough Golf Club journeyed to Toronto yesterday where they played the Rosedale team on the latter's grounds. The day, although a trifle warm, was a very pleasant one for this sport, and a most enjoyable time was spent. The local team were not out for victory yesterday, but to enjoy themselves as much as possible. The score was, according to the new rules, 103-4 to 1 in favour of the Rosedale team.

The following is the list of players with scores:—

The final step in the demobilization of Russian Manchurian army was taken yesterday, when an order was published disbanding the staff of the army of the Far East, as it is officially designated.

Czar Orders Battleship.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 19.—The Admiralty intends to build a battleship of the Dreadnought type. In order to overcome Minister of Finance Kokovsoff's refusal to supply him with funds, Vice-Admiral Birileff, Minister of Marine, appealed direct to Emperor Nicholas, who brushed obstacles aside and ordered M. Kokovsoff to transfer to Admiral Birileff $9,000,000.

M. SARRIEN RESIGNS.

Retirement, To Be Announced, on Account of Ill-Health.

Paris, Oct. 19.—M. Sarrien's retirement from the Premiership has been decided upon, and probably will be officially announced to-day.

It is regarded as certain that President Failleres will ask Interior Minister Clemenceau to assume the Premiership.

M. Sarrien's resignation will be tendered purely on the ground of ill-health, notwithstanding contrary reports of dissensions in the Cabinet.

Late last evening it was semi-officially stated that the whole Cabinet would resign, and that M. Clemenceau, as Premier, would retain the portfolio of the Interior. M. Clemenceau contemplates inviting another old colaborator, M. Viviani, at present a Socialist deputy for Paris, to enter the Cabinet.

Battle With Bank Robbers.

Auxvasse, Mo., Oct. 19.—Paris Bartley, cashier, and F. C. Stokes, assistant cashier, surprised two robbers at work in the Auxvasse State Bank yesterday. Armed with shotguns the bank officials fired 20 shots at the robbers who, after firing fifteen revolver shots in return, escaped on horseback, getting away with $200 in cash. One of the robbers was wounded.

Spanish Legislation.

Madrid, Oct. 19.—The text of the law of associations which the Government is to introduce at the opening of Parliament Oct. 23 has not yet been published, but the points in the summary of the Heraldo of this city, cabled Oct. 10, are approximately correct. Minister of Justice Romanones declares that the law was "conceived in the broadest democratic spirit."

TORONTO'S "WARD" EXCITED.

Shooting In a Jewish-Italian Race Riot and Captures by Police.

Toronto, Oct. 19.—For half an hour yesterday afternoon a fracas waged in "the ward," which approached the dignity of a race riot between Hebrews and Italians. As a result of it, Joseph Gurofsky is locked up in No. 2 police station for having put a bullet into the leg of Dominico Trivart, 226 Teraniay street, an Italian who was one of a trio who started the trouble.

Other casualties include some painful wounds on the head of Louis Gurofsky, a severe beating and shock to Miss Ray Gurofsky; knife wound, bruises and shocks to David Gurofsky. Then, too, all the residents within three or four blocks radius of Agnes and Chestnut streets were put in a state of nervous excitement for several hours.

SAYS HE WAS KIDNAPPED.

Accusation Made by Alleged Thief Arrested in United States.

Watertown, N. Y., Oct. 19.—A case of international concern has developed in the arrest of Louis De Bauval, a Frenchman, on the St. Lawrence River last summer, for the alleged stealing of pleasure boats.

De Bauval claims that he is without the jurisdiction of the courts of the United States, in that he was taken in Canadian territory, brought to Alexandria Bay, and turned over to an officer of the law, by whom he was arrested.

Supreme Court Justice Andrews has appointed a referee to investigate the matter, and De Bauval has written the Canadian authorities and the French ambassador in Washington.

Falls 40 Feet.

Toronto Junction, Oct. 19—Yesterday Bert Jeffin, a carpenter employed on the Dominion Canning Co. building on Campbell avenue, while laying joist on the top flat, stepped on a loose board and fell the distance of 40 feet. His fall was broken by striking a projection, otherwise he would have been instantly killed. He received a cut on the head, one behind the ear and a cut over the left eye. He was taken to the Western Hospital.

Exhibition Pyratechnics Far Excelled

Never Approached Thanksgiving Fire At Toronto Fair.

TWO GREAT BIG BONFIRES

Grand Stand and Transportation Building Licked Up by Ferocious Flames In the Presence of 5,000 People—Loss Estimated at $225,000—Five Stables Also Destroyed—Permanent Buildings Stood Test.

Toronto, Oct. 19.—A tornado of fire swept the exhibition grounds last night for two hours, around midnight, and left in ruins the grand stand, the transportation building and four or five stables that lay between.

The fire started in the southeast corner of the grand stand, in what is known as Darling's Restaurant, where some officers of the garrison were quartered, with a number of horses and artillery equipment, including ammunition, all of which was rescued.

The strong southeasterly wind blowing at the time, which afterwards veered to a more easterly direction, forced the flames through the grand stand, whose inflammable wooden structure ignited with great rapidity.

Vast Billows of Flame.

Vast billows of flame carried sparks and firebrands across the open spaces. Several of the stables immediately north, at the back of the grand stand, caught fire, and were speedily roaring furnaces.

This all occurred between 10.45 and 11.30.

About midnight some sparks entered the southeast corner of the transportation building (the old main building, or Crystal Palace), and paper around the broken panes, which gave entrance to the cinders, and in five minutes the whole upper structure was alight. By this time the grand stand had burned itself to embers, and the stables were controlled.

By 12.30 the transportation building was in ruins, and further danger completely averted.

Losses and Insurance.

The insurance on the buildings was only renewed on Wednesday, for one month, pending a readjustment of the amounts. A blanket policy covers all the buildings on the grounds, but the amount is only one-third of their actual value. This was placed by Dr. Orr last night at $168,000, the cost of the grand stand; $100,000, the value of the transportation building, which used to stand, as the Queen street Asylum, and was moved in 1878 to the present site, where Lord Dufferin performed the inaugural ceremonies in that year, and about $25,000 for the stables, four of which—Nos. 1 and 2 and 8 and 9—were utterly consumed, and No. 3 badly damaged.

Permanent Buildings Uninjured.

Slight damages were also sustained by some other adjoining stables, straw being lighted by sparks through open doors, but the permanent buildings were quite uninjured. Electric service poles and wires were badly damaged on the immediate scene of the conflagration, and wooden sidewalks were charred to ashes. An estimate of $225,000 is, therefore, a conservative one, and two-thirds of this will fall directly on the city.

Insurance Details.

In detail the transportation building (old main building) there is $40,000 insurance with $13,400 on the annex (uninjured.)

On the grand stand, kitchen, lunch rooms, ticket boxes, entrances and fences there is $54,000.

There is $1,000 insurance on each of the cattle sheds.

The insurance was distributed among 36 companies, practically all in the business, on a percentage basis.

Had Seats For 12,500.

The grand stand was built in 1892. It was 725 feet long and built of wick and iron, with a seating capacity of 12,500. It overlooked a first-class half mile track, and was, indeed, one of the finest structures of its kind on the continent.

Changes All Plans.

Dr. Orr said that the fire meant an entire reconstruction of the plans for the development of the exhibition.

"We will need $250,000 at once, and we can be ready for next year all right.

"If it had occurred a week before the exhibition it would have ruined us. If it had happened during the exhibition, no one can imagine the result.

"We will never build another two-storey grand stand. One storey is enough, so as to let the people out in case of fire."

Dr. Orr was well pleased with the way the permanent buildings showed their secure construction.

Soldiers Help Firemen.

The military forces, horse, foot and artillery, were speedily on the ground from the Stanley barracks. And there was just a minute between the time the military arrived and the fire department hose was going.

"The finest help I ever saw," was Chief Thompson's tribute to the soldier lads. "They were so many they could take hold of a hose and just run away with it, and they were fine and able and willing."

A Fierce One.

For ferocity there has never been a fire to exceed it in Toronto. The strong gale blew the big bonfires into roaring volcanoes. At the transportation building the constant falling of the interior structures produced a roar as of muffled thunder, while the timbers crackled like rattling volleys of musketry.

No such pyrotechnics ever graced the exhibition as distinguished the night of Thanksgiving Day, 1906.

Five thousand people witnessed the fire, nearly all of whom walked home through torrents of rain.

Reunion After 63 Years.

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Oct. 19.—Forty-six years ago Moses, Frederick, Joseph and Agnes Beauchamp, then aged from 5 to 11 years, were separated, their parents having died in Camplacar, Quebec, in 1859. They did not meet again until they came here for a re-union this week. Frederick, who went west and became a wealthy ranchman at Davis, South Dakota, determined to find his brothers and sister and succeeded after spending several thousand dollars.

False Returns For Five Years Is The Charge

False Ontario Bank Statements Fooled Government.

THE WORK BEGAN IN 1901

Crown's Contention In the Trial of Ex-Manager McGill and President Cockburn With Their Relation to 60 Monthly Alleged Misstatements of Ontario Bank's Affairs to the Government.

Toronto, Oct. 19—President Cockburn and ex-Manager McGill of the Ontario Bank will be formally arraigned this morning in the Police Court, and a remand for a fortnight is expected by those interested in the case.

What Crown Will Contend.

"That for five years Charles McGill manipulated the monthly statements of the Ontario Bank in order to conceal losses in the market now aggregating almost a million and a half of dollars; that for five years the monthly misstatement of the bank's affairs were signed by the president of the bank as being a truthful and accurate return of its condition."

This in substance will be the contention in the trial of the president and the ex-Manager of the Ontario Bank. The Crown counsel will traverse the road which Charles McGill has travelled since November of 1901. The milestones marking that road are the alleged fraudulent reports, sixty of them, which he sent to the Finance Minister of Canada, and the end of it is the dock in Magistrate Denison's court.

Worry Tells on Him.

The worry of the past few days since the exposures of the bank's troubles has told on him. He evidently has taken his short confinement in the cells much to heart. He found a small cell with a hard bench and nothing to look through but an iron grating greatly different from what he had been accustomed to.

In an interview Mr. McGill is quoted as saying:

"None of the directors has made loans from the funds of the bank, and they were not aware of all the things going on. I believe there are loans to the extent of three or four thousand dollars in which some of the directors' names figure, but not to themselves."

Mr. Cockburn Not Alarmed.

"Think of it," said Mr. Cockburn, "the president of the Bank of Montreal must sign a return which certifies to the exact condition of 132 branches. He can't possibly do that upon his personal knowledge. He must rely implicitly upon the good faith of his general manager."

Of Mr. McGill's arrest he said:

"Too bad! I am very sorry for him. But what else could they do?"

"But suppose that Mr. Cockburn signed the returns, not knowing that they were false?" was the question put to Crown Attorney Cosby.

"The very fact that these returns were signed is, under the act, taken as proof that they were wilfully signed," he replied. "A bank president is supposed to know that what he is signing is correct. He must take the necessary steps to verify it."

Shareholders May Sue.

The shareholders are still indignant at the transfer to the Bank of Montreal for $160,000. Hints said that if the matter had been properly handled, the good-will and connection might have brought $1,000,000. The sudden panic of the directors, which led to the slaughter, arose from the necessity of making a return to the Government on the 10th. To avoid this, the transfer was hurried through on the 13th, the 14th being Sunday.

A. E. Ames intimated that the shareholders may begin some proceedings to-day. This will probably result in leave being asked of the court by certain shareholders to sue for the benefit of, and in the name of, the bank.

Curator in Charge.

The curator, Mr. Stavert, appointed by the Canadian Bankers' Association, has taken charge of all the affairs of the Ontario Bank, and the books and papers of that institution are in his custody and absolutely in his control.

It will be several weeks before any definite statement of the bank's condition may be looked for.

Forced to Leave Boarding-House.

Ottawa, Oct. 19.—Harry Stevens of the Governor-General's Foot Guards, who accompanied the detachment of that regiment to Buckingham, to help suppress the strikers' riots, has since been asked by his landlady to leave his boarding-house. There are seven union mechanics boarding in the house and they handed the ultimatum to the landlady that it was a case of either losing seven boarders or one.

Canadian Carnegie Here.

Pittsburg, Oct. 19.—Sixteen more awards of funds or medals were made yesterday by the Carnegie hero fund commission. These awards include a bronze medal to Samuel M. Desherbining, 20 years of age, a jeweler of Langham, Province of Saskatchewan, Canada, who rescued from drowning on Aug. 23, 1905, Alfred O. Burnham, a carpenter.

Archbishop Weds.

Winnipeg, Man., Oct. 19.—A sensation was created in the city yesterday by the announcement of the marriage of Archbishop Matheson and Miss Alice Talbot, principal of Carlton street school. They were married at 8 o'clock yesterday morning by Archdeacon Fortin in Holy Trinity Church.

Negro Dies at 114.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 19.—"Uncle" Robert Hawkins Sprague, a negro, of Northampton, Prince George County, Md., died Wednesday morning at the age of 114 years. He was born of slave parents in 1791, was sold several times as a slave.

Boy Dangerously Wounded.

London, Oct. 19.—A youth named S. Brooks was dangerously wounded by the accidental discharge of his companion's gun. He received a charge of bird shot in the side which exploded cartridges in his pocket.

Killed While Hunting.

The President Defends Course Of The Sun Life

Mr. Macaulay On Its Course In Writing Down Securities.

THE SHAWINIGAN CO. BONDS

Large Transaction by Which the Sun Life Co. Made a Profit of $63,000—Although Mr. Macaulay Declared Transfer of Such Stock Was Bona Fide, Mr. Shepley Held It Was a Dummy Transfer.

Montreal, Oct. 19.—At the morning session of the Insurance Commission on Wednesday Mr. Macaulay defended the Sun Life Co.'s course in writing down securities on real estate before the losses had actually been realized. It was absolutely in accord with the method pursued by all banks and commercial corporations everywhere.

If you are going to write off $10,000 from real estate, said Mr. Macaulay, how can you do it except by changing the profit and loss account? There is no other way.

Mr. Langmuir asked whether such a plan might not be deceptive because it would show on its face that certain property had earned interest, whereas in fact it had not.

Mr. Macaulay would not agree to this view.

Payments to shareholders were fixed by the directors under the company's charter, and could not be criticized. In the early days of the company they discriminated against the shareholders for the benefit of the policyholders. When the company's position was improved this injustice was corrected. For the last 12 years shareholders have been receiving 15 per cent.

Shawinigan Bonds.

Mr. Macaulay then entered into an explanation of the transactions between the Sun Life and the Shawinigan Water and Power Co. In 1903 the insurance company made a loan to the Shawinigan Co. of $231,000 at six per cent. on the security of $240,000 bonds and $32,200 stock bonds. There had been two loans to the Shawinigan Co. on these bonds, a total of $350,000 in each case. The Sun Life got large blocks of bonus stock as the consideration. The loan was due in November, 1903, but the Shawinigan Co. could not market the bonds in order to raise the loan. The Sun Life did not want to close the year with an overdraft, as would have been the case, and asked the Merchants' Bank to take over part of the loan. The bank took over $200,000.

Mr. Macaulay said this was a genuine transfer, and read letters from the bank to prove it. In the following March the Sun Life paid the bank cash and took back the bonds. For extending the loan in this way $20,000 bonus stock was paid, of which the bank got $4,000. He announced that his company had made $63,000 out of this security without counting interest.

Mr. Shepley said that as the consideration of the company was higher than that of the bank the transfer was a dummy one.

Public Is Ignorant.

Asked why they did not want to show an overdraft at the end of the year, witness said it did not make any difference, except to a part of the public, which was ignorant and uninformed. He said the officers of the Insurance Department would not have cared nor the shareholders of the Sun Life.

Mr. Macaulay stated, when asked by Mr. Shepley, that he had not a dollar of interest in the Shawinigan Co., nor had the company, or the directors. There was, perhaps, one director who had a small interest. Later he said that there was not even one.

The bonus stock received from the Shawinigan Co. was entered in the books as of the value of $4 and did not show in the Government returns until 1905, when it was sold as a matter of policy. The price was 19 3-4. Witness said the stock is now worth 37.

The Commission adjourned until noon on Tuesday next.

The New York Stock Market

(Furnished by J. R. Heintz & Co.)

New York, Oct. 19. — Liquidation, principally for London account, based on the unexpected advance to panic figures by the Bank of England rate, was strong enough to depress prices here two or three points to-day, getting domestic stop orders, but the market banking support of the Harriman, Morgan and Rockefeller variety, and was well received, although likely to be irregular for a time and more reactionary in appearance than in reality. We believe good stocks should be bought without hesitation now when weak, the ante-election break having apparently taken place. Prices recovered part of the early losses in the last hour, and the market closed firm.

Fell From Street Car Yesterday

A painful accident occurred to Miss Mabel Sharp, of London street, yesterday afternoon. She was on a street car, and, alighting at Central Park, attempted to get off before the car was stationary, and fell, striking her head on the road. She was taken home in a buggy, and medical examination revealed the fact that, while she was not seriously injured, she received a bad fall, from which it will take her some days to recover.

FAKE HAIR PREPARATIONS

Do Hair No Good, But Often Cause I To Fall Out.

Many hair preparations are "fake" because they are merely scalp irritants. They often cause a dryness, making the hair brittle, and, finally, lifeless. Dandruff is the cause of all trouble with hair. It is a germ disease. The germ makes cuticle scales as it digs to the root of the hair, where it destroys the hair's vitality, causing it to fall out. To cure dandruff, the germ must be killed. "Destroy the cause, you remove the effect." Newbro's Herpicide is the only hair preparation that kills the dandruff germ, thereby leaving the hair to grow luxuriantly. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Ormond & Walsh, special agents.

Mr. F. B. Girdlestone Making Tour of Canada—Visited Peterborough Yesterday — New Dock Necessary at Avonmouth to Increase Trade Between Canada and Central England.

Mr. F. B Girdlestone, general manager of the Bristol, Avonmouth and Portshead docks, Port of Bristol, England, is in Canada on very important business, and yesterday paid a visit to Peterborough, which he considers is one of the most promising cities of Canada he has been in.

The object of Mr. Girdlestone's visit to Canada, which is the third within the last ten years, is to study closely the transportation questions, and the measures taken by the Government, by the various harbour commissioners, and railway companies, to enable goods to be carried with advantage to the nation, and to the shareholders of the railway companies, at the very low rates which at present prevail. To study—that is to say—how, at such low rates, a profit can be earned, as is being earned at present by the great railway companies of this country, in carrying goods to the various eastern ports.

The British Docks Committee, who manage that large institution on behalf of the corporation of Bristol, have deputed Mr. Girdlestone, on the occasion of his visit to Canada, to make known to Canadians the steps the people of Bristol are taking for the expenditure of $15,000,000—they having previously expended $15,000,000—in the creation of another vast dock at Avonmouth, for the accommodation of the largest vessels afloat, or likely to be built during the next few years, and to confer with ship-owners, shippers and railway companies in the Dominion, as to the possibilities of the services of more vessels being established in the port of Bristol, and the development of a much greater traffic than at present exists with the inland centres of Canada, and the consuming districts of the central part of England.

The committee think that they can be more cheaply served through Avonmouth than through the other competing ports. The port of Bristol has a population of between nine and ten millions, who can be served with everything Canada produces more advantageously through Avonmouth than by other mediums, and the citizens of Bristol are determined to secure, when the Royal Edward dock is completed at Avonmouth, a much larger proportion of their trade, especially in grains, timber, wool goods, provisions, cattle, leather and pulp, all of which are wanted largely in and around Bristol, which in itself has a population of 360,000. The much larger population above referred to, which is within a radius of some 90 to 100 miles, and which constitutes the legitimate area of Bristol, as an importing and exporting point.

The new dock will be finished in a most splendid manner, with double cold storage sheds, cooling chambers, granaries and electric cranes. Every appliance is being provided which will have the effect of handling cargoes with greater ease and at less cost, which eventually, the Corporation of Bristol feel convinced, must enable shippers in Canada to realize the great advantages to them from the cheaper rates. The goods will in the near future, be capable of being received and dispensed to Central England, including Birmingham, Oxford, Leicester, Nottingham, Salisbury, Bath, Gloucester, Exeter, Cardiff, Newport, Hereford, and other points. All these are places within the area which Bristol claims to supply from its superior geographical position, at the head of the great estuary of the Bristol Channel.

Two of the largest railway systems of England, are connected with Avonmouth port. The Great Western provides a two and a quarter hour service from Bristol to London, and the Midland a two hour service with Birmingham.

Impressed With Peterborough

Mr. Girdlestone seems very much impressed with the advantages offered by Peterborough for sites for manufacturers, and thinks that with the completion of the Trent Canal, the citizens of Peterborough may confidently look to a great increase in traffic which will be handled by traders in the city. This will add, he says, much to the wages which will be paid a few years hence by manufacturers and traders in and around the city, and to increase the value of land, as well as increase the prosperity and happiness of the citizens.

Gone to Montreal

Last night Mr. Girdlestone left for Montreal to confer with the railway authorities in respect to the question of a much more effective service of steamers between Canadian ports and Avonmouth, and the establishment of a punctual weekly line of steamers for the want of which produce cannot reach Bristol port and Central Britain, with the same facility as London and Liverpool.

He believes that with the creation and development of another dock at Avonmouth the people there will then enjoy the facilities they are entitled to.

Before returning Mr. Girdlestone will visit Winnipeg and other western points to study thoroughly the transportation system there.

Do You Awaken Feeling Sick?

Or With a Bad Taste in Your Mouth?

Bileans Will Remove These Symptoms.

When you awaken in the morning do you feel sick and languid — not sick enough to vomit, but with just a lingering trace of nausea. Not feeling really ill but weak and languid and averse to all effort? These symptoms should warn you that the liver and stomach is beginning to go wrong. Bileans will correct the evil. This was the condition in which Mr. T. Mills, of Kingston, Ont., found himself: "On rising in the morning," he said, "I had a headache and a feeling of sickness. Sometimes this would increase until I had a vomiting spell. At times it would work off to appear again the next morning. It made me feel weak and unfit for work. A few doses of Bileans had a wonderful effect, and a little perseverance with this remedy led to a complete cure. I have not been troubled with the sickness or headache for some time and I believe that Bileans have removed the cause of the trouble completely."

All druggists sell at 50c a box, or free from the Bilean Company, Toronto; six boxes for $2.50. Send one cent stamp for a free sample box.

Opening of Baptist Convention Of Ontario and Quebec

Retiring President, Rev. Douglas Laing, Treats "The Church and Second Tables of the Law" in Masterly Manner---New Officers Elected---Mr. Warren, of Georgetown, is President---Rev, G. R. Welch Reports on Obituaries.

Wednesday night shortly after 8 o'clock saw the opening of the 51st annual Baptist convention of Ontario and Quebec, in the Murray street Baptist church, with about 200 people present. Visiting clergymen and laymen from numerous congregations from all parts of the two provinces were present at the opening of the great convention as well as many Peterborough people from different churches in the city. The first session was principally taken up with the usual preliminaries to such a gathering in appointment of nominating committees, the retiring president's address and reports.

REV. WM. PEER
Haileybury, the Pioneer Baptist Missionary in New Ontario.

Seated in the pulpit were three visiting clergymen, viz., Rev. Douglas Laing, president, Kingston; Rev. F. K. Dayfoot, M.A., secretary, Simcoe and Rev. A. N. Frith, of Smiths Falls.

The address by Rev. Mr. Laing, the retiring president, was of course the chief feature of the opening session. Mr. Laing's address was full of vigour and instructiveness dealing minutely with the duties of the christian, and speaking on the subject of "The Church and the Second Table of the Law."

The election of officers for the coming year was another important part of the opening session.

The convention opened with devotional exercises under the direction of Rev. A. N. Frith, who read from the Scripture from the 10th chapters of Romans.

After the devotional exercises the President, Rev. Douglas Laing spoke a few words of introduction. He expressed his pleasure at having the convention at Peterborough this year, in the church in which was a pastor whom he had once taught in Sunday school. He also referred to Rev. F. J. Scott's early departure for South America, where he will preach the Gospel to the Peruvians.

The appointment of the nominating committee followed the above remarks the following brethren being appointed to represent the various associations
